None better—scarcely so good, in fact.

ALL GROCERS KEEP THEM

Manufactured by

and they have a good sale. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30; medium, $3 to $3.25; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, 4 to 5c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5; Shelburne, $2.75 bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Canso, herring, $4 per bbl.; Ripplings, $1.65 to $1.75.

PROVISIONS — Lard is rather firmer, though no change is noted here. Stocks are quite large. A quantity of pork is still held here. The fact that small quantities can be landed from Boston at cash prices interferes with the sale of car lots from the west. Hams are held firmer, owing to advance west. We quote: Clear pork, $12.75 to $13.50; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $12.50 to $13; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour shows no change in price, but is held firm and shows good demand. Oatmeal sells freely. In oats buyers are waiting for new. It is thought prices will rule low. Some small arrivals of new New Brunswick oats are noticed. In cornmeal the low price still rules, and large sales are being made. Feed is still very dull, though offered low. In both barley and split peas prices are quoted lower. There begins to be a demand for buckwheat meal, and some fresh ground old wheat is to hand. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.50; best Ontario, $4 to $4.20; medium, $3.95 to $4; oatmeal, $2.90 to $3.10; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do do, $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1; prime, 90c.; oats, 30 to 32c.; hay, $13 to 14; barley, $3.25; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat meal, $1.25.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A cargo of English coarse salt arrived this week at Richibucto for Henry O'Leary.

J. G. Hamilton, general dealer, St. Stephen, has suspended. Liabilities reported, about $18,000.

Tea to the amount of $57,377 landed here during August, almost the entire quantity being direct importations.

Messrs. McPherson, retail grocers, received this week 2,500 packages, in one consignment, of Ontario fruits.

This month there was landed at Yarmouth the largest single fare of codfish ever received, being about 400,000 lbs.

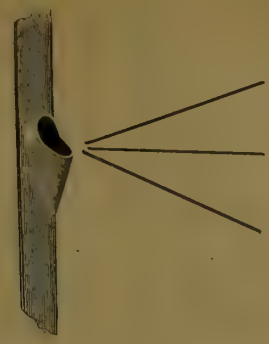
The lobster fishermen of Westmore County have lost upward of one thousand traps, through being caught poaching after close of fishing season.

The Wilbur House, Woodstock, so well known to commercial men, has changed hands. C. T. Tabor, proprietor of the restaurant at McAdam, will take possession next month.

Gray, Dawes & Co., London, write regarding prices of dates quoted here as follows: The business you report is entirely speculative. The dates are not yet gathered, and no one knows what the opening price is likely to be. All the chief shippers have, in the meantime, refused to name a price, and it may be a week or two before we are able to supply quotations.

Much inconvenience is caused by the increased tendency to charge large discounts on American money, particularly for silver. There is a large amount of American money in circulation here.

The C.P.R. have reduced their car rates from Ontario points to St. John, Halifax, St. Andrews and St. Stephen on goods not in bulk, to compete with the rates via Boston to these points.



The St. Andrews Board of Trade, at their meeting this week, decided not to affiliate with the Maritime Board. This is much regretted, the more as almost all other local boards will be represented.

In Pleasant Vale, Albert County, Colpitts Bros. have quite a large apiary, having 84 colonies of bees. They have had this season over two tons comb and extracted honey, which finds a good demand at a good price.

J. Hunter White, agent for E. M. Dadelszen, Bordeaux, has received the documents for the first shipments of new French prunes They are for the following houses: Jardine & Co., E. A. & S. White, Geo. S. de Forest & Son and Merritt Bros.

Trade returns at St. John for August are as follows: Total imports, $282,634; last August, $297,408. Amount dutiable, $180,040; last August, $213,753. Amount free, $102,594; last August, $83,655. Amount duty collected, $63,969; last August, $71,805. Exports, $581,438.

IN securing the control in Canada for the Gilmore Patent Grater for a limited time, our contract specifies that if we should sell any separately we must do so at not less than $1.25 per dozen. But the inventor, wishing to have it introduced into the homes of Canada without cost of advertising and selling, has made the price to us low enough to enable us to give one away free with a pound of coffee. We are taking advantage of this to push our Vienna Brand.

That hole is the patent, and makes the Grater different from any other

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

MERCHANTS characterize trade as dull, but still there appears to be a fair volume moving. Green fruits, fish and sugar are the main lines showing any movement.

There is not much fish coming in from Newfoundland, as dealers at St. John's are showing considerable eagerness in buying. Halifax dealers, however, are expecting large arrivals, as they contend the St. John's merchants cannot handle the large catch. Good hard-cured cod are in good demand. Prices for October delivery are easier and a decline is looked for. Herrings are scarce and enjoy a good demand. Salmon are moving slower than ever. There is a good demand for grocery cod. Ruling quotations to-day are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50; large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.50; Labrador, $2 to $2.25; haddock, $1.50 to $1.75; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.50; Bay of Islands herrings, $1; No. 1, large, f.o.b. shore, $3 to $3.50; alewives, $3; mackerel, No. 3, large, $7.50 to $8; salmon, No. 1, $12; No. 2, $10.50; No. 3, $9.

The abundance of fruits in the Annapolis Valley is causing low prices. The yield of plums, pears and apples is very heavy, and dealers are receiving large consignments. At present the demand is for plums, which sell all the way from 25 to 45c. per peck basket. The heavy rains and warm weather of the past week caused the fruit to ripen very quickly and a great deal was lost. Pears are worth $2.50 per bbl. for extra good stocks, while low grades are offered as low as $1. Apples are not in great demand in the local market. A big shipment was made to Liverpool on Saturday. The jobbing price runs all the way from 75c. to $2, the latter figure being for Gravensteins. Canadian grapes are arriving very freely, and are jobbing at about 35 cents. The fruit is received in good order. California peaches sell at $1 per 15-lb. basket. Oranges are worth $6.50 and lemons $4.50 to $5. Native tomatoes are about done. Stocks on hand are selling at 1½ to 2c. per lb.

Our cheese market is lifeless. Good stocks are jobbing at 9c.

There is only a fair trade being done in butter. Creamery is quoted at 19c. and dairy at 16 to 18c.

There is very little or no change in eggs. The demand is not heavy. Good case stocks are quoted at 9¾c.

The breadstuffs market remains in about the same condition as last report. Canadian freights to the seaboard are lower, but prices of flour remain unchanged. Oatmeals, cornmeals and feeds are lower than last report, particularly cornmeals and mill feeds. Quotations are: Hungarian patents, Manitoban, $3.30 to $3.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.90 to $4; Canadian pastry, $3.90 to $4; 75 per cent. patents, $3.75 to $3.80; 80 per cent. do., $3.70 to $3.75; 90 per cent. do., $3.65 to $3.70; straights, $3.50 to $3.75; extra, $2.75 to $3; cornmeal, $2.30 to $2.40; oatmeal, $2.75 to $2.90.

There is a brisk demand for sugars on account of the preserving season being at hand. Quotations are: Porto Rico, in hhds., 3½c.; refined cut loaf, 6½c.; granulated, 4½c.; standard A, 4½c.; extra C, 3½c.; yellow XC, 3⅜c.

Molasses still remain quiet. Stocks in first hands have been cut down considerable. Some small sales have been made on Newfoundland account. Quotations are: St. Croix, 28c.; Porto Rico, 32c.; Trinidad, 27c.; Barbadoes, 32c.; Demerara, "M R" 39c.; do., "N" brand, none; St. Kitts, 28c.

Provisions are dull. The warm weather has interfered with the sale of fresh stuff and quotations are unreliable. American clear pork is quoted at $15; do., mess, $14; P. E. Island mess, $13.50; thin do., $12.50; American plate beef, $13.50; extra plate beef, $14.50; smoked hams, 11 to 12c.

Produce is low and plentiful. Potatoes are selling at 25c. and turnips at 20c.

The Hyman Tannery Co., of London, Ont., have opened a branch for hides and leather in this city, on Cunningham & Curren's south wharf; the business here will be known as S. R. Scott & Co.; they will be represented in buying and selling by George Wood, late manager 3-mile house tannery, and a son of a member of the firm will be located here.

The Pure Gold Mfg. Co. have now got their new pound tin of Vienna coffee, with the Gilmore patent grater, on the market, and from the way orders are already coming in, they anticipate as large a run, or larger, than they have had with their now famous Reception coffee put up in milk pails. The grater seems to fill a long-felt want with the housekeeper.

DID NOT GET WHAT SHE WANTED.

TWO pretty young women entered a large up-town grocery one evening last week. From their conversation it was evident that they belonged to some boarding school in the neighborhood and had stolen out for a few moments to buy dainties which they meant to smuggle to their rooms.

"There's one thing I don't like about the clerks in this store," said one of them, while they waited for the salesman, "and that's the way they insist on telling you that you don't want what you do want and that you do want what you don't want. Every time I come in here I have the same experience, and I'm just tired of it. The next time it happens I'm going to tell the clerk just what I think of him."

At that moment a clerk approached and asked the young women what they wanted. The one who had so much to complain about said:

"I want a pound of those."

"O, no, you don't," said the clerk, savagely, "you want some of these, or these here; they're all very nice."

The young woman threw a glance, which said, "What did I tell you?" at her companion, and, turning to the clerk, said fiercely:

"No, I don't anything of the kind. I want these and no others."

"I beg your pardon," he began, "I thought ——"

"Never mind what you thought," said the young woman. "I guess I know what I want. Now, just let me have a pound of those, please," and she turned to her companion with a look of triumph on her face which plainly meant "Didn't I squelch him?"

"Very well, madam," said the clerk humbly, "but may I ask whether they are for yourself?"

"Well, of all the impertinent questions," began the young woman, when her companion interrupted, and, turning to the clerk, said:

"Why do you ask?"

"O, because they're dog biscuits," replied the clerk indifferently. "Still, of course, if you want them you can have them."

"Never mind," faltered the young woman who had insisted on having what she wanted. "I guess I don't want anything at all," and she strutted out of the store looking very much ashamed, and followed by her companion, who was struggling to hide her laughter.

The clerk didn't say anything, but there was a satisfied smile on his face as he banged the cover down on the can of dog biscuit, and walked away to wait on another customer.—New York Sun.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

A SHIPMENT of orange and lemon peel was received on the Toronto market this week. As far as we are aware, this is the first shipment for the season. The goods are of fine quality, and are the manufacture of John Greenhalgh & Co., Ltd., Redditch, Eng.

In black teas W. H. Gillard & Co. have some splendid lines at value prices.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are offering pure codfish in 1-lb. blocks ; also boneless fish.

T. Kinnear & Co. report a good demand for their new 25c. package tea, "Crown" brand.

A line of extra choice Packlum Congous in caddies is arriving this week for Davidson & Hay.

Genuine English malt vinegar, in 25-gal. packages (free), is for sale by Lucas, Steele & Bristol cheap.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are offering fancy evaporated apricots and peaches in 25-lb. boxes.

Fine new codfish, in quintals, are to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. They also have the Sealey 1 lb. blocks.

Shipments of the Ireland Co.'s "Farinosa" breakfast food are received every week by Howe, McIntyre Co., Montreal.

Dawson & Co. have so far this season shipped nine carloads of apples to the English market, five of which went last week.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report that they are handling most of the creamery butter shown at the Toronto Industrial Exhibition.

Some very attractive Japan teas are being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol in 1 and 5-lb. fancy paper bags.

Warren Bros. & Co. are offering at low prices last season's Valencia raisins in off-stalk, fine off-stalk and layers ; also choice Vostizza currants.

Among the firms who booked numerous Fair-time orders are T. A. Lytle & Co., vinegar manufacturers, Richmond street west, Toronto.

John Sloan & Co. are just in receipt of a shipment of Ceylon tea in boxes, which, they report, is showing extra good value. This firm is also in receipt of another shipment of French goods put up by Dandicolle & Gaudin.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in store another carload of New Orleans molasses in barrels and half-barrels, which they are quoting at close figures.

Messrs. Howe, McIntyre Co., Montreal agents for "Golden" finnan haddies in tins, are now receiving fresh cured haddies of same brand in thirty-pound boxes.

Epps & Co., who for many years have been puiting up their breakfast cocoa in paper, have now adopted a tin package at the same price. All future orders will be filled with the tin package.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report an active demand for their whole pure mixed pickling spice in 5 and 10-lb. boxes, pails and loose, which is put up at their own mill, and nothing but superior ingredients used.

As salmon bids fair to be high in price this season, Scotch herrings, both in tins and kegs, will doubtless be in great demand, Marshall & Co., Aberdeen, are making already some heavy shipments to this country.

The good qualities of Knox's gelatine are to be demonstrated at the Ottawa Fair during next week. A. E. Richards & Co., the Canadian agents, invite their friends and customers to visit the exhibit.

Whole and ground pickling spice is for sale by Lucas, Steele & Bristol in bulk ; also 5 and 10c. packages. The firm also offer turmeric, mustard seed, currie powder, celery seed, cayenne pods, coriander seed, etc.

Mack's double starch is having a large sale. It gives the greatest satisfaction wherever used, so that the agents, Robert Greig & Co., are in constant receipt of repeat orders.

Never was the demand for a thoroughly reliable flavoring extract so great as at the present time. As the consumer and dealer alike are becoming aware of the merits of the "Crown" brand, so the trade increases. Robert Greig & Co.'s staff are kept busy supplying the demand.

All of Crosse & Blackwell's jams, jellies and marmalades, in glass jars, sent to Canada this fall will have the patent vacuum covers, which are a great improvement on the old style narrow-necked bottle with an ordinary cork. A few of the new style were sent to Canada early this year and have taken very well.

Robert Greig & Co.'s travelers are showing what is probably the finest range of Christmas chocolate packages ever displayed in Canada. The dealers from Halifax to Vancouver seem to think so too, as they have placed more liberal orders than have been booked for many seasons.

The F. F. Dalley Co. say that they have had a large sale for their bird seed this season. Their seed is put up in handsome packages. The seed is the very finest recleaned bird seed that can be imported into this country. The company say that the only way to build up a trade in any line is to handle the very best goods the market can produce.

James Turner & Co. report the demand for "Mecca" coffee has exceeded their expectations, and as they were rapidly getting low in stock, they have had the last consignment (which was just landed in London), shipped by the fast American liner, ss. Paris, and will be able to fill all orders without delay.

The pickle advertisement on page 6 in our last issue was inadvertently set up—"W. H. Gillard & Co., Makers." W. H. Gillard & Co., of Hamilton, have nothing whatever to do with the manufacture of these pickles. They are made by Gillard & Co. of London, Eng., and there is no connection whatever between W. H. Gillard & Co. and that firm. W. H. Gillard & Co., of Hamilton, handle these goods and sell large quantities of them.

At the Montreal Exhibition Messrs. Frank Magor & Co. have a very neat stand erected for the celebrated mustard manufacturers, Messrs. Keen & Co., of London, Eng., and are giving away handsome miniature sample tins of this world-famed article. Visitors to the Exhibition declare that for intrinsic value and merit, these samples distributed by Messrs. Magor are superior to anything on the ground. A novel feature of the exhibit is a large picture frame, 14 feet square, on which are mounted about 30 of the different show cards published by Messrs. Keen & Co., each of which is a work of art.

TRUTH-GOSPEL TRUTH.

A storekeeper not far from Bel Air heard young chicks chirping in his store and could not account for the sound. Upon making search he found that he had carelessly left his egg box where the rays of the sun could reach it, and upon lifting the lid he found that about half the eggs had been turned into lively young chicks.—Havre de Grace (Md.) Republican.

FRENCH PRUNES.

A Bordeaux letter of August 18 says: "Since our last report no serious interference in the growth of our fruit took place. The crop is drawing near; the first 'primeurs' made their appearance on the markets, and we think within a fortnight hence quotations will come to a settlement, such as to allow firm offers on c. and f. terms. So far only ridiculous trifles changed hands, although at prices overpaid in order to defend old remnants of '94 fruits. If we were to speak about opening prices, we must say that our packers are pretending the basis of more or less the parity of 23 francs c. and f. New York for the four sorts, 70 to 105 in half cases, September shipment, and 35 to 50 to 36 do. c. and f. for the three sorts, 50 to 75 in quarter cases, September shipment. The above are, of course, no positive figures, and we, on our behalf for business sake, should like to see them lower. As a fact we must mention yet that small sizes, viz., 100 to 105 fruits, are scarce, and that likewise the 90 to 95 fruits are not abundant, and for this reason it easily might happen that business in the four sorts, 70 to 105, will not take the development we should desire, and that the principal transactions will be in 50 to 75 fruits."

Subscribers wanting goods or special quotations on anything anywhere in Canada at any time, can get them by mail or wire by corresponding with THE CANADIAN GROCER, Toronto or Montreal.

pay the grocer a good profit. Cultivate the sale of them. If you have only been handling two or three kinds, try the experiment of adding two or three more to your display. Keep them in a prominent place in your store. Keep them where your customers will see them. Keep them in good shape and they will sell themselves ; that is, if you offer for sale those made by

PUREST & BEST

"Dairying for Profit" or "The Poor Man's Cow"

Is the title of a treatise on Buttermaking written by Mrs. E. M. Jones of Brockville, Ont. Mrs. Jones' Book has been so highly thought of by the Ontario Government that it has been printed and distributed free among farmers as an authority on this subject. The following letter explains itself.

Some time ago I commenced using the Windsor Salt in my dairy and I have been surprised and delighted at the result. It appears to me to be a PURER SALT than any I have ever used (although I have always obtained the very best, regardless of cost). It is entirely FREE FROM ANY BITTER TASTE and it DISSOLVES SO RAPIDLY as to be at once incorporated in the butter. To the practical dairyman these are vital points. MORE BUTTER IS SPOILED BY POOR SALT THAN IN ALL OTHER WAYS PUT TOGETHER. Not only is the taste disagreeable but the grain of such salt is so sharp and its nature so insoluble that butter has to be worked almost to a paste and is thereby spoiled before it is even put on the market. WINDSOR SALT IS FREE FROM THESE OBJECTIONS and its quality and price ought to make it a boon to every dairy in Canada, I shall use no other in future, and as the output of my private dairy is 7000 lbs. a year, which all brings the highest price ever reached by Canadian butter, the importance of my choice in salt can hardly be over-estimated.

Yours truly,
(Signed) ELIZA M. JONES

THE LATE ALEX. TAYLOR.

THE following is a sketch of the late Alexander Taylor, a general merchant of Dromore, popularly known as the "Laird of Dromore," who died suddenly on Aug. 31st last. The article is taken from The Grey Review, whose editor had an intimate acquaintance with Mr. Taylor for about thirty years. After announcing Mr. Taylor's death The Review says :

"It is difficult for those who knew the deceased to write of him as gone. So active in his habits, so intimately associated with the business life of the community, so public-spirited in all matters connected with the social, moral and material interests of the district he did so much to develop, it will be long before his name and influence are forgotten in Egremont, or, indeed, in South Grey.

"And so suddenly! This morning he partook of his breakfast as usual, and after finishing some writing, complained of a pain in his breast, and went and lay down. At 7 o'clock, full of intelligent life! and in about 15 minutes the active spirit had fled.

"Deep and heartfelt sympathy goes out for his widow, son and daughter, so suddenly bereft. A loving and tender father, he was devotedly attached to his wife, and 'Russell' Hall, will long commemorate not only her name but the tender affection which prompted its bestowal. To a wide circle Mr. Taylor's removal will look like a personal loss, and the gap in that community will not soon be filled.

"His home was ever noted for an abounding hospitality, and many travelers and others can bear testimony to the genial host who was ever ready to welcome and entertain.

"Alex. Taylor was born near Peterhead, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, 59 years ago, and came to this country with his father in 1855. He remained in Toronto for five years engaged in a mercantile business. His father came to Egremont, and, together with Mr. Jaffray, a brother-in-law, two lots were bought on the 2nd and 3rd Con., that now owned by Mr. Samuel Queen, and the one opposite. These were soon sold and the property, on which the main part of the village stands, was secured.

"During his stay in Toronto he was a frequent attender at the House of Parliament of the then Upper Canada, and grew familiar with all the public men of that day (many of whom he often met), a familiarity with which he kept in touch to the very last, as we all know he could relate the history of any of our prominent public men.

"In 1860 'Sandy'—as he was familiarly known—opened a 'store' in a house on the lot on which he died, the 'Egremont Store,' and from that small beginning grew the fine business which is now so firmly established.

"When the boon of a post office was secured, he left the choice of the name with the Government of the day, and 'Dromore' was founded. We have frequently heard him say he liked the name, and with his name it has been chiefly associated for many years, and will be for many years more.

"The unpretentious little store grew apace. 'Business' was stamped on Mr. Taylor's every movement, and for many years he did a large trade in handling and teaming grain to Guelph and other markets. A blacksmith shop was early established by him, and encouragement was given to every industry likely to promote the formation of an independent settlement.

"The weekly mail changed to a tri-weekly and ultimately to a daily, Mr. Taylor's enterprise never flagging. As railways drew away the grain trade, he began the keeping of improved stock and personally superintended the work on his farms, which he continued to do to the end. But his activities did not run all in one channel. We have mentioned his work in church and amongst the young. He was a justice of the peace, and in this capacity, owing to his fairness and kindliness of spirit, he became, years ago, the friend of many who had legal troubles, and his counsel was often sought by numbers around him. The 'Laird' of Dromore, had no small place in the hearts of the community.

"Of late years his thoughtfulness branched out in other directions. Something must be done for the intellectual life of the district, and as a place for holding public meetings and conferences was needed, he erected the fine hall, which has few equals in rural localities, and called it by the name of his wife's family, 'Russell Hall.' His plans did not end here. He had under contemplation, and had made extensive enquiries regarding, the establishment of a mechanics' institute in the village, and had not death stepped in, this would have been carried out. To human appearances Mr. Taylor seemed good for many years of life yet. His wonderful activity did not seem to diminish. He has fallen in the midst of an active career, yet he cannot be said to have died prematurely who has left such memories behind him. Mr. Taylor's father died 10 or 12 years ago, also suddenly, and in 1889, his youngest son Alex. died, aged 4 years and 4 months. His daughter Mary is 16 and Robert 14.

"Mr. John M. Findlay has for a long time been his trusted, right-hand man, and his intimate knowledge of Mr. Taylor's business, with his well-known popularity, will help to lighten Mrs. Taylor's load of care and grief."

GERMANY'S SUGAR MARKET.

The American Agriculturist says : "Germany means to control the American sugar market if possible. Less than a third of a century ago Germany imported most of her sugar, but she has since encouraged the beet sugar industry to such an extent that, besides supplying about all the sugar consumed in that country, the German beet factories now have a surplus for export, and the German Government has recently increased the export bounty on such sugar to enable it to monopolize the American market. Not only that, but it sent a commission to this country to examine into the possibilities of America producing its own sugar. The commissioners were Prof. Herzfeld and Dr. Frentzel, of Berlin ; Geo. Scheller, of Breslau, and T. Hecker, of Magdeberg. These gentlemen visited the six sugar factories now in successful operation in the United States—at Grand Island and Norfolk, Neb.; Lehi, Utah ; Watsonville, Alvarado, and Chino, Cal.—and were forced to admit that the national possibilities of this industry were far more flattering in this country than in Germany. Their report to this effect was one of the influences that induced the German Government to increase the export bounty on sugar in the hopes that heavy shipments to this country and lower prices would discourage the industry here. This commission was astonished at the fine quality of beets that were being produced for existing factories in our western states, and laid great stress on the fact that there are a great number of sections in the United States where the industry has a much better prospect than in Germany, because with early and late crops the factories can be operated for a much longer time than they can be worked in Germany."

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

MARKETS are looking up this week. That is because the fall trade has struck in. Merchants report a good movement, and are hopeful of a brisk trade. We have a decline in sugar, low prices for fruit, a dull provision market and an active flour trade.

The demand for sugar continues, but the price has gone the wrong way for the refinery. The Acadia Refinery's quotations are: Granulated, 4c.; extra Circle C, 3⅛c.; Circle C, 3c., which is a drop all round. The loss of the refinery at Moncton (which is owned by the Acadia Co.), will, no doubt, make a difference in supplies of refined, as it was working to its full capacity. The refinery was burned to the ground on Sunday night. The warehouse in which the refined sugar was stored was saved. The total insurance amounts to $332,000, which is mostly held by American companies. It is doubtful if it will be rebuilt.

Lower prices are anticipated in creamery butter, and local dealers holding large stocks have shown a decided disposition to unload.

Considerable business is being done in green fruits. Apples are low in the local market, but the reports from England encourage large shipments. The steamer St. John City took 13,874 bbls. to London on Saturday, and large shipments are being made to Liverpool and other British ports. No. 1 Gravensteins sold at auction on this market at $1.50 and No. 2's at $1.25, while inferior brands sold as low as $1 and $1.10. Heavy receipts of plums continue, and the price is going down every day. Greengages are selling at 30c. for extra good stocks per peck basket, and Lombards and other varieties at 25c. Canadian fruits continue to arrive freely.

Eggs have advanced 3c. since last report, being quoted to-day at 13c.

The provision market is slack. Beef is weak, selling at $6 to $7 per 100 lbs., sinking pelts, and $7.50 for extra good native. Sheep are worth $3, and lambs $2 to $2.10 for good stocks. Fresh pork is not in great demand, although the season has arrived when it is called for. Last week it was quoted at 7c., but this week it can be had for 6½c. Local dealers are carrying large stocks of mess and prime mess and jobs of fresh are for immediate consumption. P.E. Island mess is offered less than $12, and Chicago at $13.50 to $14. Canadian plate beef is quoted at $9.75 to $10.

Stocks of old pack canned goods are about used up. New goods on the market comprise peas and beans. Gallon apples are quoted at $1.85; butter and string beans, 80c.; Boston baked beans (Lewis'), $2.15; "Log Cabin," 95c.; corn, 85c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; pears, $1.65; peaches, 2's, $1.85; pineapples, sliced, $2; grafted, $2.25; plums, $1.60; raspberries, $1.25; strawberries, 2's, $2.25; tomatoes, 90 to 95c.; N.S. salmon (flats), 1's, $7 per case, talls, $8; lobsters (flats), 1's, $10 per case, and talls, $8 to $.50.

Oats are low. A milling firm at Sheet Harbor recently put in a large stock of Canadian at 30c. landed, which would mean 28c. at Halifax. Country dealers report that they can secure all they want of Nova Scotian at 30 to 32c.

Breadstuffs are fairly active. The enquiry is good on outshore account. Merchants are looking for an advance, which they say may be 5c. or probably 10c. per bbl. on flour. The demand for cornmeal and millfeed is also good. Quotations to-day are: Ogilvie's or Five Lilies, $4.40 to $4.50; Ontario made Manitobas, in wood, $3.80; Manitoba shipments, in sacks, $4.20 to $4.25; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $3.75 to $3.85; 80 p.c. patents, $3.70 to $3.80; 90 p.c. patents, $3.60 to $3.70; low grades, $3.15 to $3.25; oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.70 to $2.80; cornmeal, $1.85 to $1.95; middlings, per ton, $17 to $18; shorts, $15 to $16.50; bran, per ton, $15 to $16.50; white oats, per bushel, in sacks, 31 to 32c.; cotton seed meal, per ton, $22 to $23; oil cake meal, per ton, $23 to $24; hay, per ton, $12 to $13; split peas, $3.15: pot barley, $3.50; white beans, per bushel, 85 to 95c.; No. 1 chopped feed, per ton, $18.50.

There is a fair movement in fishstuffs. Ruling quotations to-day are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50; large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.50; Labrador, $2 to $2.25; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.25; Bay of Islands herrings, $1; No. 1, large, f.o.b. shore, $3 to $3.50; alewives, $3; mackerel, No. 3, large, $7.50 to $8; salmon, No. 1, $12; No. 2, $10.50; No. 3, $9.

WHEN THE RESTRAINTS ARE GONE.

THE trade outlook in Canada continues to brighten. In all kinds of farm produce there is an abundance and of good quality. Prices are light, but the indications are rather towards an appreciation than otherwise. The fruit crop is even more prolific than the cereal crop. Taking it all round, it is probable we never had such an abundant yield of fruit before. As for the mining industries, the interest that is being awakened in them is unprecedented in this country. The railway earnings continue to show gains compared with the past couple of years, and the monthly bank statements show improvement in the trade of the country rather than deterioration. The cheese industry is in an excellent condition. Stocks in store-keepers' hands are light, and constant buying is necessary to keep them assorted, while merchants' liabilities are in much the same condition as their stocks. Then the growing character of our export trade must not be forgotten.

The undoubted chief drawback to trade is the unsatisfactory condition of business in the United States. Trade in that country was probably never worse than it is to-day. American manufacturers who have been in Canada lately have no hesitation in saying that business in their home market is worse than it was during the crisis of two years ago. Confidence is gone, and they cannot sell goods. The representative of one manufacturing concern when in Toronto a few days ago was authority for the statement that three of their travelers during July last did less than one-third the business that one of them did in the same month a year ago.

This deplorable condition of affairs in the United States must necessarily have its influence upon trade in Canada. With excessive stocks in their factories the manufacturers across the line, while in many staple lines holding up prices on the home market by the aid of combinations, are endeavoring to get relief by slaughtering the Canadian and other foreign markets. The consequence is that the manufacturers in this country have found it necessary in most instances to reduce their prices in order to meet competition; but, in spite of this, these slaughter-priced goods are coming into the Dominion.

This deleterious influence from the United States may be expected to obtain till November next, when the presidential election is held. As to whether trade will after that be better or worse depends whether victory perches upon the shoulders of the sound or unsound money candidate. If the honors fall to the sound money man we may expect to see a rapid recovery of business in the United States.

In Canada we have no crisis staring us in the face, and the removal of the threatened crisis in the United States will give increased confidence to the business interests of this country and impart an impetus to trade.

Of all our branches of industry the only one which is really dull is that appertaining to lumber. At the mills are two years' supplies of lumber. In consequence of this, not a fractional part of the lumbermen that usually go into the woods will go this winter. A great many of the mills will send none at all. While this necessity is deplored, yet the fact that it is a necessity commands this decision.

But the cloud that is hanging over this particular industry is not without its silver lining. THE CANADIAN GROCER is informed by millmen that an improved trade in deals and wide boards is being done on English account. Some mills in fact are experiencing difficulty in filling orders promptly. Then there is the promising trade of South America and South Africa to take into account, while with a revival of trade in the United States is certain to come a revival of the demand for Canadian lumber.

Trade in Canada to-day, while not as large as it might or should be, is nevertheless on a sound foundation. Merchants' liabilities are light, business methods are improving and careful dealing is the rule. There are some restraints upon trade. When these are removed business will become more active. There is no question about it.

What we want in this country more than anything else is confidence. And for the attainment of this confidence it is only necessary to glance at the richness of the natural resources of the Dominion, to consider the prospects for developing the chief of them and then to compare the commercial conditions of this country with those obtaining in the United States.

WANT CITY POSTAGE LOWERED.

THE Montreal Board of Trade has decided to renew its agitation to secure a reduced rate for city letters. Its representations to the late Government were unsuccessful, but it has resolved to try again with the new Administration.

The merits of this question have been threshed out so often before that repetition would be tiresome. Perhaps the new Government will be more pliable than the last, but some doubt is expressed. The Government contention has always been that it is a question of revenue. The business men in reply hold that the increased business that would follow would more than offset the reduction. Perhaps they are right. At any rate, if the Government can be induced to make the change, it will ingratiate itself with the business public in a most effective way.

A DOMINON BOARD OF TRADE.

The Ottawa Board of Trade is in correspondence with other boards in Canada in regard to the resuscitation of the Dominion Board of Trade.

This defunct body was never of much benefit in the old days. This, however, was due more to its machinery and methods rather than any other cause.

Times have changed since it died a natural death, and in this age of concentration and combined effort, it would very possibly do good work. At any rate, if it did nothing else than hold a regular annual gathering, the simple interchange of ideas at such a time would be beneficial and pay for the trouble taken. The experiment is certainly worth a trial.

The Council of the Montreal Board has already decided that it will join issue with its Ottawa brother, and no doubt other organizations will follow suit.

TO EXTEND OUR TRADE.

The Montreal Board of Trade have already taken the initial steps in response to the invitation of Sir Richard Cartwright for suggestions as to ways and means of extending the trade of the Dominion. They have appointed a committee composed of some of the ablest members to take steps to procure and supply the Hon. Minister with the desired information.

The members of the committee are: Jno. McKergow, Charles Chaput, Jas. Crathern, David McFarlane, Wm. McNally, Henry Miles and Henry Nivin.

Other boards of trade should also take action with as little delay as possible.

THE SALMON SITUATION.

THE canned salmon situation is interesting, more on account of the uncertainty which surrounds it than on account of the transactions which are being made, as far as eastern Canada is concerned.

All advices which are being received from the Coast are firm in their nature, but still people in the east continue to hold off.

Latest figures to hand, both through private sources and the British Columbia papers, now practically agree as to the size of the pack. The British Columbia Commercial Journal places the total pack at 549,544 cases, of which 308,924 cases are from the Fraser, 90,280 from the Skeena, 107,300 from Rivers Inlet and from other northern points 34,040 cases. This same paper states that there is a difference of opinion in regard to the cohoe pack, but it is believed that there will be between 50,000 and 60,000 cases of that quality of fish packed before the canneries finally close down. "If they are able to do so the total pack for British Columbia this year will be fully 600,000 cases," it adds. Malcolm & Windsor, of Steveston, B.C., in a letter printed elsewhere, estimate the pack on the Fraser at 300,000 cases, and the total pack of the province at 525,000 cases. In regard to cohoes, they say it is not anticipated that the pack will be anything like it was last year. Cohoe fishing started on the 15th inst.

On the Toronto market there have during the past few weeks been many rumors flying about in regard to the prices at which cohoes were being offered for future delivery. It was alleged that there had been transactions as low as $3.25 to $3.30 f.o.b. at the Coast, but we have never been able to substantiate these figures. Buyers persistently averred that $3.50 was the lowest and the ruling figure they had been quoted. But that at least one packer was ready to accept less than that figure is evident from the fact that he has this week advised a Toronto house that he has found it necessary to advance his figure 10c. per case, his lowest price now being $3.50.

None of the correspondence from the Coast indicates any weakness in the situation regarding sockeye salmon. One correspondent states that tonnage has been provided for the shipment of 400,000 cases of salmon to the United Kingdom, while already 20,000 cases have been shipped to Australia, and a like quantity overland to eastern Canada. It is said that sales of tall tins are being made for shipment to the United Kingdom at $4.60 f. o. b. on the Coast.

The situation in England is strong. The Produce Markets' Review of the 12th inst., in reference to the London market, says: "Fraser River talls continue to sell freely. Very little stock is held in London, and as Liverpool stocks are becoming reduced, holders are asking advanced rates, a course in which they are apparently justified; when this season's small pack of tall tins is taken into consideration. The position of flat tins is different, the canneries having packed a larger proportion of this size than usual, and it is expected that opening prices will be lower than for several seasons."

Eastern Canada is evidently the least interested of the salmon consuming centres, but it is not the chief consuming centre.

BUSINESS MEN AS LAW MAKERS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has during the past three or four years ardently championed reform in the Cabinets, Federal Parliament and Legislative Assemblies of the country.

The particular reform we urged was appointment and election of practical business men to offices and membership in these governing bodies.

We cared nothing whether the appointees were Conservative or Reform in politics, but we cared a great deal whether they were business men or not.

A practical, intelligent business man is a business man, no matter with which political party he associates himself. He will be guided in the Cabinet and in the House by the instincts of business just as the mariner is guided by the compass.

Reforms move slowly. And the particular reform we have been championing is moving, and a little better than slowly too.

Lately the Ontario Cabinet and the Legislature of the province have each been augmented by a man of the desired description. We have reference to the appointment of Mr. E. J. Davis to the Provincial Secretaryship, and the election of Mr. Andrew Pattullo to the Legislature for North Oxford. Both are practical business men of long experience.

Mr. Davis has for years been actively engaged in the hide and leather business, and is a member of the Toronto Board of Trade.

Mr. Pattullo is the publisher of a successful provincial newspaper. But besides his duties as publisher and editor, he has for several years been prominently connected with the cheese and dairying interests of the country. Hard and continuously has he labored in behalf of these interests, and in 1895 he was elected to the important position of president of the Western Dairymen's Association. He, too, may be termed the father of the good roads movement in Ontario. At any rate, nothing practical was done until he interested himself in the matter, and succeeded in securing the formation of the Good Roads Association.

Reforms move slowly, but the movement for government by business men for the business interests of the country, instead of by professional politicians for themselves, is growing apace.

THE SITUATION IN THE STATES.

IN reply to an enquiry from THE GROCER the manager of one of the largest banks in New York has kindly written the following for us: "The financial situation has been very bad for some time. Deposits are very low. Banks are indisposed to lend or buy paper and there is a strong inclination on the part of moneyed men to hold on to their funds until they can see how the election will likely go. Owing to the recent drop in exchange, banks and bankers took occasion to strengthen their position by importing gold. Altogether some seventy millions were engaged and about three-fourths has been delivered. This, together with the growing belief that Bryan and his silver crew will get badly beaten in November next, has had the tendency of greatly relieving the situation. The movement of currency to the West and South to move the crops has made the New York banks poor and curtailed their loanable funds, so that the money market is still very tight, but I think things will grow better from now on.

"Of course, no real boom will start until after the election is settled. If Bryan is overwhelmed conditions will improve rapidly, but if only beaten we will have another four years of distrust. Reports from our correspondents in the South and West seem to indicate that the silver craze is abating except in the few silver-producing states and they don't count for anything. I am sorry the Republicans had not a better candidate than McKinley, but the Democrats have a good gold ticket in the field and I hope between the two that Bryan will be swamped."

LABRADOR FISHERY A FAILURE.

According to press despatches, the Labrador inshore fishery is a complete failure this season.

The mail steamer which arrived at St. John's, Nfld., on 17th, brought reports that there was no improvement in the catch; in fact, one of the worst on record. Numbers of vessels have returned home, having abandoned the fishery, and their crews are now seeking employment upon the railway, in order to secure enough food to carry them over the winter. It is feared that considerable destitution will exist in the northern portion of the island next winter owing to the failure of the fishery.

A SALMON FIRM'S VIEW.

MALCOLM & WINDSOR, of Steveston, B.C., under date of Sept. 9, write THE CANADIAN GROCER as follows: "The extension of the sockeye fishing season by the new Government to the 1st of September, for which none of the canners seem to have asked, was of no use to anyone, few if any fish being taken after the 21st of August, the season practically closing to all intents and purposes then.

"Though it is extremely difficult to obtain any reliable information as to the exact pack of the Fraser before the salmon is actually cased up and shipped, yet it is pretty safe to take this as being in the neighborhood of 300,000 cases, while the Northern total pack is close on 225,000 cases, or a total of 525,000 cases for the province to date.

"Some few canneries on the river here intend to put up cohoes, though it is not anticipated that the cohoe run this year will be anything like so good as last year.

"Taken as a whole, the past season has been satisfactory to neither canners nor fishermen, the fish running too much in 'spurts' to render steady packing practicable, though the quantity of fish caught was largely in excess of previous poor years.

"Trap fishing this year can hardly be termed a great success, some of the canners having invested in this mode of fishing being heavy losers, many of the traps not having taken enough fish to pay the wages of the men looking after them.

"Cohoe fishing starts on the 15th of the present month. Some of the canners purpose putting up this fish in flat cans, and it will be interesting to note how this experiment turns out, cohoes having heretofore been packed in the well-known 'tall' cans.

"From private advices from England we learn that conservative estimates place the quantity of salmon sold to arrive at 150,000 cases, the bulk of these being in flats and half-flats. This will doubtless have the effect of keeping the market firm."

THE FIG CROP.

The present fig season is a later one than usual, the first loads having arrived at Smyrna eight days later than last year. The excessive heat appears to have been the cause of the delay.

Advices state that the delay in the curing may ultimately diminish the size of the crop, which was expected to be rather larger than that of last year. The size of the crop, however, is of secondary consideration in this article, as the shipments do not depend so much upon it as on the extent of the financial facilities.

The total shipments of figs as per Smyrna manifests during the past two years were as follows:

	1895.		1894.
	Cases.	Bags.	Cases.	Bags.
London and outports	17,012	45,023	20,844	59,572
Liverpool	16,834	50,840	22,076	35,230
U. S. and Canada	19,211	24,453	10,345	23,064
	53,057	120,316	53,195	117,866

Last season, it will be remembered, the shipments of figs on both English and American account, exceeded the consumptive demand. Prolopazzi Bros., in their advices, state that should the coming season see a glut it is more likely to occur in the United Kingdom than in America.

STRENGTH IN VALENCIA RAISINS.

CABLE advices from Denia on Valencia raisins continue firm, the advance since prices opened being equivalent to 1s. to 1s. 6d. per cwt. At this writing new fruit cannot be sold for less than 6 to 6½c., as to quality.

Last year at this time fine off-stalk cost in the vicinity of 5c., and were being jobbed out at from 5 to 5¼c., according to quantity.

Prices at present, therefore, are 1c. per pound dearer than last year.

It is considered doubtful by some importers that this strength will be maintained. According to their advices, the strength at primary centres is due to an increased European demand, which has been larger than in previous seasons owing to the general improvement in the industrial and commercial situation in Europe.

The crop, however, is generally admitted to be up to the average, and it is expected that the European demand will diminish to a certain extent shortly.

In this event it is natural to expect a reaction from present prices at primary points. In the meantime, however, shippers are firm, and any bid for immediate shipment means that their views have to be met or the bidder has to do without the goods.

TRADE CONDITIONS IN THE WEST

MR. JAMES DOWLER, Northwest representative of the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., is in Toronto on a visit. Mr. Dowler emphasizes what has already been said regarding the improved commercial outlook in Manitoba, the Territories and British Columbia.

"You know," he said, "farming is becoming more diversified, and consequently the farmers' sources of revenue are increasing. The crops are good throughout the west except in a few streaks here and there where the hailstorms passed through. The farmers in those streaks will have poor crops, but they are in some measure being compensated by the work they are finding on their neighbors' farms.

"The whole financial outlook is improving. The merchants are not giving as much credit as they formerly did, and, what is more, the farmers are not asking for it. Neither is there the same thoughtless purchasing of agricultural implements. The farmers are using more discretion in this respect.

"Ranching is developing nicely. Now, take Maple Creek and that part of the country west of that place as far as Medicine Hat, I believe nine out of every ten who went in there have made money. The ranches, as a rule, in that part of the country, were small at the start, but some of them have now big bands and their owners are in easy circumstances."

Mr. Dowler said there was need of improved railway facilities in the west, dwelling particularly upon the necessity of the construction of a road into the Kootenay country through the Crow's Nest Pass.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS DAMAGED.

Advices from the Coast this week state that the rains are severely damaging the crop of California raisins in many sections.

For this reason the proportion of inferior and low-grade fruit this season is expected to be much larger than usual. No change is advised in values, which continue firm, as last quoted.

The first direct shipments to Canadian markets are not expected to arrive at their destinations until the third week in October.

H. P. GOULD & CO.'S FIRE.

Although the fire last week did much damage to the building occupied by H. P. Gould & Co., Church and Colborne streets, Toronto, the firm's facilities for doing business have not been crippled, the fire having been confined to the rear of the building.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THIS week does not show as much activity as the one which it succeeds. At the same time, however, there is still a nice volume of business being done, and the general opinion is that it is up to the average of other years. Sugar is still the most unsatisfactory feature of the grocery trade. There is a good deal of it going out, but the sore spot is prices, which are still tending downward. Canned goods have a great deal of uncertainty surrounding them, and both wholesalers and retailers are slow to place orders. The first shipment of new season's Valencia raisins are exhausted, and it will be another week or ten days before the second lot arrives. Currants are dearer in the primary markets, and firm and in good demand locally. The first shipment of Malaga raisins is due here in a few days. The tea market continues firm, particularly in Indian and Ceylon growths.

CANNED GOODS.

The cold days which we have been experiencing during the last few days have imparted a little better tone to the market for tomatoes, although it does not follow that the market is what might be termed strong. The feeling is really a little unsettled, although not so much so as it was. The packers of the best brands of tomatoes are quoting 65c. in carload lots, but brands not so well known can be obtained at lower prices. There are not many canned goods of any kind offering Regarding canned salmon, the position is much the same as it was a week ago. The talk at the moment appears to be principally as to cohoes. A few houses have placed orders, but there seems to be an inclination to hold off in this line as well as in regard to sockeye fish. Some packers who were holding prices at $3.40 have advanced their figures ten cents per case. The demand from retailers is light for all kinds of canned goods. We quote as follows : Tomatoes, 75 to 80c., for prompt shipment, and 70 to 75c. for future delivery, corn, 55 to 75c. ; peas, 75 to 80c. for ordinary; sifted select, 95c. ; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45 ; "Maple Leaf," $1.40 to $1.45 ; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins ; cohoes, $1.20 to $1.25 ; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30 ; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.60 to $2.65; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

The outside markets are a little firmer on Rio coffee, Locally there is nothing new to report. We quote green in bags : Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c. ; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to25c.

SYRUPS.

There are none offering, and practically none wanted. We quote : Dark, 28 to 31c.; medium, 33 to 35c. ; bright, 40 to 42c. ; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is quiet, with prices steady. We quote : New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c. ; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The position of the local market is most unsatisfactory, the wholesalers universally now practically selling at refiners' prices. "The refiners," remarked the representative of one refinery, "have reached the conclusion that the limit of endurance has been reached, and they are making a stand against further reductions." The demand for sugar is still fairly good, but the orders are small individually. Retailers have so little confidence in the market that they are only buying from hand to mouth. Up to the time of writing there has been no change in the London market since the 15th inst., when there was a reduction of 1½d. on cane. New York is steady. The ruling wholesale quotation is now 4.15 to 4.25c. for granulated, and 3.15c. up for yellows.

SPICES.

Pickling spices are about the only kinds which are receiving much attention. We quote : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c. ; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, ETC.

The chief demand is still for tapioca and sago, rice receiving but little attention. We

NUTS.

Quotations on Grenoble walnuts have been received. They are a little lower than last year. Mail advices from Marseilles state that the new crop will arrive about the end of October. The quality is expected to be good, if it can be dried as carefully as last year's crop. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The first shipment of new season's China green teas are to hand this week, and there have been a few transactions in them. The teas are showing a shade better value than last year. There has been a small trade doing in Japan teas, but China black teas are neglected. Latest mail advices from London report the market firmer on Indian and Ceylon teas. Good liquoring pekoes and broken pekoes are ½ to 1d. dearer, while medium grades show an advance of ½d. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

The Valencia raisin market is much stronger than it was a week ago. Owing to the scarcity of selected fruit the market advanced 1s. some ten days ago, and another advance of 1s. was reported on the 16th, off-stalk and fine off-stalk remaining unchanged. On Monday, however, a cable announced an advance of 2s. on off-stalk and fine off-stalk, with the further information that the crop was now proved to be a decidedly short one. Cable orders have been placed at the advanced prices. Some shippers have withdrawn their prices altogether. The first shipment of new season's Valencia raisins have been practically exhausted, and the second lot will not be here for a week or ten days.

Currants have advanced 6d. during the past week. Locally the demand is good and prices unchanged. We still quote as follows: Provincials, 3¾ to 3⅞c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4 to 4⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 4⅛ to 4¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Patras, 4¼ to 4½c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.

Sultana raisins are firm and unchanged at 5½ to 6½c.

There is nothing new to report in regard to prunes. We quote nominally as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c.; "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

California fruits are receiving a little more attention from wholesalers, there having been a few sales. Prices of all grades are much as before. We quote wholesale prices as follows: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c. in bags and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Jamaica oranges will be on the market before the week is out. They will sell at from $7 to $7.50 per barrel and $4.50 to $4.75 per box. Rodi oranges are lower than they were a week ago. The trade is now confined to new lemons. Both the supply and the demand is good. Bananas are quiet. An increasing demand is reported for sweet potatoes. The season is about over in tomatoes. Grapes are still in good demand. Good staple pears are selling well, but apples are difficult to sell. Peaches are still arriving, but the best varieties are done. We quote: Oranges—Rodis and Sorrentos, $6 to $6.50 per box; Jamaicas, $7 to $7.50 per bbl. and $4.50 to $4.75 per box. Lemons—Sorrentos, 360's, $4 to $5; Maoris, 300's, $5 to $6. Bananas, 75c. to $1.25; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.25 a sack and 60c. per doz.; tomatoes, 15 to 25c. per basket; Jersey sweet potatoes,

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of butter are heavy. The choice article is being pretty well taken care of, but medium and low-grade butter is accumulating fast, some of the houses holding large quantities. It is estimated that the make of both creamery and dairy pound prints and blocks is two-thirds larger than it was a few weeks ago. The demand is good for fine dairy tubs and pound prints, but creamery pound blocks are not nearly as much wanted as they were a month ago, the price of dairy butter being so cheap. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 13 to 13½c. for good to choice ; low grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c. 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The market is a little easier again, with buyers and sellers apart. Locally there is no particular change to note. August make is quoted at 9 to 9¼c. by the jobbers. September make has sold as high as 9½ to 9⅝c. at the cheese boards.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is little or nothing doing, and jobbers' prices run from 75 to 80c. per bush. Not much interest appears to be taken in the market, notwithstanding the reported short crop.

DRIED APPLES—Dull. The only kind offering is early fruit, which is dark and not wanted. The jobbing price is nominally 2½c. Dark fruit is quoted at 1c. in Chicago.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There have been some enquiries on export account, and although we hear of a few transactions on the basis of 4½c. f.o.b., prices, as a rule, seem to be above the export basis.

EGGS—Are a little firmer, the cooler weather having caused receipts to fall off. Shippers in some instances are asking ½c. per dozen higher than they were a few days ago. The idea as to price is 12½ to 13c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote : Strained, 7 to 8c., in 50-lb. tins, and comb at $1.75 per dozen.

POTATOES—We hear of transactions at equal to 40c. on track. Jobbers are selling at 45 to 50c. per bag.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The position in provisions continues strong, the demand keeping active while stocks are light. Dressed hogs are in fairly liberal supply and packers will start operations next week. Heavy hogs are quoted at $4.25 to $4.75, and light at $5 to $5.25 delivered. These prices are much about the same as they were a year ago.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5 to 5½c. for carload lots, and 5½ to 5¾c. for small lots ; backs, 7 to 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50 ; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, FEED, ETC.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are only fair. We quote : White wheat, 66 to 67c. ; red, 65 to 66c.; goose, 50 to 51c.; oats, 19 to 22c.; peas, 40 to 42c.

FLOUR—Prices have been advanced 15c. per barrel, and the demand is good. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto : Manitoba patents, $3.85 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.45; Ontario patents, $3.75 to $3.85. Straight roller is about $3.20 to $3.25, Toronto freights.

BALED HAY—Steady ; cars on the track here are quoted at $10.75 to $11.25 ; medium is quoted at $9.

BREAKFAST FOODS — The cheapness of fruit during the past few weeks affected materially the consumption of breakfast foods, but business since the cooler weather set in has improved the demand for the latter. We quote : Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.50 ; rolled wheat, $2 ; cornmeal, $2.35 to $2.45 ; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50 ; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish trade is beginning to attract a little more attention. Oysters are in fair demand and without change in price. Labrador herring are going to be scarce this season. A fair demand is reported for cured fish. We quote : White fish, 7½c.; trout, 7c.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $3.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.40 for standards, and $1.75 for New York counts.

SALT.

Business continues fairly active at unchanged prices. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack ; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote : F.O.B. barrels, 70c. ; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

About the only variety of seed which is moving to any extent is alsike, for which prices all the way from $3 to $4 per bushel are being paid the growers, with $4.25 being paid for an occasional lot of very fancy. Timothy, in sympathy with the low prices ruling in the west, is worth $1.35 to $1.50 per bushel.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are firm, with cured quoted at 6¼ to 6½c. Dealers pay 6c. for No. 1, 5c. for No. 2, and 4c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins 55 to 60c.

WOOL—Receipts are limited and prices unchanged. Fleece brings 18 to 19c.; rejections, 15c., and unwashed, 11c. Pulled supers are 20 to 20½c., and extras, 21 to 21½c.

PETROLEUM.

Trade is still fair. Pratt's astral is quoted slightly lower. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto : Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Currants are cabled 3 to 6d. dearer.

Labrador herrings will be scarce this season.

Butter is beginning to accumulate on the Toronto market.

Latest quotations received in Toronto on glucose showed an advance of ½c. per 100 lbs.

Toronto wholesalers are beginning to give some attention to new season's California fruits.

There have been some transactions in evaporated apples on export account on the basis of 4½c. f.o.b.

One packing house on the Coast advises its Toronto clients that it has advanced its price of cohoes 10c. per case.

Valencia raisins are much dearer in the primary market, and cables announce that the crop is a decidedly short one.

Jamaica oranges are on the Toronto market this week. They are quoted at $7 to $7.50 per barrel, and $4.50 to $4.75 per box.

Indian and Ceylon teas, good liquoring pekoes and broken pekoes, are, according to mail advices, ½ to 1d. dearer, and medium grades show an appreciation of ½c. per lb.

The first shipment of new crop Malaga lemons to the New York market via Liverpool has been made. The lot consists of 3,000 boxes. It is expected to arrive in a few days.

The first lot of new crop Malaga lemons amounting to 1,200 boxes, arrived in New York on the Lucania from Liverpool on Saturday.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Sept. 24, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE week has developed no striking change in the grocery situation here, matters being much as they were last week, except possibly that the aggregate volume of trade may be slightly greater than it was. Sugar continues unsettled as to first cost, and the demand from third hands is duller than it was last week, as retailers have bought rather freely of late. Syrups have ruled quiet and steady and molasses has exhibited a better feeling. Business in spices shows improvement, while values are steady. The weak feeling in coffee is not dispelled, very low prices having been accepted for Maracaibo and Rio. Naturally, the fact interferes with the demand. Teas have met with a better enquiry, especially blacks and gunpowders. Dried fruits of all kinds continue firm, and, as noted elsewhere, advances are cabled on Valencia raisins and also on currants. Prunes are steady, and the first arrivals of new French plums are expected here shortly. Austrian cannot be quoted and Californian are steady. Nuts are quiet and steady, while canned vegetables are demoralized and canned fruit is now showing a distinctly lower tendency. In fresh green fruit business is active, but prices are lower under increased receipts. New winter apples were offered this week. Produce and provisions continue generally as last reported.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has furnished no important change during the past week, but the easy feeling continues, and demand is not quite as brisk as it was in a wholesale way. Naturally, with the first cost as unsettled as it is, the jobbing range is irregular, and so it is. Nominally 4⅛ to 4¼c. is the range on granulated, and yellows 3 to 3¾c. or cost, but it is quite possible that these figures have been shaded in the case of a general order.

SYRUPS.

These continue quiet, while prices rule about steady at 1½ to 2¾c., as to quality and quantity.

MOLASSES.

There is no change in molasses, which continues quiet. The feeling, however, is rather steadier than it was last week, and though a round lot of Barbadoes or Porto Rico might be had at 27c., no small parcels of stock are available for less than 27½ to 28c. on both grades, and in a jobbing way we quote the range 29 to 31c.

RICE.

As was the case last week, there is a good demand for rice, and prices are well maintained. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

Business commenced to pick up a little in spices this week, but prices show no change. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The weak feeling noted in this market for some time continues and sales have been made at very low prices this week in round lots. Both Maracaibo and Rio have sold low, the former at 16c. and the latter at 15c. This unsettled feeling, of course, interferes with business in a small way and the roasters complain that this fall has been a record one for dulness. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 18c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

There has been a better demand for teas this week, especially in China teas, both blacks and gunpowders, about 800 packages changing hands at a range of 8½ to 14c. for the former and 8½ to 22c. for the latter. Offers of Japans in round lots also resulted in business on the basis of 13½ to 17½c. as to quality. All reports from travelers agree that stocks in retailers' hands are light and that once this demand sets in it will mean a good business. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grade; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The firm feeling noted in dried fruits at primary centres continues, and cables this week quoted advances at Denia of 1s. to 1s. 6d. from the opening prices. This strength is attributed by commission men here to the European demand, but they are not prepared to state that it will be maintained after this demand is satisfied. Some of them rather anticipate a reaction. At this writing the offerings of Valencia raisins on spot are light, it being doubtful if a buyer could get more than 100 boxes. They consist of arrivals via Liverpool, and are held at a range of 6 to 6½c., as to grade.

There is no change in California raisins, which are also firmly held by sellers. Nothing new is to report from the Coast except that shippers refuse to shade prices. We quote for forward delivery: 2-crown, 5 to 5¼c.; 3-crown, 6 to 6½c.; and 4-crown 7 to 7½c., the inside figures being very difficult to secure.

Currants are again cabled strong abroad this week, the net advance since the opening being placed at 1s. per cwt. On spot business is quiet, but prices are firmly held at a higher range, viz., 4¼ to 5c., as to quality, in barrels.

There is no change in prunes, the tone continuing firm. New crop French Imperial plums are offered at 4½ to 5c., and California prunes at 6 to 11c., as to grade. No quotation can be given on Austrian.

Evaporated California fruit has received fair attention and continues steady. We quote: Peaches, 8½c.; apricots, 12½c., and pears, 9c.

Figs are entirely cleaned up here and prices are nominal.

No offers of new crop dates have been offered here yet.

NUTS.

Nuts continue quiet. The first direct shipments of new stock to importers here are not expected until the end of October. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 13c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10½ to 11c.; filberts, 7 to 7½c.; peanuts 5 to 7c., and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4.25 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no improvement in the situation of this market and values on vegetables are very unsettled, while new crop fruit are also expected to open much lower. In fact no one is disposed to buy at all. We quote: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a fair trade in green fruit of all kinds this week, but prices generally are on the easy side. Fall apples are greatly in over-supply and rule easy. First receipts of winter apples arrived this week and are offering at $1.25 to $1.75. New Malaga lemons are offering at $3 to $4 to arrive. They are expected in the course of a fortnight. We quote: Winter apples, $1.25 to $1.75, fall ditto, 50c. to $1; peaches, 50c. to $1; plums, 30 to 60c.; pears, $3 to $8 per box, as to grade; old lemons, $1 to

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is no change in eggs, which rule steady at 11½ to 12c. for No. 1.

BEANS—As last reported: Car lots on track, 70 to 75c.; smaller quantities, 80 to 90c.

HOPS—Quiet and steady at 7c.

HONEY—A few small lots are moving at 10 to 12c.

POTATOES—Receipts on the increase, but prices are maintained at 35 to 40c. per bag.

DRIED APPLES—Nominal at 3 to 3½c., and evaporated at 5½ to 6c.

BALED HAY—Continues easy, No. 1 selling lower at $10 to $10.25, and No. 2, at $8.75.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market is without change. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 11c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 7 to 7½c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5 to 5½c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There has been a fair demand for flour this week, the demand on Lower Province account being a leading feature. Values have a firmer tendency also in sympathy with the steadily rising wheat market. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.60 to $3.80; spring wheat, patents, $3.75 to $3.90; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50; straight roller, bags, $1.60 to $1.65; extra bags, $1.30 to $1.35; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.25 to $3.50.

There was no change in the situation of the oatmeal market. The demand continues slow, and rolled oats are offering freely at $2.60 in wood and at $1.25 per bag. We quote: Standard, bbls., $2.80 to $2.90; granulated, bbls., $2.90 to $3; rolled oats, bbls., $2.60; rolled oats, per bag, $1.25.

A fair amount of business was reported in feed, and the market rules steady. We quote: Bran, $10 to $11; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $17.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The lull in the speculative demand for cheese continues, and buyers are resting on their oars until they find out whether the consumptive demand in Great Britain is going to respond to the recent advance. At present, bids are being reduced in the country, 9⅛ to 9⅜c. being the range of offers for September make. Factorymen, however, having closed out their last half August for that and more, want 9½c. and better for their September goods, and are trying to get it by holding back. At the wharf this week 4,000 French country cheese sold fractionally lower than last week at 9¼c.

There has been a sudden advance developed in the butter market this week. On Saturday last shippers were slow buyers, or claimed to be, at 17¼c. To-day offers are being freely made of 17¾ to 18c., and even 18¼ to 18½c. for boxes.

ASHES.

There is no change in ashes. We quote; Firsts, $3.50 to $3.55; seconds, $3.05 to $3.10; and pearls, $4.55 to $4.60 per 100 lbs.

MARKET NOTES.

The unsettled feeling in sugar prices at the refineries continues.

New French plums will soon be on this market. They are offering to arrive at 4½ to 5c.

The first direct shipments of new nuts to this market are expected toward the close of October.

Round lots of low grades black and gunpowder teas were closed off the market this week at 8½c.

Currants at primary markets have advanced 1s. per cwt. from the opening, and Valencia raisins 1s. 6d.

First receipts of winter varieties of new crop apples were offered this week. They are selling at $1.25 to $1.75.

Round lots of Barbadoes and Porto Rico molasses have changed hands at 27c., but nothing can now be had under 27½c.

Both Maracaibo and Rio coffee in round lots has been sold to roasters here this week at a decline of ½c. per pound on previous prices.

Commission men here look for low offers on new canned fruit as well as on vegetables, and expect the drop to be quite as sharp.

Cables on apples from Liverpool on Tuesday quoted a decline of 2s. The fruit offering, however, was all from the United States.

Travelers report to their houses that the stock of tea in retailers' hands in most sections is unusually light. This should mean demand soon.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 24, 1896.

THE chief topic of interest during the week has been the prospects of the Government granting a subsidy to the steamers making Portland their winter port. The feeling is very strong through the Maritime Provinces and it is felt by people of both partles that a great wrong will be done if an American port is to have greater advantages than a Canadian port, through Canadian Government aid. That fall is here and that the large summer travel is at an end is seen by the Boston steamers changing from six to two trips per week, and the Digby steamer from two to one trip per day. In markets there is but little encouragement. Sugar is again weaker and in molasses also lower prices are quoted. Butter and cheese tend higher, and flour keeps firm.

OIL—In cod oil prices tend easier. The quantity arriving, though not excessive, exceeds the present demand. Burning oil is moving better and future delivery orders are being taken, people beginning to think of winter supply. We quote: American burning oil, 21c.; best Canadian, 19½c.; prime, 17c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—There has been a fairly good demand for coarse, and as stocks continue light a good price is obtained. Market is not, however, strong, as some is expected both direct from Liverpool and via Boston, and the season is getting late. We quote: Coarse, 50 to 52c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS — The interest is less. The dealers are now trying to sell without having to give their goods away. In round lots, however, some low prices are heard of. A new patent-opening tin has been shown here; it differs from the old style in that a can containing liquid can be opened without spilling the contents, which is not possible with other key-opening cans. It is thought that some of the goods this season will be in this style of tin, for which a small extra price will be asked. Canned lobsters are very scarce in this market, and quoted high. One or two new brands of haddies are seen, but in some cases they are not offered in this market, but sold west, where there is a good demand. We quote: Corn, 70 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 75c.; tomatoes, 70 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.90 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—This is an active line. Plums arrive in large quantities from Nova Scotia and sell cheap. The low price has made a very active demand, boxes being about five cents better price than baskets. In apples, the quantity arriving is large and the sales very dull. There are two auction sales a day, at which a dollar is a high price. Best Gravensteins, the highest-priced apple on the market at this season, are slow at $1.50. A few West India oranges have been offered here. Grapes have been very large arrivals and have retailed as low as 25c. per basket. Pears are rather higher. Some nice Nova Scotia pears are now offered. In peaches Canadian hold the market and give good satisfaction. We quote: Lemons, $6 to $7; Valencia oranges, $7 to $8; bananas, $1 to $2.90; grapes, 25 to 60c. per basket; peaches, $1.25 to $1.75; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; keg grapes, $5 to $6; Bartlett pears, $6 to $7; N.S. plums, 25 to 40c.

DRIED FRUIT—In this line there is now somewhat of the interest which there has of late been in canned goods. About five cars of California raisins are reported sold. It is said some shippers are shading prices, but it is known that a number refuse orders except at their quotations. Valencia raisins are being quoted more freely and rather lower prices are quoted. French plums are quoted rather lower. Regarding prunes, one large shipper states if there is any change they will be higher. It is expected the sale of cleaned currants will be larger than ever this season. Most of our dealers now put up their cartoons under their own brands. Evaporated apples are lower and there is no demand. Dried are a drug and very low prices are quoted from the west. Nuts begin to have interest. We quote: Valencias, 4c.; layers, 5½c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c.; London layers, $2 to $2.25; currants, cases, 4 to 4½c.; bbls., 3¾ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 6 to 7c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 4 to 5c.; evaporated apples, 6c.; Egyptian onions, 1½ to 1¾c.; American onions, $2.75 to $3 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Good butter continues scarce, but it is still difficult to get full price for creamery. Of poor there is always a large quantity. In cheese, stocks here are light, and there is some inquiry, but prices are well below those asked by Ontario parties. Stocks in first hands at the factories are also not large, there being a comparatively small make this season. Eggs find fair sale at even prices. We quote: Dairy butter, 17 to 18c.; new creamery, prints, 20 to 22c.; do., tubs, 18 to 20c. Cheese, 9 to 9½c. Eggs, 9½ to 10c.

SUGAR—Merchants have not been so disappointed in years as this season in sugar, large quantities of sugar having been sold well below cost, to say nothing of the expense in carrying large stock—much of it in outside storage. Not only has the market not advanced, it has not even stood still, but has dropped off little by little, and is quoted again lower this week. We quote: Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c.; yellows, 3 to 3½c.; Paris lump, 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The market has had many surprises this season. Early it was thought there would be little Porto Rico come here, but importations have been far larger than ever. Never for years was there so small a demand for Barbadoes, which early in the season it was thought would be high, but which instead declined. Sales at present of all grades are very dull. New Orleans show a fair demand, and there is some enquiry for syrups. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 28 to 30c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—Owing to large arrivals, dry cod continues easy, but there is a good demand. Prices are quoted rather lower. In pickled fish best grades are scarce and high. A quantity of Nova Scotia herring arriving this week are held high. There are a few very nice Quoddy's in the market. Shad are in small supply, and for fall caught very firm prices are asked. In smoked herring bloaters have a ready sale, and kippered herring are in good demand at fair prices. Smoked herring and sardines have no demand. In boneless trade is becoming very active, and large shipments are being made. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.85 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.25 to $1.30 per half-bbl.; smoked, 4 to 5c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5; Shelburne, $2.75 bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Yarmouth, 4c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; Quoddy herring, $2.75 half-bbl.; kippered, $1 per box.

PROVISIONS —There is a fair sale. Beef is rather easier. Hams are firmer, but are lower here than at other points, while in lard it is being sold out of store at same price it now costs to land, but then it has been held in stock for some time. We quote: Clear pork, $12.75 to $13.50; mess, $13 to $13.50; beef, $12 to $13; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7¼c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—There is little new. Manitoba flour has an increasing sale. Prices in flour show no change. Oatmeal is rather easy, in sympathy with oats. Ontario oats, which are as a rule favorites here, are this season, owing to quality, not so much preferred. Island oats will rule low. Cornmeal is selling in very large quantities, and is again rather lower, owing largely to competition between millers. Beans show no change. Stocks are large and sales rather limited. In hay, some shipments are being made to Boston. Market shows little change. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.40 to $4.50; best Ontario, $4 to $4.20; medium, $3.95 to $4; oatmeal, $2.85 to $3; cornmeal, $1.85 to $2; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do do, $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1; prime, 90c.; oats, 29 to 30c.; hay, $13 to 14; barley, $3.25; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat meal, $1.25.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A shipment of dry fish for Brazil passed through here this week.

The annual meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade will be held here on Sept. 29. A large number of delegates will be present, and matters of great importance to these provinces will be considered.

Peaches are now being grown in the Annapolis Valley successfully.

St. John has a new biscuit manufactory called the Queen Biscuit Co.

Twenty-one cars of corn arrived here one day this week, for a city miller.

Our merchants received large shipments of Delhi canned goods during the week.

Upward of fifty cars of blueberries were shipped from Petitcodiac station this year.

J. Hunter White has been appointed agent for the Imperial Cocoanut Co., Toronto.

Large shipments of finnan haddies are now being made from here to Montreal and points west.

Shaffner Bros., of Clementsport, have sold their business to their head clerk, Herbert Hicks.

A shipment of "Maple Leaf" bird seed from Nicholson & Brock was received this week by Jardine & Co.

Special apple trains are now being run through the Annapolis Valley and shipments are being made to English markets.

John Sealy, whose boneless fish is so well known west, reports demand active, orders coming in more freely than usual at this season.

Reports from Prince Edward Island are to the effect that hay and oats open low. They feel the low price of pork very much, but in the prompt sale of their large output of cheese at good prices find an offset. The oyster season is now well under way and steady shipments are being made.

H. B. Short and James Ellis have started a fish business at Digby, N.S. They have that experience which should make a successful business.

The president of the Chatham Board of Trade is to be congratulated on his success in obtaining a lower rate of freight on flour to his town. Had the cut not been made arrangements for importing by water would have resulted.

Everything points to the success of our Exhibition opening this week. Dairy interests will be very largely represented. D. M. McPherson will act as judge of cheese. In fruit D. H. Knowlton, Farmington, Maine, will act as judge.

PICKLES BY THE CARLOAD.

The largest consignment of pickles ever passed by the Canadian Customs, was delivered last Wednesday to H. P. Eckardt & Co., Toronto. It amounted to two carloads, the product of H. J. Heinz Co., of Pittsburg, Pa., who have just appointed H. P. Eckardt & Co. to be their Ontario agents. The goods were packed in private cars, the property of H. J. Heinz Co., and their highly decorated white exteriors made quite a show, as they stood on the tracks at the foot of Scott street. Mr. Matthes, who represents the manufacturers, and is still in Toronto, mentioned to THE CANADIAN GROCER that he has two more carloads made up of catsups, sauces, etc., close at hand, which he expects to deliver to their agents in a few days.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

THE Pure Gold Mfg. Co. have sent several consignments of their Vienna coffee, with patent grater, to British Columbia, the largest being to Kelly, Douglas & Co., of Vancouver.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are the Hamilton agents for Spratt's dog biscuits.

A shipment of Malaga table raisins will be to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol this week.

A line of very fine golden tipped Ceylon tea is arriving this week for Davidson & Hay.

An extra value in gunpowder tea in cads, at 18 cents, is being offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report very large sales of vacuum pan process salt, in car lots, delivered.

The material used in the manufacture of the "Rising Sun" and "Sun Paste" stove polish is imported from Ceylon and India, and goes through a peculiar manipulation at the factory in Canton, Mass. The durable qualities of the stove polish are due to the high quality of the materials used.

Young & Smylie's licorice pellets and licorice plugs are in stock with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The Davidson & Hay are offering "Welcome" soap, which the manufacturers claim is the best soap on the market.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's offerings in Indian and Ceylon teas, also blends, are very large this month. Samples sent on application.

The Eby, Blain Co. have purchased the entire stock of "Pure Food" red kidney beans, which they are offering at very low prices.

"The sales last week of 'Kurma' tea were almost double of any preceding week since this tea was introduced," report Davidson & Hay.

"We are pushed just now," said Mr. Jardine, of the Pure Gold Mfg. Co., "getting out our Vienna coffee, but our tin factory people tell us they will have their special machinery for our graters fitted up this week and then there will be no more trouble."

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., have in stock a full line of new dried fish, including boneless fish, quail on toast, pure codfish and scaled herrings.

Repeat orders are positive proof that goods are right. T. A. Lytle & Co. are busy filling repeat orders for their famous white wine vinegar.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., have received their new pack "Sportsmen" sardines, ¼'s and ½'s. The ½'s are a new size, full-sized halves, a neat package and very fine fish.

Last fall, Morse Brothers, proprietors of the "Rising Sun" stove polish and the "Sun" paste stove polish, shipped over twenty-three carloads of fifteen tons each in less than two weeks.

Morse Brothers received orders one day last week for immediate shipments of "Rising Sun" stove polish and "Sun Paste" stove polish, amounting to eleven carloads of fifteen tons each. At this season of the year such a day's sale of stove polish is phenomenal and attests the popularity of these goods.

T. Kinnear & Co have in stock their season's supply of "Horseshoe" salmon.

"Lion" spices, extracts and baking powder have had a splendid sale the past few weeks.

A shipment of the "Janas-Hanart" table oil has just arrived from Brussels for Robert Greig & Co.

John Sloan & Co. are in receipt of a fresh shipment of French prunes, which are showing good value.

The Ireland National Food Co., Ltd., are already filling orders for their self-rising buckwheat flour.

Perkins, Ince & Co., have arriving in a few days their first shipment of Malaga raisins for table use.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. are giving a ten days' special sale of breakfast bacon. Don't miss ordering promptly.

Robert Greig & Co. are offering exceptional values in French sardines packed by Dandicolle and Gaudin.

John Sloan & Co. have in stock full lines of fresh fish, including Labrador herring, boneless cod, and quintals of cod.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have a shipment of Commadre figs, due here next week. Quality is reported to be extra good and prices low.

Clemes Bros. are in receipt of a carload of fine Maori lemons, and two cars of Verdilla lemons. They also have some fine Jamaica oranges.

Dixon's carburet of iron stove polish seems to fill the bill, with Canadian housewives, for a first-class polish, judging from the report that W. H. Gillard & Co. are selling large quantities.

"Orders for proof spirit vinegar," write T. B. Escott & Co., "are very large, an indication that merchants are tired of selling acid vinegars."

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have a stock of last season's Sultana raisins in good condition, and will be pleased to quote prices on application.

T. Kinnear & Co. are in receipt of a carload of West Indian molasses ; also a shipment of syrup; both of which they report they are offering at low prices.

A new shipment of Southwell's jams and jellies is just in for Frank Magor & Co., Montreal. These goods are justly deserving of the favor met with throughout Canada.

Marshall & Co., Aberdeen, are now shipping the new season's catch of "Crown" brand Scotch salt herrings in kegs and larger packages. The fish are the finest selected of the fisheries.

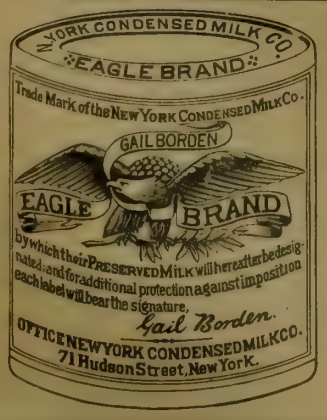
W. H. Gillard & Co. have arriving next week some of Arguimbau's and Trenor's selected, finest off-stalk and fine off-stalk, and report the quality of these raisins as much above the average pack.

Robert Greig & Co. have just landed a shipment of peels from the Scotch firm of John Buchanan & Bros., Ltd., Glasgow. This firm's goods are having a good sale this season.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co., who are always alive to the wants of the trade, owing to the light supply and high price of hams, are putting on the market full-size shoulder hams as a substitute, to fill the demand for the time being. These shoulder hams are cured in sweet pickle, under the same recipe as their "Maple Leaf" brand of hams. These are specially good value at 6c. Try a sample.

The "400 Select" black tea, of which W. H. Gillard & Co. are the packers (put up in 100-lb. metal-lined tins), they report as becoming a great favorite with their customers who have a trade for a high-class black.

T. B. Escott & Co. write: "The Fair has been a great success. Our sales of teas have been the largest in years. The new picture with 'Grand Mogul' tea (Othello and Desdemona), is making large sales much larger."



The "Rising Sun" stove polish factory, at Canton, Mass., takes the entire product of a large box factory located near the works. Eight hundred cords of lumber were made into "Rising Sun" stove polish boxes last year.

A feature of the splendid exhibit in Montreal by the agents of Keen's mustard, etc., was the large picture frame, fourteen feet square, on which were mounted twenty-five different show cards, all issued by the manufacturers of this favorite condiment.

P. C. Larkin & Co., packers of "Salada" tea, who have been introducing their package tea in Buffalo, report that about 100 of the most prominent firms in that city already have "Salada" signs in their windows. Faxon, Williams & Faxon are in addition advertising in the daily papers.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. are busy laying in the largest stock and fullest assortment of fresh canned goods in expectation of a lively fall trade. The best known brands in great variety are found in their stock.

"Readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER who applied to Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, for an assortment of Keen's show cards, will kindly bear with us a little longer. The enquiry was so large that our supply ran out, and we have been disappointed by our framers. We shall have plenty ready, however, this week for all." So writes the Montreal firm.

This is the time of the year when a great deal of attention is being paid to long clear bacon, breakfast bacon, backs, rolls, etc. In another part of this paper is the announcement of W. A. McClean & Co., of Owen Sound, which the trade should consult, especially as some of the lines there advertised are scarce.

PERSONAL MENTION.

MR. E. B. EDDY and Mrs. Eddy, Hull, arrived in Montreal on Sunday, en route to Ottawa, on their return from a pleasant trip to England by the Sardinian.

W. Boulter, of Boulter Bros., Picton, Ont., the well-known canners, was in Montreal this week. Mr. Boulter called on the trade in company with his Montreal representative, J. Alex. Gordon, but says he did not find many urgent buyers of canned goods.

Mr. Percy Eby, son of the senior partner of the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., of Toronto, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the General Hospital on the 14th inst. The operation was a delicate one, and had it been performed forty-eight hours later the doctors declare his life could not have been saved. Mr. Eby is doing nicely, but it will be a couple of weeks before he will be able to leave the hospital.

W. F. Leonard, of Leonard Bros.' St. John, N. B., office, is spending a few days at their offices in Montreal. Speaking of the prospects this year, he said that the fishing so far has been satisfactory, and with good crops the outlook for another favorable year is very bright. His firm are making preparations for a still more extensive trade with the west this year. Their quarters in Montreal, he said, were being enlarged, and other improvements were being made to handle the fish to better advantage.

THE LOBSTER CATCH.

THE Maritime Merchant, in accounting for the decrease in the lobster catch, says: "In the course of our enquiries among those interested in the preservation and growth of the lobster fisheries in these provinces, we have learned that a large number of men engaged in the industry make use of what is known as the 'Wheeler' trap. This contrivance is so arranged that there are two connecting divisions or compartments, the outer one serving to secure the large fish, which in turn drive the small fry into the further division from whence there is no escape. Thus all lobsters that enter are captured and go into the factory to be canned, no matter what size they may be. It is this senseless destruction of the small immature lobster that is bringing the entire industry to a point where it is threatened with extinction, and it would be a good move to prohibit the use of the style of trap referred to for at least the next five years. The old-fashioned trap in its operation permitted the young lobster to escape, and hence the quality and size of the average canning lobster was considerably higher than now, and there was some opportunity for the fish to mature and increase near their favorite hatching and feeding grounds.

"It is a great misfortune that present greed should be allowed to decimate the valuable lobster fisheries, and it will be found that should the practice continue any length of time, that we will be without an adequate supply of fish for the factories, and as a result many communities which at present derive considerable revenue from the existence of the industry will be forced to do without this important item in their local sources of income."

Mr. F. Lafortune, grocer, 116 St. Maurice street, Montreal, charged with selling adulterated pepper, was let off by the Police Magistrate with a fine of one dollar and costs, as it was a first offence, and the man pleaded ignorance of any adulteration.

OUT-OF-SEASON ADVERTISING.

By Nathaniel C. Fowler, Jr.

THERE must come dull times, for dull times come with periodical regularity and occasionally unexpectedly.

Dull times have never been continuous, and never can be, and if their duration is limited they must be followed by good times.

Comparatively few manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers have a right to expect business of continuous equability.

The brisk selling seasons are followed by depression, due to the season, and to known and unknown influences.

The present depression in business is from a lack of public confidence, and the original cause for this condition was created by the very people who object to it.

Because dull times have usually preceded a presidential election, whether there be cause or not, people have learned to expect a depression every four years, and justifiably, or by mere coincidence, place a part of the blame upon political uncertainty.

The fundamental bottom of all depression, except that due to the state of the weather, is what might be considered an unwilling willingness on the part of business men in general to assume that the times are bad, and to continue to talk bad times.

The first man tells the second man that times are bad, and the second man, although enjoying good business, is given the incentive to watch for bad business, and that which a man expects he frequently receives, or imagines he does, which commercially is the same thing.

The second man, who was not thinking of bad times, begins to stimulate bad times, because someone told him to, and the bad he has received he hands to the next, and down the line it goes, a breathing, speaking epidemic, destroying the sufferer, and carrying the disease to his neighbor.

There are reasons for business depression, and political uncertainty must contribute to that end.

The question of money, and the unknown complexion of a coming Congress, must bear its bad fruit in advance, but with all these existing excuses, and even valid reasons, the most of the hard times owe their origin, and their stimulation, to the collective influence of the many individual minds which talk about, and seem to revel in, the discomfort of which they are a part.

The advertiser begins to economize, and by some unknown method of unreasoning, he runs the knife of reduction into the vitals of his business.

He knows that he depends upon outsiders for his living, and that the advertisement is the connection between his goods and the buyers of them, and yet he deliberately weakens that connection, or cuts it away altogether.

The cutting of advertising space or the absence of the advertisement is documentary evidence that the advertiser is not able to do a good business, and is forced by conditions or by his own fault to reduce expenses.

Artificial glitter is not business, but the appearance of business means business.

It is nobody's business how poor the advertiser's business may be, provided he attends to his business and pays his bills, and he is dishonest to himself if he publicly announces, as he must by the cutting of his advertising, that something is the matter with him.

In dull times, more than in good times, people have the opportunity to read, and they do read, and further than that the hard-time growler, between his growls, fixes, in his own mind, what he will do, and what he will buy, when conditions permit.

When a man can't have a thing, or thinks he can't, he wants what he doesn't get more than when he can have it, and he is in a receptive mood, when advertising can reach him and enter him.

Dull time advertising is profitable because it is a sign of prosperity, and everybody likes to buy of the man who is prosperous, for the prosperous man is generally better able to serve his customers.

Dull time advertising is valuable because it reaches the readers of advertising who have time to read, and who will be the buyers of the good times to come.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

Gossip brings ill-repute, not business, to the store.

It is not credit that ruins trade ; it is injudicious credit.

Future business depends upon how the present is transacted.

A lying advertisement, like a lying tongue, ought to be cut out.

Fish for business and leave the fishing for compliments to someone else.

Carelessness is at the root of 99 per cent. of the mistakes that are made.

One thing the cash system is certain to do : It will prevent bad debts.

Right may be driven into a corner sometimes, but into the grave never.

The store lounger is a blockhead that blocks the way of many a customer.

Continuity is essential to success in advertising as well as in everything else.

A merchant can usually find trade by the aid of judicious and bright advertising.

Dishonesty is more likely to clothe one with a convict's garb than with success.

Artificial business-building methods must necessarily result in an artificial product.

A good tongue as well as a good stock is a profitable thing for a merchant to have.

The merchant whose only aim in life is to make money is not likely to get much else.

Time taken to contemplate with jealousy the success of a competitor is robbing your business of time that should be devoted to its development. Every man has all he can do to mind his own business these days.

The merchant tries to catch the fall trade in order that he may rise towards affluence.

The commercial traveler who has the "blues" is not likely to get the business.

He who taketh discounts fortifieth himself against the possibility of his creditors taking him.

Every time a man stops to croak golden moments go to waste. Work and croak not.

Because the summer is over it is no reason that the early closing of stores should be over.

Free silver in the United States would mean the enslavement of the trade of that country.

A dude clerk may be a pleasure to giddy girls, but to sensible customers he is an abomination.

Influence is stronger than the mightiest steel cable, and more enduring than the everlasting hills.

The man who is large in self conceit is often too small to manage even a peanut stand successfully.

Discipline is to the mental man what exercise is to the physical man : it is an imparter of strength.

When a man goes into an avocation for which he is not adapted he is, like a No. 5 shoe on a No. 7 foot, a misfit.

"Would it pay to buy heavily of canned goods at the present time?" was the question discussed at a recent meeting of the Philadelphia Retail Grocers' Association. It is the discussion of such topics as these which makes an association worth something to its members.

Confidence is one of the chief of commercial factors. Where confidence is lacking trade will be soon wanting.

Self-control is just as essential as capital to success in business. In fact, it is better to be without capital than self-control.

Mild words pay better than angry ones, with clerks as well as with customers, and those with whom they do not should be given their dismissal.

Wealth of health is better than wealth of gold, but the most of us are more concerned about getting the latter than we are of keeping the former.

A Brooklyn firm is advertising on kites, which are given free to all boys or girls who ask for them. That is what might be termed flighty advertising.

Court trade in those lines which yield profit and let those lines which do not take care of themselves. Don't fondle a serpent when you can nurse a dove.

We are all more or less prisoners to habit, but the question as to whether the habit is good or bad should determine whether we are to forsake or cling to it.

The camel, which has a hump on its back, is a speedy animal, which is probably the reason young men on bicycles get a hump on their back when putting on speed.

Every grocer should know how to blend tea ; and every grocer who does not know can secure the information necessary thereto from a book just issued by Joseph M. Walsh, of Philadelphia. It is called "Tea Blending as a Fine Art," is illustrated and sells at one dollar.

THE JAMAICA ORANGE CROP.

A KINGSTON, Jamaica, despatch to The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says: In Jamaica, West Indies, the first shipments of oranges to the American markets are watched with particular interest by both planters and merchants. Last year the misfortunes of Florida unexpectedly opened up an increased demand for the Jamaica fruit, and people sold oranges who had never realized anything on them before. At that time the country was not well equipped for the trade, and there might have been some little cause for complaint in New York about the packing, quality, sorting, etc. This year the trade is well equipped, and the fruit will go forward in much better condition and will be handled more promptly Along the railway, sheds and packing houses have been put up, and buyers are out making contracts. It is reported that the sellers are having much the better of the market, which is strong with steadily increasing demand.

There is every indication that this year Jamaica can sell all the oranges it can produce; but, unfortunately, the crop threatens to be decidedly short of last year's output, and late conditions are tending to still further decrease the yield. Inquiries made at different parts of the island resulted in a number of estimates, some claiming that the crop would be well up to that of last year, but the greater part thought the crop would be short; and none looked for a greater output. As to quality, it will probably average below that of last year; though large shipments of choice carefully selected fruit will be shipped. After looking over all the estimates sent in, the crop of oranges seems likely to be about one-third less than that of last year, and prices may rule high all through the season.

Jamaica is a natural orange country, and the fine flavor of the fruit grown in the mountain district makes them the peer in the opinion of many of any that the world can produce. There is something about this fruit from the mountains that gives it a real claim to superiority; equal perhaps to the very finest that Florida ever produced, and Jamaica mountain oranges are certain to become known as one of the choicest fancy products that will always have a ready demand. Fortunately, the shortage is more in the lowlands, where droughts have been prevalent. The mountains are always seasonable and a good crop of the fine quality fruit will be gathered.

Since the last crop fifty-six miles of new railway have been opened, and as the orange tree simply grows up wherever it happens to be, planting receiving but little attention here, some additional shipments will probably be received from the districts recently made accessible. It seems quite certain, however, that New York will not receive so many oranges from Jamaica this year, that a part of the crop will be small and rather inferior, that the mountain oranges will maintain their standard excellence, and that packing will be better with a system of delivery much superior to that of last year.

NOVA SCOTIA APPLE CROP.

A Halifax daily paper says: "C. R. H. Starr, of Wolfville, who knows nearly everything about the apple trade, says that the output of Nova Scotia orchards to the English market this year will be between 300,000 and 400,000 barrels. The crop will be the greatest in the history of Nova Scotia. The year before last the export from Nova Scotia to England was 225,000 barrels, and last year it was less. The crop is light in England, but it is heavy in the United States and Ontario, as well as Nova Scotia. Tonnage is comparatively scarce, and shippers are compelled to pay about five cents per barrel more than last year. The steamer St. John City sails to-night for London with 13,000 barrels; the Damara took 8,5000 on the 12th, and the Taff had 7,600. There will be weekly shipments hereafter for the season."

FOOLISH SALESMAN.

LUNDY FOOT, the Dublin tobacconist, laid the foundation of his large fortune by saying to each dirty, ragged little girl, as he handed her the pennyworth of snuff she had asked for, "Thank you, my dear, please come again!" The largest retail grocery business in Boston was built up by the founder's rule to his salesmen, "Treat every servant-girl as you would her mistress if she were buying." The Saturday Evening Gazette tells of an airy salesman in a Boston dry goods house who had a fall by failure of courtesy to a purchaser.

A young lady was in search of some material to use for a waist with a very handsome silk skirt, and she advanced to the counter where this particular clerk was presiding. She was quietly dressed; she did not scintillate with spangles and gilt belts, and her sleeves and skirt did not extend to the full width of space between the counters, consequently the clerk decided that she did not come from the magic precincts of the Back Bay.

Attracted by a certain piece of goods, she asked the price and width. The man answered shortly, "Three dollars a yard; 47 inches wide." She looked at various other things on the counter and then returning to the first thing as the most pleasing, she said politely:

"Will you please give me a sample of this?"

The man did not move. "I told you that was $3 a yard," he said.

The girl looked at him. "Yes?" she said. "The silk with which I intend to use it cost $3.75 a yard, but I think I can make this stuff of yours do, as it is only for house wear."

A smile stole over the faces of two or three shoppers, and the salesman cut the sample with a meekness that would have done credit to Moses; but that girl says she'll go without a dress rather than buy a yard of that man.—Youths' Companion.

SELLING AGENTS FOR ONTARIO.

A REQUISITE FOR SUCCESS.

ONE of the chief requisites to a successful business career is honesty and integrity, says Retail Grocers' Advocate. These characteristics, to be thoroughly implanted, must be engrafted upon the character at an early age. There is a good deal in heredity, but the most vicious tendencies can be controlled, if not wholly eradicated. On the other hand, a naturally fine character can be vitiated. This shows the importance of early training, and it should bring forcibly to the mind of every business man who has young clerks under his charge the great responsibility that rests upon him. They should be taught that reliability is the first requisite for a good clerk.

The immense aggregate of the business world is rendered possible because of the confidence existing between business men. Consider for a moment the condition of things, if in every mercantile transaction the actual money, money of redemption, because in the absence of all confidence there could be no fiat in money, had to be counted out and paid over.

What proportion of the business of the world to-day could be transacted under those circumstances?

Probably one-tenth of the present volume would consume the whole 24 hours, instead of 8, as at present. The absence then of honesty, integrity and reliability, with their natural accompaniment, confidence, would demoralize and disorganize all business.

Honesty is capital. No doubt instances have come under the observation of each individual reader where young men without means have been furnished with money to start in business by some benefactor. It need not be affirmed that there was no lack of confidence on the part of the lender in the honesty of the borrower. A thoroughly honest clerk is a valuable adjunct to any establishment, and is highly prized by his employers.

When a clerk has gained the confidence of his employer, he has made his first permanent start in life. He has laid up a treasure that will not rust or corrode or fluctuate with the markets. Its permanent and perpetual value is in his hands, and all he has got to do is to so comport himself as to continue to merit it. Confidence begets confidence, and the man who enjoys it is far less liable to be without a place than he who does not. There are always places for the best men. Dishonesty never pays, neither in proprietor nor clerk.

The horse attached to the delivery wagon of M. Dufton, grocer, St. Thomas, ran away on Horton street Monday morning. The driver, a lad named Albert Chapman, was thrown out and had both bones of his right arm broken at the wrist.

RETAILERS' COMPETITION.

Referring to retailers' competition Mercantile Journal says: "Never was it fiercer, more perplexing or more general. None escape it, not even the richest, most popular and old established firms. Its power is augmented by publicity—generous advertising in mediums which reach every class of consumers. This competition, speaking generally, cannot be called irregular, unfair or in any way of a character to impair the confidence of consumers. It is of a twofold nature.

"In order to meet the new forms of competition, or, rather, the newer methods of distribution, the retailers must be thoroughly familiar with the aims, methods or service of their new competitors, just as the successful general acquaints himself with the aims, conditions and methods of the enemy and is so prepared against surprises and places himself in a position to strengthen his defence or assume the aggressive.

"The best way to keep posted about new competitors is by personal inspection of their stores. Become regular patrons and thus be placed in a position to know every detail of their work. Test the truth of their advertisements and see if the statements of quality and comparative prices are correct, and whether the goods are any better or sold at any less margin than your own."

THE DUTY OF BUSINESS MEN.

ALTHOUGH the Dominion Government has in contemplation ways and means of extending the export trade of the country, manufacturers and merchants who desire to court business with foreigners should not rest upon their oars in order to see what may turn up.

There are a great many things the Government can do in the direction indicated, but there are a great many things it cannot do, no matter how solicitous it may be. But too often Governments are not by any means prone to act with promptitude in matters pertaining to commerce. They are too busy, as a rule, playing the game of politics. The present Government may be an improvement, in this respect, on its predecessors, but that has to be demonstrated.

Granted that the Government will do its part, it will obviously be some time before that part can be performed, and then there are still certain things that the business men must do themselves. Their time for action is now, as well as hereafter.

It is not the duty of the state to sell goods. The duty of the state is to prospect for markets, and to busy itself about establishing means of transportation thereto. As far as the actual sale of goods is concerned, that is the duty of those who have the goods to sell.

It is true there are many things in the way of transportation facilities, etc., which hinder the development of our export trade in certain directions. But there are obstacles in the way which are of our own creation. In countries where prospecting has been done for us, because of our perverseness we have not benefited by it to the extent we should have.

We often refer to the obstinacy of the British merchant in that he makes his goods and puts up the same to suit his own tastes, and will not deign to make or pack them to suit the tastes of his customers. And yet this very sin is one of Canada's sins.

We have been repeatedly told that goods for this market must be made this way, and for that market they must be packed in a certain way to suit either the tastes or the climate of the country in question. But too many exporters persist in shipping goods as if they were intended for the home instead of a foreign market. The result is that trade we should have had we have not. The Canadian merchants and manufacturers who are to-day making a success of exporting are those that are fashioning their goods to suit the requirements of the market to which they are sending them.

There are a good many manufacturers and merchants in this country who are actively pushing the export branch of their trade; but there are not enough of them. Neither is there enough of united action.

In Great Britain the boards of trade and commercial bodies in the various commercial centres are importuning the Government to remedy defects in the consular system with a view to facilitating the export trade of the country. And in the United States what is known as the Exporters' Association is doing excellent work in the way of foreign trade up-building.

Canada cannot afford to be behind in this respect. If we are ever to become even anything near what our capabilities intended that we should be we must develop our export trade more rapidly in the future than we have in the past. And the keener our business men become to develop our export trade the more active will the Government be to do its part. The Government is but the expression of the will of the people.

HOW HE BECAME CONVERTED.

JOHN HUNTER, New York, the American manager of Alex. Pirie & Sons, Aberdeen, Scotland, the largest paper makers in the world, was in Montreal last week, and, picking up a copy of THE GROCER, read the advertisements of Ceylon and India teas. He said: "I am glad to see you are talking up Ceylon teas. In my travels around the world I visited Ceylon and saw what fine tea they grow there and how careful they are in cultivating, packing and handling it, and this is all done in the gardens. Since that time I have always insisted on getting Ceylon. I do not care to drink the filthy stuff that I saw China and Japan shipping to America. To prepare Ceylon properly it should not be drawn more than three minutes. Boiling it spoils the flavor. With good cream there is no more refreshing beverage. Have you noticed that at home Ceylon and India have taken the place of China and Japan?"

CALIFORNIA FRUIT CONDITIONS.

A LEADING commission man in Montreal gave THE CANADIAN GROCER an interesting chat in regard to the Pacific Coast fruit.

Speaking of business in futures, he said: "In this future business there is always one side or the other disappointed, and very often it is both sides, so I don't urge business in this connection. If the market goes down, buyers are disappointed because they have high-priced goods to sell against their competitors, who have secured their stock at lower prices. Should the market go up, it usually means a loss to my people, as the parties with whom they contract almost invariably go back on their trade when there is an advance. If they don't do so, the chances are that they put in inferior goods, so that the quality is poor, and the buyers are dissatisfied in that way.

"My people are making considerable purchases direct from the farmers this year. I may say that the man who has cash to offer on the Coast can secure pretty good bargains from producers. I don't believe it would pay, however, to make direct shipments, for the reason that every kind of fruit must be bought up as soon as it is ready. If one wants to make direct shipments from the Coast he cannot buy fruit and hold it out there until the various other kinds of fruit are ready for the market. Besides, the better grade of each quality is produced in widely different sections of the state. If you should undertake to make mixed cars up at any one point, you would have, for instance, good peaches, but your prunes, raisins, plums, etc., would be very poor; or again, if you bought in the section where raisins were good you would have to put up with inferior quality of peaches, apricots, etc.

"The only way to do, in my opinion, is to buy the goods when they are offered for sale by the farmers at low prices and ship them to one warehouse where they can be graded, packed, etc., with better machinery and cheaper labor than is obtainable at any of the small towns on the Coast. If the goods are shipped to San Francisco to be packed, the local freights are even more in proportion than to pack them in St. Louis and re-ship to Montreal."

PACIFIC COAST PRUNES.

Mail advices this week confirm earlier reports regarding the great shortage in the Oregon prune crop. In fact, commission men in Montreal who control some in cold storage have been ordered not to make any large sales without at first advising their principals, as it is quite likely that prices on them will have to be put up.

On the other hand, to offset this shortage, advices from San Francisco state that the California crop will be very large, and prices in that state are expected to rule low. F. o. b. offers at that point have been made of 2½c., 90 to 100; 3c., 80 to 90; 3½c., 70 to 80, and 4c., 60 to 65. Fancy peaches in San Francisco are worth 4¾c. in boxes, 4¼c. in sacks; choice, 4¼c. in boxes and 3¾c. in sacks, standard ½c. less.

THE CURRANT MARKET.

The currant market was disposed to be a little erratic during the past week or ten days, although in the rounding up it became firm.

First prices were cabled 6d. dearer. Then the market eased off, values declining 3d. This weakness, however, was only of one day's duration, and the figures gained the 3d. they had lost. The market is now firm at the 6d. advance.

Shipments on the direct steamers are completed, but the quantity loaded is considerably less than in former years. The actual figures, however, are not yet to hand.

LEMON SALE IN TORONTO.

The feature of the lemon market in Toronto was the sale on Tuesday last of the first direct shipment of this fruit which has ever taken place there.

There were 1,000 boxes in the shipment, and the sale was conducted with catalogues, etc., after the manner of the big fruit sales in Montreal and New York.

The fruit was consigned to Clemes Bros., and was sold at the Auction Mart of the Toronto Fruit and Produce Co., Yonge street wharf. There was a fair attendance of city and country buyers, and the bidding was fairly active. The stock was all of the Verdelli kind, and the prices obtained ranged from $1 to $3.50 per box.

Whether sales of this kind will be continued depends upon the satisfaction this initiatory one has given the shippers.

REFUND UNDER THE FRENCH TREATY.

The following memorandum has been sent to the collectors of Customs at the various ports:

That having reference to Order-in-Council of March 3, 1896, admitting the claim of Spain to participate in the advantages conceded to France under the so-called French treaty, authority be given for the refund of any excess of duty on articles affected by the treaty, being the product of and imported from Spain, which may have been paid between the date the French treaty went into effect, that is to say, from and after October 14, 1895, and the time when Spain was allowed to participate in the benefits of the treaty.

DRIED APPLE TRADE MENACED.

SAMPLES of dried apples which are being submitted to exporters and dealers in Toronto this season are not, as far as quality is concerned, in keeping with the crop.

The apple yield in Canada is excellent in quality as well as enormous in quantity; but the quality of the dried apples, according to samples being submitted, is about as bad as it well could be.

The fruit is principally made from early crop apples, and is red, thinly sliced and presents a generally uninviting appearance. Instead of improving with experience, the farmers of the country appear to be retrograding in this respect.

The remedy for the present unsatisfactory state of affairs lies largely with the country merchants. The fruit comes direct into their hands from the farmers. They, by suggestion, can induce the farmer to make his fruit in a proper manner, instead of in the careless, slovenly way he now so often does. And if suggestion does not bear fruit they should refuse to take that which does not come up to standard.

The great bulk of the dried apples made in this country is exported. For this export trade we have, and this year particularly, a formidable competitor in the United States. Under ordinary circumstances we have the advantage: we have better apples. If we do not turn out better dried apples the fault is, therefore, certainly our own.

Having the best green fruit, we can, if we will, put up the best dried article. THE CANADIAN GROCER has been examining several samples during the past week, and they simply are an abomination. They are so bad, in fact, that exporters here are refusing to have anything to do with them, notwithstanding that foreign importing houses are beginning to make enquiries.

If uniformly good samples are not turned out it will simply mean that Canada will be compelled to compete with the cheap, dark fruit that is to-day quoted in Chicago at from 1 to 1½c. per pound. We cannot bid for a first-class trade with a low-class article.

No great effort is required to make the quality what it should be. We have A1 raw material. All that is demanded is care.

Apples for drying should be cut into quarters and screened, all dark, burned and small stock being eliminated. Country merchants should instil this into the minds of the farmers from whom they get dried apples.

In view of the large crop of apples, the season is a critical one for Canada in the dried apple export trade. How it will turn out depends upon ourselves

Some of the factories turning out evaporated apples also stand in need of condemnation. They are not nearly as careful as they should be. Several of the samples are lacking in color, others are badly trimmed and cored, while still others have been improperly evaporated, causing the fruit to turn sour a few days after the samples have been submitted to dealers. Then there is also a lack of uniformity in size, the fruit not having been screened.

If the factory men would get their stock into the bleachers as quickly as they should they would avoid that discoloring due to oxidization. Then, on the other hand, they would avoid their fruit turning sour if they were not to pack it as soon as they do after it leaves the evaporator. If all the water is not extracted before the fruit is packed, sour goods cannot be avoided.

The lowness of prices is doubtless due in many instances to the poor quality of both dried and evaporated apples. But carelessness is never excusable.

What is worth doing at all is worth doing well. Price is never appreciated by deterioration in quality; but deteriorated quality often establishes a bad reputation. And Canada cannot afford to earn a bad reputation in an article of which we exported over four million pounds last year.

PECANS VERY FIRM.

Latest advices indicate that the growing crop of pecans is likely to be, if not almost wholly, a failure. For this reason it is held that buyers gain nothing by holding off. Offers have been made at a range of 4½ to 7c. f.o.b. on the cars St. Louis. These figures are about equivalent to a range laid down in Montreal of 8¼ to 10¾c. duty paid.

These offers, however, were made only subject to confirmation at the time they should be received, as the market on the nuts is active and large purchases are being made every day.

ONLY HALF A CROP.

A letter received by a Montreal commission man a few days ago states that the crop of California raisins will only be about half of what it was last year.

The buyers have been paying 2½ to 2¾c. in the sweat box, which means 3¼c. for 2's, 3¾c. for 3's and 4½c. for 4's.

The recipient of the letter is, however, advised not to offer raisins yet, as the market in San Francisco is not properly established on new crop fruit, the growers not having got through culling their crop.

THE PROPOSED NEW TARIFF.

ON several occasions in the last three or four years we have strongly urged the Government to make no sudden change in the import tariff. Business men in Parliament have also urged the same thing, but the controlling influence in the last Government seemed to pay little attention to the interests of the business community. We were promised better things by the Liberals. They have now an opportunity of showing whether their promises will be fulfilled.

Just at this time buyers for dry goods houses are starting for Europe to place orders for spring goods. Grocery, hardware and other wholesale houses are giving orders now for goods which they will receive between now and spring. Owing to changes that are to be made in the tariff in January and February, they are completely at sea as to what purchases they will make. If they buy largely and bring the goods in, they may find after a week or two, after paying the duties, that the duty is materially reduced, and later imports can be sold at very much less money. The result will be a very serious loss to the importer; wiping out perhaps more than a whole year's profit.

When speaking in reference to this matter with a member of the present Government, he remarked informally that to announce changes some months before they came into force would be quite contrary to precedent, and he did not think the Government could do it. This is tantamount to saying that because some of us began life with a wooden spoon we should always continue to use one. If this is Mr. Fielding's view of the question, we confess we are very much disappointed in the man of whom, though a lawyer, we had great expectations.

Americans take a very proper, business-like view of it. They do not allow their tariff changes to affect their trade but as little as possible. Sometimes they are not brought into force for two years after they are passed.

If the Government desire to do what is in the interests of the business community, they should announce now that the tariff changes adopted in the January session of Parliament would not come into force at the earliest before June or July. By this time goods will be distributed through the country and prices will not be affected by any reductions.

H. A. NELSON & SONS' BROOMS.

H. A. Nelson & Sons still handle their broom, whisk, and woodenware business in Toronto. A good many of their customers seem to think that they have closed the Toronto office entirely, but that is not the case. They still keep a stock of woodenware and matches in the "Queen City." and their brooms and whisks are made there. They also have a full line of samples of fancy goods representing their Montreal stock.

DECLINE IN CANNED SALMON.

JOBBERS in Montreal have been trying this week to place orders for supplies of canned salmon, but so far the business resulting has been small. Sales agents, it is true, have cut their figures 25 to 30c. per box, but buyers want to place orders at still less money, and the result is a stand-off.

The best offer so far made has been $4.25 f.o.b. Coast, but as the general run of bids are around $4 the opportunity for business is small. In fact, only one house has made any purchases, and these are confined to small lots. These purchases were made on the basis of $4.25 to $4.35 f.o.b. Coast, and will cost about $5 laid down in Montreal.

It will be seen from these figures that views entertained a month ago in relation to the canned salmon market were radically wrong and that the jobbers by holding off as they have done have followed the most profitable course for themselves. In fact, reports now agree that the output in British Columbia will be an extraordinary one, and that the total pack of canned salmon will be the largest in the history of the business. The large run on the Fraser, and also in the Columbia River, is, we judge, a direct result of the establishment of the fish hatcheries; and if so gives a fair assurance of a continuance of a business that a few years since bid fair to be extinguished in these waters. It is to be hoped that consumption will continue to increase in the same ratio that it has the last few years.

The sales agents are reluctant, however, to come down to buyers' extreme low views, and orders for all the way from 3,000 to 5,000 cases were refused because the buyers would not pay more than $4 f.o.b. Coast.

IDENTIFIED BY A RED BAND.

In these days when there is so much competition it is advisable to give an article a mark of identification, no matter how excellent in quality that article may be. The manufacturers of Beardsley's shredded codfish have recognized this fact, and each package of this delicious article now put upon the market is encircled with a narrow red band about one-third the width of the box. He who runs can now recognize Beardsley's shredded codfish.

TALK WITH A CHINA TEA MAN.

MR. E. White, who for the past three years has been one of the representatives of Peek Bros., Winch & Co., Ltd., of London, at Shanghai, China, was in Toronto for a couple of days this week, en route for London. Mr. White made his journey from China to Toronto by the Canadian Pacific's steamship and rail route and spoke enthusiastically of the accommodation.

THE CANADIAN GROCER had a short and pleasant chat with him in the office of the Toronto agent of his firm, Mr. Halford.

"How do you view the proposal being made to the European powers by China for permission to increase the tariff?"

"We have no objection, provided there goes with it the removal of certain burdensome customs, which now handicap the trade of the country. For instance, a vessel bringing a cargo of tea down one of the rivers is compelled to pay likin—that is, a tax—to this and that mandarin's territory by which it passes. Now, that likin is a hindrance to the tea trade, and we would like to see it removed."

When I turned the conversation to the manner in which Indian and Ceylon tea was supplanting China tea, Mr. White readily acknowledged the fact. "But," said he, "the finest Moning tea is still the finest tea in the world. And then, as to the low-priced teas, China can produce them cheaper than any other country in the world."

"Why?" I asked.

"Because labor is cheaper in China than in any other country in the world."

"What was the condition of the tea market in China when you left?" I asked.

"This year's crop is likely to be much smaller than last year. It is hard to tell at present how much. The Moning crop is estimated to be about 200,000 half-chests shorter than last year. The green tea crop will also be smaller. One of the causes of the small crop is the lowness of prices. At present prices the natives are losing money. On Moning teas they have lost tremendously."

Mr. White was favorably impressed with what he had seen of Canada. "But one thing I notice you lack," he said, "and that is population."

SHARP ADVANCE IN ELEME FIGS.

A cable received in Toronto this week from C. Whittall & Co., Smyrna, states that the price of Eleme figs there has been advanced 3s. per cwt. The cause of the advance is damage by rain.

The first shipment of new season's Eleme figs will be on the Toronto market in a few days.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE past week has seen a seasonable decrease in the demand for sugar, although there is still a good deal of sugar moving. Business generally is, however, rather better than it was a week ago. There is more doing in teas, and foreign dried fruits are receiving more attention, presumably on account of both a seasonable demand and the higher prices ruling in the primary markets on nearly all lines. Canned goods are in much the same position as before, both wholesalers and retailers holding off. There is, if anything, a stronger feeling in regard to tomatoes, the frost of last week having put an end to the packing season. The worst feature of the local market is still the cutting in the price of sugar, which, during the past week, seems to have been given a fresh impetus. Some of the retailers are also exhibiting increased desire to sell sugar at less than they paid for it. The general trade outlook is getting brighter and payments are improving again.

CANNED GOODS.

The frost of last week has of course put an end to the tomato-packing season, and there is a better feeling in regard to prices as a result thereof. The extent of the pack, what it is, is, of course, impossible to say as yet. The crop of tomatoes was undoubtedly large, but the packers aver that the pack is not as large as it was anticipated it would be, and they advance various reasons why such is so. In the meantime, prices are as before, and business is practically at a standstill in all other kinds of vegetables as well as tomatoes. The salmon situation appears to be much the same as a week ago. The first shipment of new pack cohoes is due on the Toronto market in a few days. They will likely sell at $1.20. We quote as follows : Tomatoes, 65 to 75c., for prompt shipment, and 70 to 75c. for future delivery; corn, 55c. for old and 65c. for new; peas, 65 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 95c.; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.40 to $1.45; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.60 to $2.65; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

There is not much doing. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to25c.

SYRUPS.

The movement is still limited. We quote : Dark, 28 to 31c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The season is beginning to brighten up, and a little more business is reported. Centrifugal molasses at New Orleans has been advanced in price 1 to 2c. per gallon, and it is said to be very scarce. We quote : New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The European market is a little better, there having been an advance of 3d. in London last week. In New York, on Monday, however, all kinds of refined sugar were reduced ¼c. per lb., but it is alleged that this is merely a move on the part of the Trust to bear the market in order that it might be able to buy raws cheaper than holders are now willing to accept. The Canadian refiners have made no change in their figures, and, in spite of the recent reduction in New York, their prices are still from ½ to ⅝c. below those obtaining across the border. The chief weakness in the local market is the increased tendency that has developed during the past week on the part of both wholesalers and retailers to cut prices. Some of the retailers are selling twenty-five pounds of granulated at one dollar, or at the rate of 4c. per lb., the refiners' price. The demand for sugar has eased off during the past week, but there is still a good deal going out, among which are some carloads. The ruling wholesale price is 4 1-16 to 4⅛c. per lb. for granulated and 3 1-16 to 3¾c. for yellows.

SPICES.

Pickling spice is still receiving some attention. We quote : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure

RICE, ETC.

Tapioca is in fair demand. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

The market is dull and without change. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.

TEAS.

The past week has seen a slight further improvement in the demand for teas of all kinds. Ceylon teas eased off a little and better values are offering than during the preceding week. Exports of tea from Calcutta to the United Kingdom, from the commencement of the season to the middle of the month, were 56,000,000 lbs. against 50,530,000 lbs. for the same time last year. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

DRIED FRUITS.

The local market is completely bare of new season's raisins, the first shipment having been sold, while the second lot has not yet come to hand. Everyone is wanting the fruit, and in the meantime the few old stock Valencia raisins that are still in hand have been receiving attention which they otherwise would not. The idea for old stock is 4c. for off-stalk, 4¾ to 5c. for fine off-stalk and 5½ to 5⅝c. for selected. Shipments ex ss. Elysia are being anxiously looked for. The market continues firm. The advances noted last week have been accentuated by a further advance of 1s. per cwt., which has largely stopped buying by local importers. As very few raisins were contracted for, it is thought that there will be a short supply in Canada till after the Christmas trade.

Currants have experienced another advance, being 6d. dearer than they were a week ago. The local demand is good. The cheaper kinds of fruit are scarce. We still quote: Provincials, 3¾ to 3⅞c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4 to 4⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 4⅛ to 4¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Patras, 4¼ to 4½c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.

In Sultana raisins, buyers are holding off in expectation of lower prices. In the meantime, however, further advances are reported, and the market is about 5s. per cwt. above the opening quotations.

A cable from Trieste quotes Turkish prunes 6d. higher on the lower sizes, such as D's and U's. We quote nominally as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c.; "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

California fruits are unchanged. Advices state that the lower prices which have obtained for apricots this year have increased the demand in the United States, and a large business is being done in consequence. We quote wholesale prices as follows: Apricots, 8 to 14c.; peaches, 5¾ to 8½c. in bags and ½c. per lb. more in boxes; pears, 8 to 10c.; plums, 6½c. for unpitted and 9½ to 10½c. pitted; nectarines, 9½ to 10½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Jamaica oranges are in stock, and there is a fair demand for them. The quality is good. There is a good enquiry for lemons. The feature of the local market was an auction sale on Tuesday of 1,000 boxes of Verdelli lemons, a direct shipment, and the first of the kind. Prices ranged from $1 to $3.50 per box. Cape Cod cranberries are now being freely offered, but the demand does not amount to much yet. A better feeling obtains in regard to bananas owing to the lightness of stocks, and prices are higher. Sweet potatoes are lower, and there is a good demand for them. Apples are a drug on the market, and they are selling at all sorts of prices. Very few peaches are coming forward, and all arriving are taken care of. Tomatoes are practically out of the market. We quote : Oranges—Rodis and Sorrentos, $6 to $6.50 per box ; Jamaicas, $7 per bbl. and $4.50 to $4.75 per box. Lemons—Maoris and Sorrentos, $4.50 to $6 per box. Bananas, $1.00 to $1.50 ; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz. ; tomatoes, 15 to 25c. per basket ; Jersey sweet potatoes, $1.75 to $2.25 per bbl. ; apples, 25c. to $1 per bbl. ; pears, 25 to 40c. ; peaches, 40c. to 85c. ; plums, 35 to 65c. ; grapes, blue, 1½ to 2c. per lb. ; Niagaras and Rogers, 2 to 2½c. ; onions, 75 to 80c. per 80 lb. bag ; Cape Cod cranberries, $7 to $7.50 per bbl. and $2.75 per crate.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is no change in the situation. Receipts are liberal but the demand is not active. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 13 to 13½c. for good to choice ; low grade to medium, 7 to 9c. ; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c. ; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c. 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The market is firm, with the local demand fair. We quote 9½ to 9¾c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull at 75 to 80c. per bushel.

DRIED APPLES—Offerings are becoming more liberal, but there is no demand. We quote jobbing prices nominally 2½ to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is nothing doing although samples are being freely submitted.

EGGS—The market is firmer, the supply being lighter and the demand good. Jobbers are beginning to open up their lime vats. The price of limed eggs is likely to open at about 13c. New laid eggs are firm at 13 to 14c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote : Strained, 7 to 8c., in 50-lb. tins, and comb at $1.75 per dozen.

POTATOES—The market is dull. The idea as to price is 40c. in carload lots on track and 45 to 50c. per bag out of store.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade in provisions is quiet, with prices unchanged. Dressed hogs are in liberal supply at $4.75 for heavy weights and $5 for select weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5 to 5½c. for carload lots, and 5½ to 5¾c. for small lots ; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c. ; rolls, 7c. ; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c. ; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c. ; small hams, 11 to 11½c. ; backs, 9½ to 10c. ; picnic hams, 7c. ; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD— Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½c. ; tubs, 6¾c. ; pails, 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50 ; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13 ; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS

GRAIN—Deliveries are large, with the price of wheat firm. We quote: White wheat, 72c.; red, 69c.; goose, 52½c.; oats, 20 to 22c.; peas, 42c.

FLOUR—The market is stronger, Manitoba prices having advanced 25c. per barrel and those for Ontario flour 10c. per barrel. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.10; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70; Ontario patents, $3.85 to $3.95. Straight roller is about $3.55 to $3.65, Toronto freights.

BALED HAY—Quiet; cars on the track here are quoted at $10.75 to $11.25; No. 2 is quoted at $9.50.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Business is much as before, with prices unchanged. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.50; rolled wheat, $2; cornmeal, $2.35 to $2.45; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

In fish business is much about the same as it was a week ago. The demand for Labrador herrings is good. A feature of the market is the supply of salmon trout, which are larger in size than this market usually takes. The demand is fairly good for oysters. We quote: White fish, 7½c.; trout, 7c.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $3.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.40 for standards, and $1.75 for New York counts.

SALT.

Trade is about the same as a week ago. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are ½c. higher, with cured quoted at 7c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins 60 to 65c.

WOOL—Receipts are limited and prices unchanged. Fleece brings 18 to 19c.; rejections, 15c., and unwashed, 11c. Pulled supers are 20 to 20½c., and extras, 21 to 21½c.

PETROLEUM.

The volume of business is increasing. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Eggs are dearer.

Currants are 6d. dearer.

Bananas are dearer on the Toronto market.

The first shipment of new season's Eleme figs are due in Toronto this week.

Sultana raisins have advanced about 5c. per cwt. since the opening of the season.

The smaller size of Turkish prunes are cabled 6d. dearer.

Receipts of tomatoes on the Toronto market have practically ceased owing to last week's frosts.

The local market is bare of new season's Valencia raisins. There has been a further advance of 1s. per cwt.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE most notable point of the week is the decided weakness in refined sugar prices here despite firmness in raws and a good demand. As matters are at present, there is no difference between jobbers' and refiners' prices, both being identical. Syrups and molasses are heavy and dull. Teas maintain the activity noted last week, in fact, have extended it, and dried fruit of all kinds exhibit continued firmness. Indeed, it does not seem as though buyers would gain much by holding off on either raisins or prunes. The market has opened up well on fish, while canned vegetables continue easy, and rather lower offers on new pack canned salmon are spoken of.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has continued easy in tone at the refineries despite more activity locally and very strong advices on the raw article, cables on raw being 3d. higher at the close of last week than at the opening. Owing to the unsettled position of refinery prices, jobbing values are very unsettled and considerable cutting is being done. In fact, granulated has sold in small lots as low as 4 to 4⅛c., or practically at cost, and yellows at 3 to 3½c.

SYRUPS.

There is no change in this market, business continuing dull. A small trade is noted at the old range, 1½ to 2¾c., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

A few round lots of Barbadoes have sold at 28c., and Porto Rico at 27½ to 28c., which is somewhat lower than the last large transaction. Jobbing business is quiet and the tendency is toward concessions on the part of holders. Although the nominal jobbing range is 29 to 31c., it is quite likely that sellers would shade these prices if it was the case of losing an order. The market is apt to rule this way until stocks are worked down.

RICE.

There has been a fair demand for rice of all kinds. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

The better demand noted for spices last week continues, and a good volume of trade was transacted this week at steady prices. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is no change in the situation of this market. Outside news is of a steadier character, but the fact has had little influence locally. Stocks, however, are very limited, especially Maracaibo and Java. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 18c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

The improvement noted in the distributing demand for teas continues, if anything, being greater than it was a week ago. Japans, especially in the medium to fine grades, are asked for, and the fact has imparted a distinctly firmer tone to prices, though no quotable change is to report. Low-grade blacks, ranging from 8½ to 10c.,

. . CAUTION . .

DRIED APPLES will be almost unsaleable this year unless the Farmers and Merchants give the strictest attention to CUT, COLOR and CONDITION. Requirements are LARGE QUARTER-CUT FRUIT, BRIGHT COLOR and DRY. DISCOURAGE all SMALL-SLICED and CHIPPY stock. POSITIVELY REJECT everything DARK, BURNT or WET.

With careful attention given to these requirements there is hope for a considerable trade at vastly higher prices than the U.S. fruit returns; by neglecting them, Canadian fruit will be reduced to the U.S. level in quality and price.

It is quicker to Cut fruit LARGE (in quarters) than SMALL, and as easy drying BRIGHT as DARK, it only requires therefore care on the Farmers' part and firmness on the Merchants' to ensure them both a profit as against a loss, besides creating a superior reputation for CANADIAN DRIED APPLES.

have also been taken to a liberal extent from first hands at those prices. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grade; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The firm feeling noted last week in regard to Valencia raisins is fully maintained. The chief item of the week has been the operations in connection with the direct steamers. These proportionately are as firm as the prices which have been paid recently for the early shipments. Offers have been made equivalent to 4c. laid down for ordinary off-stalk in Montreal. As will be seen elsewhere, quite a few have been booked. At this cost jobbers cannot afford to sell for much less than 4¼ to 4½c. For early stock at present on spot the old range of 6 to 6½c. still holds good.

The firm feeling is equally marked in California raisins, and it is noticeable that commission men are in no hurry about securing orders, as they are afraid of being caught on the wrong side of the market. We quote for forward delivery: 2-crown, 5 to 5¼c.; 3-crown, 6 to 6½c.; and 4-crown 7 to 7½c., the inside figures being very difficult to secure.

Currants are advised as strong as ever at primary markets, and we quote 4¼ to 5c. as the range on spot.

The prune market is very firm. Business has been done for forward shipment in French prunes at prices which are equivalent to 4c. laid down in Montreal for 110's and 4¾ to 5c. for 95's in straight wholesale lots. It is doubtful, however, if importers could repeat orders for any great quantity at these prices, as the primary markets have advanced 6d. the cwt., or ½c. per pound, since these first shipments were closed. In Austrian prunes first shipments have been contracted for at 4¾c. laid down in Montreal. These comparatively firm values have led to firm ideas on the part of jobbers, and we quote French 4½ to 4¾c. on 110's and 5½ to 5¾c. on 95's, while Austrian are held firm at 5¼ to 5½c. Californias are unchanged at 6 to 11c.

Evaporated California fruits are steady, peaches 8½c., apricots 12½c., and pears 9c.

NUTS.

There is no change in this market, but, as noted elsewhere, pecans are very firm at sources of supply. We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 13c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10½ to 11c.; filberts, 7 to 7½c.; peanuts, 5 to 7c., and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4.25 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market has exhibited rather more activity in a wholesale sense, but otherwise nothing is doing. The only genuine news is the lower offers of canned salmon, though not low enough yet to suit buyers. Round lots of tomatoes and corn have been placed at a cut of 5c. per dozen. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market continues much as it was a week ago. We quote: Winter apples, $1.25 to $1.75, fall ditto, 50c. to $1; peaches, 50c. to $1; plums, 30 to 60c.; pears, $3 to $8 per box, as to grade; old lemons, $1 to $3 per box, and Jamaica oranges, $6 to $6.50.

With regard to the Liverpool apple market, a cable to-day stated: "Market weaker under large receipts of poor and wasty fruit. Our market is in such a bad condition that fruit can only be cleared at ruinous prices. Sales are effected with great difficulty. The following are quotations for No. 1 sound: Jennettings, 5 to 7s.; Colverts, 6 to 8 s.; Gravensteins, Ribston Pippins, 20 oz., 8 to 10s.; Kings, 12 to 14s.

Shipments ending September 26th were as follows:

	To Liverpool	To London	To Glasgow.	Various.
New York	16,366	5,311	8,055	150
Boston	37,144	7,126	2,939
Montreal	32,590	5,414	14,103	1,855

FISH.

The fish season has opened up fairly well. In salt fish, No. 1 Nova Scotia and Labrador herrings are in demand, but are not in stock, but 500 barrels are expected at Quebec at the end of the present week. It has been sold to arrive at $4.50 to $5 per bbl. We quote: No. 1 Nova Scotia and Labrador herrings, $4.50 to $5 per bbl.; No. 1 green cod, $4 per bbl. of 200 lbs.; No. 2 Labrador salmon, $12, and $17.50 per tierce; B.C. salmon, $5.50 per half-bbl.; No. 1 flat mackerel, $18 per tierce; No. 2, $16; No. 2 lean, $12.50 to $13 per bbl.

Demand for smoked fish has been active, haddies, kippered herring and bloaters moving in an active way. We quote; Haddies, 6½ to 7c. per lb.; kippered herrings, $1.50 per box, and Yarmouth bloaters, $1 per box.

Fresh fish are also active and strong. Fresh haddock are selling at 3½ to 4c.; fresh B.C. salmon, 12½ to 13c.; N.B. chilled salmon, 12½ to 13c.; dore, pickerel, trout and whitefish, 6½ to 7c.

There has been little business done in dried fish yet. We quote: Dried pollock, $2.20 per 100 lb.; dried cod, $4; skinless, $5.35; boneless, 5½ to 6c. per lb.

There have been large arrivals of shell oysters of late by express and freight, some seven carloads from the 17th instant to date having been received. The quality does not show any improvement over previous years, and they are selling at $3 to $4 per barrel.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market has advanced 1c. since last report, there being a brisk demand for choice candled at 12½ to 13c. Strictly new laid have sold at 17c.

BEANS—Without change. Car lots, 70 to 75c.; smaller quantities, 80 to 90c.

HOPS—Quiet and steady at 7c.

HONEY—Steady at 10 to 12c.

POTATOES—Demand fair at 35 to 40c. per bag.

DRIED APPLES—Quiet at 3 to 3½c., and evaporated at 5½ to 6c.

BALED HAY—This feed continues easy and prices have again declined. Sales of No. 1 were made to-day at $9.50, and No. 2 at $8.25.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market was without any important change. The demand for all lines was of a limited character to fill actual wants. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 6¼ to 6½c.; bacon, per lb., 7½ to 8½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5 to 5¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market has been active and excited since last report, Ontario grades advancing fully 30c. and Manitobas 50c. We quote: Winter wheat, $3.75 to $4; spring wheat, patents, $4.10 to $4.30; straight roller, $3.65 to $3.75; straight roller, bags, $1.75 to $1.80; extra bags, $1.50 to $1.60; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.70 to $4.

Business in oatmeal continues quiet, the demand being principally for small lots at steady prices. We quote: Standard, bbls., $2.80 to $2.90; granulated, bbls., $2.90 to $3; rolled oats, bbls., $2.60; rolled oats, per bag, $1.25.

There was no change in feed. Business was fair at about quotations. We quote: Bran, $10 to $11; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market has shown more firmness this week. The Britishers also have commenced to nibble a little, and, according to several shippers, show more disposition to respond to the position on this side than they have yet done. They are not heavy buyers as yet, but their change of temper affords some encouragement to the bulls. The only business on spot was the 5,000 boxes offered at the wharf Monday. These sold at a ruling price of 9⅜c., one combination, which always commands a premium, realizing more. In a general way the range of spot values may be quoted from 9 to 9¾c. according to quality.

Butter has recorded a sharp advance in consequence of a desire to gather in September creamery, and prices are almost 1c. higher than they were a week ago. Quite a clearance of the first half of September creamery has been made in the country within the past few days at 18½ to 18¾c., and 19c. was bid to-day on spot. Indeed, it is reported on pretty good authority that factorymen are sold right up to date on their September make.

ASHES.

There has been no change in ashes, which we quote steady: Firsts, $3.50 to $3.55; seconds, $3.05 to $3.10; and pearls, $4.55 to $4.60 per 100 lbs.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Offers of canned tomatoes and corn were again made this week here at 60c., and pos-

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.
ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 1, 1896.

THE week has been a fairly active one. The Exhibition, which is a much better show than many expected, has brought a great many country buyers into the city, and all lines of trade, both wholesale and retail, have felt the effect of increased activity. While all the dealers who call at the wholesale houses do not leave orders, the friendly relations between buyer and seller are increased, and the tendency is to a better understanding and freer business relations. The wholesale grocery men have had all their travelers in, and they have been busy making the visits of their customers pleasant. The chief interest of the week in the markets has been the advance in all grades of flour. This market is very firm. In cream of tartar the week has shown a fair business at rather lower prices. Nutmegs, which have ruled so low, are higher, and the market is active. The same is true of cloves.

OIL—In burning oil the movement continues to increase from week to week. Prices are steady at last week's quotations. In cod oil the easy feeling spoken of is still the feature of the market, movement being less active. We quote: American burning oil, 21c.; best Canadian, 19½c.; prime, 17c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—Some twelve hundred sacks coarse arrived this week via Boston and sold from ship's side in large lots at 47c. There is quite a quantity coming direct, which will likely be sold while landing in car lots rather lower. Market has been rather bare, but demand is not as active, owing to lateness of season. We quote as follows: Coarse, 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.;

CANNED GOODS —Quantities continue to arrive daily for the wholesale trade, who in turn are kept busy filling orders which they have taken ahead. While corn, peas and tomatoes are still being sold at even prices, tomatoes are becoming firmer and are likely at any time to be quoted higher than corn or peas. In salmon only one car of new is to hand, but others are expected daily. Prices are held firm. Canned meats, of which fair stocks are held, are less active. Market is quite bare of oysters, and the new should find good demand. Lobsters are scarce at the high figures. Gallon apples are quoted lower. We quote : Corn, 70 to 80c. ; peas, 70 to 80c. ; tomatoes, 70 to 85c. ; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2 ; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35 ; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50 ; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20 ; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3 ; 2's, $1.90 to $2 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65 ; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 ; haddies, $1.35 to $1.40 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4doz. ; Digby chickens, $1 per doz. ; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—The arrivals of Valencias so far have been very light, but further shipments are daily expected. In loose muscatels (Californias) some seven or eight cars have been bought here, while in Valencias the quantity bought is less than usual. Season in California is later than was expected and early shipments in particular are held very firm. The low price of Malagas interferes with the sale of California layers and clusters. These goods are splendid keepers, as during the first year they rather improve. Valencia market is firmer. In evaporated apples there is no life whatever and prices are very low. Owing to the low price there is likely to be little or no business in dried. Quite fair quantities of prunes and plums are now due and prices rule low. Demand for peels is beginning. Canadian onions are now here and are taking the place of American. This market shows a growing demand. We quote : Valencias, 5½ to 6c. ; layers, 6 to 6½c. ; California L.M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c. ; London layers, $2 to $2.25 ; currants, cases, 4 to 4½c. ; bbls., 3¾ to 5c. ; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c. ; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c. ; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c. ; dates, 4½c. ; dried apples, 4c. ; evaporated apples, 5½ to 6c. ; onions, $2.25 to $2.75 per bbl. ; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs. ; figs, 9 to 10c. ; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.

GREEN FRUIT—Chief movement during the week has been in grapes, plums and peaches. Prices have ruled very low. The grapes and peaches are Canadian. Quality of the peaches is poor for eating. These, at the low prices, killed the better grades. The plums have been Nova Scotia and of splendid quality, but owing to quantity, and demand being rather less sharp, prices have gone even lower than last week, and good Lombards in baskets have been sold as low as 15 to 18c. In oranges a few Jamaicas are offered, but they are rather tart. Bananas are very small arrivals owing to very light demand. Good peas are becoming scarce, and higher prices are noted. Sweet potatoes find better sale. Apples are very dull sale and low, with crab apples selling at 80 to 90c. per bbl. We quote : Lemons, $5 to $7 ; bananas, $1 to $2 ; Canadian peaches, 45 to 50c. ; apples, $1 to $1.50 ; Bartletts, per box, $4 to $4.50 ; plums, 20 to 30c. ; grapes, Canadian, 35 to 50c. ; grapes, keg, $5 to $6 ; crab apples, 90c. per bbl. ; oranges $4.50 per box.

DAIRY PRODUCE—There is little improvement in butter. Rather larger quantities are coming in. Creamery and best grade dairy are firm, but it is hard to advance prices. Eggs are in fair demand at rather firmer figures. In cheese there is rather better inquiry, and prices are rather higher. Factorymen are holding rather above merchants' ideas here. We quote : Dairy butter, 17 to 19c. ; new creamery, rolls, 21 to 22c. ; do., tubs, 18 to 21c. Eggs are steady at 9½ to 10c. Cheese, 9 to 9½c.

SUGAR—While fair demand rules, there is no improvement in price, feeling being easy. The sample of yellows shown are very bright and nice. Stocks are still large. We quote : Granulated, 4¼ to 4⅜c. ; yellows, 3 to 3½c. ; Paris lump, 6c. ; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There continues a very dull sale, and prices are held low. Some very choice Porto Rico is in stock here, but it is hard to get value for it owing to low price of other grades. Barbadoes is particularly dull, and but a limited quantity of New Orleans is moving. In syrup there is some inquiry. We quote : Barbadoes, 27 to 28c. ; Porto Rico, 29 to 32c. ; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 30c. ; Antigua, 25 to 26c. ; syrup, 36 to 38c. ; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—Dry cod are easy, owing to continued arrivals. Bay pickled herring are showing some improvement in demand ; better grades are scarce and held very firm. Some Canso are daily expected. Pollock, which have been so low, are quoted higher. A few new smoked herring have been received and bought at higher prices than were expected. Kippered herring are showing a good demand, as they are a very tasty fish. Bloaters and smoked haddies are being shipped west freely, bringing steady prices. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.30 ; medium, $3 to $3.25 ; pollock, $1.20 to $1.35 ; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl. ; smoked, 3½ to 5c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5; Shelburne, $2.75 bbl.; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Canso herring, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; Quoddy herring, $2.75.

PROVISIONS—The usual fall demand for pork and beef is hardly expected, owing to stock being held at outside points, and that some lumbermen have bought direct. Beef is rather lower. Lard is quoted firm, but it is hard to get full price owing to quantity of old here. Smoked meats are in limited demand. We quote: Clear pork, $12.75 to $13.50; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $11.50 to $12; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — The flour market has been active, and quite a quantity has been bought, particularly Manitoba. Prices have advanced 30 to 40c., and are held firm. Those who bought beans at the lowest price are now selling at a profit of about 25 per cent., but many are but getting their own, and some not that. New oats are held rather firmer; it is still early for any large demand. New hay is quoted lower than the old has been selling at. Market should be in good condition, as it is a long time since stock of old was so light. New buckwheat meal is to hand, and sells slow. Feed is a very light sale. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.60 to $4.70; best Ontario, $4.20 to $4.30; medium, $4 to $4.10; oatmeal, $2.90 to $3.10; cornmeal, $1.85 to $2; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do do, $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1; prime, 90c.; oats, 29 to 30c.; hay, $12 to $13; barley, $3.25; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat meal, $1.25 to $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Puddington & Merritt had in their window a half-barrel of Nonpareil apples of last year's crop, which were kept in a farmer's cellar in Annapolis Valley. The fruit was in splendid condition.

The local biscuit men were not represented at the Exhibition this season. G. J. Hamilton & Sons, Truro, had the field to themselves. The display was arranged by the firm's local agent.

Kippered herring are growing in favor here. When smoked are so low it is a great help to the fishermen to sell part of their catch this way, and each year sees improvement in the preparing of the different fish products for market.

The Woodstock Board of Trade, in line with the feeling of these lower provinces, passed the following: "That this board disapproves of the granting of subsidies by the Government to steamship lines having their terminus in other than Canadian ports."

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

OUTSIDE of breadstuffs and green fruits there is very little to report this week. These two lines are decidedly active. Fruit is active, because of the low prices, and flour because of the advance. This is a case where high and low prices cause trade.

During the past week the carrying capacity of the Dominion Atlantic Railway has been taxed to its utmost, carrying apples from the different points in the Annapolis Valley to this city for shipment to England. The receipts on the local market have also been heavy, far greater than the demand, and in consequence prices are very low, Gravensteins selling as low as 60c. per bbl. at auction. The steamer Barcelona took 13,747 barrels to London on Saturday.

The steamer Kong Frode is loading for the same place. She will take about 8,000, and the steamer Benedicte has been chartered to do likewise. She will take about 8,000 bbls.

Plums are low, selling at 25c. per peck basket for Lombards. The market is well supplied with imported fruits, such as Canadian and American grapes and pears, peaches, etc. Grapes retail at 35c. per basket and peaches at 45 and 50c.

Everything is lively in breadstuffs, particularly in flours. A change of prices on foreign markets does not usually affect this market, but in the present case stocks in hand are not large, and the sharp advances by millers have had the result of putting up prices. There is an active enquiry for leading brands and good sales are being made at the advance. The bulk of the trade is for shore ports account. Quotations are as follows: Ogilvie's or Five Lilies, $4.50 to $4.65; Ontario made Manitobas, in wood, $3.90; Manitoba shipments, in sacks, $4.30 to $4.40; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $3.85 to $4.00; 80 p.c. patents, $3.80 to $4.00; 90 p.c. patents, $3.70 to $3.90; low grades, $3.25 to $3.40; oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.70 to $2.80; cornmeal, $1.90 to $2.00; middlings, per ton, $17 to $19; shorts, $15 to $17.00; bran, per ton, $15 to $17.00; white oats, per bushel, in sacks, 31 to 32c.; cotton seed meal, per ton, $23 to $24; oil cake meal, per ton, $23 to $24; hay, per ton, $12 to $13; split peas, $3.15; pot barley, $3.50; white beans, per bushel, 85 to 95c.; No. 1 chopped feed, per ton, $18.50.

Eggs are jobbing at 13c., with a fair demand.

Cheese is quiet. Retailers report no demand, and give as a reason that people are using fruit.

Butter is draggy. Good creamery is worth 18 and 19c.

The demand for sugars continues brisk. Quotations are: Granulated, 4c.; extra Circle C, 3⅛c.; Circle C, 3c.

Exports of fish to West India and United States ports continue heavy. Some Newfoundland and St. Pierre cods are coming in, but the consignments are not as heavy as dealers expected. Quotations are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50; large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.25; Labrador, $2 to $2.25; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.25; Bay of Islands herrings, $1.25; No. 1, large, fat shore, $3.25 to $4; alewives, $3; mackerel, No. 3, large, $8 to $8.50; salmon, No. 1, $12; No. 2, $10.50; No. 3, $9.

B. D. Rogers, of Stellarton, one of the best known grocery men in Nova Scotia, is going out of business. He is offering his wholesale and retail business for sale. Mr. Rogers made a small fortune out of groceries and now he retires to engage permanently in temperance work. A few years ago he started on a small scale, but, being a hard worker, a close buyer and a good seller, he built up a trade of considerable importance. He was one of those who bought for cash and sold for cash. Mr. Rogers thought nothing of placing an order for $5,000 worth of goods and planking down his cheque along with it.

J. W. Berry, tea buyer for John Forbes & Co., arrived home on Sunday last. He was away six months, and visited the China, India and Ceylon markets, making a complete circuit of the globe.

FIRST EUROPEAN PRUNES.

The first really extensive business transacted in Montreal on account of new crop Austrian and French prunes was put through this week. The cost on these first direct shipments laid down shows little margin inside of present jobbing prices and will hardly permit of any change. Besides, since the time these first sales were made the strength at primary points noted last week has been accentuated and for importers to repeat their orders for French would cost an advance of 6d. per cwt., or about ⅛c. per pound.

These first shipments will cost on the wharf in Montreal, net cash, 3⅞ to 4c. for 110's and 4¼c. for 95's French, with the Austrians so far sold at the latter figure also.

LARGE SALES OF RAISINS.

The first extensive business in Valencia raisins for direct import was transacted at Montreal this week and the tenor of the market is firm.

The ss. Avlona sailed from Denia on the 26th. Orders by her will probably be small. The second direct steamer, the Bellona, sails on Oct. 10th. Orders on her account have been booked for about 15,000 boxes at 12s. for off-stalk, or equivalent to a cost of 4c. landed Montreal, and layers 20s., or 5½c. landed Montreal.

An advance of 1s. 6d. was noted last week at Denia. Since then there has been further appreciation, making a total advance since the opening of 2s. These prices are 1s. higher on the first steamer and 3s. on the second than the corresponding figures for the same boats last year.

HIGH-PRICED SNUFF.

China is the great snuff-taking country of the world, and there is snuff there worth the theoretical price of £200,000 a pound, which is handed around at the great banquets. Its high value comes in this way. The rich Chinamen buy the bulk of their snuff from Portugal, where there are families owning private old-time receipts, who sell their snuff at from £40 to £160 a pound to the Chinese. The late Chinese millionaire, How-wah, gave the latter price for his. Then the Chinaman keeps it many years, priding himself on its age, as in the early part of this century Englishmen, Frenchmen and Germans did upon the age of their wine, and the legal rate of interest being 32 per cent. per annum, its theoretical value soon increases. The Chinese carry it in beautiful bottles of porcelain, jade and agate, miracles of art, which are worth from £1 to £200 each. The first mention of snuff is in the "Book of Flowers," date 1450, a Chinese work, where it is stated to be "a neutraliser of foul air," "the remedy of head diseases," and its cost £60 an ounce.

TRADE CHAT.

The Brigden correspondent of The St. Thomas Journal says: "In the garden of Mr. Thomas Capes may be seen ripe strawberries, the second crop for this season, also raspberries, full grown, but green. Some pear trees in town have been in bloom for the third time."

Another rich vein of oil has been struck in Bothwell, making three wells of large producing capacity struck in one day. The Allen well was shot Saturday morning, and it is a good one. Of course, it will require a few days' pumping before a fair test can be made, but there is not the least doubt but that it is a fine one. This well is close to A. M. Elliott Co's well.

The following new post offices have been established: Canadasville, Lincoln County; Glenpayne, Stormont County; Lynch's Corners, King's County; Morton Park, York County; Rees, Queen's County; St. Evariste Station, Beauce County; Scotch Bay, Selkirk County; Seven Mile Ridge, Restigouche County; Stanley's Corners, Carleton County; Thurlow, Burrard County.

Consul Stang writes the United States Department of State from Saigon, Cochin China, that the Chinese rice crop did not suffer from inundations as was thought probable a few weeks ago. The Hong Kong market has declined, while the Saigon market remains firm. Exports from the first of January to July 29th this year amounted to 886,114,762 pounds, as compared with 933,164,694 pounds during the corresponding season of last year.

Eng., and which can be secured from all wholesale grocers in Canada, has to its credit eight gold medals received at the great expositions in England.

The Eby, Blain Co. claim to have the finest Northern China Ning Chow Moning Congou that has been on this market in five years. It is a fine, rich rosy tea, delicious flavor, make and draw unequalled. Judges of a really good tea should order a half-chest.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. advise the trade who have given their orders for Heinz pickles and have not received the goods that they are oversold on the first two cars, but that there are two cars now on the way which they expect to arrive in a couple of days, and all orders will then be filled.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Geo. O. Moule, representing J. W. Beardsley's Sons, New York, is expected in Toronto this week.

Mr. N. W. Rowley, of the E. B. Eddy Co., Ltd., Hull, Que., passed through Toronto this week en route home from attending his brother's wedding in Hamilton.

Mr. R. C. Many, representing the New York Condensed Milk Co., was in Toronto last week looking up business. He was introduced to the trade by his Toronto agent Mr. Hudson, of Hudson & Co.

Mr. R. Muat Corrie, who, as commercial traveler and secretary of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association, has been so well and favorably known to the grocery trade of Toronto and vicinity, has been appointed representative in Ontario for H. J. Heinz & Co, pickle manufacturers, of Pittsburg. Mr. Corrie's territory extends from Windsor on the west to Montreal on the east.

MONTREAL GROCERY CLERKS.

THE Grocery Clerks' Association of Montreal gave a very successful performance last week in aid of the fund for giving Christmas gifts to poor children. The earnest efforts of the committee towards this worthy object were successful. A large audience assembled to see the play, which was the famous comedy by Labiche, "La Cagnotte." The players, amateurs by the way, played their parts well and gained considerable applause.

The Hon. Sir J. A. Chapleau, under whose patronage the performance was given, at the last moment found he would be unable to be present. He sent a letter expressing himself in hearty sympathy with the object in view, and sent a cheque for $20 for the fund.

The financial part of the undertaking was extremely successful. The receipts were over $400. Of course there was considerable expense, but after all expenses were paid over $70 was handed over for the poor children's fund.

The object was a worthy one in itself, and the association deserves every praise for undertaking the work. The committee especially deserve great praise for carrying out their plans so successfully.

CONCERNING RETAILERS.

MR. G. S. WINTER, grocer, Brantford, received 2nd prize at the Brantford Southern Fair for the best delivery turn-out.

H. Brown, Owen Sound, intends going out of business.

A. Johnson has commenced in the grocery business in Port Arthur.

Stanley Barrett has opened an attractive grocery in Aylmer, Ont., with a large and well selected stock of goods. Having been connected with the well-known grocer, G. A. Bingham, for some time, he hopes, by keeping a well selected stock of fresh groceries, fruits, meats, etc., and being ably assisted by Charlie Mann, to be in a position to merit a large share of the public patronage.

Swinn Bros., of Aylmer, Ont., have purchased the "Central Grocery," of St. Thomas, from G. G. Steele, and will take possession the fore part of the month (Oct.). They have been successful in the business in Aylmer, but hope to still increase their success, through the position the stock holds in the city of St. Thomas. Aylmer, by their removal, loses two gentlemen who thoroughly understand their business, having been educated in the trade in London, Eng. We wish them success in their new venture.

STORAGE OF CRANBERRIES.

JUST what to do with cranberries from the time they are harvested in late summer until marketed in the autumn months is a puzzle to many growers which has never been fully satisfied. Special inquiry made by The American Agriculturist among principal growers, shippers and dealers regarding best method of keeping cranberries, emphasizes some facts not generally understood. These specialists, with one accord, have no use for cold storage in keeping cranberries in early autumn, especially where the fruit is stored in open boxes with ice. It is a method which has never been followed beyond the experimental stage. The best posted have no faith in it, and advise storing the fruit in a cool, dry bog-house or cellar, undisturbed, selling before cold weather sets in. This affords an answer to the question of a subscriber who wishes to utilize a building for cold storage, using ice instead of the refrigerating plants employed in the big cold storage concerns in the cities. Growers and dealers all agree that the best temperature is a few degrees above freezing, yet they do not advocate autumn cold storage.

Replying to the enquiry, what is the best way to keep cranberries, are the following opinions : A dealer advises that the fruit be carefully hand-picked, placed in open boxes of about a bushel capacity and kept as nearly as possible at 35 degrees, the package to be made with pine laths for sides and bottom, open at top, piling these crates in tiers in a dark room or cellar, where the temperature may be changed on cold days. Another dealer in New England says the berries should be kept in their own chaff in an open crate, as cold as possible down to 32 degrees, while a leading Chicago dealer, who handles both Western and Eastern berries, prefers a cool and dry temperature of about 38 degrees, with the fruit in either barrels or crates. A prominent grower of Jersey cranberries piles them in a well-ventilated building until entirely dry, then removes to an ordinary cold store-room, leaving an air space between each box; does not object to a temperature above 40 degrees. He places the fruit in layers not eight inches deep. A Massachusetts member of the Cranberrry Fruit Growers' Association stores the fruit as soon as harvested in basement of a cranberry house having cemented floors and walls with ventilated windows on all sides. The berries are kept in the regular open wood picking boxes, bushel size, just as they come from the bog, at a temperature as nearly 40 degrees as possible. Berries thus cared for in the autumn and subsequently put in proper winter storage will keep until the following summer.

HARD LINES.

The old gentleman from the country sat on a box in a Lewiston grocery shop and munched patiently at the job lot of crackers and cheese which he had just purchased. He appeared to have some difficulty in chewing, and finally exclaimed, "Darn false teeth, anyway! I wouldn't give six good teeth for a whole head full of false ones!" "There is one consolation about false teeth," said the grocer encouragingly, "you can take them out and wash them." "Yes, I s'pose so." When the farmer had finished his cheese he went along to a big kerosene tank with a nickel plated pump on the top, and holding his teeth in his hand pumped kerosene on them and slipped them back into his mouth. "'Pears to me that ice water tastes like soap," said he. "That is kerosene," said the grocer, looking up. "Whew, that so?" and the farmer pulled out his teeth and wiped them on the nearest thing that came to hand—a coarse bag that looked like a bran sack." "Worse and more of it! 'Pears to me there's something dead about here! What's this bag?" "That," and the grocer walked out from behind the counter, "is a phosphate bag." The old gentleman shook his teeth out and went out of the store with them in his hand. —Bangor Commercial.

The traffic returns on the Canadian Pacific Railway for the week ended September 14, 1896, amounted to $433,000; for the corresponding week of last year the returns were $404,000.

The management of the Grand Trunk Railway have decided to abolish the present existing Stores Department. In the past, supplies for all the departments were sent to the large central stores after being bought by the purchasing agents, and from there were distributed to the various points. By the new arrangement goods will be bought after requisitions have been sent in from the foremen and heads of departments. Cash will be paid the various merchants and producers who supply the needed articles. Many advantages are claimed for this new idea, one of which is that the traffic department will benefit largely owing to the suppliers having to ship the articles brought to the points desired by the railway.

Subscribers wanting goods or special quotations on anything anywhere in Canada at any time, can get them by mail or wire by corresponding with THE CANADIAN GROCER, Toronto or Montreal.

REINDEER BRAND

The "Reindeer" Brand Condensed Milk must be pronounced of excellent quality and in every respect satisfactory.

DR. ARTHUR HILL HASSALL,
Analy. Sanit. Inst., London, Eng.

I am satisfied that the original milk from which the "Reindeer" Brand is prepared is of unusual richness. In point of flavor, color and consistency it leaves nothing to be desired.

DR. OTTO HEHNER,
Hon. Secy. of Soc'y. of Pub. Analysts, London, Eng.

PROFESSOR JAMES W. ROBERTSON, Dominion Dairy Commission, says :

The Truro Condensed Milk, "Reindeer" Brand, has been analyzed by our Chemist, and found superior to the famous Swiss products.

Keep abreast of the times

Be thoroughly alive to the requirements and possibilities of your trade. Don't miss a single opportunity of thoroughly pleasing your customers. It all means increased profit and a fuller bank account. A sure way to attain this object in your Tea Department :

Look into the grand values which W. H. GILLARD & CO., of Hamilton, are offering in high and medium grades of Assams, Ceylons, Indians, Darjeelings, Young Hysons, Japans, etc., etc.

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, OCTOBER 9, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 41

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

The merchant who studies his customers increases his custom.

Blind credits will in time lead any merchant into the ditch.

Judicious curtailment of credits means enlargement of profits.

A merchant that is not up to date soon becomes a back number.

The way to overcome evil in trade is by inaugurating good business methods.

Opportunities neglected to-day fly past too rapidly to be caught up with to-morrow.

Do not turn a deaf ear to any man's views, but do not accept every man's views.

Look out for your own interests, but do not forget that other people also have rights.

People do not, as a rule, place reliance in a man with whom self-reliance is a wanting quantity.

People who think twice before they open their mouth once are not likely to put their foot in it.

No man, and a merchant particularly, gains anything by unnecessarily increasing his enemies.

Merchants who dispense grains of kindness to children gather gold nuggets as a resultant.

The ideal "drummer" is as brave as a lion, as courteous as a lady, and as pertinacious as a bull-dog.

The merchant who has not time to read his paper usually wastes golden minutes mourning over losses he would not have encountered had he found time to read that which would probably have prevented him from incurring the loss.

A dull merchant can no more be expected to build up a bright business than can a dull knife cut a hair.

The association is to the merchant what the school is to the pupil—an educator. If it is not it isn't anything.

He who expects perfection in other people is, ten chances to one, as full of imperfections as an old wooden target is of holes.

Canadians like to see a strong butter market in England, but Englishmen do not like to see strong butter on their market.

He is an unwise merchant who increases his expenses except with the object of increasing his profits as well as his revenue.

The merchant has to deal with so many wolves in sheeps' clothing that it is surprising that he is not "bit" oftener than he is.

Every merchant should buy his goods as cheaply as he can, but care needs to be exercised that cheap goods are not bought dear.

The United States as a nation is confronted with a crisis; but it is within the power of the nation to knock said crisis on the head.

Dude clerks are good things to crack jokes upon, but it is dangerous to lay business responsibilities upon their mental capabilities.

A store sign often indicates more than the name of the merchant and the line of business he is in: It indicates whether he is dead or alive.

Hope must have a basis for its existence. If it is not it is a fancy. Trade in Canada is hopeful, for the substance of things upon which it is based are seen.

The clerk who once and awhile imagines himself in the place of the merchant will be a gainer rather than a loser by the little mental trick.

It is well to always exercise common sense. Through indiscretion a merchant can bring discredit upon himself by even discarding the credit system.

Election soap is a commodity that is now on the United States market. It will probably be used to wash away the stains of corruption after the war is over.

The "cutter" would appear to be in business for charity; but he isn't. He "cuts" because he doesn't want the "other fellow" to get any of the trade.

The value of a customer is not always in ratio to the quantity of goods he buys. It is the promptness with which he pays his accounts that determines his value.

TENDENCY ON DRIED FRUIT.

THE tendency of the market in all lines of dried fruits for a week past has been upward. Old stocks have been closely absorbed by the quiet though steady demands of consumption, and the new season opens, according to report, with smaller supplies of both foreign and domestic fruit than has been known for several years. In both foreign and home-producing centres the weather this year, it is reported, has been against the harvesting of anything like full crops. The output of foreign fruits of all descriptions in spite of the bad weather may, it is intimated, be up to the average of the past few seasons ; but most of the California crops will fall short of expectations, as in connection with the frosts in the early spring, which considerably curtailed the output and delayed the crop, the weather during the drying season so far has been adverse to production on the usual scale, and will make choice and fancy grades, particularly the latter, scarce.

According to late mail advices from reliable people in California, the stock of new apricots has been well cleaned up, and the few remaining cars are under close control and firmly held. The prune crop is late, and will run largely to small sizes. The supply of peaches, which some time ago it was expected would be large, turns out according to later reports to be comparatively small, and although prices are advancing on the Coast, buyers continue to take all they can get at what they consider reasonable prices, with the result that stocks of all desirable goods are being rapidly bought up.

The raisin situation on the Coast has been somewhat unsettled, but the general tendency of the market has been upward owing to the continued bad drying weather. A letter just received from a prominent commission house says that if the damp weather continues there will be few raisins for early shipment. The writer of this letter said that prior to September 19th for about two weeks the weather in the raisin district was most unfavorable. The temperature during the day was 90 to 95 degrees, but the nights were cold and dewy, so that it required all of the morning to restore the fruit on the trays to a normal temperature, leaving only two or three hours in the afternoon in which evaporation could take place. However, if favorable weather should succeed that which prevailed during September, the writer was of the opinion that prices would recede somewhat.

It is reported from California that there has been an unusually heavy production of dried pears, but owing to the low prices named the fancy qualities have gone freely into consumption, and there is not an excessive supply of these grades at the present time. Germany has been a buyer of considerable quantities, and at last mail advices was ready to take more at the equivalent of 7¾c. f.o.b. in 25-lb boxes.—N. Y. Commercial Bulletin.

A DEPARTMENTAL STORE FARCE.

What a farce the retail distribution of merchandise, as carried on by department houses, is getting to be ! What does it matter to a man in search of good coffee or tea, whether the store he purchases it at has sixteen elevators and also a wet-nurse department for the babies of customers, provided the goods are not up to standard ? Even a purchaser of dry goods would have good cause for complaint if, when criticising the quality of the delivered goods in the presence of the department manager, the latter should retort : "But, madam, consider our unparalleled attractions ! Do you not know that we have a tower that is 300 feet high ?" Imagine a complaining purchaser of drugs being soothed by the assurance of a floorwalker that (probably in case of the customers occasionally being poisoned) two medical men are constantly in attendance, for the benefit of the firm's patrons, and that no charge for their services is demanded. J. C. THORNTON'S LOVE MISSIVE.

A Portsmouth provision dealer writes that in unpacking a case of eggs from Canada last week, he found one bearing the following inscription in lead pencil : "July, '96. If any nice young lady should by chance receive this egg, will she please write (for matrimonial purposes) to John C. Thornton, Seaforth, Ont., Canada ?" Mr. Thornton rather reflects on the young ladies in Canada, but his idea might be utilised by the grocer when sending eggs into a house where too long credit was being taken, in a message neatly printed on each egg, and suggesting settlement. This would be sure to attract attention !—Grocers' Journal, London, Eng., September 12.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

THE Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of new prunes in half cases, which they offer at a low figure.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol are agents for The baking powder.

McWilliam & Everist expect their first shipment of Eleme figs this week.

Gunn Bros. & Co. are extending their special prices on shoulder hams.

Warren Bros. & Co. have in stock their first shipment of new Brazil nuts.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., report a good sale for "English Club" pickles.

Warren Bros. & Co. have a shipment of fancy New Orleans molasses in stock.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have their first shipment of new Malaga fruit in stock.

A shipment of Rio coffee has just been landed in New York for Warren Bros. & Co., of Toronto.

Clemes Bros. have another direct carload of Palermo Verdelli lemons in stock, which they are selling cheap.

The "Pure Gold" "Kitchen" is creating great excitement in Hamilton. They can't supply the demand for their doughnuts.

"Yes," say Lucas Steele & Bristol, "our icing sugar is a great ad. for us. Those who buy our XXX never buy any other."

The Eby, Blain Co. are calling special attention this week to their "Anchor" brand salmon put up under their own label. They claim this is the finest fish packed this year. A new shipment of Beardsley's shredded codfish is in store with the Eby, Blain Co, Ltd.

W. H. Gillard & Co. expect their first shipment of "Paradise" currants in this week. This is a special quality of excellent value.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., have received another shipment of Knox's gelatine—Calvesfoot, Acidulated and Crystalized Fruit.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in stock Albert sardines, ¼'s and ½'s; also cheaper fish, ¼'s and ½'s, in several well-known brands.

Every week has been bringing to Laporte, Martin & Cie. large consignments of their special brands, "Victoria" and "Princess Louise," Japan teas.

The cocoa season has opened this year with a very much increased demand for Bensdorp's "Royal Dutch." The Eby, Blain Co. are Toronto agents.

Fruit and vegetables are still plentiful, which accounts for the continued sales of pickling vinegar reported by T. A. Lytle & Co., Richmond street west.

Large tea sales are reported by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "In October, in fact,," said one of the firm, "we were almost double any previous October."

Durability is economy. Morse Brothers' "Sun Paste" stove polish has durable qualities which make it a favorite with the trade and the housekeeper. It does not rust or eat the boxes, and does not deteriorate on the grocer's shelves. It gives and holds a brilliant lustre, which makes it a favorite in the hands of the consumer.

The Scotch whiskey trade seems to be livening up with Laporte, Martin & Cie. They report good sales of Mitchell's Scotch, for which they are Canadian agents.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol find the demand for "Pure Gold" goods increasing every day. Their pastry spice, poultry dressing, sage, savoury, etc., are seasonable goods.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. are selling their "Victoria" and "Princess Louise" Japan tea at a lower price than last year. They are making special offers to the trade.

Gillard's new pickle and Gillard's new sauce, made in London, Eng., is finding a ready sale with W. H. Gillard & Co. This firm say they are away up in quality.

The "Salada" Ceylon Tea Co's advertisements now run in 349 newspapers in Canada and the United States. In Buffalo they appear in The Sunday Express, Times, News, and Enquirer.

Twenty-three millions of packages of stove polish in a single year is a large record, but such is the yearly output of the "Rising Sun" stove polish factory. The "Sun Paste" stove polish has already become an important part of the business of this factory, and Morse Brothers use the same trade mark on the "Sun Paste," which has become familiar to the trade and housekeepers as the mark on the "Rising Sun" stove polish.

ALLEVIATION FOR TARIFF REVISING EVILS.

IT is beyond question that the prospective tariff revision is a disturbing element in trade. We do not say this with a view to casting any reflection upon the Government in its avowed purpose of overhauling the tariff. On the contrary, we would rather commend it. The tariff neads revision, for where in many important industries it should be a help, it is now a hindrance.

When a patient is undergoing an operation the attending physicians try by every possible means science has devised to make it as easy as they can.

Tariff revision, whenever and by whomsoever done, causes inconvenience to trade. But, nothing is ever done by tariff doctors to alleviate the suffering of the patient. They do not seem to ever give thought to the devising of ways and means whereby the minimum of suffering may be secured. "It has always been done this way; and it's going to be done this way," is in effect their line of argument. And there is yet no sign that the present Government intends departing from the ways of their predecessors in office. Their predecessors did not give anesthetics when operating on the tariff and they do not propose to give any.

Meanwhile the trade of the country is suffering. We do not believe that it is suffering to the extent that some would have us believe it is. But it is suffering; and suffering more than it need suffer..

No sensible business man would for a moment demand that the Government should at this time reveal in detail what it proposes to do with the tariff. The work of tariff revision is too great and too intricate to expect it.

The physician cannot relieve the patient of all the effects of an operation. But he can alleviate them. And that is what the Government can do in the matter under discussion.

What is retarding trade is the uncertainty which surrounds the tariff. We all know the tariff is to be revised, but none of us know to what extent it will be revised. Hence, the uncertainty. As a consequence manufacturers, in a great many lines, are turning out goods but sparingly. Wholesalers and retailers are also moving like men treading in the dark with stone walls or pitfalls surrounding them.

What the Government should do is what we last week intimated it should do: issue an official notification to the effect that whatever changes may be made next January they will not go into effect until six, eight, ten or twelve months afterwards. Manufacturers could then go on making, importers importing and retailers buying for the next spring trade, confident that they were not buying a "pig in the poke.' And then, next spring, after the tariff had been revised they could go on arranging for their summer trade, alike undisturbed by tariff bugaboos.

This is the United States' method; and it is one of the few methods that that country has in dealing with the tariff that we can with profit take to our own bed and board.

THE GOVERNMENT SHOULD BE CAREFUL.

THE Dominion Government should go very slowly in undertaking to make any changes in regard to the minimum rate of speed of steamers that may be subsidized for an Atlantic service.

That we need a steamship service on the Atlantic faster than we now have is beyond peradventure. No one, as far as our memory serves us, has ever said anything to the contrary. The fact that the Canadian lines take from 30 to 40 per cent. longer time to cross the Atlantic than do the fast boats running into New York is evidence sufficient to convince any ordinary man that we need a faster line, and need it badly.

On the Pacific we have the lines running to Australia and the Orient. Both these lines are superior to any other line running on the same routes from United States ports. Foreigners, as well as British subjects, take that line because of its efficiency. The C. P. R. as a trans-continental route is taken again for the same reason. But when the traveler reaches eastern Canada he branches off into the United States and takes for Europe one of the fast lines running out of New York. And that in spite of the fact that Canada is a day or two's journey nearer Europe than is the favored port of New York.

It is to be regretted that so much opposition should arise to the inauguration of a twenty-knot service, just when the desideratum appeared to be within realization. It was not in evidence when Parliament was dealing with the matter. The question has been before the country for years, and why such opposition should develop now, and so suddenly, is difficult to understand.

What the Dominion needs is a first-class line. Anything that comes below a twenty-knot minimum rate of speed will not be a first-class line. It may be safe, it may be comfortable. But speed is to-day the chief factor which determines whether a line is first-class or not.

Give Canada a twenty-knot service on the Atlantic and there is no question about her being able to compete with New York in regard to trans-Atlantic travel; but with an eighteen-knot service it is a question. It is well to be cautious; but it is also well to avoid a petty cheese-paring policy.

We are infinitely more in need of a fast service on the Atlantic than the United States ever was. The fast lines running into New York were not established because that port was not getting its proper share of the Atlantic traffic. With the lines that preceded the present service that port held first place. How great, therefore, is the necessity that Canada should have a line of boats that can do mile after mile with the ocean greyhounds that run in and out of New York? If she has not, how can she compete? If our boats are not as fast as those of our competitors how are we to attract traffic that is now not ours?

Another question which has to be considered is: Will Great Britain assist is subsidizing a second-class line of steamships? The reason that the Motherland agreed to subsidize a twenty-knot service was that the steamers composing it could be utilized as fast cruisers in the event of war. Boats that could be obviously outstripped while either being pursued or pursuing are not boats that the British Admiralty are likely to look upon with favor or to put their hands into their pockets to help. Great Britain is primarily looking after her own interests, not ours.

No one questions that we will have to subsidize a steamship service, whether that service be slow or fast. What is to be gained, therefore, by reducing the amount of the subsidy by a few thousand dollars when by so doing we shall induce Great Britain to withdraw her financial support or to give a support that would be of very little assistance.

These are questions which it would be well for the Government to ponder well over.

VALENCIA RAISINS.

VALENCIA raisins continue to gather strength. A cable received in Toronto this week announces this fact. The increased certainty of the crop being small is the cause of this.

A cable received in Toronto about ten days ago from Arguimbau, of Denia, stated that the crop was decidedly short, and mail advices received from the same authority this week state that the crop will be 400,000 boxes less than last year. If this estimate is a correct one, and Mr. Arguimbau is usually conservative in matters of this kind, it means that the crop this season is in the neghborhood of 1,400,000 boxes. This is the smallest crop since 1873.

It will be interesting in this connection to take a glance back over the figures for different years during the last four decades. In 1855 the crop was 597,000 boxes; in 1865, 789,000 boxes; in 1875, 1,580,000 boxes. For each of the past ten years the crop was as follows: 1885, 1,659,048 boxes; 1886, 2,345,040 boxes; 1887, 2,758,184 boxes; 1888, 2,288,376 boxes; 1889, 2,271,464 boxes; 1890, 3,467,988 boxes; 1891, 2,677,812 boxes; 1892, 2,376,136 boxes; 1893, 1,902,264 boxes; 1894, 2,633,652 boxes; 1895, 1,808,512 boxes; 1896, 1,400,000 boxes.

Whether the shortage is smaller or greater than given above, remains, of course, to be decided; but one thing is certain, the crop is a short one and that prices will rule high. Already values are about 3s. above the figures of 1895, and there is every indication that they will go still higher.

HANDSOME BUTTER PROFITS.

THE exports of butter from Montreal last week were 15,268 packages, making the total to date 107,222. It is only two years ago that the total shipments hardly amounted to more than double last week's quantity.

This welcome expansion in the Canadian export butter business can be attributed to two causes, the cold storage facilities and the sale of the butter before it becomes stale.

It is noted with regret, therefore, that some of the speculative operators in Montreal have pursued the policy of carrying June made creamery until September more extensively than usual this year.

The great bulk of the exports during the past three weeks have been of this cold storage June butter, sold earlier in the year for September shipment. This speculation has been carried on by the English buyers quite as much as the Montreal exporters. In fact the great the bulk of June creamery in cold store was carried on English account. This action on the part of the Britishers, considering that they have protested loud and long in the past against stale held butter, looks suspicious.

On the surface it would appear as if they were not practising what they preached, and that a good deal of the preaching was done to enable them to make a handsome profit. They certainly cannot deny that they have done so this year.

Most of the butter that has gone across the water recently, did so on the basis of 18½ to 19c., in Montreal. As this June butter only cost 16 to 16½c., there was a clear margin of profit of almost $2 per tub. Some snug little sums, therefore, must have been made recently on butter shipments, which ought to stop some of the complaints so frequent with traders and exporters this summer.

CANNED SALMON INACTIVE.

ESTIMATES received recently at Montreal estimate the pack of salmon on the Fraser river at 314,000 cases, and the pack on the northern rivers this year is estimated at 234,000 cases, making 548,000 for the season.

Though some sales, amounting to possibly 3,000 to 3,500 cases in rough numbers, have been made at $4.25 f.o.b. Coast, the eastern Canadian market is far from being an encouraging one.

This demoralized condition, as has been pointed out before, is due to the fact that jobbers generally in Montreal carried over sufficient stock from last season to fill their requirements; consequently they have been slow in placing their orders. The prospects are very poor for any large sales being made in this market this season, as it is claimed that buyers already have ample stocks on hand. Sales in this province this season are fully 75 per cent. short of last year. A few small lots of red salmon have been placed at $4.25 per case, f.o.b. Coast, and some sales of cohoes at $3.50, f.o.b. Coast, and other sales are reported at $4, delivered Montreal. The above price for red salmon is a decline of 25c. per case as compared with the price it was offered at in the beginning of the season, but agents state that an order for 5,000 cases of either of the above brands would advance prices 25c. per case. The demand from foreign markets this season for red salmon has been very active, and it is claimed that the bulk of the pack has already been shipped, and there is very little left for Canada, except the lower grades, which are being packed now.

MR. KYLE HONORED AND MARRIED

MR. C. E. KYLE, chief traveler for H. P. Eckardt & Co., wholesale grocers, Toronto, was married on the 30th ult. to Mrs. J. H. McCallum.

A few evenings prior to the performance of this interesting ceremony Mr. Kyle's confreres in the house of H. P. Eckardt & Co. expressed their respect for him and well wishes for his future happiness in a tangible manner: They presented him with an address and a handsome cabinet of silver cutlery.

The address was read by Mr. Neil Carmichael and the presentation was made by Mr. R. B. Rice. The address read as follows:

Hearing that a very interesting event in the history of your life is about to take place, we cannot let the opportunity pass without signifying the esteem in which you are held by us all. During the years that it has been our privilege to associate with you we have found in you a companion whom we could honor and respect, and a man possessed of such qualities that those who know you best admire you most. We desire to tender our congratulations on the step you are about to take and trust the estimable lady who is about to become your partner may be spared to enjoy with you a long life of the greatest happiness. We ask you to kindly accept this cabinet, not on account of its commercial value, but as expressing in a small degree the regard in which you are held by us

A whole army of competitors or customers would not nonplus Mr. Kyle. But what competitors or customers could not do the expressions of good will on the part of the employes of the house accomplished. He, however, made a neat and appropriate speech in returning thanks for the present and the kind things that had been said about him.

THE CANADIAN GROCER begs to tender its congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Kyle.

FIRST NEW MALAGA RAISINS.

The first shipment of Malaga raisins to reach the Toronto market this season arrived on Friday. The shipment was only a small one, and comprised two brands.

The crop is about the same as that of last year. Prices are moderate, and it is considered that they will be certainly as low as those which ruled for the crop of 1895.

The few that were in the shipment referred to are quoted by the wholesale trade as follows: London layers, $2.20; black baskets, $2.75; blue baskets, $3.25; choice clusters, $3.25; Dehesa clusters, $3.75.

VISIT FROM AN OLD FRIEND.

Mr. Robert Ellis, of Vancouver, formerly so well and favorably known on "The Street," Toronto, is paying a visit to the scenes of his former activity in the grocery trade. His reception on "The Street" was cordial. "My, but it looks like old times to see Bob going along 'The Street,'" exclaimed one wholesaler, as he caught a glimpse of Mr. Ellis as he passed the window. Mr. Ellis never regrets he went to the Coast. He is looking the picture of health, his friends who have not yet met him will be pleased to know. Business, he says, is improving on the Coast, and the outlook, particulary in the mining districts, bright.

PERSONAL MENTION.

MR. WALLACE ANDERSON, representative in Toronto of the Acadia Sugar Refining Co., returned on Monday from a visit to Great Britain. He enjoyed his trip immensely. In spite of the good trade generally, he reports trade with the refiners in Great Britain unsatisfactory owing to the competition of the German, bounty-fed article.

J. C. Brown, of Harriston, has been succeeded by John McConnell, late of Chesley.

The trade will regret to learn that Mr. Wm. McAllister, Bloomingdale, dicd a few days ago.

Mr. J. B. Huether goes on the road next week for H. P. Eckardt & Co. He will cover ground north of main line G.T.R., west of Toronto.

Mr. Neil Carmichael, representative in Northwestern Ontario for H. P. Eckardt & Co., will hereafter be found in the sample room of the firm.

Mr. A. W. Daviss, who represented the Acadia Sugar Refining Co. in Toronto during Mr. Anderson's absence in Great Britain, is in the General Hospital suffering from typhoid fever.

Mr. J. D. Roberts, of the Pure Gold Co., Toronto, has just returned from a trip to the field of his former labors—the Northwest and British Columbia, whither he went on business and pleasure bent.

Capt. J. Adams, who is selling out the stock of Smith & Keighley, has nearly completed his task, and in a few days will leave for a trip to the Coast. "I still have three or four thousand dollars' worth of goods which I will sell at a sacrifice," he remarked.

Mr. W. K. Rymal, who was the winner of the piano offered by the manufacturers of "Surprise" soap for the nearest guess to the weight of the big cake of soap at the Industrial Exhibition, has written to the firm, acknowledging the receipt of the instrument.

Mr. J. W. Shouldice, eastern traveler for H. P. Eckardt & Co., is confined to his home with an attack of typhoid fever. So far he is doing nicely. His route is being looked after by Mr. D. Wright, and the trade will, no doubt, accord him the same consideration as they did he whose place he is now filling.

BAGS OR BOXES.

ACCORDING to The N. Y. Commercial Bulletin there has been some discussion among members of the dried fruit trade in New York city recently over the use of bags in the packing of California dried fruits. A few shipments of evaporated apples in bags have been received here, and this caused some comments, as these goods have hitherto almost invariably come to this market in boxes. There is considerable opposition to the use of bags by some merchants here. A member of the trade, in discussing the matter recently, said: "The tendency to pack evaporated apples in bags is condemned by experience, and it is quite probable that the experiment will not be repeated. The results of packing fruits in bags have not been satisfactory, notably in the case of raisins. It seems that there is no better criterion as to how goods should be packed than the long experience of European packers, who almost invariably use boxes of standard measurements. Any method of packing which reduces fruits, which are generally considered articles of taste and fancy, to a mere staple lowers these goods in the eyes of the consumer. Furthermore, the great amount and variety of chemicals, oils and other similar materials transported in cars renders the use of bags objectionable, as it increases the liability of staining and absorption of undesirable and possibly pernicious odors, and there is no doubt that this danger, if it could be traced analytically by itself, would far outweigh the alleged danger from the infinitesmal particles of zinc oxide suspected to be contained in some of our American fruits and which is legislated against by the German Government."

A member of another local jobbing firm which handles California dried fruit, when questioned recently said: "We are condemning the use of bags wherever we have a chance. The fruit is liable to become crushed in transit on account of the pressure, and the shrinkage is considerable, owing to the amount of moisture that is squeezed out. The bags are also liable to get torn. The average customer prefers coast-packed prunes, and I think the use of bags in packing these goods, and raisins especially, is decreasing. Other members of the trade, however, claim that either method of packing is suitable, and that the danger of contamination from outside sources is not of sufficient importance to merit attention. Some dealers, especially those who repack goods for their customers, prefer to have certain classes of fruits come in bags, as the price of goods shipped from the Coast in bags, and consequently loose, is somewhat lower than for those packed in boxes. A style of case which is said to be coming into general favor is a case of 50 pounds capacity, used largely for prunes, which are put in loose."

SUPPLEMENTARY HINTS TO BUYERS.

Lorimier's Worcester sauce is having a big sale. Robert Greig & Co. are agents.

"Grand Mogul" tea is now sold by all the trade in Winnipeg with few exceptions.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are receiving this week a large range of new Young Hyson's.

Another car of Heinz's pickles, sauces and canned beans is being unloaded for H. P. Eckardt & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering a car of No. 1 split herrings in bbls. and half-bbls. at specially low prices.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have "Eagle" and "Gold Seal" brands condensed milk in stock. They are fine quality.

"Our new fine Filiatra currants, in half-barrels, cases and half-cases, show extra good value," say H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Robert Greig & Co. have recently shipped several large parcels of their "Crown" brand flavoring extracts both east and west.

"Aunt Polly" pancake flour has started a demand already. Maizola and wheat is also selling well, report T. B. Escott & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering very low a line of Eleme figs, 10 and 20-lb. boxes, "95 pack." They have been kept in cold storage and are all right.

Mack's Double Starch has passed the experimental stage in the Canadian market. Repeat orders are constantly being received by the agents, Robert Greig & Co.

Our method of advertising Japan teas for the merchants is doubling their sales and decreasing the pedlars' sales correspondingly, report T. B. Escott & Co.

Cold weather coming. J. McLauchlan & Sons anticipate large sales for their McL. Cough Drops, as the firm report having received many testimonials as to the merits of this drop for coughs.

Bryant & May's English matches, safeties and wax vestas, are the standard lights the world over. Robert Greig & Co., Canadian agents, state that the sale of this popular line was never so great as at present.

Pratt's poultry food is a guaranteed egg producer. Robert Greig & Co., the Canadian agents, are giving with each package sold a large colored chart showing the different breeds of poultry, also a book of 150 pages on the care of poultry, etc. The food is having a large sale in the United States, no less than thirty-two travelers are constantly on the road with this line alone.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

TRADE does not exhibit much life, there having been a falling off in volume during the past week. This decreased trade is particularly noticeable in sugar, which is both lower in price and less wanted, although there may be said to be a fair movement for this time of the year. The tea market has rather increased than diminished its strength. Canned vegetables are demoralized and canned goods generally are quiet. Some houses are this week in receipt of Valencia raisins, prices for which are firm. The finer grades of green Rio coffee are scarce, with prices firm. There is a fair trade doing in molasses and business is opening up in syrups. Spices contain no new features. Currants are in good demand, with prices firm.

CANNED GOODS.

Although the frost has put an end to the packing of tomatoes, the price of that commodity does not appear to have gained any strength thereby; and the packers themselves are largely to blame by the haste which some of them are exhibiting in offering their product. No transactions are reported, both wholesalers and retailers holding off. Sixty cents per dozen is commonly quoted by packers, while others are firm at 65c. Still others are not offering. Wholesalers' prices run from 62½ to 65c. No interest is being taken in either peas or corn. The situation in canned salmon is unchanged. We hear of a transaction or two in cohoes. The exact consideration has not been divulged, but we were given to understand that it was in the neighborhood of $3.40 f.o.b. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 62½ to 65c.; corn, 55c. for old and 60 to 65c. for new; peas, 60 to 65c. for ordinary; sifted select, 95c.; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Maple Leaf," $1.40 to $1.45; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.60 to $2.65; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

There is a good business being done. Stocks of fine grades of Rio are scarce and hard to get. As to price, the market is better, both in Brazil and New York. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There has been more enquiry during the last few days and a fair quantity has gone out. We quote: Dark, 28 to 31c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The demand is fairly good, the season beginning to open up nicely. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; ditto, half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

A further decline is to be noted both in the home and the New York market. Granulated dropped ¼ to 5-16c. per lb. in New York on Monday, and on Friday last the Canadian refiners shaded their figures 1-16c. per lb. all round. Our prices are still about ¼c. per lb. below the figures obtaining in New York. Wholesalers' quotations are now 4 to 4.10c. per lb. for granulated and 3.10 up for yellows. The demand has also fallen off during the week, but there are still a good many small orders coming in. The retail trade in Toronto is freely offering granulated sugar at 25 pounds for $1, and 35 pounds of yellow sugar for the same price.

SPICES.

All kinds of ginger continue dearer in the primary markets. Locally there are no new features to note. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, ETC.

There is a fair demand for tapioca, but rice and sago are both quiet. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

The first shipment of new Brazil nuts was received on the Toronto market this week, and they are going out fairly well at the ruling price of 12½c. per lb. New season's chestnuts and hickory nuts are offering freely and the demand is beginning to open up. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c. Chestnuts, $3 to $3.25 per bushel in small lots, with larger quantities being shaded; hickory nuts, $1.75 to $2 per bushel.

TEAS.

Mail advices received in Toronto this week from Calcutta indicate that all Indian teas up to 6½d. are very strong and well competed for. Calcutta shipments to London up to date are still behind the same date last season. It is owing to the short shipments, together with the good quality of the tea offering, that the price of low-grade Indian teas is being so well maintained. Indian and Ceylon teas are both firmer on the London market. In the latter some kinds have advanced as much as 2d. per lb. Toronto brokers report that during the last couple of weeks there have been more transactions in Indian teas at from 14½ to 16c. than for the two months previously. Darjeelings at 18 to 20c. are said to be practically unobtainable. Japan teas are stronger, especially in the low and medium grades. New season's North China country teas (Monings or Ningchow), ranging from 11½ to 25½c., are reported to be exceedingly scarce. In Foochow black teas there is little of interest to report. Prices are low, but they do not attract the attention of buyers. A cable received in Toronto this week indicates that supplies of Young Hysons are diminishing, and that good teas are hard to get. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

A cable received in Toronto this week indicates a higher range of values in Valencia raisins. A small shipment of 500 boxes arrived on the Toronto market on Friday via Liverpool, and were distributed among the trade. They were little more than a "flea in a tar barrel," the market still being bare. A shipment of Arguimbau's fruit arrived in New York on Monday ex ss. Elysia. The portion consigned to Toronto is being anxiously waited for. The few boxes of new fruit there are on the market are quoted at 6¼ to 6½c. for fine offstalk and selected at 6¾ to 7¼c.

A few boxes of the early shipments of new season's Malaga raisins arrived in the Toronto market on Friday. There were two brands in the shipment, Casado's and Rein's. The quality was satisfactory. We quote this fruit as follows: London layers, $2.20; black baskets, $2.75; blue baskets, $3.25; choice clusters, $3.25; Dehesas, $3.75.

Currants continue in good demand with the market firm. We still quote as follows: Provincials, 3¾ to 3⅞c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4 to 4⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 4⅛ to 4¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Patras, 4¼ to 4½c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.

Turkish prunes are again a little higher in the lower grades, so that prices for the four sizes are pretty well bunched now. In other words, the difference between the prices on each size is not so great as it was. We quote nominally as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c.; "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

The new steamship Canada, of the Dominion line, which is due in Montreal on Friday, carries a shipment of Eleme figs from C. Whittall & Co., Smyrna.

California dried fruits are without change. New season's California loose muscatels are expected here about the last week in the month.

proving. Prices are much about the same as a week ago. Lemons are in moderate demand without any special feature. There is a very good demand for sweet potatoes. Peaches are about exhausted. Grapes are meeting with a fair demand. The season is about over for pears. Apples are still being exported in liberal quantities, but there is not much doing locally. Quinces are meeting with a good enquiry. In cranberries Canadian are being offered as well as the Cape Cod article. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, $7 to $7.50 per bbl. and $4.50 to $4.75 per box. Lemons—Maoris and Sorrentos, $4.50 to $6 per box. Bananas, $1.00 to $1.50; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; tomatoes, 15 to 25c. per basket; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2.50 per bbl. for extra selected; apples, 75c. to $1 per bbl.; pears, 25 to 60c.; grapes, blue, 1½c. per lb.; Niagaras and Rogers, 2 to 2½c.; onions, 75 to 80c. per 80 lb. bag; Cape Cod cranberries, $6 to $7 per bbl. and $2 to $2.75 per crate, and Canadian cranberries, $5 per bbl.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The conditions are much about the same as they were a week ago. The receipts are large while the demand is light for all butter except for choice packages of creamery. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c. 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The market is strong. October cheese has been contracted for at 10¼c. Locally there is not much doing, and the export demand is much about the some as a week ago. We quote in a jobbing way 9¼ to 9½c. for early makes, and 10 to 10½c. for October.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The feeling is steady, but there is not much doing; 75 to 80c. is the jobbing price. Choice hand-picked beans are held at 65c. per bushel on the Chatham market.

DRIED APPLES—We hear of transactions in new fruit at 2½c. f.o.b. for prime bright fruit, and more offers are out at the same figure.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Enquiries by cable have been received, but the prices quoted are lower than holders are willing to accept.

EGGS—Receipts are light and demand fairly good at 14c.

HONEY—Not much doing. We quote: Strained, 7 to 7½c., in 50-lb. tins, and comb at $1.75 per dozen.

POTATOES—Not much doing. We quote 35c. on track and 45c. per bag for small lots out of store.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade continues good in provisions. Long clear is practically cleaned out of the market, and no heavy hogs are coming in from which more can be made. Prices are fractionally higher. Lard is firm, and the demand is so active that packers are experiencing difficulty in keeping up with it. Light dressed hogs, $5 to $5.25 in small lots.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¼ to 5½c. for carload lots, and 5½ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c.; small hams, 11 to 11½c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD— Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½c.; tubs, 6¾c.; pails, 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts are fair, with prices higher than a week ago. We quote: White wheat, 75 to 75½c.; red, 74 to 74½c.; goose, 53½ to 54c.; oats, 21 to 22c.; peas, 43 to 44c.

FLOUR — Trade is good owing to the advance in prices. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.95; Ontario patents, $4.25 to $4.35. Straight roller is about $3.65 to $3.85 Toronto freights.

BALED HAY — Demand is for choice grades. On track carloads of No. 1 timothy are selling at $11 to $11.25; No. 2, $9.

BREAKFAST FOODS — The price of oatmeal is much dearer, owing largely to the poor quality of oats which are coming to the mills. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.75; rolled wheat, $2.25 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.35 to $2.45; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

There are no white fish on the market, and salmon trout are not much wanted on account of the large size of those now offering. Haddies are selling fairly well. Oysters are a little easier, being quoted 5c. per gallon lower. We quote: White fish, 7½c.; trout, 6½c.; haddies, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to$6 per bbl. and $3.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.35 for standards, and $1.75 for New York counts.

SALT.

Trade has picked up considerably since last week. Prices are unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

There is yet no movement in the Canadian crop of red clover, and prices are, in consequence, purely nominal. Alsike has been in better demand, and prices have hardened up a little. Choice qualities are selling at $4.75 per bushel at outside points. Lower grades range from $3.50 to $4.50 per bushel.

MARKET NOTES.

Oysters are 5c. cheaper.

Sugar is 1-16c. lower than it was a week ago.

Long clear bacon is fractionally dearer owing to shortness of supply.

A small shipment of new Brazil nuts arrived on the Toronto market this week.

There has been a further slight advance in the price of Turkish prunes, smaller sizes.

The Fruit Market at the foot of Scott street was on Saturday last closed for the season.

P. L. Mason & Co. are in receipt of a cable indicating a high range of prices in Valencia raisins.

Figs, consigned by C. Whittall & Co., Smyrna, are on the new Dominion liner due in Montreal to-day.

The ss. Elysia, with Valencia raisins on board for the Canadian market, reached New York on Monday.

A small shipment of Malaga raisins, containing both Casado's and Rein's brands, reached the Toronto market on Friday last.

A cable to C. H. Anderson, of Toronto, indicates that the supplies of Young Hysons are diminishing and good teas are difficult to pick up.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 8, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has furnished a fair degree of life during the past week, and is about the only branch of trade in which business is anything that approaches a normal volume. In many cases, however, values are unsettled. Sugar is still the notable example in this respect, but syrup and molasses are also easy in tendency. There has been more doing in tea, which generally rules steady, and importers have been placing orders for dried raisins and prunes this week for more money than the goods would have cost them a fortnight or three weeks ago. Currants also have sold at higher prices, while agents for California raisins are not urging business at all. Canned salmon have sold from first hands for the first time this week in any quantity, and canned tomatoes exhibit a more settled tendency than they have shown recently.

SUGAR.

The sugar market continues unsettled as to value, despite the fact that enquiry has been good, resulting in a fair turn-over. At the refineries prices have been shaded both on granulated and yellows, less than 4c. being accepted for round lots of the former and 2 15-16 for low-grade yellows. In a jobbing way, however, prices are not quotably changed, though jobbers are disposed to make sugar a leader with which to induce other business. We quote 4 to 4⅛c. for granulated, and 3 to 3½c. for yellows.

SYRUPS.

There has been no material change in the syrup market. Demand rules dull and prices are unchanged at 1½ to 2¾c., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

There is a little more demand for molasses from second hands. The market is still weak in its tendency, however, and sales of 20-puncheon lots of Barbadoes have been made at 28c., while smaller lots have ranged from 30 to 32c. Large stocks in jobbers' hands are the chief cause of the weakness.

RICE.

Demand for rice was good and prices are firm while foreign markets are cabled much higher. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

There was no change in the spice market, a good jobbing demand being experienced. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

. . CAUTION . .

DRIED APPLES will be almost unsaleable this year unless the Farmers and Merchants give the strictest attention to CUT, COLOR and CONDITION. Requirements are LARGE QUARTER-CUT FRUIT, BRIGHT COLOR and DRY. DISCOURAGE all SMALL-SLICED and CHIPPY stock. POSITIVELY REJECT everything DARK, BURNT or WET.

With careful attention given to these requirements there is hope for a considerable trade at vastly higher prices than the U.S. fruit returns; by neglecting them, Canadian fruit will be reduced to the U.S. level in quality and price.

WHOLESALE IMPORTING AND MANUFACTURING GROCERS

TORONTO - CANADA

COFFEE.

The coffee market is quiet, and though some lines, such as Maracaibo, are scarce on spot the fact has little influence on values, demand being dull. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 18c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

There has been a fairly active trade in tea during the week, for not only is the distributing movement well maintained, but there has been more doing in a wholesale way, sales being noted of China blacks and Ceylons for forward delivery. Gunpowders have also been moved to a considerable extent at a range of 10 to 23c. and Japans at 13 to 15½c. The market is practically bare of Japan tea dust at 7½c. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grade; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The strong disposition of Valencia raisins noted last week is, if anything, more marked, and importers have as a result been freer buyers for forward delivery by the direct boats. Based on the business done this week jobbers are now offering stock to arrive at the following range: Ordinary off-stock, 4¼ to 4½c.; fine ditto, 4¾ to 5¼c.; selected, 5¾ to 6c., and layers, 6¼ to 6½c.

There is no change in California raisins. Sales agents, owing to the position on the Coast, are not urging sales, and values are firmly held. We quote for forward delivery: 2-crown, 5 to 5¼c.; 3-crown, 6 to 6½c.; and 4-crown 7 to 7½c., the inside figures being very difficult to secure.

The currant market is strong and higher. All the stocks in jobbers' hands are entirely cleaned up and importers this week placed orders at fractional advances on what they could have bought at a fortnight or so ago. Holding off, therefore, has not been probable. Based on the purchases made values on the first direct shipments are opening as follows to arrive: Filiatras, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c. Fine provincials are worth about ⅜ of a cent a pound more; Patras, 5¼ to 5¾c., and Vostizzas, 6 to 6¼c,

The strength in French prunes has been accentuated, another advance of 1s. being cabled on Monday. In consequence of this steady upward disposition abroad sales agents are asking more money this week, and have received it, both on French and Austrian. We quote French firmer at 4¾ to 6c., as to grade, and Austrian, 5½ to 6¼c. California are held steady at 6 to 11c.

There is no change in evaporated fruits. We quote: Peaches, 8½c.; apricots, 12½c., and pears, 9c.

NUTS.

The market is quiet and steady We quote: Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 13c.; Brazils, 11c.; almonds, 10½ to 11c.; filberts, 7 to 7½c.; peanuts, 5 to 7c., and cocoanuts, $3.50 to $4.25 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

There have been some large purchases of canned salmon by jobbers here at $4.25, f.o.b. Coast. This, and the fact that some canners are asking rather firmer prices on tomatoes are the only features of the week. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little important change in green fruit, which has ruled fairly active on the whole. We quote: Winter apples, $1.25 to $1.75, fall ditto, 50c. to $1; peaches, 50c. to $1; plums, 30 to 60c.; pears, $3 to $8 per box, as to grade; old lemons, $1 to $3 per box, and Jamaica oranges, $6 to $6.50.

Exports for the week ending September 26 were as follows:

From.	To Liverpool	To Glasgow.	To London	Various.
Boston	37,144	9,730	7,126	....
New York .	16,366	8,055	5,311	150
Montreal	32,590	14,103	5,414	1,855
Halifax.....	.....	....	10,000	.
Total	86,100	31,888	27,851	2,005
Same week, 1895	39,021	8,030	22,333	204
Total this seas'n	273,327	94,836	70,737	2,005
Total last seas'n	87,705	23,192	23,423	460

This makes a grand total from this continent to date, this season, 440,905 barrels, against 133,780 last year.

FISH.

There has been a fair trade in fish during the week, and but for the mild weather it would have been much better. There is a general assortment of all kinds of fish on this market at present except No. 1 pickled herrings, which, however, are expected this week. When large and fat they sell readily at $5 to $5.50 per bbl. No. 2 Labrador salmon, $12 per bbl. and $17.50 per tierce; B.C. salmon, $5.50 to $6 in half-bbls. and $11.50 per bbl. The feeling in mackerel has been weaker, and prices are lower at $11 to $15 per bbl.; No. 1 green cod is firmer at $4 to $4.25 per bbl.

Dried codfish are in fair supply, and prices are easier at $3.75 to $4 per 100 lbs. Dried pollock, $2.20 per case of 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $5.25 per case; boneless cod, 5½ to 6c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

There has been a large quantity of smoked fish here during the past week, which has met with a ready sale at 6½ to 7½c. per lb. for haddies, $1.50 per box for kippered herrings, $1.50 per box for Yarmouth bloaters.

Fresh fish are in small supply, and haddock and cod are selling at 4c. per lb.; N.B. salmon, 12 to 12½c.; trout and white fish, 6½ to 7c., and dore, 7c.

Shell oysters continue to arrive daily in small lots. The weather is strongly against any outside trade. Ordinary Malpeques are selling at $3 to $3.50 per bbl.; hand-picked, $4 to $4.50; Buctouche hand-picked, $4.50, and Miramichi, $2.75 to $3.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—This market has been firm at the advance, 12½ to 13c. for candled and 17c. for new laid.

BEANS—Continue steady at 70 to 75c. in car lots, and 80 to 90c. in smaller quantities.

HOPS—Unchanged, with trade dull at 7c.

HONEY—A few small lots are moving at 10 to 12c.

POTATOES—Fair enquiry at 30 to 40c. per bag, according to quantity.

DRIED APPLES— Dull and steady at 3 to 3½c., and evaporated at 5½ to 6c.

BALED HAY— Has ruled a shade firmer since last report at $9.50 to $10 for No. 1, and $8.25 to $8.50 for No. 2.

PROVISIONS.

In this branch of the trade business has continued quiet, the demand being chiefly for small lots to fill actual wants at steady prices. We quote : Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 6¼ to 6½c.; bacon, per lb., 7½ to 8½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5 to 5¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market has maintained the steady upward tendency since last report and prices all round are higher. We quote : Winter wheat, $4.25 ; spring wheat, patents, $4.30 to $4.55 ; straight roller, $3.85 to $3.90; straight roller, bags, $1.75 to $1.85 ; extra bags, $1.55 to $1.65 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $4 to $4.25.

In meal a fair trade was done, there being a better demand for small lots at fair values. We quote: Standard, bbls., $2.80 to $2.90 ; granulated, bbls., $2.90 to $3 ; rolled oats, bbls., $2.65; rolled oats, per bag, $1.27½.

There was no change in feed. The demand is fair and business is moderately active. We quote: Bran, $10 to $11 ; shorts, $11 to $12 ; mouillie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

There has been heavy contracting in cheese east of Toronto during the past week, possibly some 25,000 boxes being acquired in the Brockville district all the way from 10 to 10⅜c. at the factory. This deal has, of course, excited the spot market and it is difficult to quote a reliable figure for Ontario cheese. Quebec makes sell all the way from 10 to 10⅜c.

The butter market was quiet, but steady. Exporters are not active operators at present, but as local jobbers are still paying 19c. the prices hold steady as a general rule, and a range of 18½ to 19c. covers all ideas.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Japan tea dust is difficult to procure here at 7½c. per pound.

The foreign rice market is higher, but it has no effect on domestic prices.

Refiners cut their price on both granulated and yellows 1-16c. per pound Friday last.

Cables on French prunes Monday quoted another advance of 1s., and spot prices have advanced accordingly.

Agents for both California prunes and raisins are not urging sales at all owing to the position on the Coast.

Lamplough & McNaughton are pushing Putz's pomade. This polishing material is well known to the trade throughout Canada.

Currants are firm, and wholesale importers here have placed orders this week at advances on what they could have bought for two weeks ago.

Some canners are asking steadier prices for canned tomatoes. One said this week that 67c. was his best price, and it is claimed that it would be difficult to buy now inside of 65c.

Mr. Hopkins, Jr., pork packer, St. John, N.B., was in the city on Monday on his way home from a fortnight's tour in the States. Mr. Hopkins says business is very good indeed in New Brnnswick.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 8, 1896.

THE interest during the week has centred around flour, which both in Manitoba and Ontario grades has continued to advance and shows signs of further strength in the near future. Millers' agents report good sales. The Exhibition, which in its general features was the best we have ever had and which during its first week had a very large attendance, was during its last three days most unfortunate, owing to bad weather. The Maritime Board of Trade, which has been meeting here, has had a very successful session, many of the best known business men of these three lower provinces being present. Ship owners are feeling better than for a long time owing to advance in freights; the coastwise business is, however, very dull. There is practically no demand for lumber for American ports. A good business is being done with South America and the English business is the best for years.

SALT—There is no change. Present stock, while light, is equal to demand. Some direct from Liverpool is expected in about ten days, when prices will likely be lower. Though the season is late, a good demand is still noted for Canadian salt, particularly boxes. We quote as follows: Coarse, 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—The newest item of interest is that our local canner of corn is selling in 200-case lots 10c. below the Ontario canners' price, which itself is about 10c. below the opening price. The goods from Ontario are sold at guaranteed prices against certain packers. But it is not known if the Ontario men will consider the local man in the arrangement. In round lots goods are being offered at very low prices to retail dealers. Stocks of new goods are coming in very freely. Quantity bought for this market is large, but it is thought the very low price will greatly help the demand. Some packers have withdrawn their quotations at the present prices. But one car of new salmon has yet been received, but other cars are daily expected. We quote as follows : Corn, 65 to 75c. ; peas, 70 to 75c. ; tomatoes, 70 to 80c. ; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2 ; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35 ; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50 ; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50 ; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20 ; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45 ; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3 ; 2's, $1.90 to $2 ; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65 ; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40 ; lobsters, $2.20 ; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30 ; clams, $5 for 4 doz ; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz. ; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz. ; Digby chickens, $1 per doz. ; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT — Arrivals of Canadian grapes are still large, with prices ruling low. It is said that one car consigned here very little better than paid its expenses. Canadian peaches have also ruled very low, owing to large consignments, which, like the grapes, in some cases have barely paid expenses. Pears are higher. The few Nova Scotias arriving sell quickly at good prices. A small quantity of American and Canadian are still received. Some very fine Cape Cod cranberries are here. Bananas and oranges are a light sale. Apples continue dull and low. The stock arriving is large and quality not suitable for shipment, not being keepers. Plums are quoted higher, and the season is about over. They have been lower than for many years. We quote : Lemons, $6 to $6.50; oranges, $3 to $4 per box; bananas, $1 to $1.50; grapes, 30 to 40c. per basket ; peaches, 40 to 50c. ; apples, $1 to $1.25 per bbl. ; keg grapes, $5 to $6; Bartlett pears, $4 per bush. ; N.S. pears, $2 to $3 per half-bbl. ; cranberries, Cape Cod, $6 to $6.50 per bbl.

DRIED FRUIT—Very few Valencias are so far to hand and the price asked is still high. With later arrivals lower prices will rule. There is a wide range in brokers' prices for direct shipment. Market appears firm. Loose muscatels (California) are said to be rather higher at the Coast, and very firm. Demand from Europe is very heavy. Those who have held off, looking for lower prices, are now buying. New prunes and plums are to hand and look well. Prices are low. Latest reports from France are that prunes are higher. Some California figs are offered here, but price is considered too high. In evaporated apples there is a rather better movement. American onions are out of the market. Canadians are selling low, but higher prices are looked for. Quite a quantity of cocoanuts arrived this week. We quote : Valencias, 6 to 6½c. ; California L.M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c. ; London layers, $2 to $2.25 ; currants, cases, 4 to 4½c. ; bbls., 3¾ to 5c. ; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c. ; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c. ; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c. ; dates, 4½c. ; dried apples, 4 to 5c. ; evaporated apples, 5½ to 6c. ; Canadian onions, $2.15 to $2.25; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs. ; figs, 9 to 10c. ; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is easier again, though it is not thought prices will go lower. The turn is rather expected the other way. Cheese are selling here lower than they should. Factory price and store price are about the same. Market is firm, with higher prices expected. Eggs are firmer ; arrivals are not large and there is a good demand. We quote : Dairy butter, 17 to 19c. ; new creamery, prints, 21 to 22c. ; do., tubs, 20c. Cheese, 9 to 9½c. Eggs, 10 to 10½c.

SUGAR—Fairly large quantities are being sold, but prices are still easy. At the low figures some very fine yellows are being offered. There is still sugar coming in at prices well above the market. There is one lot of sugar here (granulated) that has been in stock since before the change in duty. It was held for 5c., but the market never reached that point. It is now daily getting of less value. We quote : Granulated, 4 3-16 to 4¼c. ; yellows, 3 to 3¼c. ; Paris lump, 6c. ; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There is nothing new to report. The West India steamer had quite a quantity on this trip—more than was expected—largely Antigua, which could be bought low. There is but little demand, and prices all round are held easy. There were some arrivals of New Orleans in barrels during the week. This, as other grades, is offered very low, in 40-gallon packages. We quote : Barbadoes, 27 to 28c. ; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c. ; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c. ; Antigua, 25 to 26c. ; syrup, 36 to 38c. ; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—In smoked there is a much firmer feeling. Very few old are held, and the new are coming in much higher than prices have been. In cod and pollock there is no change. There is a good demand reported. Pickled herring are light stocks and tend higher, particularly the better grades. Some Canso in both bbls. and half-bbls. are offered. There is a good demand for boneless ; it is all sold west. Bloaters and kippered herring are in good demand at steady prices. Shad are small stock, and the fall caught, which are the best, are held very firm. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.25 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.30 to $1.35 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Yarmouth, 4c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; Quoddy herring, $2.75 half-bbl.; kippered, $1 per box.

PROVISIONS—After a long spell of easier prices pork is now quoted rather higher. Demand is but fair. Beef, however, is still easy. Lard and hams are also tending lower. We quote: Clear pork, $13.55 to $14; mess, $12.50 to $13.50; plate beef, $11 to $12; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In flour, market during the week has been very active. While all grades have shown a good demand, that for Manitobas continues the largest. It is thought prices will be still higher. Local prices have not advanced in proportion to millers' prices. Oatmeal is also higher and firm. Cornmeal shows no change from the very low figures ruling, though the market is rather firmer. Beans are also higher, but stocks are large, and local prices show little change. New hay finds but fair sale. New buckwheat, which continues to come in quite freely, has little sale. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.00 to $5.10; best Ontario, $4.40 to $4.50; medium, $4.25 to $4.35; oatmeal, $2.85 to $3; cornmeal, $1.85 to $2; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do do, $13 to $14; handpicked beans, $1; prime, 90c.; oats, 29 to 30c.; hay, $13 to $14; barley, $3.25; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

J. G. Reed, of Waterville, N.S., has 15,000 cans of fruit ready for shipment, and is now putting up 80 to 100 barrels apples daily.

Honey is becoming quite a product in the lower provinces. One apiary expects to net $500 this season. About 13c. per lb. is asked for clover honey and 16c. for thistle.

C. & C. Macmichael have received a shipment of Vienna coffee, with each pound of which is given a large patent grater. It is the latest thing got out by the Pure Gold Manufacturing Co.

Among the cargo of the West India steamer this trip, were 175 casks of molasses, 230 bags of cocoanuts, also 140 bags of cocoanuts for Hamilton, Ont., 40 barrels and 80 boxes Dominica oranges, 15 kegs of tamarrinds, also 140 casks of pickled limes, and 25 casks lime juice for Boston.

Thos. Foster, the well-known traveler for the Eastern Oil Co., is going south on account of his health. His brother travelers remembered him by a handsome gift and their best wishes that he would return fully recovered.

Great interest was taken in the guessing of the weight of the big bar of Surprise soap, at the Exhibition, the one guessing correct or nearest correct to get a handsome piano. The weight of the soap was 483 lbs. 10¼ ounces. The guess of Mrs. Walter Higgins, Horsfield street, St. John, was 483 pounds 10¾ ounces and that of Miss Bertha Courtney, of Douglas avenue, St. John, was 483 pounds 9¾ ounces, making a tie between the two guessers. Lots were drawn according to the conditions of the contest and Mrs. Higgins was the fortunate winner.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

TRADE on the whole has been fairly satisfactory this week. In some lines there is a noticable improvement and dealers are not complaining, which is in itself a healthy sign. The principal movement has been in fish, apples and flour.

There is a possibility of the cold storage scheme for Halifax coming to a head. At the last session of the Local Legislature, a Halifax company received an Act of incorporation. They asked the Local Government to guarantee interest of 4 per cent. on their preferred stock, which was not done. There is every indication that this request will be complied with at the next session of Parliament. Mr. George E. Boak, promoter of the company, has asked the City Council to exempt the goods in storage from taxation, to exempt the proposed buildings from taxation and to give the company a low rate on water. The Council will grant the request. The capital stock of the company is $75,000. About $22,000 has been subscribed.

The local demand for sugars continues good. On account of the loss by fire of the Moncton refinery, the refineries here are greatly increasing their output. Refinery prices continue at: Granulated, 4c.; extra circle C., 3⅛c.; circle C, 3c. Jobbers' quotations are: Granulated, 4¼c.; yellows, 3⅜ to 3½c.

Flour is on the advance, and dealers who have stocks on hand are happy. The movement continues good. Quotations are as follows: Ogilvie's or Five Lilies, $4.70 to $4.80; Ontario made Manitobas, in wood, $4.10 to $4.20; Manitoba shipments, in sacks, $4.20 to $4.25; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $3.85 to $4.00; 80 p.c. patents, $4.00 to $4.15; 90 p.c. patents, $3.85 to $3.90; low grades, $3.35 to $3.45; oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.75 to $2.80; cornmeal, $1.95 to $2.00; middlings, per ton, $17 to $18; shorts, $15 to $16.50; bran, per ton, $15 to $16.50; white oats, per bushel, in sacks, 31 to 32c.; cotton seed meal, per ton, $20; oil cake meal, per ton, $23 to $24; hay, per ton, $12 to $13; split peas, $3.15: pot barley, $3.50; white beans, per bushel, 85 to 95c.; No. 1 chopped feed, per ton, $18.50.

There is a fair business being done in fishstuffs, particularly in mackerel, salmon and herrings. Considerable herring were caught last month, perhaps enough to meet all requirements. Quotations are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50; large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.25; Labrador, $2 to $2.25; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.25; Bay of Islands herrings, $1.25; Labrador, No. 1, $5; do., No. 2, $3.50; No. 1, large, fat shore, $3.25 to $4; alewives, $3; mackerel, No. 3, large, $8 to $9; salmon, No. 1, $13; No. 2, $11; No. 3, $10.

The egg market is firm, and good stocks are about exhausted. The rise in price reported last week was unlooked for. An advance was expected, but not so soon. A good article is worth 14c. in case lots. P.E.

Island run from 12c. for inferior to 14c. for good.

There is an improved demand for butter in all grades. Creamery in tubs is jobbing at 19c. and prints at 20c. The market for native is firm. Western dairy is slow at 12 to 15c. Western creamery is quoted at 18 to 19c., and townships 17c.

Cheese shows a slight advance on this market, and dealers are anticipating a further rise. Jobbers are now asking 9 to 9½c.

There was one small arrival of molasses during the past week, 76 puncheons, to Pickford & Black. About 85 puncheons went forward to Newfoundland. The jobbing demand is good. Quotations are : St. Croix, 27c.; Porto Rico, 20 to 30c.; Trinidad, 27c.; Barbadoes, 32c.; Demerara, M.R. brand, 39c.; St. Kitts, 25c.

There is still a big trade in green fruits. The steamer Halifax City took 13,874 bbls. to London on Saturday last, and although the cables from the other side report prices lower, there is no falling off in the shipments or the desire to ship, space being eagerly sought after. Prices rule low on the local market, good stocks selling at auction as low as 60c. per bbl. Plums continue to arrive in great quantities and retail at 25c per peck basket, or $1 per bushel. Jamaica oranges are jobbing at $6.50 to $7 per bbl. of 350 count. Lemons are lower on account of the cool weather, being quoted at $4.50 to $5 per case for good fruit. Silver skin onions are selling at 1¾ to 2c. per lb., and Canadians at 1⅝ to 1¾c. Some Canadian peaches are offered at 40 to 45c. per basket. Canadian grapes sell at 30 to 35c. per basket. Delawares in 5-lb. basket are jobbing at 40 to 50c. Almerias are worth $5 to $5.50 per keg of 50 lbs. Native pears are not very plentiful. Bartletts are worth $4.50 for good, hard fruit.

There have been no arrivals of dried fruits as yet, but several steamers are daily expected. New French prunes are jobbing at 6c. Old stock raisins are quoted at 5 to 5½c.

There appears to be no change in the provision market. Fresh meats are not in demand to any extent. P.E. Island mess pork is quoted at $12.50 to $13. Canadian plate beef is quoted at $9.75 to $10.

Poultry and game are coming in more freely. Partridges are worth 40 to 45c. per pair. Geese sell from 75 to 90c. each, and chickens from 45 to 60c. per pair. Moose meat retails at 15c., but is very scarce. Rabbits are on the market at 25c. per pair.

The produce market is dull. Nova Scotia farmers, in some sections, are letting their potatoes rot in the ground. This will help the P. E. Island farmers somewhat, as they have secured their large crop in good condition. There have been no arrivals from the Island as yet. Cornwallis and Colchester stocks sell at 40c. per bushel.

New stocks of canned goods are arriving in limited quantities. Lobsters are fairly scarce, flats selling in a jobbing way at $9.75 to $10 per case, and talls at $7.50 to $8. Canadian canned beef is in good demand at $1.15 for 1's. Nova Scotia salmon, talls and flats, are worth $7 per case for 1's.

Smith & Proctor, dealers in butter, cheese and eggs, intend to erect a large establishment on Barrington street at a cost of $22,000.

Times are apparently better in Newfoundland than for a number of years, judging from the imports. A late arrival at St. John's consisted of 200 tons of pork (Canadian and P. E. Island), 5,000 barrels of flour and 10,000 barrels of apples. Newfoundland papers report a good market for apples.

W. McKay and H. Sutherland have bought out the stock of E. Collishaw (co-operative store), New Glasgow.

The New Glasgow Milling Co. have two cargoes of wheat on the way from Chicago.

The death occurred on Sunday morning last of Rufus J. Sweet, tea and general wholesale grocery merchant. Mr. Sweet has been in failing health for some years. He was an upright man and his demise is universally regretted. Mr. Sweet leaves a widow and two children.

P. E. Island is exporting apples for the first time in its history. Cape Breton is the market sought. The fruit is reported good.

There is a great crop of cranberries at Lot 2, P. E. Island. Farmers there are going into the culture of that fruit extensively.

Enormous quantities of berries are being shipped from Newfoundland, principally to Montreal. Newfoundland merchants say they command $5 per bbl. and upwards. They are shipped in iron bound casks.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. will have Trenor's fine off-stalk raisins in stock in a day or two.

W. H. Gillard & Co. state that their assortment of high and medium grades of Assams, Ceylons, Darjeelings, etc., is in advance of any former shipments.

The low prices for molasses this year have brought a good business in this line for T. B. Escott & Co. Another car just arrived.

THAWING FROZEN FRUIT.

ACCORDING to the researches of Professor Muller-Thurgau, frozen vegetables are the least injured when care is taken to thaw them out slowly. He froze fruits of the same kind and quality, and as nearly as possible of equal size, and then placed them in lukewarm water, and another part in water at zero (the freezing point, 32 deg. F.), hung up a third part in a room at about 20 deg. (68 deg. F.), and a fourth in a place at zero. The results were briefly as follows: At a temperature of—5 to —7 deg. (23 to 19 deg. F.), the hardest kind of fruit remained uninjured, whether the thawing was slow or quick. With more sensitive kinds, or those that were somewhat over ripe, only those that were thawed in warm or cold water were injured, while those thawed in warm or cold air showed little or no evil effects. With yet more delicate specimens, the fruit thawed in water were completely killed, while those in the air were at most only partially injured.

Frozen fruit is thus not always ruined, but, if the cold be not too great, can be thawed out again and remain sound. If the cold be very severe, however, frozen fruit is quite spoiled and can in no way be saved. Between these limits there are degrees in which the fruit can be saved by proper treatment. As soon as it is perceived that the fruit is frozen, it should be warmed just enough to prevent any further freezing, for the more the ice forms in the fruit the greater is the damage. The warming should, however, be as slow as possible. To plunge them into cold water or to throw cold water over them raises the temperature suddenly, and hence is not in accordance with the prevailing views. For the same reason it will not do to handle them with warm hands. Frozen fruit is also very sensitive to pressure. If it is possible to warm the room where the fruit is lying, it is best to let it alone, otherwise it should be removed to a warmer place, without contact with warm objects and without pressure, and slowly thawed out.

If experiment shows that the fruit cannot be kept after slow thawing, then it should be kept in the frozen state as long as possible and eaten by degrees. If frozen apples be thrown into water and boiled at once, they cook as if they were sound and taste as well. But if left to thaw out first and allowed to stand a little they acquire by chemical decomposition a characteristic taste, and the cooking improves them little.

If large quantities of frozen apples are to be utilized, it is best to make them into cider before thawing. The taste and quality of the cider are in nowise impaired by the freezing if care is taken by warming the cider and providing storage room at 12 to 15 C. (58 to 63 degrees F.), that energetic fermentation will at once set in.—Literary Digest.

HONEY HINTS.

The Bee Keeper's Review prints some hints to honey producers and dealers, among which the following may be useful to grocers :

Don't buy honey that has stood in the open air, especially in a damp climate. The cappings of comb honey are very porous and affected by all stong-smelling and damp surroundings ; consequently, do not use honey that is kept near tobacco, salt or smoked fish or meats, candles, etc.

Don't buy honey in which any comb is immersed, for pure extracted honey does not need comb in it to deceive the eyes, for it appeals to the palate as well as the eye.

Don't use strained honey, as it is squeezed from the comb in which dead bees, larvæ, pupæ, the bee-moth's larvæ, and even worse, are present.

Don't leave your extracted or comb honey open ; cover it.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

THE black rod which the Dominion Government proposes to do away with is not the rod to spare which spoils the child. To spare this rod would mean the spoiling of many dollars.

Business is never fickle to those who are faithful to it.

Business men should learn how to hold their tongue as well as to hold their trade. Men have lost their trade because they have not been able to hold their tongue. The tongue is sometimes an unruly partner.

A little speech in a clerk is a good thing, but over-much of it, like a surfeit of any good thing, is nauseating.

All men are not unprincipled by any means, but it is a good principle nevertheless to have all agreements of importance put in writing.

While a merchant should know his customers in order that he may be successful, it is essential that he should first know himself.

Passions not ruled in youth will lead their owners into harsh slavery in the days when they should wield the sceptre and not wear the chains.

Every new member added to a business men's association is an additional spoke and a source of strength to the business wheel.

As the seed sown by the farmer bringeth forth its fruit in season, so the seeds of knowledge which the young man soweth will in due season fructify to his gain.

The longer a young man neglects to use the ability he has the harder will it be for him to exercise it should the day ever come when he can sum up enough energy to undertake the task.

I am told that the speech of J. S. Boddy, merchant of Bradford and Warden of Simcoe County, at the Gaudaur reception at Orillia, was a model one: it had Bod(d)y and eloquence.

It is as easy as winking to drive customers from the store, but it requires much ingenuity to bring them there; all of which goes to show how much care there should be on the part of merchants and clerks.

MORSE BROS., Proprietors, Canton, Mass.

FOR SALE BY ALL WHOLESALE GROCERS, ALSO THE M'CLARY MFG. CO., LONDON AND TORONTO.

THE GROCER WHO GUARANTEED.

I HAD a talk the other day with a grocer who had a grievance, says a writer in Grocers' World. He found a sympathetic listener in me, and he simply poured out his tale of woe until there was nothing left. Between ourselves, I have more tales of woe emptied out on me than any other man I ever met. There seems to be something rather easy about me.

This grocer who had a grievance had been led a few months ago to guarantee everything he sold, not only to be in good condition, but to give satisfaction. The measly way in which the thing worked constituted the subject-matter of his grievance.

"I believe guaranteeing is the best way yet in most lines of merchandise," he said, "but I certainly made an awful fizzle of it. I don't believe it pays a grocer to guarantee things, for groceries are peculiarly a matter of opinion. A thing may be of first-class quality and may suit one man perfectly, while it tastes like the mischief to another. All the same, if you've made a guarantee, you've got to take it back."

"What did you guarantee, anyhow?" I asked.

"Everything."

"I don't see why it oughtn't to work," I said. "If you got the same guarantees from the people you got the goods from, you'd be protected all right enough. That would let you out."

"But the jobber won't give me any guarantee like that. He'll guarantee the goods to be perfectly pure, and of a certain quality, but he won't guarantee that they'll suit the peculiar taste of my customers.

"Now, there's butter," he continued. "I sell the best creamery print butter in this town. It's perfect butter. I guaranteed it to give perfect satisfaction. An old maid up this street here got a pound of me, ate about a quarter of it, and thought she noticed a funny taste about it, and trotted it back. I tasted it, but it was as good and sweet as any butter ever made. But do you think I could argue with that woman? 'You guaranteed that butter to give satisfaction,' she kept a-sayin, 'and it don't do it. Now, I want other butter for it.'"

"What did you do?" I asked.

"What did I do? Why, I only gave her another pound for it and used the three-quarters of a pound she brought back on my own table. And do you know, that old nuisance brought three pounds of butter back that way? She'd eat a big piece off 'em and then find something wrong, and back the butter came. I couldn't do a thing, for there was that measly guarantee. I was afraid to withdraw it, for I thought that would attract attention, so there I was.

"There was another case," he said, after a moment. "I had a couple of barrels of vinegar here, pure apple stuff, as nice as any I ever had in the store. It was sharp, that's all. Well, Mrs. Smith up here gets a gallon of it and takes it home. The next day she brings it back, and said it nearly took the skin off her husband's throat. Some of it had been used. I had to take it back. What could I do. It was guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction.

"No, sir," reiterated the grocer, "the grocer who guarantees his goods to give perfect satisfaction is a fool. All he can do is to guarantee them to be pure and of certain grade. If the people don't like 'em, let 'em get something else after that's gone. It's not the grocer's fault."

"I should think in such things as eggs you could guarantee all right," I said, "a fresh egg is sure to give satisfaction. The taste isn't considered if it's fresh."

"Eggs nothing!" exclaimed the grocer, "they're the very worst things a man can tackle. I guaranteed my eggs, too. The farmer I got 'em of told me if I found a bad one among 'em he'd give me two for it, so I guaranteed every egg I sold in the same way; that is, I offered to give two fresh eggs in exchange for every bad one found. Well, do you know, they nearly swamped me. The farmer had worked me. He was just about to move away, and I didn't know it. He had a lot of old eggs that weren't worth 5c. a dozen, and he simply worked them off on me. I always had a big egg trade, and I bought a whole lot of 'em. For a week the store was full of people claiming two eggs for every bad one. Out of a dozen, nine of them would be plumb bad. I gave away 100 dozen good eggs simply as forfeits for them bad ones, besides those I had to replace the bad ones with. Why it did my reputation more damage than almost anything else you could think of. You needn't laugh about it!"

"Did you go for the farmer?" I asked.

"Go for him! You bet I went for him, but he was gone and I got nothing. It was simply my loss. If I'd got him, though, I had a basket of them bad eggs saved up for him. I'd a showed him what was what.

"It's just as I say," went on the grocer. "The grocer's liable to get slipped up on by everybody. He can tell the quality of some goods, but only of a few. Then so far as the perfect satisfaction is concerned, he can never tell, no matter how good his goods are, whether they're going to satisfy the customer or not. If he gives 'em a chance to come back on him they'll do it every time. No, sir, no more guarantees in mine, thank you."

CREDIT AND CASH.

The department store has succeeded in part through the advantages of the cash system. Purchases upon an enormous scale have been made possible through a ready command of money. Goods have been sold at manufacturers' prices by the department store, but not without profit, since the merchant has received the usual trade discounts for cash. In this way the department store has been able to maintain its reputation for "bargains," and unless the ordinary merchant can place a greater part of his business on the cash basis, this reputation must increase rather than diminish. It is idle to attempt to persuade people not to trade with these stores upon the grounds of public policy, for, unfortunately, where monetary interests are concerned, such arguments carry little weight.—Commercial Journal, Chicago.

BALFOUR & CO. IMPORTERS HAMILTON

STATE OF THE CUBAN SUGAR INDUSTRY.

APART from the rebellion the main industry of Cuba, the planting of cane and its manufacture into sugar, is in a desperate condition, writes a correspondent of The Times, under date Havana, July 11. In 1894 the world's production of sugar was 8,100,000 tons, 4,975,000 of this being obtained from beetroot and 3,125,000 from cane. Cuba produced 13 per cent. of the total amount. For 1896, in Cuba, the total of the crop just now finished is only 200,000 tons, or say, 2½ per cent. of the world's production. It would be very natural to suppose that the price of sugar would rise as a consequence of the shortage in Cuba. But such has not been the case, and the value of sugar is to-day lower than when the estates in this island were in full work. The cause of this extraordinary state of affairs lies in the increased production of the beet sugars under the bounty-fed systems in vogue on the Continent of Europe. In Cuba the average cost of production is about £9 sterling a ton, including all charges up to the time of shipment. The present value in Havana is a trifle under £9 sterling a ton. Hence it is that the position of the sugar planter is such a desperate one. If with absolute peace the estates cannot pay their way, how much less can they hope to do so in existing circumstances. Moreover, the future offers small hope of improvement: Without Cuban sugars the supply is sufficient for the world's consumption: the revival of the industry in Cuba means another 800,000 tons thrown on the market—in other words, the supply being greater than the demand by this amount. It is a logical deduction to anticipate a further fall in prices as soon as it is known that peace is assured and the Cuban sugar mills are once more enabled to work without let or hindrance. With such prospects the owners of Cuban sugar estates can have small hope of obtaining sufficient credit to allow them to make good the damage done by the rebels. This brings the inhabitants of the island face to face with a problem not easy to solve. Nine out of every ten people in Cuba, either directly or indirectly, obtain their means of livelihood from the sugar industry. The ruin of this industry means the ruin of the majority of the merchants, estate owners, brokers, retail dealers, farmers, and, in fact, nearly everybody. The laboring classes will have no work, and widespread distress must ensue. People talk of the necessity of growing other products, such as coffee, cocoa and fruits. But the main industry of the country cannot be changed in a few months, and a period of intense suffering must be undergone for some considerable time after peace is restored. If Cuba, by purchase or other means, became a state of the American Union, much of the misery above indicated would certainly be avoided. There would no longer be the 40 per cent. protective duty against the Cuban sugars in the American markets, and, even with lower prices, the margin for profit to the grower in Cuba would be greater than at present. The consumption of sugar in the United States is between 1,500,000 and 1,600,000 tons. Cuba, under stable government, a free market in the United States and assisted by American capital and enterprise, could easily produce sufficient to supply all the requirements of the American people. Under such circumstances the sugar industry may revive; but if left in its present condition under Spanish rule or subject to the uncertainties of a Republican Government by the Cubans, there is little or no hope for its rehabilitation.

THE PHILOSOPHICAL HEN.

After the serpent had swallowed all the eggs in the nest, he came to the conclusion that he might as well take his nap right where he was.

And the hen came back.

"This," she said, cocking her head to one side, "this is what I get for eating all those brandied cherries this afternoon."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

EGG CASES MADE OF PINE.

A writer in The New York Produce Review objects to the use of pine wood in the manufacture of egg cases because of its liability to impart a bad flavor to the eggs. When eggs come out of a cold refrigerator car into a warm atmosphere they become damp—often wet—from condensation; so does the case itself. This causes the pine to emit a strong, pungent odor which taints the eggs. The same effect is noticed in damp and muggy weather.

We have observed a number of instances lately where eggs in pine cases have been returned from buyers on the ground that they were "tasty," though apparently fresh and sound. Investigation has shown that the trouble was due entirely to the absorption of the pungent pine aroma from the wood.

For holding in ice house the pine case is absolutely tabooed; and even for ordinary use in marketing stock for current demands it is a detriment under any but the most favorable conditions. It is best to pack stock in such a way as to give it the benefit of every outlet, and so as to avoid all accidents.

The white wood case is far the best case made and should be universally adopted, at least for packing stock of first quality. A white wood case with medium fillers and a No. 1 filler as top and bottom layer, is free from objection, and if properly packed should prevent many of the losses which often harass the less careful packer.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

OUR market seems to have "that tired feeling" this week. The continued bad weather has had a depressing effect. Still there is a fair amount of business on the move, which is principally confined to apples and fish, both articles being exported in large quantities.

The steamer Laurada took to London on Monday last 400 cases of canned apples, 8,268 bbls. apples, 716 boxes cheese and 1,078 cases lobster.

There have been no arrivals of molasses since last report. Some 60 puncheons have been sold on St. John's, Nfld., account. Quotations are: St. Croix, 27c.; Rorto Rico, 20 to 30c.; Trinidad, 27c.; Barbadoes, 32c.; Demerara, M.R. brand, 39c.; St. Kitts, 25c.

As the weather grows colder the price of eggs advances, and this week we have shippers quoting 13c. Case lots to jobbers are worth 15c.

Cheese is showing a little activity, having advanced ½c. The quotation now is 10½c.

There is a splendid demand for good butter, especially prints, and the article has gone up a notch. Good print, in cases, is quoted at 21c.; tub, creamery, 20c., and dairy, 18c.

The market is well supplied with green fruits of all kinds. Apples continue to sell low, being auctioned at 40c. upwards. Plums are getting scarce, they are selling at 35c. per basket.

Game and poultry are coming in freely. Moose meat retails at 15c. Rabbits are plentiful at 25c. per pair and partridges are scarce at 40c. per pair. Geese sell at from 50 to 60c. each; chickens, 40 to 50c., and fowls, 40c. per pair.

The provision market has been weak durins the past few days. Choice heavy beef is selling at $7; light choice, $6, and light from $4 to $5. Lambs are very low, selling at $1.45 to $2 each. Fresh pork is quoted at 5 to 5½c. Veal is scarce at 5c. P.E. Island mess pork is quoted at $12.50 to $13. Leaman's mess is quoted at $12. Canadian plate beef is quoted at $9.75 to $10.

So far only three Island schooners have arrived with produce, but they will be along plentiful enough by the end of the month. Potatoes are selling from schooners at 30c., and turnips at 25c.

Owing to the limited stocks the price of flour has advanced in keeping with millers' quotations. The flour market is steady, but cannot be pronounced brisk. Quotations are: "Ogilvies" or "Five Roses," $4.95; Ontario-made Manitobas, in wood, $4.20 to $4.30; Manitoba shipments, in sacks, $4.25 to $4.40; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $4.20 to $4.40; 80 per cent. patents, $4.15 to $4.45; 90 p.c. patent, $4.05 to $4.10; low grades, $3.35 to $3.65; oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.95 to $3.10; cornmeal, $1.95 to $2; middlings, per ton, $15 to $16.50; shorts, $15 to $16.50; bran, per ton, $14 to $14.50; white oats, per bushel, in sacks, 30c.; cottonseed meal, per ton, $22 to $23; oilcake meal, per ton, $22 to $23; hay, per ton, $11 to $11.50; split peas, $3.15; pot barley, $3.50; white beans, per bush., 95c. to $1; No. 1 chopped feed, per ton, $17 to $18.

Considerable codfish is coming in and buyers have more than they can handle this bad weather. It is reported that New York buyers have bought up all the floating stocks of alewives in St. John, N.B. They are very firm on this market. There is an advance in salmon of fully $2 per barrel. There are large receipts of West India herrings, and the price is declining rapidly. Fully 1,000 barrels have arrived during the past ten days. Owing to bad weather prevailing, no new bank fish have as yet arrived. Dealers are quoting $2.50 for small, and $3 for large, as the market value. Lunenburg merchants are reported as paying $2.75 tol quol. Fat herrings are very scarce and in demand. All the late catches of herrings are only suitable for West India markets. Quotations are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50; large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.25; Labrador, $2 to $2.25; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.25; Bay of Islands herrings, $1.25; Labrador, No. 1, $5; do., No. 2, $3.50; No. 1, large, fat shore, $3.25 to $4; alewives, $3; mackerel, No. 3, large, $8 to $8.50; salmon, No. 1, $15; No. 2, $13; No. 3, $12.

THE ST. LAWRENCE ROUTE LIBELLED.

FRESH interest has been awakened in the proposed fast Atlantic service by the publication of an article upon the question from the pen of Mr. Sandford Fleming. Briefly, his contention is that the St. Lawrence route is unsuited to such a service because of fogs and icebergs which beset it.

Against a fast Atlantic service in itself he has nothing to say. That which he raises his voice against is merely the summer route. He evidently desires the service, but he prefers Halifax for the summer as well as the winter port.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has persistently advocated the establishment of a fast steamship service between Canada and the United Kingdom. But we have not been the advocate of any one port as the terminus on this side of the Atlantic. All we want is a fast service and that the best port shall be selected as a terminus.

At the same time, however, we are sufficiently interested in the St. Lawrence route to protest against the libel which Mr. Fleming has uttered against it.

There is an ice belt through which steamers using the St. Lawrence route have to pass, but vessels running from Liverpool to New York pass through this same belt.

The very current that brings ice past Newfoundland continues on down the Atlantic, skirting the American continent till it strikes the Gulf stream, with which it assimilates and turns across the Atlantic to the British Isles.

As for fogs, they are common to the North Atlantic Ocean, and they occasionally hover around the entrance to New York harbor as well as the mouth of the St. Lawrence. It is common to read a despatch from New York to the effect that "ss. Blank is anchored off the harbor waiting for the fog to lift." And newspaper readers will remember with what amazing frequency some of the big Atlantic greyhounds ran ashore while entering the New York harbor last spring. But there was no talk of that route being unsafe for fast steamship lines.

These assertions regarding the navigation of the St. Lawrence are not new. They have been more or less in evidence ever since the continent was inhabited by white man. And it is not such a great while ago, judged by the life of man, that the question of the navigation of Canada's great waterway to the interior was as debatable as is that to-day relating to the feasibility of the Hudson's Bay route. And it is evident that all the pessimists are not dead yet. Mr. Sandford Fleming is a clever man and a great engineer, whom Canada is proud to own. But his opinion as to whether the St. Lawrence route is safe or not is entitled to no more weight than that of any other intelligent man who has studied the question. This is a question more of utility than of engineering skill. But even in engineering matters, engineers have not been always the best judges. Engineers, for instance, said it was impossible to build a line of railway across the Canadian Rockies. But the line has been built. And now it is proposed to build another line via the Crow's Nest Pass, while the question of engineering difficulties is no more heard than if it was merely proposed to carry a line across a portion of the prairie.

Against the utility of the St. Lawrence route for freight traffic Mr. Fleming has nothing to say. He commends it, in fact. And if for freight, why not for steamers that carry passengers as well as freight? When they are groping their way through fog banks steamers of the greyhound type and steamers of the poodle dog type are both in the same class. They are both moving as slowly as they can. In clear weather it is different; but in clear weather they can see.

It is conceded by all that a fast Atlantic service must have accommodation for freight as well as for passengers. What the relative capacity of the one to the other shall be is not a question at issue just now. It is enough to know that these boats must carry freight. It follows, however, as a fast boat will be mainly a passenger and mail boat, that the freight cannot be of such bulky material as grain, cattle, lumber, etc. It will perforce be produce, such as cheese, butter, eggs, dressed meats, etc., which the sooner it reaches the British market the less likely will it be to suffer from loss either on shipboard or from fluctuating markets.

Now, besides the need of a quick passage for these goods, it is also desirable that the freight rates should be as low as possible. And this could naturally be more obtainable by a line of steamers which ran six or eight hundred miles into the interior of the country than were the terminal port on the Atlantic and the rail route lengthened by several hundred miles.

TARIFF AND REAL ESTATE.

REAL estate dealers in Montreal are finding the market more or less depressed owing to the uncertainty of tariff legislation. That city has so many industries that depend upon a protective tariff for their existence that any sharp changes would have a serious effect on the citizens generally. As we have before pointed out, the result of the elections cannot be taken as a condemnation of the protective policy. Hundreds of protectionists voted for the Liberal party on the strength of their leader's promise that he would not make any material change in the tariff, and because they were thoroughly disgusted with the rotten administration of affairs by the ward politicians who controlled the Conservative party.

Tariff and other business questions should be lifted above the field of party politics. The Liberals might have done so in 1878, and again in 1882. They might have announced that "while they did not agree with the principle of protection, still as the great majority of Canadians were in favor of it they would give it a fair trial of 10 or 15 years, and assist the Government in framing a just tariff." Had the Liberals done this the Conservatives would never have continued to bleed the manufacturers as they have done to keep them in power.

The Liberals now have an opportunity of taking tariff and other business questions out of the political arena. Let them no longer be party questions. Why should not the whole matter be referred to a capable commission representing all interests? There are some industries which we pretty well all agree should be encouraged, while there are others on which some think the tariff should be reduced. Unless some such course is taken business affairs will be unsettled, as they are and have been for years in the United States, because the tariff has been a party question.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Speculative business is not always good business. But there are times when it is not always best to make this a hard and fast rule.

At the present time the general condition of the foreign dried fruit and nut market is of such a character that retailers throughout the country would be best studying their own interests by at least well assorting their stocks. Those who can afford to do so ought, it seems to us, to lay in their season's supply as soon as possible.

One thing is certain: the later shipments in most of the staple lines are costing more than the early shipments, which is likely to result in short supplies in some instances.

During the past week, Valencia raisins have advanced 2s. per cwt., and the crop is undoubtedly short. The crop of Sultana raisins is about 10,000 tons less than a year ago, namely, 23,000 tons against 33,000 tons last year. Figs have advanced something like 40 per cent. since the opening of the market, and the advance in filberts is about 35 per cent. Currants, too, are strong and advancing. A few days ago there was a reaction of 3d., but on Monday this was recovered, according to cable despatches.

Stocks of Valencia raisins in Canada are still bare, but the first direct shipment ex ss. Avlona, due next week, will put them in fairly good shape for the time being.

TWO GOOD AGENCIES OPEN.

The representative of a leading manufacturing firm has asked THE CANADIAN GROCER to give him the name of one firm in British Columbia and another in New Brunswick to sell their line to the trade.

The agency is a desirable one to handle in connection with other lines being sold to the grocery trade.

Any of our readers who are open should write us at once and we will present their names to the firm in question. Address replies to our Montreal office.

BOMBARDING THE GOVERNMENT.

AT a meeting of the Peterboro Board of Trade held on Monday evening the following resolution was adopted:

That in view of the proposed revision of the tariff and the consequent unsettlement of prospective values of nearly all classes of merchandise, it is the opinion of this board that the Dominion Government may, with great advantage to the mercantile, manufacturing, and agricultural interests of the country, adopt and at once announce as a part of their policy the maintenance of the rates of duties now imposed under the existing tariff for a period of (say) six months after the adoption of the proposed revised tariff by the Dominion Parliament.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Premier, the Ministers of Finance and Trade and Commerce, and to the several Boards of Trade throughout the Dominion, and that a committee be named by the president, who shall have authority to take such action as they may deem expedient to press this matter upon the immediate attention of the Government

This is a resolution adopted by a business organization, and is along the lines which THE CANADIAN GROCER has been advocating for some time.

If the Government is wise it will act upon these suggestions without delay, and not do as its predecessors in office too often did—ignore the advice of the business men of the country.

EXCITED JAPAN TEA MARKET.

FOR some time the tea market for Japan growths has been gathering strength; but during the week there has been a sudden development in this respect.

This suddenly increased strength had its origin in the United States, but it has spread to Canada, with the result that prices in both countries have appreciated considerably. On the Toronto market the representatives of shipping houses in Japan have advanced their prices a cent per pound, and at this advance they have been doing business.

Readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER have for some time been aware of the strength of the Japan market on account of the shortage, estimated all the way from seven to ten million pounds, and according to latest advices, the conditions in that country are getting worse rather than better. A steamer which arrived at Yokohama on Monday last brought the news that this season's exports have aggregated scarcely half that of last year, and now, when the demand is improving, the floods are interfering with the shipments. According to the latest Japanese papers only 353,000 pounds of tea were brought to Yokohama between Sept. 1 and 15. This shows a decrease of 530,000 pounds in comparison with the latter half of August. The shipments to the United States are, however, expected to be large during November, as large quantities of tea are expected to be received at the Japanese coast cities during the next few weeks. A letter received in Toronto this week under date of Yokohama, Sept. 23, stated that the available stock of tea had been greatly reduced, and that prices were $1 per picul higher than a month ago.

In the meantime, the market in the United States is strong and excited. The immediate cause of this appears to be the trade improvement in that country, and the realization that supplies are likely to be scarce, while the merchants have been buying but sparingiy owing to the fear of a financial crisis.

In Canada we are, of course, not interested in the Japanese market to the same extent as is the United States, because that country draws the great bulk of the tea it consumes from Japan, while we, although using a great deal of that tea, do not do so to the same relative extent as our neighbors to the south.

JOHN F. YOUNG DEAD.

For the second time within two months death has visited the Front street commission men. First it was Mr. W. Ryan who was called away, and now a fellow business man doing business in the same block—Mr. J. F. Young—has passed away. Mr. Young's death took place on Wednesday at Minden, Ont., where he had gone in search of health. As in Mr. Ryan's case, so in his, death was caused by diabetes.

TORONTO GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE attendance at the regular meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto, held in St. George's Hall, on Monday night, was small. President White was in the chair.

The question of holding an At Home was briefly discussed, but action in the matter was deferred.

The question of sending delegates to the meeting of the newly organized Retail Merchants' Association was introduced by Mr. W. J. Sykes. The meeting expressed sympathy with the objects of the organization, and Messrs. White, Roberts and Sykes were deputed to attend the meeting in question and report to the association.

Mr. Gibson wanted to know if the Baseball Committee had yet made a report.

Mr. Sykes, in reply, stated that the total expenses of the committee for the season were $15.95, leaving a balance of $4 to be returned to the association. The team had not been defeated during the year, "and," added Mr. Sykes amid much laughter, "we have in the way of stock, three gloves, three bats and a ball—which needs to be covered."

On motion of Mr. Gibson, seconded by Mr. Frank Johnson, a financial statement regarding all the funds of the association was ordered to be prepared for the next meeting.

Mr. Gibson complained that some of the pictures which had been presented to the association by different wholesalers and manufacturers had not yet been hung on the walls of the room.

"I move," said Mr. Roberts, "that a Hanging Committee, composed of Mr. Gibson and Frank Johnson, be appointed." Amid the laughter which followed Mr. Martin McMillan seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. Sykes suggested that the recording secretary be instructed to engage a photographer to take a flash light picture of the members of the association at the next meeting. The suggestion was concurred in.

The secretary was instructed to convey resolutions of condolence to the families of two deceased members, Messrs. R. Donald and James Good.

The next meeting will be called at 8 o'clock, instead of 8.30, and, after business has been transacted, a game of euchre will be played between teams representing the east and west respectively.

THE DECLINE IN MOLASSES.

THE course of business in molasses this summer and its present development are a complete reversal of the spring expectations on the staple.

When trading opened at the Islands in May on Barbadoes stock everyone looked for a steady market at the very least, if prices did not go higher. Instead of this expectation being realized, prices not only on Barbadoes, but all descriptions, have declined steadily, until they are now 6c. per gallon below the figure they stood at this time last year.

Both Barbadoes and Porto Rico stock have sold to importers as low as 27c. As a consequence of this, money has been lost on some of the earlier importations, which cost at least 2c. per gallon more than the above figure. Lately the regular demand has taken a turn for the better, and holders of molasses, in the east at least, are hoping that this change will last long enough to let them out on some of their holdings.

The secret of the decline is one that has been operative many times before. After the first purchases were made at the high prices supplies commenced to come along freely, making it evident that the early condition of affairs at Barbadoes must have been either misrepresented or misunderstood. This is evident from the enormous increase in the importations this summer as compared with last.

This summer, from the 1st of April to the 1st of October, about 13,000 puncheons, or over 1,092,000 gallons, were entered at Montreal, against 7,000 puncheons, or 570,000 odd gallons in the same period in 1895. The increase based on the consumption in previous years is not excessive, as the Montreal market usually consumed about 12,000 puncheons. It is just possible, however, that the ratio of consumption is not as great as it was. At least many traders think that the place of molasses during recent years has been taken by other commodities. One thing, at any rate, is certain, and that is, that stocks in jobbers' hands are ample at the moment.

MARRIAGE OF MISS GILLARD.

Miss Marion Walker Gillard, eldest daughter of Mr. W. H. Gillard, senior partner in the wholesale grocery firm of W. H. Gillard & Co., Hamilton, was united in marriage on Wednesday afternoon to Mr. Harry Hillman Champ, of the Ontario Rolling Mills. The wedding was a very fashionable one, and it took place in Christ Church Cathedral, Rev. Canon Bland performing the ceremony. There was a full choral service. Miss Annie Gillard, sister of the bride, was first bridesmaid, and the other maids were; Miss Marion Whitney, of Prescott; Miss Maud Cowan, cousin of the groom, Toronto; Miss Ethel Champ, and Miss Marjorie Kerman, Grimsby, flower girls. Mr. W. B. Champ, Chicago, was groomsman. After the wedding a reception was held at Undercliffe, the residence of the bride's parents. There were about 200 guests. The presents, among which was a handsome piano from the bride's parents, numbered over 250. Mr. and Mrs. Champ left on the evening train for the east.

LONDON GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

THE members of London Retail Grocers' Association held their regular meeting on Monday, October 12, with a fair attendance.

It was duly moved and seconded "That the request of Elgin Mercantile Association, to this association, to circulate a petition requesting the Ontario Legislature to amend the Act of 1892 relating to hawkers and petty chapmen, and give the municipal council of each municipality power to make and enforce such by-laws as they may deem expedient for governing peddling and trancient traders."

The secretary was instructed to circulate the petition.

The auditors presented their report, showing a balance on hand on July 31, 1896, of $245.10.

The report was adopted and a vote of thanks tendered the auditors.

It was suggested that the members arrange for a social evening or two during the winter, but after a slight discussion it was decided to leave the matter over until after Christmas, when the grocers will have more time and can enter more heartily into the enjoyment of a social evening.

The question of revising the delinquent (or dead beat) list book was discussed and it was decided that it would be in the interest of the members to have the list revised and it was proposed that all the members be requested to hand the secretary any new names they may have that should be entered in the books and that the members hand in their books to the secretary to be revised. The question was asked: What kind of measures are best to use for vinegar? Answer:

Porcelain lined granite iron is preferable to wood, tin or copper, as wooden measures are usually unhandy or bad to pour from and liable to crack or split, and tin is quickly destroyed by the action of the acid, and, while copper wears well, the action of acid on copper renders vinegar unwholesome.

A half-hour's talk on the state of trade, prospects of handling canned vegetables and fruit when apples are so plentiful as they are this season, brought the meeting to a close, the members feeling they had spent an hour profitably.

Next regular meeting will be held on Monday, November 9.

A GROCERY MAN WEDS.

Captain E. F. Mason, adjutant of the 57th Battalion, and a member of the grocery firm of E. F. Mason & Co., Peterboro, was married on the 8th inst., at Brookside Farm, Smith, to Miss Minnie F., daughter of Mr. John Garbutt. The ceremony, which was witnessed by about forty immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties, was performed by the Rev. Dr. Torrance, assisted by the Rev. W. R. Young, B.A. The bride was gowned charmingly in a dress of cream, with trimmings of pearl and silk lace. Miss Mina Davidson, cousin of the bride, and Miss Edith Garbutt, the bride's sister, were bridesmaids. The bride and her attendants carried magnificent bouquets, the bride's being pink roses and the bridesmaids' of white roses. Mr. John H. Garbutt, brother of the bride, supported the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Mason left by the 11.35 p.m. Canadian Pacific Railway express on a bridal tour that will extend to Montreal, Boston, and New York.

RETAIL MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION

The Retail Merchants' Association of Toronto held its first meeting as an organization in St. George's hall on Tuesday. The president, Mr. Alex. Mullen was in the chair. The following committee was then appointed to formulate a constitution, specifying the objects that would be accomplished by the organization and framing by-laws: Messrs. A. Mullen, E. N. Morphy, E. M. Trowern, E. Potts, G. E. Gibbard, Robert Mills and C. H. Murdoch.

A NEW PACKAGE TEA.

A new package tea is being placed upon the Toronto market. It is named "Kincora," and is put up by John Sloan & Co. It is in pounds and half-pounds, and retails at 25, 40 and 50c. per lb. The tea is both black and mixed. "We have been experimenting, and we think we have an A1 tea," remarked Mr. Sloan.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. H. P. Eckardt, of H. P. Eckardt & Co., is duck shooting in the vicinity of Windermere.

Mr. John Shouldice is gradually recovering from his attack of typhoid fever.

An increasing sale is reported in Farinosa breakfast food.

The Ireland National Food Co. are experiencing a good demand for their self-rising buckwheat flour.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

ALTHOUGH there is no great activity to be noted, business is exhibiting more life, and more interest is being taken in it than a week ago. There has been no further decline since that of last week in the refiners' price of sugar, but wholesalers' ruling quotations are fractionally below those of last week. The outside markets are rather better. No more interest is being taken in canned goods than a week ago. The market for foreign dried fruits is stronger than it was a week ago. A few boxes of raisins have reached this market. They were ex ss. Elysia. The market is still bare, however; but next week the direct shipment ex Avlona will likely be to hand. French prunes have advanced equal to ⅜c. per lb. New figs are on the market this week. The demand for both syrups and molasses is moderate. Business in fall spices is beginning to pick up. The tea market is steady, with prices considerably higher on Japan growths.

CANNED GOODS.

There is no appreciable improvement in the canned goods situation. Business is practically at a standstill, particularly in regard to vegetables, offers, no matter how low, attracting buyers in few instances. Wholesalers appear determined to allow the packers to carry the goods. The retailers are buying from hand to mouth, and light is the buying. According to our British Columbia exchanges, fair quantities of cohoes are being caught upon the Coast. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 62½ to 65c.; corn, 55c. for old and 60 to 65c. for new; peas, 60 to 65c. for ordinary; sifted select, 95c.; extra sifted, $1.45 to $1.50; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 80 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.40 to $1.45; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.60 to $2.65; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

Further shipments of green Rio coffees are to hand and a nice sorting up trade in them is reported. It is rather early, however, for much activity to be expected in this line. The scarcity of good grades previously noted still obtains. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is not much enquiry for them, and on account of the light lumbering operations in the woods, the volume of business is not expected to be large this season. We quote: Dark, 28 to 31c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Business is much about the same as it was a week ago. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; ditto, half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

Refiners' figures remain unchanged at the recent decline, but wholesalers are quoting lower than they were a week ago. At the same time, however, there is a rather steadier feeling, the general opinion being that prices have touched bottom. An advance of 1½d. to 3d. in London has helped to prop up this belief. In New York the refineries have been buying raws at steady prices, but the market for refined there is dull and lifeless. Locally the demand is fair for this time of the year, with a few carload lots moving. Wholesalers' quotations are: Granulated, 3.95 to 4c.; yellows, 3 to 3⅝c. A house on the street is this week showing a handsome, bright golden Demerara raw sugar, but it wants 5¼c. per lb. for it.

SPICES.

Trade in fall pickling spices is reported to be fairly good. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, ETC.

There is nothing new to report in this line. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.;

imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

The market is firm on foreign nuts. Filberts have advanced about 35 per cent. on the opening price. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c. Chestnuts, $3 to $3.25 per bushel in small lots, with larger quantities being shaded; hickory nuts, $1.75 to $2 per bushel.

TEAS.

The feature of the tea market is the strength of teas of Japan growth. Local representatives of shippers have advanced prices one cent per lb. and have transacted business at the higher figures. There has been a small but steady trade in Indian and Ceylon teas. There has been a little business done in low-grade Young Hysons, but China teas generally are quiet. Mail advices from London under date of October 2 state that for that week the auctions of Indian teas were 53,012 packages, against 47,950 the previous week. All teas possessing useful liquor sold well, finer descriptions ruling occasionally at rather dearer rates. Thin liquoring Pekoes and Pekoe Souchongs were, on the contrary, cheaper. The auction of Ceylon teas was small, 13,519 packages being brought forward, against 23,437 the previous week. Competition was strong for all descriptions, anything with useful quality being rather dearer, while fine broken Pekoes, and Pekoes advanced here and there fully 1d. per lb. Shipments from Colombo to the United Kingdom from Jan. 1 to the end of September were 73,000,000 lbs., against 66,738,114 lbs. the same period last year. The average public sale prices in London during September were: Indian tea, 10¼d., against 9d. per lb. a year ago; Ceylon, 8½d., the same as a year ago. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Another advance of from 1 to 2s. per cwt. has taken place in Valencia raisins during the past week. A small shipment has been received on the local market during the week ex ss. Elysia, which arrived in New York during last week. Next week the first direct shipment ex ss. Avlona is expected on this market, the steamer being due in Montreal this week. The demand is fair, but while there is so much green fruit on the market a brisk trade is not anticipated. We quote: Off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c.; layers, 6¾c.

The currant market is strong. Last week's cables noted a steady advance until Friday, when a decline of 3d. in Filiatra fruit was recorded, but a recovery came with the present week, and at the time of writing the market is firm. It is said that the lowest prices at which Filiatra currants can be laid down upon the Toronto market to-day is 4⅞c. per lb. The local demand for currants is good. We still quote as follows: Provincials, 3¾ to 3⅞c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4 to 4⅛c.; do., half-bbls., 4⅛ to 4¼c.; ditto, half-cases, 4¾ to 5c.; Patras, 4¼ to 4½c.; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.

Cable advices announce an advance of equal to ⅜c. per lb. in French prunes. Nothing new is to be recorded regarding Turkish prunes. Advices regarding those of California growth state that they are likely to be higher than last year, especially the larger sizes. We quote nominally as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c.; "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

California loose muscatels have again advanced, the appreciation being ¼c. per lb. Shippers have been unable so far to keep up with the demand of their own country. Peaches and apricots are unchanged.

New season's figs are on the market this week. We quote: 14 oz., 11c.; 10 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 18 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 28 lb., 12½ to 16c.; taps, 4 to 5½c. The quality of the fruit is good.

the market this week, and prices run all the way from 7½ to 10½c.

Malaga raisins are without change. We quote this fruit as follows: London layers, $2.20; black baskets, $2.75; blue baskets, $3.25; choice clusters, $3.25; Dehesas, $3.75.

GREEN FRUIT.

There is a good brisk demand for oranges for this time of year. Stock is confined to Jamaicas, the quality of which is improving. Local dealers claim that the quality of this orange is better than it ever was before. The demand for lemons is moderate. The first shipment of Spanish onions to arrive this season came to hand this week. Owing to vessels being delayed by storms shipments are about a month later than usual. Cranberries are plentiful and cheap. There are still a good many grapes coming in, and they are cheap. The first shipment of Malaga grapes is to hand this week, and there is a fair demand for them. The demand continues good for sweet potatoes. Apples are still a glut on the market. Tomatoes are still arriving in small lots We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, fancy, $4.25 to $5 per box; choice, $3.75 to $4; barrels, $7.50. Lemons—Verdilli, $2 to $3.50 for 360's; $4 to $4.50 for 300's; Maoris, $6 per box. Bananas, $1.00 to $1.50; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; tomatoes, 20 to 25c. per basket; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2.25 to $2.50 per bbl.; apples, $1 to $1.25 for good packed stock; pears, 30 to 40c. per basket for ordinary; 50 to 65c. for Flemish Beauty and Bartletts; grapes, Concords, 1¼ to 1¾c. per lb.; Niagaras and Rogers, 1½ to 2c.; onions, 75c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; Cape Cod cranberries, $6.50 per bbl. and $2 to $2.75 per crate, and Canadian cranberries, $5.50 to $6 per bbl.; quinces, 30 to 40c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Buyers of round lots of low-grade butter have been on the market during the past week. Where they are buying it for, or what they are buying it for, no one appears to know. Transactions on this account range all the way from 7 to 9c. We hear of 200 tubs changing hands at the latter figure, but, as a rule, the price was from 7 to 8c. This has cleared the market up pretty well on low-grade butter, but there is an accumulation of medium-grade. Choice butter is still none too plentiful, a great deal of creamery butter coming forward being held stock. There is a great deal of creamery butter coming forward, and the demand is not as good as it was. Prices remain much about the same as a week ago. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c. 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The demand is fair and prices firm. We quote: August make, 10c.; September, 10½ to 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull, with jobbers asking 70 to 75c. The Chatham Banner, in referring to the bean market, says: "The receipts are improving, and as with oats later receipts of this year's crop are much superior to the early offerings. Some loads of this year's beans brought 65c. yesterday, the very highest that would be paid for the best sample of last year's primes. The Kent bean crop is very far from being a failure, and the fact would be quickly demonstrated if the price went up to a really remunerative figure."

DRIED APPLES—The market is dull and jobbers are quoting 2 to 2½c. Some lots which had been exported are being rejected on account of the poor quality. As we pointed out a couple of weeks ago, greater care must be taken if Canada is to preserve her export trade in dried apples.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is nothing doing. Prices are purely nominal.

EGGS—The market is firmer and the demand is good. We quote: Fresh gathered, 15c.; cold storage, 13 to 14c.; pickled, 12½ to 13c.

HONEY—Slow. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8c. in 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

POTATOES—No change either in business or prices. We quote 35c. on track and 45c. per bag for small lots out of store.

POULTRY—Trade is beginning to open up. Ducks are scarce. We quote: Turkeys, 8c. per lb.; ducks, 60c. per pair; geese, 5½c. per lb.; chickens, 30 to 40c. per pair.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

In sympathy with the Chicago market there is a firmer feeling in provisions locally. Dressed hogs are beginning to move more freely. Prices obtainable are: $5 to $5.10 for select weights of 110 to 150 lbs., with heavier weights worth 50c. per 100 lbs. less.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c.; small hams, 11 to 11½c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½c.; tubs, 6¾c.; pails, 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

A scarcity of haddies is to be noted this week and white fish is very scarce. Oysters are in fairly good demand, but 5c. cheaper. We quote: White fish, 7½c.; trout, 6½c.; haddies, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to$6 per bbl. and $3.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.30 for standards, and $1.75 for New York counts.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are light. We quote: White wheat, 76 to 77c.; red, 75 to 76c.; goose, 54½c.; oats, 23 to 24c.; peas, 44½c.

FLOUR—The demand continues good, with prices firm and unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.50; Manitoba strong bakers', $3.95; Ontario patents, $4.25 to $4.35. Straight roller is about $3.65 to $3.85 Toronto freights.

BALED HAY—Slow. On track we quote No. 1 timothy at $11 and No. 2, $9.

BREAKFAST FOODS—A further sharp advance has taken place in oatmeal, on account of the higher price of oats and the continued poor quality of milling oats. We quote as follows: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.85 to $2-95; rolled wheat, $2.25 to $2.35 in 100-lb. bbls. cornmeal, $2.35 to $2.45; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SALT.

Trade remains good at unchanged prices. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

The only thing moving so far is alsike, and it is moving with a great deal of freedom at $4 to $5 per bushel at outside points. There is an occasional lot of extra choice, for which a little over $5 has been paid, while for some inferior lots less than $4 has been paid. An occasional small lot of timothy has changed hands at $1.20 to $1.50 per bushel at outside points.

PETROLEUM.

Prices and business are much about the same as a week ago. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins 60 to 65c.

WOOL—The market is firm. Dealers are paying 20 to 20½ for fleece. Pulled supers are 20½c., and extras, 21½ to 22c.

MARKET NOTES.

Japan tea is dearer.

French prunes are cabled 2 francs dearer.

Valencia raisins have advanced 1 to 2s. per cwt. during the past week.

California loose muscatel raisins are ¼c. dearer on the Coast.

Another advance of 5c. per gallon is announced in the price of oysters.

There has been a further advance of from 10 to 20c. in the price of oatmeal.

The stock of autumn teas, Indian growth, on the Toronto market is exhausted.

The first shipment of Malaga grapes arrived on the Toronto market this week.

The first direct shipment of Valencia raisins is due in Montreal this week ex ss. Avlona.

Spanish onions are on this market. The first shipment was a month later than usual, owing to delay by storms on the voyage.

There has been a sharp advance in glucose in the United States. Most of the factories have oversold. The glucose men across the line have been prophecying an advance for some time past.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 15, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market has not wanted for interesting features this week, though the regular volume of trade has not expanded materially. In the first place, there seems to be no bottom to the sugar market, which is again lower this week, jobbers, in fact, shading 4c. on granulated.

. . CAUTION . .

DRIED APPLES will be almost unsaleable this year unless the Farmers and Merchants give the strictest attention to CUT, COLOR and CONDITION. Requirements are LARGE QUARTER-CUT FRUIT, BRIGHT COLOR and DRY. DISCOURAGE all SMALL-SLICED and CHIPPY stock. POSITIVELY REJECT everything DARK, BURNT or WET.

With careful attention given to these requirements there is hope for a considerable trade at vastly higher prices than the U.S. fruit returns; by neglecting them, Canadian fruit will be reduced to the U.S. level in quality and price.

It is quicker to Cut fruit LARGE (in quarters) than SMALL, and as easy drying BRIGHT as DARK, it only requires therefore care on the Farmers' part and firmness on the Merchants' to ensure them both a profit as against a loss, besides creating a superior reputation for CANADIAN DRIED APPLES.

TORONTO - CANADA

This feverish feeling has effectually checked demand, as the frequent cuts have confused buyers so completely that they are not sure, even now, that prices will not go lower. On the other hand, foreign dried fruit is very firm, both Californian and Mediterranean, as will be seen below, advances resulting as a consequence in both raisins and prunes, while currants are very firmly held. A better demand for tea is another change on the encouraging side, while canned vegetables have taken a turn for the better, inasmuch as they show a more settled feeling that is very welcome after their recent vagaries.

SUGAR.

The unsettled feeling in sugar continues and prices have been cut still further this week. In fact, jobbers have been selling granulated for less than 4c., and in the case of a round order have even shaded that price. The decline in price does not induce demand, but rather the reverse, for the reason that buyers are not certain even now that bottom has been touched, granulated in small quantities having sold at 3 15-16c. at the refinery, and less might be accepted. In the raw market beet during the past ten days or so has sold at 8s. 9d., which is the lowest price this year. We quote: Granulated, 4c., and yellows, 3 to 3½c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrup does not improve, and business has ruled extremely quiet at 1½ to 2¾c. per lb., as to quality and quantity.

MOLASSES.

There has been more enquiry for molasses during the week resulting in the turnover of some good-sized lots. As a result, prices are steadier than they were, but the jobbing range may be repeated as it was last week, namely: 30 to 32c., according to quality. Jobbers still have large stocks on hand.

RICE.

There is no new feature in the rice market, a fair business being maintained at former quotations. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

Enquiry for white pepper experienced during the week has developed its scarcity, and cables note advances in it of ⅜d. per lb. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

Business in coffees continues quiet, demand being confined to small parcels. Values rule fairly steady as follows: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 18c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

There has been a fair degree of activity in the tea market since last report, and all lines are asked for. Stocks in jobbers' hands are said to be lighter than usual, and the same remarks apply with equal force to the supplies in third or retailers' hands. Old crop low Japans have been turned over here up to 14c., and new crop at 14 to 16c., while fair to good at 17 to 25c. are meeting a good enquiry. Gunpowders all the way up to 21c. also seem to be wanted. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grade; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The Valencia raisin market continues excited, and the advanced basis of cost referred to in former reports is fully sustained. In fact, we know where 4½c. was refused for ordinary to fine off-stalk by a commission man, for the reason that his old limits had been withdrawn and new ones substituted, which meant that importers would have to pay an advance of ¼ to ½c. on ordinary to fine stock, while fine to selected were difficult to obtain at present under any circumstances. Latest cable offers have been on the basis of 14s. 6d. to 15s. on off-stalk: an advance of 6d. to 1s. on what was asked last Thursday. Values asked by jobbers on goods to arrive are therefore ¼c. firmer, as follows: Ordinary off-stalk, 4½ to 4¾c.; fine do, 5 to 5½c.; selected, 6c.; and layers 6½c.

No new feature is noted in California raisins except that new fruit is very late in arriving and values for this reason are strongly held. We quote for forward delivery: 2-crown, 5 to 5¼c.; 3-crown, 6 to 6½c.; and 4-crown 7 to 7½c., the inside figures being very difficult to secure.

The currant market is quite as firm in its tone as it was noted last week, and there is no occasion to alter quotations. We quote: Filiatras, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c. Fine provincials are worth about ⅜ of a cent a pound more; Patras, 5¼ to 5¾c., and Vostizzas, 6 to 6¼c.

The strong feeling in both French and Austrian prunes is fully maintained, the advance noted last week ruling all transactions in a jobbing way. In fact, in some cases travelers have been instructed to exercise caution in accepting orders. Californias are as strong, if not stronger, in their disposition at primary points. We quote prices rather higher as follows: French, 5 to 6c.; Austrian, 6 to 6½c., and California, 10 to 11c.

NUTS.

There is little change in nuts. Fresh receipts of Terragona almonds are expected in the course of a week, and are offering to arrive at a net figure inside of 10c., but we quote them steady on spot at 10 to 10¼c.; Brazil nuts range from 11c. up, and Grenoble walnuts have sold to arrive at less than 11c.

CANNED GOODS.

This market each successive week adopts a more settled feeling. This has been notably the case in vegetables since our last, sales of leading brands of tomatoes being made at better prices. In fact, 70c. is now the inside price for good reliable brands of these, and it is doubtful if a jobber could buy either corn or peas for less than 65c. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market has not furnished much change this week. Jamaica oranges have ruled rather lower at $5.50 to $6 per bbl., but lemons are steady at $3 per box. Bananas sold at 50c. to $1, and pears all the way from 30 to 40c. per basket up to $2 to $2.50 per keg. Grapes range from 14c. for ordinary blue up to 17c. for Rogers' white California. Tokays are held at $1.75 to $2 per crate.

APPLES.

The greatest quantity of apples exported to England in any season previous to the present one did not exceed 1,500,000 barrels. Up to the 3rd of October of this season 601,000 barrels have been shipped. This quantity, with the labor entailed in packing, hauling, shipping and selling cannot easily be realized, nor can it be easily realized how large a consumption must have set in in the Old Country, which forces receivers in Glasgow and Liverpool to cable that both markets are slightly better and that prime hard winter fruit is wanted. Quotations for Greenings, Baldwins, Kings, Snows, etc., range from 10s. to 12s. for parcels in sound and tight condition, and making allowance for those arriving out of condition, an average price of 9 to 10s. may be quoted as a true valuation on which shippers ought to figure. On account of high freights these parcels do not even leave any profit to dealers who have bought at 50c. for the fruit, but it is satisfactory to relate of a healthier tone in the markets and to express the hope that better results may follow provided the greatest care in selection of varieties and packing is exercised. Spot values rule unchanged at 75c. to $1 for fall and $1.25 to $1.75 for winter.

FISH.

In fish fresh haddock and cod are scarce, in fact there is little of the latter on the market. New Brunswick herring, which are only of ordinary quality, are selling at $2.50 to $2.75 in half-barrels. Good Nova Scotia or Cape Breton herrings would bring $6 per barrel. Gaspe No. 1 green cod are selling at $4 per barrel, and extra Nova Scotia at $4.25. No. 2 Labrador salmon are steady at $12 per barrel, but in tierces, prices have declined 50c. to $17 per tierce. B.C. salmon in half-barrels have changed hands at $5.50, and in barrels at $12. No. 2 mackerel have sold at $11 to $12 per barrel, and No. 1 at $18 per tierce.

In smoked fish a fair business is reported the demand being chiefly for haddies, of which supplies have been limited this week and prices are firmly held at 6½ to 7½c. per lb.; kippered herrings are selling at $1.50 per box, Yarmouth bloaters at $1 per box, new smoked herrings at 11c. per box,

HAMILTON

The demand for dried codfish continues slow, and prices are about steady at $4 per 100 lbs.; pollock, $2.20 per case of 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $5.25 per case; boneless cod, 5½ to 6c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

The feature in fresh fish has been the stronger feeling in haddock, owing to the scarcity, and prices have advanced ½c. per lb. to 4½c. N. B. and B. C. salmon have met with a fair sale at 12 to 12½c. per lb. White fish have sold at 6 to 7c. per lb., and dore at 7c.

The supply of shell oysters is more than ample for the requirements, and owing to the quality not being up to the average, prices rule easy. Ordinary Malpeques are selling at $3 to $3.50 per bbl.; hand-picked, $4 to $4.50; Buctouche hand-picked, $4.50, and Miramichi, $2.75 to $3.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The firm feeling in eggs has been fully maintained, prices ruling higher at 13 to 13½c. on choice candled and 18c. on fresh laid.

BEANS—Remain as they were at 70 to 75c. in car lots, and 80 to 90c. in a small way.

HOPS—Continue quiet at 6 to 7c.

HONEY—Moves in a small way at a range of 10 to 12c. for comb, according to quality, and 8 to 9c. for extracted.

POTATOES—Receipts fair, but the market is well cleared up at 30 to 35c. in car lots and 40c. in a small way.

DRIED APPLES—Range as before at 3 to 3½c., with evaporated 5½ to 6c.

BALED HAY—Without alteration at $9.50 to $10 for No. 1 and $8.25 to $8.50 for No. 2.

HIDES.

The Quebec tanners have been good buyers of hides here this week at the following range: 7, 6 and 5c. from second hands, dealers paying 1c. less than these prices.

ASHES.

Pearls have shown a weaker feeling, declining 10 to 15c. Pots are steady. We quote: First pots, $3.50 to $3.55; seconds, $3.05 to $3.10, and pearls, $4.45 per 100 lbs.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market continues dull and featureless in the main. Values generally are as they were last week. We quote as follows: Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 6¼ to 6½c.; bacon, per lb., 7½ to 8½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5 to 5¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The situation of the flour market is very firm and the recent advance in Ontario grades was sustained. The demand for car lots continues good, and Manitoba millers stated that buyers to-day placed their orders more freely. We quote as follows: Winter wheat, $4.25; spring wheat, patents, $4.30 to $4.55; straight roller, $3.90 to $4.00; straight roller, bags, $1.90 to $1.95; extra bags, $1.65 to $1.75; Manitoba strong bakers', $4 to $4.25.

There was no change in oatmeal, prices being firm under a fair demand. We quote as follows: Standard, bbls., $2.90 to $3; granulated, bbls., $3 to $3.05; rolled oats, bbls., $2.85 to $2.90; rolled oats, per bag, $1.37½ to $1.40.

The demand for feed is fair and the tone of the market is steady, with no change to note. We quote: Bran, $10 to $11; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market continues steady, and though the legitimate enquiry over the cable does not respond to the bulge on this side, holders are not urging sales. For this reason a quiet market is looked for for some time. We quote a nominal spot range of 10¼ to 10½c.

The butter market rules steady. Finest creamery in boxes is wanted by both shippers and domestic jobbers, and this sort of package commands a premium of ¼c., 19 to 19¼ being freely bid for it. Prices grade down to 18½c. from the above.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Recent cables from abroad note an advance of ⅜d. in the price of white pepper at primary points.

Medium Japan and Gunpowder teas have been in demand here, the call for them being a feature of the week in tea.

Canned vegetables exhibit a continued steady feeling, and some packers are asking more for tomatoes this week than last.

Sales agents asked to-day an advance of 6d. to 1s. on ordinary off-stalk Valencia raisins, their figures being 14s. 6d. to 15s., against 14s. last Thursday.

Orders have been placed for further lots of B.C. canned salmon at lower prices on the Coast, viz., $4.20 to $4.25 f.o.b., which is 30c. less than what packers asked at the beginning of the season. Three or four lots of 1,000 cases each have been booked at the range.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 15, 1896.

A FAIRLY active week's business has been noted. Flour has continued to be a matter of interest. Merchants are not buying as freely, however; they do not care to at present buy further stock at present prices. Cheese is also a matter of interest. Stock through the province is not large; there is, however, quite a quantity held in Nova Scotia, but the output all through is much less than last year. California raisins have had considerable attention during the week, owing to advance in price on the Coast. Some buyers who had put off ordering were caught. The advance in oatmeal has led to fairly large sales. In fish more pickled herring are to hand than any time before this season. Best grades are very firm. In Nova Scotia apples arrivals are very large, with very slow sales and prices low. Very large quantities of canned goods continue to arrive and are sold low

OIL—This is the active season in burning oil and a very large movement is reported. Prices have shown no change since the advance. In turpentine the market is unsettled and higher prices are quoted almost daily. In cod the market is still dull. We quote: American burning oil, 21c.; best Canadian, 19½c.; prime, 17c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—The coarse afloat for here is not yet to hand, but should arrive during the week; there is but quiet demand at even prices. With expected arrivals to hand prices will rule rather lower. We quote: Coarse, 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—Prices still rule low in corn, peas and tomatoes, but by some the latter are held firm, owing to expected higher figures. Large quantities of the above are held and sales are being pushed. In strawberries the feeling is firmer than it was expected. Peaches are also quite firmly held. Jams (Canadian) in glass, have much less sale than a year or two ago, the English jams taking their place. In pail jam, however, the sale of Canadian is larger than ever. In salmon rather more are coming in than were expected; one merchant has three cars. This and the fact that salmon for March delivery are offered under prices asked by packers this fall has had a tendency to make market easy. Canned fruits in glass are popular here, but prices prevent a large sale. Demand for canned beef is very light. We quote: Corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 75c.; tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; gallon apples, $1.75 to $2; corned beef, canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.; strawberries, $1.90.

DRIED FRUIT—There is little movement as yet, but few new goods being yet to hand. The California raisin market is higher and held very firm. Those who waited to buy at lower prices have either had to give higher prices or go without. Five-crown for early shipment are scarce and one large packer now will only put 50 boxes in a car for early shipment. The London layers and prunes are also higher. Of California prunes it is difficult to make up direct shipments from the Coast, prices being higher than imported ones. A car is a large quantity for here. Currants are higher. French and Bosnia prunes are offered low. More new Valencia raisins are daily expected; very few have so far been received. Demand is for a better raisin than formerly, and many more layers are sold. We quote: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c.; London layers, $2 to $2.25; currants, cases, 4 to 4½c.; bbls., 3¾ to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 4 to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 4c.; evaporated apples, 5½ to 6c.; onions, $2.10 to $2.25 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 9 to 10c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.

GREEN FRUIT—Business is active. In apples the sale is still very dull owing to overstock of soft apples. Prices, of course, are very low. Quality of apples is good. In cranberries, while a large quantity of bog berries are grown here, the Cape Cods are preferred at the higher price. Bananas are still a light sale. Peaches are about out of the market. We quote: Lemons, $5 to $6; bananas, $1 to $2; apples, $1 to $1.50; Bartletts, per box, $4.50 to $5; plums, 35 to 40c.; grapes, Canadian, 30 to 40c.; grapes, keg, $5 to $6; crab apples, 90c. per bbl.; oranges, $4.50 per box.

DAIRY PRODUCE—There is a better feeling in all lines. In butter the difficulty is not to sell, but to get right quality. Feeling is much firmer, but it is still hard to sell creamery, particularly creamery prints. Quite a quantity of Ontario creamery prints were sold here this week, low. The egg market has advanced very much during the week; there are none to be had owing to the higher prices obtained for export. In cheese, while a rather higher price is asked, the price ex-store is still low compared with Ontario prices. The quantity of cheese here is not large, and higher prices are expected. We quote: Dairy butter, 17 to 19c.; new creamery, rolls, 21 to 22c.; do., tubs, 18 to 21c. Eggs are steady at 15 to 16c. Cheese, 9½ to 10c.

SUGAR—While there is nothing new to report and prices remain unchanged, the feeling is easy. Our merchants in quite a number of cases were not prepared for the turn the market has taken, and are still selling below cost. We quote: Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3 to 3¼c.

MOLASSES—This is another line in which there is little new. There is an increased demand for New Orleans in barrels, a good quantity of which is being offered low. West India molasses market is dull with but light sales. Some grades are offered very low. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 29 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 30c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—In dry cod the feeling is rather easier, owing to the large arrivals. Pickled Bay herring are higher; a fair quantity arrived during the week, but stocks are not large. In better grades stocks are even lighter and fall caught large fish are hard to get. Shad are very firm and there is no shading of price, except upward. Smoked fish, as before noted, are higher and will remain so, as the fishermen will not put them up at the old prices. Alewives move off slowly at figures much below last year. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.25 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.35; bay herring, $1.40 to $1.50 per half-bbl.; smoked, 7½ to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $5.50 to $6; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Canso herring, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; Quoddy herring, $2.75.

PROVISIONS—Pork showed no change during the week, but there is a fair demand. Beef is very low, with market easy. Lard is higher and firm, but there is quite a stock here. More American is seen than for a long time. There is very little as yet being done in hams and rolls. We quote: Clear pork, $13.00 to $14.00; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $11 to $12; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—In flour, market is more quiet. While there has been an advance during the week, prices here are unchanged. Millers are not pushing sales, nor do buyers appear anxious to buy. Oatmeal is firm at the higher price. Ontario oats are firmer. In New Brunswick oats prices are low. Cornmeal is still at the low figure, with large sales. New buckwheat is dull. Beans are firmer. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5 to $5.10; best Ontario, $4.40 to $4.50; medium, $4.25 to $4.30; oatmeal, $3 to $3.10; cornmeal, $1.85 to $2; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do do, $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1; prime, 90c.; oats, 29 to 30c.; hay, $13 to $14; barley, $3.25; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat meal, $1.25 to $1.50.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Woodstock and Edmundston, being very close to the American line, show large exports to the American market for the quarter ending September 30, 1896. Exports from Woodstock were $97,862, and from Edmundston $31,253.

The output of cheese in this province is much smaller this year than last. In Carleton county, which is one of the largest cheese counties of the province, the output last year was valued at $259,378, this year, $110,200. This is largely owing to the low prices of last year. This season the outlook is much better.

In conversation with THE CANADIAN GROCER, Mr. T. H. Estabrooks, one of our largest tea merchants, who is just home from New York, said the market in tea there is much more active and prices higher than for some time.

The guessing contest of the Surprise soap people did not end after all as noted last week. Two other parties became claimants for the piano, one having a guess equally near to the two noted last week, and the other claiming to have guessed the correct weight. The ballots were all gone over, and the first one, but not the second one, was found. The piano was put up at auction and bought by the company for $300, which was divided among the three guessers. The party who claims to have made the correct guess threatens an action at law.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

THE Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of a carload of Rio coffees, which, they claim, are extra value.

"Sportsmen" sardines are in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

The new tap figs are in store with the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

French plums, in half cases, are in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

New "Leghorn" candied lemon, orange and citron peels are offered by the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

New Sultana raisins, Eleme figs and peels are arriving this week for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Another direct shipment of "Bargain" molasses is in store with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. It is excellent for baking purposes.

Last fall Morse Bros., proprietors of the "Rising Sun" stove polish and the "Sun Paste" stove polish, shipped over 23 carloads of 15 tons each in less than two weeks.

A large shipment of fine Malaga raisins has just been received by Laporte, Martin & Cie., for which they report large orders in advance.

Several lots of new Young Hysons are now to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm have also some nice Oolong and Gunpowder in cads.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd, have just received the second shipment of their "Tea Cup" brand Japan tea, packed in 1-lb. packages by the growers.

L. Chaput, Sons & Co. are offering to arrive all descriptions of new Mediterranean fruit, nuts, etc. Applications for quotations will be promptly attended to.

Southwell's orange marmalade and whole fruit jams are on view at the agents' office in Montreal, Frank Magor & Co., 16 St. John street; also candied and drained peels from the same manufacturers.

The sale of "Victoria" and "Princess Louise" Japan tea, which is vouched for by Laporte, Martin & Cie., hardly seems to indicate that there is any falling off in the general demand for good Japan tea.

Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, have just landing ex ss. Canadian, a fresh supply of show cards and advertising material for those reliable lines: Keen's mustard and Oxford blue. They will be glad to forward some to any grocer applying.

McLauchlan's sodas have been on the market for the past quarter of a century, and the high reputation achieved by this biscuit throughout Ontario, justifies us in calling special attention, to the storekeeper, to handle McLauchlan's biscuits.

The F. F. Dalley Co. say that the sale of "English Army" blacking has a large increase over last year's sales. They are at present hard pushed to meet the demand. Their late fire threw them back about 100 gross, but they expect to catch up this month, in spite of the many orders coming in, as they have trebled their staff.

Messrs. Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, have a collection of over 200 postcards, received from doctors, nurses and mothers, all speaking in highest terms of those excellent foods : Robinson's patent barley and patent groats--and all have been received since January of this year.

An honest grocer

Perkins, Ince & Co. are showing a very bright Demerara sugar.

Clemes Bros. have in stock their first carload of new season's Spanish onions.

"The Hyson teas we have just in are immense value," say H. P. Eckardt & Co.

McWilliam & Everist are in receipt of a shipment of new Malaga grapes, the first of the season.

Gillard's new pickle and Gillard's new sauce continue to go out freely with W. H. Gillard & Co.

"Trenor's F. O. S. raisins are now in stock and show fine value," say H. P. Eckardt & Co.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report arrival of first new Sultana raisins, "Fine," "Good," "Choice."

Jas. Turner & Co., of Hamilton, report big sales for "Golden" haddies. They have replenished their stock.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. say the prices they are offering their No. 1 split herrings at have brought them lots of business.

"Our new Comadra and Eleme figs are moving out fast, but we have a large stock arriving," say H. P. Eckardt & Co.

New Comadra mat figs are in store with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm also offer new peels, raisins, currants, etc.

There are certainly many Scotch whiskeys in Scotland, and consequently the winner of a prize at the Glasgow Exposition means a superiority for the winner over a good many different brands. The success of Mitchell's Scotch whiskey at the last exposition is another reason for the large sales of that popular brand which are reported by Laporte, Martin & Cie.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering a line of fine cohoe salmon to arrive in a few days. It will pay you to look after it if you are a buyer.

"Indications point to a good season's trade in all lines," say T. A. Lytle & Co. "Sales of vinegar have been much larger than usual."

"The sales of 'Golden' haddies are increasing every day," said Howe, McIntyre & Co., agents for Montreal, to a correspondent last week.

In a shipment of Rio coffee to hand this week, for Warren Bros. & Co., was a small lot of "Golden" Rio coffee, a kind that it is almost impossible to get just now.

Everyone should have an X-Ray raisin seeder. It is perfect. Each guaranteed for five years. See samples with Lucas, Steele & Bristol's travelers, or write the firm for particulars.

The Salada Tea Co. is this week shipping sixty packages of "Salada" to Buffalo. The firm reports that its sales in Toronto last week were 25 per cent. larger than any previous week.

Enormous quantities of corrugated paper packing are used in the cases of the "Rising Sun" stove polish. The goods are packed in the neatest and most careful manner and reach the storekeeper in the best possible condition.

East India pickles were first introduced on the Canadian market about seven months ago by the Canadian agents, A. E. Richards & Co., of Hamilton, and since that time their sales have been very large. They have been sold from Winnipeg to St. John, and reports are favorable from all points. These pickles are put up in handsome glass-stoppered bottles, and packed one dozen in a case. They are a most delicious relish, and the spice sauce in which they are packed is excellent, used on cold meats, game or fish.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have at hand and to arrive the finest assortment of fruits they ever imported, and report the quality of fruits generally this season to be excellent. They anticipate a large demand.

"Our Special Label baking powder is creating for itself a large demand on account of giving the grocer control over the sale of that particular powder, thus ensuring larger profits," say W. H. Gillard & Co., the manufacturers.

High quality goods always find a steady sale with consumers. They become standard. Marshall & Co., Aberdeen, only pack the finest quality Scotch kippers, fresh herrings, bloaters, herrings in tomato and anchovy sauce, etc. Their salt, large and medium herrings, in kegs, are unsurpassed.

MADE PANCAKES FOR THE PUBLIC

A. Waddell & Co., the proprietors of the Italian Warehouse, one of the leading groceries of Hamilton, were kind to their customers and the general public last week. For three days they treated them to hot, delicious pancakes and tea biscuits, and a nice cup of tea. The flours used were Dalley's Royal Hygienic Self-Rising Flours. They made many friends and did a handsome trade both in the flours and the tea, and they say that it pays to be liberal with the public.

KNOWING CLERKS.

IT is a great blessing to have clerks who know what is to be done in a grocery store, remarks Retail Grocers' Advocate. A clerk who fixes the show to the bosses' satisfaction and has everything in perfect order when the market wagon arrives ; who has the strawberries picked that were left over from the previous day ; who washes the spinach and radishes when necessary without having been told , who takes as much interest in the business as if it was his own. Such a clerk will make a good boss himself in the future. Many clerks may be good salesmen, but their work is done mechanically, and it must be told to them what there is to be done. They do not think. Those clerks will never make very good bosses.

Again, there are clerks who hide behind the boxes ; are shy of work ; read novels when the boss does not see them ; play and let the customers wait, when the boss is not around. Such clerks may become owners of stores, but in most cases they have them for a short time when they fail. These look for other employment in the markets or as drivers afterwards. The worst clerks, though, are those who take a partnership in the business whenever they have a chance ; these are the dishonest clerks. Those clerks who are addicted to drink and who are sometimes tipsy during business hours, are just about as bad and undesirable. A clerk who is honest, sober, intelligent and active, is worth the highest salary, and every clerk should try to make such a one his example.

"SKIPPERS" IN THE CHEESE.

R. THOMPSON & CO. sued Moses Moyer & Sons, in the Division Court, Toronto, a few days ago for $71 for cheese supplied. In his evidence Mr. Moyer stated that the cheese was not up to sample, he having found this to be the case by using two of the heads. "Why," said he, "they were over-run with 'skippers,' and if Inspector Awde had seen them they would have had to be thrown out the back door."

"And if Inspector Archibald had not seen them?" inquired his Honor.

Witness simply shrugged his shoulders and threw up both hands. The complaints were not so much about the nimble "skippers," but that the cheese was off flavor.

Grocer Lockhart testified that he had a score of years' experience in cheese.

"Ancient or modern?" asked his Honor.

Witness swore the cheese was off flavor, had an oniony smell and was full of "skippers," but these things get into the best of cheese.

"What becomes of such cheese?" asked the court.

"It is used as bar cheese."

"Bar cheese?—what do you call that?"

"Why, cheese that is sold to saloons for free lunch purposes."

Certain members of the bar looked very much chagrined and shocked.

One of the reasons, Thompson swore, that he would not take the cheese back was because there was a fall in prices.

"And a rise in flavor," promptly responded his Honor, who decided that the cheese was not up to sample, but that as Moyer had accepted the cheese he must keep it. His Honor allowed plaintiff $63.81, the balance being allowed Moyer for the bad condition of the cheese.

CLAP-TRAP TRADING.

Over in Newark, N.J., is a grocer who sells for 40c., 1 pound of tea, 3½ pounds of granulated sugar, 2 bundles of wood, 1 loaf of bread, 1 yeast cake. This is possible and at a fair profit, but it is an undignified, irregular, catchpenny style of doing business, not calculated to win that confidence without which no store can be permanently successful. Does anyone imagine or flatter himself that a tea trade can be secured by offering the articles enumerated above as a premium to the buyer of 1 pound of tea at 40c.? If so, they harbor a vain delusion. Cup quality is the object sought by those who drink tea for its merits and not as a warm drink. If grocers in this day of department store competition are to win success, it will be along the line of perfect service and not by clap-trap methods.—American Grocer.

CALIFORNIA ORANGES.

Regarding the green fruit situation on the Coast, The California Fruit Grower says in its last issue: "The weather is bright and favorable for shipping. The rains did some damage to the grape crop. The local market is well supplied, but the movement is only fair and prices are low. The orange season is close at hand. Buyers are early in the field purchasing in the northern districts. Sales are reported at $1.10 per box for entire groves as they run, buyer to clip, pack, etc. The northern district will yield an average crop, while the south reports a shortage. Fair estimates place the coming crop at 7,500 cars."

STACKED.

The following speech, for substance, was actually made by a noted gamester in New Hampshire on obtaining a verdict against the unanimous opinion of the judges, by tampering with the jury:

We cut and shuffled, stirr'd our stumps,
But zounds! they put us to our trumps.
They held court-cards, led suit beside,
With all four honors on their side
They pla'd the duce! but we more brave
Finess'd on hearts, and play'd the knave.
We better knew the pack to fix,
And won the game at last by tricks!

IN DUTY BOUND

Any man or woman who has any responsibility in life or anyone dependent on him or her, for whom provision cannot otherwise be made, is in duty bound to see that such dependent is not left destitute by his or her death.

By a policy of insurance in the CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION on the Unconditional Accumulative Plan, complete and unquestionable protection is immediately secured.

The policy has but one condition, viz., that the premium shall be paid.

It is absolutely free from restrictions as to residence, travel or occupation, the insured being at perfect liberty to travel or reside in any part of the world.

Success with Canned Meats

It is not a matter of chance. The full and habitual satisfaction of your customer; furnishing goods of unvarying excellence; goods that are certain to please to-day, to-morrow, every day—that is the way to win success. Grocers the world over know that canned meats bearing the "Helmet" trade mark are certain to please. They can be depended on for uniformity day in and day out, and they are prized best by customers who use them most. There is a world of satisfaction in selling them, and a good profit for the grocer, of course.

GOT TO CLOSE EARLY.

THE Superior Court having ordered, entirely apart from the constitutionality of the law, that the Recorder of Montreal was bound to give his decision on the early closing bylaw, that official did so Tuesday afternoon. The result is a victory for the advocates of early closing, though the Recorder went out of his way to state that the bylaw was unjust and unwise.

As it now stands, the police can, by law, be compelled to close stores until the test case on the constitutionality of the law is decided by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, to whom an appeal has been taken.

The Recorder's judgment was as follows :

"In these different cases here is the position in which I find myself : In the case of Mme. Lagarde I was forced to come to the conclusion that the bylaw was constitutional because the Legislature had authorized the Council to pass the law, but on examining the bylaw I found that the scope was not wide enough, and I considered that it intruded on the natural rights of citizens.

"It is true that we can intrude on the rights of an individual in expropriating in the public interest, but this bylaw was not sufficiently in the public interest to warrant this intrusion, so I consequently felt forced to quash it. Afterwards I was disappointed to find that the plaintiff could not appeal, only the defendant having that right.

"As I wished to have the opinion of a judge of the Superior Court, I then interested myself to a certain extent in securing such. If the Superior Court recognized the legality, either directly or indirectly, I would submit myself, as I wished a judgment. I submit not my judgment or reason, as I would never bow to an unjust law. There is not a tribunal in the world which would force me to do so.

"To-day it is again my opinion that the bylaw is unjust, and I have not altered my opinion that it is not framed as it should be. A bylaw could have been framed which would reach all merchants with the exception of druggists, etc., who are absolutely necessary. The groceries were closed, where was sold tea and coffee, while the worst holes in the city were given full swing.

"It is still my opinion that it is unjust, but I must submit to the opinion of the higher court just as the Government did in the matter of the School Question to the Privy Council. The plaintiffs not having the opportunity of appeal, I will render judgment in conformity with that of Judge Charland, that I must apply the law, illegal as it may be. I, therefore, declare the merchants guilty of having contravened the bylaw, with the exception of Octave Chabot, who proved he was a fruit dealer owing to his sign bearing the words, 'fruit merchant' although he did sell general groceries. The gentlemen of the City Council in their wisdom declared that he could keep open, though at the same time he deals in groceries, as long as he is a 'fruit merchant.' We will now swallow the entire consequences of the foolish bylaw, in spite of the fact that it is not in my opinion legal.

"I am submissive to the decision of the Superior Court. So now may be opened the low fruit stores, oyster dives, etc., as the Council has decided they are more useful than the other. I am obliged to condemn the defendants to one dollar or eight days, with the hope that they will appeal."

Those condemned were : L. W. Moreau, 366 Seigneurs street ; Gaspard Lauriault, 66 Ottawa street ; Stantislas Cardinal, 230 Notre Dame street ; Onesime Pelletier, 218 Craig street ; Wm. Rourke, 224 St. Catherine street ; Richard Walsh, 812 Dorchester street ; Moses Lesser, 625 Craig street ; Joseph Desautels, 270 Craig street ; Mathias Leduc, 40 St. Urbain street ; T. S. A LIVE WINNIPEG BROKER.

E. NICHOLSON, successor to the late W. F. Henderson, wholesale commission merchant, Winnipeg, has now concluded arrangements to handle a number of important agencies. Following are some of the principal concerns which Mr. Nicholson will represent in Winnipeg : The Canada Jute Co., Montreal, bags, hessians and twines ; the Edwardsburg Starch Co., Cardinal, Ont., starches and glucose ; the Truro Condensed Milk and Canning Co., Truro, N.S., Reindeer brand condensed milk, condensed coffee and milk, and evaporated cream ; the Simcoe Canning Co., Simcoe and Hamilton, Ont., canned goods, jams, jellies and evaporated and dried apples ; the Anglo British Columbia Packing Co., Vancouver, B.C., canned salmon ; the Cudahy Packing Co., South Omaha, Nebraska, Rex brand canned and smoked meats, lard, etc.; the Cutting Fruit Packing Co., San Francisco, Cal., dried and canned fruits and raisins ; Dow & Curry, Pilot Mound, Man., oatmeal and pot and pearl barley ; N. W. Taussig & Co., New York, molasses and syrup ; Hart & Rand, New York, Rio and Santos coffee ; Colby & Tyhurst, Blenheim, Ont., beans ; F. W. Fearman, Hamilton, Ont., lard and cured meats ; E. James & Son, Plymouth, Eng., Dome lead and blue ; Arguimbau & Co., New York, raisins, currants and nuts. Mr. Nicholson also handles rice, spices and Mediterranean fruits.

Mr. Nicholson has been connected with the wholesale commission business in Winnipeg since 1882, at which time he took a position with the firm of Henderson & Bull, which was established in that year, and which business was later carried on under the firm name of W. F. Henderson & Co., until the death of Mr. Henderson a short time ago. Mr. Nicholson has therefore had an excellent training in the wholesale commission trade, and with his well known careful business habits, he is bound to succeed. He is open for correspondence looking to the acquirement of a few more good agencies. Goods are sold only to jobbers, millers and grain merchants.

ITS SUCCESS NO ACCIDENT.

THE pay roll of the Rising Sun Black Lead Works is at present nearly $1,000 per week. This is at the rate of $48,000 per year that is distributed for labor in the town of Canton, in addition to large sums paid for printing, box making, carting and other outside work done in Canton and Sharon. This establishment paid the railroad last year for freight in and out, $14,295.73. The employes of this factory during the last four years, when other factories have been run on part time or at reduced pay, or both, owing to the general prostration of business, have not known any hard times, they have had no reduction in their pay or hours of labor, and the factory has not been closed a day or hour except the short annual vacation in August, which was for only one week this year.

The Rising Sun Stove Polish and Black Lead Works is the largest establishment of its kind in the world, and has a capacity of ten tons of stove polish a day. Their new Sun Paste stove polish is larger in quantity, more attractive in style and better in quality than any other paste polish, and is already commanding a large sale. The old reliable Rising Sun stove polish in cakes, on account of its durability and economy, still commands an enormous sale in every English-speaking country on the face of the earth. The growth of the business is marvelous when its small beginnings are remembered. Congressman Morse began the business when a schoolboy, made his first product in a little hand mould, dried it on a stove, and sold it at retail from a carpet bag.

"Tall oaks from little acorns grow,
Large streams from little fountains flow."

But this success is no accident. Mr. Morse when a young man and for many years afterwards canvassed twenty-two states in the Union as a commercial traveler, and thus laid the foundation for the present business.—Journal, Canton, Mass.

U.S. IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.

THE United States Department of Agriculture has issued a pamphlet containing records of foreign commerce of the last fiscal year compared with the records of preceding years. During the ten years ending June 30, 1896, the United States exported $8,207,292,566 worth of domestic merchandise, which, increased by the value of articles of foreign origin re-exported—$149,758,038—swells our total exports to the enormous sum of $8,357,077,604. Our imports during the same period being valued at $7,656,127,784, the total commerce of the United States, including imports and exports, for the ten years 1887-1896 amounted to $16,013,205,388, or a yearly average of more than $1,600,000,000. For the year ending June 30, 1896, domestic exports amounted to $863,200,487, an increase as compared with 1895 of $9,807,888 Foreign exports for 1896 amounted to $14,978,509, an increase over 1895 of $5,260,885. The total exports for the year were valued at $882,606,938, an increase over 1895 of $835,707,761. The imports for the year were $765,612,778, an increase over 1895 of $47,754,709. The total exports and imports for the year ending June 30, 1896, aggregated $1,662,331,612, an increase over 1895 of $122,823,482.

During the fiscal year just ended the American farmers sold to foreign nations $570,000,000 worth of their product, a gain of $17,000,000 over the preceding year. Agricultural products made up about 66 per cent. of our total exports in 1896 as against 70 per cent. in 1895, 72 per cent. in 1894, and 74 per cent. in 1893. That an increase in absolute value from $553,000,000 in 1895 to $570,000,000 in 1896 is accompanied by a falling off in percentage from 70 to 66 is due to the fact that the sale of our manufactured products grew proportionately much faster—from $184,000,000 in 1895 to $228,000,000 in 1896.

During the year ending June 30, 1896, we sold to the English-speaking people of Europe $406,000,000 worth of merchandise, which is 46 per cent. of our total exports; and we bought from them $170,000,000 worth of goods, which is 22 per cent. of our total imports. Considering as one customer for American products, all the ports of the British Empire in all continents, we find that they bought from us $512,000,000 worth of goods, or 58 per cent. of the total exports.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE reported demoralized state of the English apple market promises to make itself felt in Nova Scotia, and indeed, to a certain extent has already done so. Now we hear that steamboat companies refuse to take apples as freight unless prepaid. This, of course, means a curtailment or almost stopping of the shipment of that fruit, on which the prosperity of the Annapolis Valley so largely depends. There is no money in sending apples to the Halifax market, as the best fruit is not bringing over 75c. per bbl., while ordinary grades sell as low as 40c. Some of our flour dealers are shoving up the price—in the newspaper reports. The quotations for flour in Halifax daily papers are at least 30 per cent. over what the article can be bought for.

A lot of Barbadoes (100 puncheons) molasses and a small lot of St. Croix were sent to Montreal on the steamer Escalona last week. There is a fair jobbing demand, and it is expected stocks in hand will be used up before the demand slackens. There is a good deal of common stock here, which is almost unsalable, and will have to be sent elsewhere for a market. Quotations are: St. Croix, 27c.; Porto Rico, 29 to 31c.; Trinidad, 27c.; Barbadoes, 31c.; Demerara, M.R. brand, 39c.; St. Kitts, 25c.

The strong tone of the egg market noted last week still continues, and is likely to do so from this on. Stocks are not up to the requirements of the trade. P. E. Island choice stocks sell at 13 to 14c., and Nova Scotia selected at 14c.

There is still a good jobbing demand for creamery butter, creamery selling at 20 to 21c. and tubs at 19½ to 20c.

July cheese is selling at 9½c., with fair demand.

Canned goods are not in heavy demand. New goods are coming in slowly. Fruits are not selling on account of the cheapness of green fruits. Nominal quotations for gallon apples are $1.85. There is a fair demand for butter and string beans at 80c. New corn is offered at 70 to 80c. New tomatoes are selling at 75 to 80c. Lobsters are reported scarce, flats selling at $9.75 to $10 per case and talls at $7.50 to $8 in a jobbing way. Canadian canned beef, 1's, is in fair demand at $1.25.

The steamer with supplies of dried fruits is expected here from the Mediterranean about the 25th inst. with supplies for our Halifax houses. French prunes, new arrivals, are quoted to-day at 6c., which is rather high for the trade.

The flour market continues much the same as last week. Dealers are still selling stocks secured before the advance. The volume of business is not large. Quotations are: "Ogilvies" or "Five Roses," $4.90; Ontario-made Manitobas, in wood, $4.10 to $4.20; Manitoba shipments, in sacks, $4.20 to $4.30; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $4.20 to $4.40; 80 per cent. patents, $3.95 to $4.10; 90 p.c. patent, $3.85 to $3.90; low grades, $3.35 to $3.50; oatmeal and rolled oats, $2.95 to $3.10; cornmeal, $1.95 to $2; middlings, per ton, $16 to $17.50; shorts, $15 to $16.50; bran, per ton, $15 to $15.50; white oats, per bushel, in sacks, 30c.; cottonseed meal, per ton, $22 to $23; oilcake meal, per ton, $22 to $23; hay, per ton, $11 to $11.50; split peas, $3.15; pot barley, $3.50; white beans, per bush., 95c.

P. E. Island produce vessels are beginning to arrive. The potato crop on the Island is not an average one, but the quality is good. Oats sell on the Island at 20 to 21c. per bush. Potatoes sell from vessels here from 25 to 30c. per bush., and oats at 28 to 29c. Turnips are worth from 20 to 25c. per bush., and carrots $1 to $1.15 per bbl.

There is still considerable doing in green fruits. Apples are a drug on the market. Winter pears sell at $5 to $6 per bbl.; Canadian grapes, in 10-lb. baskets sell at 25c.; cranberries are worth $5 per bbl.; repacked Jamaica oranges are now selling at $6 to $6.50 per bbl.; lemons are scarce and sell at $4.50 per case; California peaches are offered at $1.50 per bag of 15 lbs.; Canadian onions are sold at 1½c. in 5-bbl. lots; bananas are unchanged at $1.75 to $2.25.

The fish business continues good. The advance in salmon is still maintained. Some small supplies of mackerel have been received, but prices are unchanged. Grocery cod are firm and fat herrings scarce. Quotations are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50 large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.25; Labrador, $2 to $2.55; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.25; Bay of Islands herrings, $1.25; Labrador, No. 1, $5; do., No. 2, $3.50; No. 1, large, fat shore, $3.25 to $4; alewives, $3; mackerel, No. 3, large, $8 to $8.50; No. 3, fat, $10; No. 2, fat, $11.50; No. 1, fat, $13; salmon, No. 1, $16; No. 2, $13; No. 3, $11.

The provision market is in a healthful condition. P. E. Island mess pork is quoted at $13, but can be bought for less. Chicago mess is quoted at $13.50. Canadian plate beef is worth $10, and American $12.75 to $13.

There is no change in the sugar market. The demand is fairly good on local account. Best quality of granulated is now offered from second hands at 4c. and yellows at 3⅞c.

Poultry is coming in freely and is meeting with good demand. Geese sell from 65 to 90c.; chickens from 45 to 50c., and turkeys 13c. per lb.

HELPING THE ENGLISH FARMER.

Canada and her rivals, remarks The Canadian Gazette, have owed not a little of their success in British produce markets to the heavy freight charges which have kept the British farmer further from his home markets than if the Atlantic were between them. A year or so ago a group of Devonshire farmers scoffed when a Londoner suggested to them the possibilities of a trade with London in Devonshire eggs and bacon; the railway companies would, they declared, swallow up more than the profit on any such traffic. But things are changing now. The Great Eastern Railway Co. led the way, and now the Midland and Great Northern Railways have adopted the following scale of rates for the conveyance of poultry, butter, eggs, fruit, vegetables and farm produce by passenger train from all the stations on the joint line to London, to include delivery within the usual limits: For any weight up to 20 lbs., 4d.; for every additional 5 lbs. over that weight up to 60 lbs., 1d. For the convenience of the public, the companies are arranging to supply boxes at their stations at a very small charge in order to facilitate the working of the scheme, and no effort, it is announced, will be spared to ensure safe and quick transit with prompt deliveries.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Percy Eby, of the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., who about six weeks ago underwent an operation at the General Hospital, is again back to business.

By advertisement in another column it will be seen that D. E. Scott, of Port Hope, will offer his long-established business for sale on the 29th inst., and will retire from the grocery trade.

Kane & Kane, of Orillia, are settled in their new store. It is nearly opposite the Orillia House, and is an adornment to the town. Mr. Charles Kane has unfortunately since broken his leg.

The mechanical journal can least of all afford to dwell too long or too lovingly upon what has been. Its engrossing business is with what is and with what is immediately coming; and dealing with these it must, of course, change continually. The topics of a generation ago, and the new practices which could be urged with force and seriousness then, could not be so treated to-day without incurring the reproach of advancing senility. A half a generation ago the things that so largely occupy the thoughts and employ the hands of mechanics of to-day had not come into prominence. Electricity, compressed air, the bicycle and the horseless carriage must be spoken of now, for they are the facts of the time. To say that we have changed and that we are not as we were in our infancy is only to say that we grow, and there is no higher praise for us. To continue always as we are and as we were is possible only for the dead.

THE BUSINESS MEN'S PRAYER.

THE present Administration at Ottawa was put into office by the business men of this country because the Administration which had preceded it had during the last few years been neglecting the business interests of the country and had turned a deaf year to the merchants and manufacturers of the Dominion when they desired to point them out a better way, preferring rather to accept and act upon the advice of the professional politician of the ward-heeler type, the end of which was death.

One of the planks of the platform on which the present Administration floated into power was tariff revision. Most people realized that the tariff needed readjustment. They did not want a radical change; they merely desired to have the anomalies removed. And Mr. Laurier, in his pro-election speeches, promised this, and since coming into power he has reiterated it. But there is still one thing lacking.

No matter whether the revision is expected to be radical or moderate, the very knowledge that changes are to be made, of whose nature nothing positively is known, creates uncertainty. And following upon the heels of uncertainty comes business apathy.

A great deal of the business of Canada, as well as that of every other civilized country, is based on contracts made months ahead. This is specially so in goods bought for import and in goods contracted for with the factories. It is obvious, therefore, that anything which tends to cast any uncertainty about prices three, six or twelve months hence must be a deterrent upon trade.

If the goods which are ordered to-day for delivery six months hence were to be sold then, not now, the uncertainty would not be a matter of such importance, but the trouble is that this is not always the case. Importers order goods to-day which will not, and cannot, be delivered for some months, but yet to-morrow travelers are out booking orders. If there is no tariff revision in contemplation it is an easy matter to figure out the cost, but the contrary is the fact when it is known that within a few months the tariff will be changed. Then not only is the importer in a quandary, but the retailer who buys from him is in a similar position. The result is partial paralysis of business. We are in this position in Canada to-day. Trade is improving, but that in spite of the fact that people are buying with fear and trembling, and only in a hand-to-mouth way in order to keep the body and soul of trade together.

No diagnosis is necessary to discover what is preventing trade from moving as freely as it otherwise would. He who runs may read what it is.

It is obvious then that all that is necessary is to remove the cause of the uncertainty. This none but the Government can do. It is the only physician. It is not asked to declare there shall be no tariff revision. There are anomalies in the tariff which must be removed if the trade of the conntry is not to be hampered.

The remedy is a simple one. It is that the Government shall declare that whatever changes may be made they shall not go into effect until six or more months from the date of the adoption of the Act authorizing them. THE CANADIAN GROCER has been urging this for some months, and the various Boards of Trade throughout the country have been passing resolutions praying for the same thing, but so far without effect. The Government have not, like Baal, the god of the Phœnicians, gone hunting that they have not been reached by these prayers, but still the desired answer is not forthcoming.

The Government should speak now. Some months hence, when the tariff is under consideration, will be too late.

We sincerely believe that the Government are desirous of avoiding the pitfalls of predecessors. And, probably, the reason that it has not yet complied with the wishes of the business men of the country representing different branches of trade and commerce, is that there is no Canadian precedent for such a thing. It was contrary to precedent for Lord Aberdeen to refuse to approve of the orders-in-council of the Tupper Cabinet in its dying hours, but he did refuse, and rightly so. Precedents should be given to the winds when they conflict with common sense or justice.

Common sense and justice demand that the request of the business men of the country regarding the tariff should be complied with. The late Government ran amuck of the business men by refusing to accept what they prescribed for the well-being of the country. It is to be hoped the present Government will not do the same.

ANOTHER ADVANCE IN VALENCIA RAISINS.

The strength of the market for Valencia raisins has been accentuated during the past week rather than relaxed.

A cable received in Toronto this week advises that there has been a further appreciation in prices of 1s. per cwt.

But that is not the only strong feature of the market; the same cable also brought the intelligence that the supplies are beginning to fall off.

If this be true, it means that in a very short time there will be no stocks left in Denia.

This information is quite in keeping with the statistical position, the present crop being only 1,400,000 boxes, or 22 per cent. less than that of last year, the smallest since 1873.

The fruit ex ss. Avlona reached the warehouses in Toronto on Tuesday, and the wholesalers are not at all inclined to push business in Valencia raisins in view of the strong position of the market.

TAPIOCA ADVANCING.

The tapioca market has been attracting a good deal of attention during the past week or two. The cause is the strength which it has assumed lately, there having been an advance of 9d. per cwt. from the lowest point.

Tapioca is one of those commodities which for some time had been gradually tending downward. Three weeks or a month ago tapioca was laid down in Toronto at about 2½c. per pound duty paid. That this netted the producer very little when the bag, freight and cost of handling is included is obvious. Within the last week or two values have appreciated from ⅜ to ½c. per pound, but notwithstanding this, quotations are still about 1s. per cwt. below those of last year at this time.

The present is looked upon as being a good time to purchase tapioca.

CURRANTS STILL ADVANCING.

Currants are still advancing. On Monday a cable received in Toronto quoted prices 9d. per cwt. higher, making a total gain of 2s. 3d. for the week ending that day.

Although the market has appreciated so much lately, it is still the general opinion that values are not yet beyond a point where they cannot be termed moderate. During the last few years the condition of the currant grower has been most deplorable, he having been compelled to accept prices for his product which in some instances did not even remunerate him for the time and money expended in harvesting the fruit.

With the market as it is to-day, it is conceded that the grower is now in a position to obtain a fair return for his labor, which is something he has not for some years been able to do.

From our English exchanges we gather that the market there is exceedingly strong for all descriptions of currants and that a satisfactory business has been doing at gradually widening prices.

FIRMNESS OF DRIED FRUIT.

THE course of values on all kinds of imported dried fruits this fall has been unusually strong. This fact has been noted from time to time, and it never had more striking exemplification than during the past four or five days in Montreal.

The ss. Avlona arrived in that port on Tuesday last, and inside of four days nearly every box she carried on consignment was sold. As she carried 41,000 boxes of Valencia raisins and 7,000 boxes of currants, of which possibly two-thirds had been sold to arrive, the extent of business done in the past six days or so can easily be imagined.

Commission men state that it was one of the quickest turnovers in their experience. As a consequence of this strong demand, there is hardly any stock in first hands, and large offers have been cabled without as yet eliciting any replies. The ss. Bellona's cargo also, which vessel is due at Montreal in November, is mostly all sold to arrive, and very little of it will be offered here. In fact the offering of Valencia raisins direct on commission this year will be much lighter than usual.

This hunger for fruit, as compared with previous years, is due to the firm position at all sources of supply. Cables were submitted this week to Denia from Montreal, offering 14, 16, 19 and 21s. for the four grades, but agents will not be surprised if they are refused. As a consequence of this condition of affairs, the jobbing values on Valencia fruit have been marked up fully ½c. per pound, and may go higher before the beginning of next week.

California raisins are even a more striking example than Valencias. Early in August THE CANADIAN GROCER gave some opinions on this matter. They were disputed since then several times, and as prices at first opened low on the Coast, it was set down that they were wrong. Within the past week, however, there has been an entire change of view. Advices this week estimated that the output would be fully 1,500 cars short and prices advanced at a jump 1c. per pound in New York and Chicago. The change is chiefly attributed to the sudden demand which has been experienced from Chicago and St. Louis buyers, who held off much longer than usual.

To-day prices asked on the Coast are fully ¾ to 1c. higher than the opening figures, and to lay down any fruit in Canada would certainly cost that much more. In fact, Montreal jobbers who this week received their first shipments of 2 and 3-crown fruit marked up their quotations 1c. per pound all round, as noted in the regular market report. Whether Californias will advance much higher is doubtful.

As they stand at present, 3-crown loose muscatels are dearer than Valencia layers, and when this is the case the consumption in eastern markets centres on the latter.

Prunes and currants are equally as strong as raisins, advices from France, Austria, California and Greece on all of them being very strong in tone.

WAY TO PACK APPLES.

IT is now a well established fact that choice Canadian apples are as palatable a fruit as there is offered on the English market. At the same time, complaints are frequent of the condition in which a large percentage of them arrives at Liverpool and other British ports. This is due to the method of packing, in which very little advance has been made.

Goods sent across the Atlantic are certain to get knocked about, more or less, on the voyage across, no matter what the weather conditions may be. This militates against such a delicate fruit as apples, but surely our shippers can adopt some system which will avoid this.

When they are packed in bulk in barrels the chances are against any shipment arriving in perfect condition, and a suggestion is made in this connection that is worthy of consideration. It has been tried already with encouraging results by a well-known orchard, and others might at least give it a chance.

It is to wrap the fruit up in paper to keep the skin sound, and ship in boxes separated like our egg cases. The extra expense entailed would be inconsiderable, and if the fruit arrived without being bruised it would undoubtedly have a quicker sale and at better prices than if half were ground to pulp, as is often the case under the present system. At any rate, the experiment is worthy of a trial.

HAS SUGAR TOUCHED BOTTOM?

IT is still a matter of uncertainty whether refiners' prices on sugar have touched bottom or not. No further shading has been recorded since the recent decline, but there have been circumstances noticeable that create uneasiness. A cargo of raw material, for instance, was offered last week at Montreal for a figure which meant $100,000 less than it cost. It was argued that the seller could not be very sanguine of the future or he would not submit to such a loss. But admitting the heavy feeling, it seems unnatural to expect values to go much lower.

If they have not touched bottom now they must be very near it. Beet has gone down in London as low as 8s. 9d., which is within 3d. of the record low price, and the Canadian market on refined has steadily declined ever since the beginning of June, the total decline being fully 1c. per pound. Granulated sold during the early part of the year at 4¾c. at the refineries.

Since the general elections, refiners have shown a persistent disposition to carry small stocks, and prices have sagged off, until a buyer can fill his wants to-day at the refinery for 3¾ to 3⅞c. This is ¼c. per pound below the equivalent quotation in New York, in fact our prices have been so for over two years, and the expectation of many that the imposition of the duty on raw material would materially advance the refined article to the Canadian consumer has been disproved.

The difference between the highest average price since the duty was imposed and that ruling previously, has been very slight. As a matter of fact, refined sugar for the greater part of the time has been cheaper since the change.

During the greater part of 1894 and in 1895, until the new duty was anticipated, sugar at the refineries ruled at 4½c. on granulated and 3½ to 4c. on yellows. In 1895, just before Mr. Foster brought down his Budget, it had dropped to 3¼c. on granulated and 2½ to 3c. on yellows. After the change values advanced for a short time, but never got above 4¼c. for granulated and 3¼ to 4c. for yellows until Jan., 1896. During that month, owing to special conditions which are well known, prices advanced sharply, and at one time a 5c. market was predicted. This expectation was never fulfilled, but during the first five months of the present year sugar values ruled at 4⅝ to 4¾c. on granulated and 3¾ to 4¼c. on yellows until the decline already noted set in.

It will be seen, therefore, that for the greater portion of the period since the duty on raw was imposed the first cost of refined sugar has been actually lower than it was while raw material was free. It is not likely either, even admitting that it does recover somewhat, to go back to this summer's high level, until the outlook for the future, in regard to fiscal changes, is more definite.

Some people are bold enough to state that sugar will be one of the articles untouched, as the Government, wanting a revenue, will have to tax necessities, but this is problematical, and while matters are in this position refiners will not carry large stocks.

WINTER FREIGHTS.

THE determination of both the big railways to impose winter freights after November 2, this year, has caused keen indignation in Montreal.

This question of winter freights and the date of their imposition causes talk every fall, but the sudden action of the companies this fall in advancing the rate is considered by the trade generally as entirely inexcusable. Accordingly, at a special meeting of the Board of Trade, the following resolutions were adopted :

That this meeting greatly regrets the action of the Grand Trunk Railway Co. and the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. in giving notice that their winter freight rates will become effective on 2nd November, merchants and manufacturers being generally agreed that the increase of freight rates at that early date would involve serious interference and hindrance to the business and trade of this city :

That contracts have been made for the delivery of goods, based upon the present railway freight rates, and that some of these goods are due to arrive in Montreal by steamers leaving Liverpool and other transatlantic ports as late as the first week of November, and that if the railway freight rates be advanced on the date announced, the Montreal importers will suffer loss:

That in the United States the railway companies make no distinction between summer and winter freight rates, the same rate prevailing throughout the year, to the great advantage of the business communities of that country ;

That this meeting therefore asks :

1. That the Grand Trunk Railway Co. and the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. will withdraw their joint notice making winter freight rates effective on November 2nd, and prolong the present rates until November 19th, inclusive, or until the close of navigation ; and

2. That both railway companies will consider, with a view to its adoption in Canada, the United States system of the same freight rates in summer and winter, it being believed that settled freight rates throughout the year would greatly facilitate the general business of this city.

Strong speeches were made in support of the resolution by J. A. Crathern, of Crathern & Caverhill; J. G. Wilson, of Thos. Robertson & Co.; T. Fairman, of the Dominion Wire Co.; J. B. Learmont, of Caverhill, Learmont & Co., and Wm. McMaster, president of the Montreal Rolling Mills.

Whether anything will result from the meeting is uncertain. Previously the date of the change has been the 15th, and two years ago it was not until the 20th. There can be no question that the date is rather early, for inland navigation does not close until the end of November, so that with railway freights on the winter basis after the first, shippers will certainly, when it is possible, patronize the water carriers.

It is difficult, with this fact in view to understand the action of the railway companies. That it will restrict business at Montreal is certain. Jobbers there will not be inclined to do business from stocks in store, but will likely follow the course they pursue in the winter time, when it is a case of absolute necessity to ship by rail, that is, order the goods abroad and ship on a pro rate from Liverpool. The railways, therefore, will lose a certain percentage of business if they stick to their decision.

PEEK FREAN & CO.'S REPRESENTATIVE.

MR. EDWARD PETTER, of Peek Frean & Co., biscuit manufacturers, London, Eng., is now on a visit to Canada. He joined their staff 40 years ago, selling the first biscuits they ever made, and has been with them ever since. THE GROCER has often expressed regret that in Canada we have not more men or firms like these. Firms here do not encourage young men to remain in their service as they should, and young men often do not give them a reason to do so. Too frequently in Canada our great aim is to get into business on our own account instead of seeking to make ourselves indespensable to our firms and eventually perhaps getting a partnership. Whether we secure a partnership or not, the majority of us will find ourselves much better off in our declining years than if we went into business—with its worries and few prizes—on our own account.

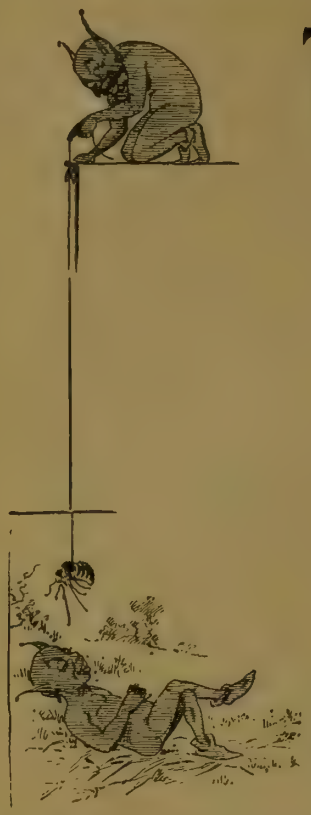
Mr. Petter, even after his forty years service, has far more energy and vim and looks far more robust in health than the great majority of our business men who have only seen two-thirds his years.

CALIFORNIA RAISINS.

FOR a week past there has been a steady upward movement in the price of California raisins. The spot supply in first hands has long since been exhausted, and, as it is generally understood that the policy of consigning, which had such an unsettling influence upon the market last year, would not be followed this season, both local and out-of-town distributors have sent in quite liberal orders for early shipment from the Coast. They have been influenced largely in this action by the small available supply of old goods, and the reports that the new crop would be not much more than half of that harvested last year.

Orders for October-November shipment during the past week have been numerous, but comparatively few of them have gone through for the reason that the Coast market has been advancing so rapidly that when buyers finally made up their minds to accept the terms of the California sellers they have found in most cases that they were too late and their offers turned down. Every telegram from California for several days past making quotations has contained the clause "subject to immediate confirmation," and any delay in the completion of the sale at this end has almost invariably resulted in its rejection by the California people, who are thoroughly impressed with the idea that their product will eventually bring more than the best figures offered by buyers so far. Since Monday there has been an advance of about ⅜c. on three crowns, which form the bulk of the supply, and in which most of the business has been done thus far this season. California to-day appear to be less interested in filling orders from the East than it was a week ago on account of the outside demand from the West and other sections, which has been developed within the past few days, and which, according to telegraphic advices, has caused an active and excited market there. The Western buyers have withheld orders until the present time, because, it is said, they believed prices would be more favorable to them later, but finding the market still going up, although the season is well advanced, they are now coming in and buying freely, according to reports received here.

The crops of raisins in California for five years have been as follows :



Year.	Boxes.	Pounds.
1891	2,600,000	52,000,000
1892	2,850,000	57,000,000
1893	4,250,000	95,000,000
1894	5,150,000	103,000,000
1895	4,568,000	91,360,000

The crop of 1896 is estimated at not more than 60 per cent. of that of 1895.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

STOCKS OF DRIED APRICOTS AND PEACHES.

A San Francisco letter dated Oct. 12th says of apricots : "We think a conservative estimate of the stock to-day in the state is about 75 cars, principally in second hands, the vast bulk of the goods having passed out of the control of the growers. With this very light stock we have no doubt that values will be sustained, if not further advanced." Concerning peaches the same writer says : "About 60 per cent. of the crop has been already moved. There are something like 200 cars left. Strictly choice to fancy are very scarce and difficult to obtain at any price."

The grocers of Plainfield, N.J., closed their stores at 6 o'clock each evening two weeks ago because the State convention of the Christian Endeavor Society was being held in that city. The merchants should now form an Endeavor-to-Close-Early Society.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE condition of the wholesale grocery trade of Toronto is, on the whole, better than it was a week ago, both as regards volume of business and prices. Canned vegetables are experiencing an improved demand and there does not appear to be the same want of confidence in regard to prices as there was. Canned salmon remains in much about the same condition as a week ago. The same may be said in regard to coffees. There is a fair business doing in molasses, but syrups are quiet. The week has opened out with a little better feeling in regard to sugars owing to a slight improvement in the London market. The local demand is fair at unchanged prices. The spice trade is fairly active for the season, with the tendency of prices upward. The most interesting feature of the grocery trade is the increased strength of the market for foreign dried fruits, Valencia raisins, currants, figs and prunes being all higher in the primary market. The fruit ex ss. Avlona is now on the market and the demand is good. The position of the tea market continues satisfactory.

CANNED GOODS.

The general report of the wholesalers in regard to tomatoes, peas and corn is that the demand during the past week has improved, the feeling being that prices have about reached bottom. The buying, however, is still only limited, but wholesalers are not as anxious sellers as they were. Salmon appears to be in much the same position as before, both here and on the Coast. We quote best brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 70c.; corn, 55c. for old and 60 to 65c. for new; peas, 60 to 65c. for ordinary; sifted select, 95c.; extra sifted, $1.35 to $1.45; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2.20 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2.00 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.40 to $1.45; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.65 to $2.70; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE.

The estimates of the Brazilian crop have been enlarged by 500,000 bags, while the stocks in Santos have increased. This has had the effect of imparting an easier tone to the market. Locally there is no change to note. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is not much doing. We quote: Dark, 28 to 31c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The demand is fairly active. Receipts of molasses at New Orleans are small, but as there is a large crop and supplies are likely to materially increase, prices are showing a disposition to hold off. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; ditto, half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market is characterised by a more confident tone this week. Last week there was an advance of 3d. in London, and this week opened out with a further gain, on Monday there being an advance of 1½d. Refined declined ⅛c. last week in New York, but there is a steadier feeling there, notwithstanding Licht's latest estimate of a 4,960,000 beet crop, the refiners in the United States seeming to doubt the correctness of the estimate. The American refiners are buying raws of 96 test at 3c., but there are no large transactions, although the refiners are busy filling old orders. This naturally tends to steady prices. In Canada a better feeling also obtains, and the refineries do not appear to be as anxious to push business as they were. Wholesalers' quotations are: 3.95 to 4c. for granulated, and 3 to 3⅝c. for yellows

SPICES.

The spice market generally is firm. The Cochin China ginger crop is reported to be a total failure. Prices in both white and black pepper are advancing. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, ETC.

Tapioca is much stronger, prices having advanced 9d. from the lowest point. Japan rice is also advancing. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

Jordan shelled almonds are easier in the outside markets and Brazil nuts firmer. Locally there is nothing new to note. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c. Chestnuts, $3 to $3.25 per bushel in small lots, with larger quantities being shaded; hickory nuts, $1.75 to $2 per bushel.

TEAS.

The situation is still strong. Ceylon teas of Pekoe leaf are up fully 3 to 4c. per lb. from the lowest point. All last autumn's teas of Indian growth are sold, and prices for the incoming teas, which will not be here till the latter part of January, of this description are from 1 to 1½c. per lb. higher than a year ago. Shippers' representatives on the Toronto market report that on account of the high price of Ceylon tea, those of Indian growth are receiving a little more attention. All spot Japans at from 13 to 16c. are said to have been sold, while the enquiry for teas ranging from 14 to 15½c. is good. Japan is asking from 1 to 2c. higher than three weeks ago. Fine China Monings are scarce on spot, while Foochow teas, in Panyongs and Pekoe Souchongs, there are none offering in first hands. Advices from Shanghai state that supplies of green teas are short and prices advancing. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Private cables this week announce another advance of 1s. per cwt. in the price of Valencia raisins, and that supplies are beginning to fall off. The first direct shipment ex ss. Avlona reached the warehouses of the trade in Toronto this week. The demand locally continues good with prices firm. We quote: Off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c.; layers, 6¾c.

Currants were on Monday cabled another 9d. dearer, making a total advance of 2s. 3d. for the week. The local demand continues good. We still quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4⅜c.; do., half-bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c.; ditto, half-cases, 5 to 5⅛c.; Patras, 4¾ to 5c. in bbls., 4⅞ to 5⅛c. in half-bbls and 4⅞ to 5½c. in cases; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.

Bosnia prunes, according to cable advices, have again advanced in the lower grades. There has been a sharp advance in California prunes, and a further appreciation is anticipated by shippers on the Coast. We quote nominally as follows: Bosnias, "Sphinx" brand, "A," 65 to lb. 9c.; "B," 75 to lb. 7¾c.; "U," 102 to lb., 6 to 6½c.; California prunes, 30-40, 11 to 12c.; 40-50, 9 to 10c. per lb.; 50-60, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.; 60-70, 8 to 9c.; 70-80, 8 to 8½c. per lb.; 80-90, 7¼ to 7½c.; 90-100, 6½ to 7c.; 110-120, 5½ to 6c.; Bohemian, 3½ to 4c.; French, 5½ to 6½c.

Advices from the Coast regarding California loose muscatel raisins state that the orders placed f.o.b. have been so large that at least some of the shippers have been unable to consign any fruit to Canada yet. Peaches have advanced on the Coast, and buying has been freer for shipment east.

Figs are advised to be 4s. up from the price at which the bulk of the crop was shipped. A private letter received on Tuesday stated that many of the packers in Smyrna had closed their stores owing to limited stocks and the prohibitory prices which were being asked. Locally there is not much doing. We quote: 14 oz., 11c.; 10 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 18 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 28 lb., 12½ to 16c.; taps, 4 to 5½c. The quality of the fruit is good.

The market for Sultana raisins continues strong at 7½ to 10½c.

Malaga raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote this fruit as follows: London layers, $2.20; black baskets, $2.75; blue baskets, $3.25; choice clusters, $3.25; Dehesas, $3.75.

GREEN FRUIT.

The demand for oranges for this time of the year is active. Prices are much about as they were before. There is an ample supply of lemons and the demand is good. The first shipment of Malaga lemons for the season is on the market this week. The demand for cranberries continues good. Pears and grapes are still coming forward. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, fancy, $4.25 to $5 per box; choice, $3.75 to $4; barrels, $7. Lemons—Verdilli, $2 to $3.50 for 360's; $3.75 to $4.25 for 300's; Maoris, $5.50 to $6 per box; Malagas, $8.50 per half-chest; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2.25 per bbl.; apples, $1 to $1.25 for good packed stock; pears, 30 to 40c. per basket and $2.50 to $3.50 per barrel for ordinary; 50 to 70c. for Flemish Beauty and Bartletts; grapes, Concords, 1¼ to 1¾c. per lb.; Niagaras and Rogers, 1½ to 2c.; onions, 60 to 70c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; Cape Cod cranberries, $6 to $6.75 per bbl. and $2.50 to $2.65 per crate, and Canadian cranberries, $5 to $6 per bbl.; quinces, 30 to 40c. per basket.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a great deal of butter coming forward, but the percentage of really good butter is small, although enough to supply the demand. Large rolls are now beginning to come upon the market. There have been further transactions in low-grade butter at from 7½ to 8c. Creamery butter of all kinds is quiet. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c. 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The high prices are interfering somewhat with the demand. We quote: August make, 10c.; September, 10½ to 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

BEANS—The market is strong and higher, but there is no demand. Choice beans are quoted at from 90 to 95c. per bushel, and as high as $1 is being asked for small lots.

DRIED APPLES—The market is dull, with 2½c. as the idea for jobbing price.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is no demand, and 4c. is practically a nominal quotation for jobbing lots.

EGGS—The demand continues good, with prices much as before. We quote: Fresh gathered, 15c.; cold storage, 13 to 14c.; pickled, 13c.

HONEY—Very little doing. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 7½ to 8c. in 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

POTATOES—Dull and weak. Carloads on track are quoted at 30c. per bag, and small lots out of store at 40c. delivered.

POULTRY—There is not much doing yet. We quote: Turkeys, 8c. per lb.; ducks, 60c. per pair; geese, 5½c. per lb.; chickens, 30 to 40c. per pair.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Since the price of provisions has been advancing buyers have been holding off, but still there is a fair enquiry. Dressed hogs are in much about the same position as a week ago. Prices obtainable are: $5 to $5.10 for select weights of 110 to 150 lbs., with heavier weights worth 50c. per 100 lbs. less.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c.; small hams, 11 to 11½c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD— Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½c.; tubs, 6¾c.; pails, 7c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

White fish is scarce, but of all other kinds there is quite enough to supply the demand. A further decline of 5c. per gallon is to be noted in the price of oysters. We quote: White fish, 7½c.; trout, 6½c.; haddies, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $3.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4½c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

SALT.

The packers have yet scarcely begun operations, but still business in salt is fairly good. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

The movement of alsike has been greatly curtailed during the past week owing to the bulk of the earlier threshing having been marketed. The market has been firm; in fact, prices have advanced a little. Fine qualities are quoted at $5 to $5.50 at outside points and lower grades at proportionately less figures of from $4 upwards. Timothy seed is not moving to any extent in Canada yet, and prices are nominally $1.20 to $1.50 per bush. to growers. Red clover, somewhat in sympathy with alsike, is commanding little better figures than it was some time ago, the quotation now being $5.20 to $5.40 f.o.b. point of shipment.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Street deliveries are light, the higher prices having induced farmers to hold. Quotations are much higher than a week ago. We quote: White wheat, 82c.; red, 81c.; goose, 59c.; oats, 26 to 26½c.; peas, 43 to 47c.

FLOUR—In sympathy with the wheat market, is active and prices higher. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.05; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.65; Ontario patents, $4.50 to $5.00. Straight roller is about $4.25, Toronto freights.

BALED HAY—Quiet at $11 for No. 1, and $9.50 for No. 2.

BREAKFAST FOODS — There have been two advances during the past week in the price of oatmeal. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.20 in bags and $3.30 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls. cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

PETROLEUM.

Business is good in illuminating oils and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Alsike seed is dearer.

Oatmeal has again advaced.

Beans are firmer on the Toronto market.

The Cochin China crop of ginger is a failure.

Sugar advanced 1½d. in London on Monday.

Tapioca has advanced about 9d. per cwt. during the past three weeks.

There has been another decline of 5c. per gallon in the price of oysters.

There has been another advance in the smaller sizes of Turkish prunes.

Figs are up 4s. from the point at which the bulk of the crop was shipped.

New season's Malaga lemons in half-chests are on the Toronto market this week.

The first carload of this season's crop of California oranges was shipped on Monday to Chicago from Los Angeles, four weeks earlier than ever before.

A cable to P. L. Mason & Co. announces a further advance of 1s. per cwt. in Valencia raisins and another advance of 9d. in currants.

The new crops of molasses and syrups are beginning to arrive at New Orleans, where small sales are making for some lines at easier prices as the supplies increase.

Advices to C. H. Anderson, of Toronto, state that large sales of Indian tea have taken place, and that the medium and higher grades are easier, with the lower grades up to 6½d. stiff in price. He is also advised that green teas are advancing in Shanghai.

OUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Oct. 22, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE prominent interesting fact of the week has been the excitement and strength of the dried fruit market. The first direct steamer with Valencia raisins arrived this week, and the demand was so great that her entire cargo had been turned over from first hands inside of four days at the outside, a thing almost unheard of in the trade. Cables still show an advancing tendency at primary points, and as a result of this jobbers' prices are considerably higher on Valencias this week than last. The same, if not more, strength is exhibited by California raisins, while currants point higher, though not quotably changed. The strength already noted in prunes is accentuated this week, in fact, the entire dried fruit market is strong and excited. In other staple lines nothing striking is to report. Sugar still displays more or less of an unsettled tendency, while a fair degree of activity has been maintained in tea. Jobbers also have done some purchasing of canned B.C. salmon in a moderate way.

SUGAR.

The sugar market continues quiet and rather steadier than it was, but the volume of orders is not increased. In New York prices have ruled firmer on both raw and refined, but the fact has little influence on this side. Briefly, the general idea is to keep stocks in as small a compass as possible consistent with actual requirements. Jobbers'

. . CAUTION . .

DRIED APPLES will be almost unsaleable this year unless the Farmers and Merchants give the strictest attention to CUT, COLOR and CONDITION. Requirements are LARGE QUARTER-CUT FRUIT, BRIGHT COLOR and DRY. DISCOURAGE all SMALL-SLICED and CHIPPY stock. POSITIVELY REJECT everything DARK, BURNT or WET.

With careful attention given to these requirements there is hope for a considerable trade at vastly higher prices than the U.S. fruit returns; by neglecting them, Canadian fruit will be reduced to the U.S. level in quality and price.

WHOLESALE IMPORTING AND MANUFACTURING GROCERS

TORONTO - CANADA

prices are more settled than they were last week. We quote: Granulated, 4c., and yellows, 2⅞ to 3½c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

Business continues quiet in syrups, and the volume of trade is confined closely to actual wants. We quote 1½ to 2¾c. per lb., as to quality.

MOLASSES.

There has been a fair trade in molasses, quite a few 25 and 50-puncheon lots of Barbadoes selling at 27½ to 28c., and choice Porto Rico at 28c. These prices are low, and early purchases of Barbadoes show a loss of 2 to 3c. per gallon. In a jobbing way we quote 30 to 31c.

RICE.

There is a fair demand for rice for the season and prices are steadily held. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

The strong feeling in pepper noted last week continues, and private advices from London indicate a still higher range of prices. On spot demand is fairly active for all lines. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There has been no material change in the coffee market. Demand is limited to the smallest jobbing movement necessitated to cover immediate wants. Values rule fairly steady as follows: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 18c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

The firm feeling in teas noted last week is maintained, in fact has been strengthened by the advance in New York and Chicago of 1 to 2c. per lb. Demand is fair for all grades of Japans and Gunpowders. Among the round lots of the former that have changed hands have been 500 half chests at 16c. About 300 packages of Young Hyson passed from one jobber to another at 9c.; also 300 of Pak Ling at 10c. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grade; Japans, 12 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The first direct shipments of Valencia raisins arrived here this week, and, as specially noted elsewhere, the market was an active and excited one. At this writing all the entire cargo has been distributed from first hands at an advance of fully 1c. per lb. on what prices opened at this season. Consequently jobbing values are firm and higher at a gain of ¼ to ½c. per lb. on last week, according to grade. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 4¾ to 5c.; fine do, 5¼ to 5¾c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6½ to 6¾c.

The California raisin market has also dissapointed the expectations of those who looked for lower prices, values advancing 1c. at a single jump in New York recently, and it costs an advance of ¾c. to 1c. per pound now to place fresh orders. The first arrivals of several carloads of new crop 2 and 3-crown fruit were distributed to the jobbing trade this week. In consequence of the above advance jobbers are asking an advance of fully 1c. per pound over last week. We now quote: 2-crown, 5¾ to 6c.; 3-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; and 4-crown 7½ to 8c.

The firm feeling in currants is equally marked and values, though not quotably changed here, point upward. On Vostizzas, in fact, jobbers already ask an advance on the higher grades. We quote: Filiatras, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c. Fine provincials are worth about ⅜ of a cent a pound more; Patras, 5¼ to 5¾c., and Vostizzas, 6¼ to 7½c.

Cables on both French and Austrian prunes this week were higher. The former are now 2s. up from the opening price, and the latter 9d. to 1s. This continued strength has, of course, stiffened the spot market, though there is no quotable change to report. Values range: French, 5 to 6c.; Austrian, 6 to 6½c., and California, 10 to 11c.

Evaporated California apricots are advised higher on the Coast, and jobbers could not lay any down now for less than 12½ to 15c. Peaches also have gone up fully 2c. from the opening price, and could not be imported for less than 9c.

The first arrivals of new figs in skeleton cases were offered on this market Monday. They are selling at 10 to 14c. Bag figs are offering at 6 to 6½c.

NUTS.

In nuts pecans have advanced outside and are held here firm at 12c. Tarragona almonds range from 11 to 12c.; filberts, 8 to 10c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 21c.; shelled almonds, 18 to 20c.; peanuts, 6 to 8c., and shelled do., 8 to 10c.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change since last week. Jobbers have been buying some salmon, about 1,000 cases having been placed on the basis $4.25 f.o.b. Coast. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in green fruit. We quote: Oranges at $5.50 to $6 per bbl. for Jamaica; lemons, $3 per box.; Bananas, 50c. to $1 per bunch; pears, 30 to 40c. per basket, and $2 to $2.50 per keg; grapes, 14 to 17c., and California Tokays $1.75 to $2.

APPLES—This market continues strong, with a higher tendency, if anything. Liverpool cables report that buyers are gaining confidence, as the cargoes of the steamers Lake Huron, Numidian and Labrador are landing in good condition. Baldwins, Greenings and Russets are selling mostly at 8s. to 10s., and Kings up to 12s. 6d. for tight barrels, whilst on account of the large number of fall apples still on the market, which are selling at low prices, the average price of all Canadian fruit offered to-day was only 8s. 6d. Glasgow cable reads rather better than Liverpool, and predicts better prices in view of the Hallowe'en demand. The shipments from Montreal show no sign of decreasing. On spot values are held firm, especially on Baldwins, for which $2 was refused. We quote a range of $1 for fall to $1.75 to $2 for winter.

FISH.

The pickled fish market remains in much the same position as it was a week ago. The only feature in the trade worth noting has been the demand for Nova Scotia herrings, and some large sales have been made, some in carloads being disposed of. In a jobbing way they are offering at $5 per barrel, and at $2.75 to $3 in half-barrels. Gaspe No. 1 green cod are selling at $4, and Nova Scotia at $4.25. Labrador salmon have changed hands at $12 per barrel, and at $16.50 per tierce. B.C. salmon in barrels have sold at $12, and in half-barrels at $5.50. No. 2 mackerel are firmer at $12 per barrel, and No. 1 at $18 per tierce.

The demand for smoked fish has been fair, especially so for haddies, which continue in small supply, and prices are firm at 6½ to 7½c. per lb. Kippered herrings are unchanged at $1.50 per box; Yarmouth bloaters at $1 per box, and new smoked herrings at 11c. per box.

There is only a small demand for dried codfish, and prices rule steady at $4 per 100 lbs.; pollock, $2.20 per case of 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $5.25 per case; boneless cod, 5½ to 6c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

In fresh fish B.C. salmon are very plentiful in this market, and prices in consequence have declined about 2c. per lb, sales being made at 10 to 12c per lb. The supply of haddock continues small and values rule firm at 4½c. per lb. Cod is very scarce, the market being bare of stock. Dore and pickerel are selling at 7c. per lb. The close season for whitefish and trout commences to-morrow and lasts until December 15th.

There is a considerable stock of ordinary to poor shell oysters in this market, which are selling at $2 to $2.50 per bbl. Ordinary Malpecques, $3 to $3.50 per bbl.; hand-picked, $4 to $4.50; Buctouche hand-picked, $4.50, and Miramichi, $2.75 to $3.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—This market has ruled rather firmer, prices advancing to 13½ to 14c. on candled and 18c. for fresh laid.

BEANS—Continue quiet at 70 to 75c. for car lots, and 80 to 90c. in a small way.

HOPS—Quiet at 6 to 7c.

HONEY—There is no change in honey. We quote 10 to 12c. in the comb, and 8 to 9c. extracted.

POTATOES—Quiet and steady at 30 to 35c. in car lots and 40c. in a small way.

DRIED APPLES—Continue steady at 3 to 3½c., with evaporated at 5½ to 6c.

BALED HAY—There is a fair demand for baled hay, and we quote $9.50 to $10 for No. 1 and $8.25 to $8.50 for No. 2. car lots on track.

HIDES.

The hide market is firm at the recent advance. Dealers are now paying 7c. for No. 1, 6c. for No. 2 and 5c. for No. 3, and ask the usual 1c. advance on these prices from tanners.

ASHES.

There has been no further change in ashes since last week. We quote: First pots, $3.50 to $3.55; seconds, $3.05 to $3.10, and pearls, $4.45 per 100 lbs.

PROVISIONS.

These continue quiet and without new feature. We quote as follows: Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 6¼ to 6½c.; bacon, per lb., 7½ to 8½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5 to 5¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market has advanced rather sharply since last report, and prices are now 25 to 50c. higher on leading grades. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.75 to $5; spring wheat, patents, $4.90 to $5.05; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.75; straight roller, bags, $2.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50 to $4.75.

There was no material change in the situation of the meal market, except that the feeling is very firm and prices have an upward tendency. We quote as follows: Standard, bbls.; $2.90 to $3; granulated, bbls., $3 to $3.05; rolled oats, bbls., $2.85 to $2.90; rolled oats, per bag, $1.37½ to $1.40.

A fairly active trade was done in feed and the tone of the market was firm, but prices showed no change. We quote: Bran, $10 to $11; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

There is no actual change in the cheese market, but the new business doing is small as the legitimate demand is of a very indifferent character. Private cables are of a conflicting kind. Some talk fairly strong, while others reduce limits, but neither indicate a desire to pay 10½c. on spot, and no finest goods are available under that price. Two leading eastern Ontario combinations, aggregating possibly 15,000 boxes September and October cheese, offered yesterday to contract at that price, but could not get it. In Quebec makes 10⅛ to 10¼c. is the idea.

The butter market is unchanged with the feeling not quite as buoyant as it was.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The output of California raisins is now estimated to be 1,500 cars short.

Austrian prunes have advanced from the opening figure fully 9d. to 1s. per cwt.

The first new figs in skeleton boxes were offered here this week at a range of 10 to 14c.

Commission men are asking an advance of ¼c. per lb. on all new orders for California raisins.

A cargo of raw sugar has been offered on this market at a shading estimated in the aggregate at $100,000.

Cables this week from Bordeaux state that the total aggregate advance in French prunes since the opening was 2s.

The advance in Valencia raisins since the opening is estimated to be equivalent to a rise of 40 to 50 per cent.

A cargo of Barbadoes molasses, amounting to 400 or 500 puncheons, was offered last week. It has been closed out at 27c. net here.

The first arrivals of new 2 and 3 crown loose California muscatel raisins were distributed among the jobbing trade this week. They were of the Griffin & Skelly brand. No others have yet been received.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 22, 1896.

DURING the past week business has been more active, and there is a much better feeling in general, except in sugar and molasses; particularly is sugar still dull and weak. In some lines the advance has been almost too rapid, and has checked buying. The most unsatisfactory line at present is, perhaps, canned goods, which, although buyers did not lose on account of falling prices (having bought at guaranteed figures), they are trying in many cases to see how near to cost they can sell their goods without making a loss. New goods in dried fruit continue to arrive. The first new figs were received this week. Excepting an improved demand for New Orleans, there is very little doing in the molasses business. In candy, in which a large business is done here, the fall demand is opening well.

OIL—This line, while very active, is (as far as burning oil is concerned), unchanged in regard to price. It is a question of Canadian or American, and there is at present a very large quantity of Canadian oil sold. We quote: American burning oil, 21c.; best Canadian, 19½c.; prime, 17c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—There has been quite a movement in coarse during the week as the cargo spoken of by THE GROCER as expected arrived, and stock here was very limited. Prices were low from the ship's side. At this season demand is limited, and as there is some more now quite near prices are easy. We quote as follows: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—It is said some Ontario packers have made at least some rebate on corn to help meet the low price at which it was offered by the local packers. Packers and wholesalers are much displeased at the outcome of the season's business. It would seem as if the packers were to blame. Over-supply and guaranteed prices are the main difficulty. Each packer is bound to sell. The quantity here is, as before reported, ahead of last year; some, who last season bought very lightly, were led to buy quite freely this, owing to the very low prices. It is reported there are some sample orders of Australian meats on the way here. Canned meats are firmer. Quite a demand from the west is noticed for domestic sardines. In canned clams, chowder, and scallops a great improvement is noticed and shipments west are much larger than usual. There begins to be an enquiry for oysters and American peaches. We quote: Corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 65 to 75c.; tomatoes, 65 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50;

DRIED FRUIT—In no lines have the advances been more marked than in dried fruits from point of shipment. Three-crown loose muscatels have advanced considerably. The demand for these goods is very active, outside merchants in many cases not caring for Valencias; but buying has been much restricted by rapid advance in price. In Valencias, currants and prunes the market is also much higher. Very few off-stalk were bought for here, the layers having a far larger sale, but not in the usual quantity. Prunes have been quite largely bought, while for currants there is quite a demand yet if they could be bought at a right price. What new figs have arrived look well, and the market is higher in these also. In evaporated apples, while there is no demand, prices continue to drop off, and dried apples cannot be moved. Chestnuts being in the market, shows that Hallowe'en is near. Peanuts are again lower. A car of red onions consigned here this week failed to find a buyer. We quote: Valencias, 5 to 5½c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c.; London layers, $2 to $2.25; currants, cases, 4¼ to 4½c.; bbls., 4 to 5c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 3 to 4c.; evaporated apples, 5½ to 6c.; Canadian onions, $2 to $2.10; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron peel, 16 to 17c.; orange and lemon, 12 to 13c.; Valencias, layers, 6 to 6½c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is meeting with rather less demand and prices are easy, still for extra quality dairy a good, firm price could be realized. Ontario butter is offered low. Creamery sells slow at prices asked. Cheese is higher, with light stocks, but buyers are not excited and are offish at present factory prices. Some early makes, shipped to England, made better returns than if sold here at time of shipment. There is good demand for eggs at the higher prices. We quote: Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; new creamery, prints, 21 to 22c.; do., tubs, 20c. Cheese, 10 to 10½c. Eggs, 14 to 15c.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples are in rather better demand, and during the week there has been quite a little advance in best quality Gravensteins, but prices are still low and other grades move slowly. Some very nice Jamaica oranges are offered. Lemons continue firm. Green keg grapes are daily expected. Bananas have little, if any, sale. Bog cranberries are a very large crop through these provinces and find their largest market in Montreal. The low price of sweet potatoes has caused quite a demand. Pears are higher. Canadian grapes keep low. We quote: Lemons, $6 to $6.50; oranges, $3.50 to $4; bananas, $1 to $1.50; grapes, 30 to 40c. per basket; apples, $1 to $1.65 per bbl.; keg grapes, $4 to $5; Bartlett pears, $4 per bush.; N. S. pears, $2 to $3 per half-bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $6 to $6.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5.

SUGAR—Dealers are beginning to think it time to put some money in sugar, and a further slight decline would likely see some large orders placed. A few still hold large stocks bought at high figures. Prices are easy. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3 to 3⅛c.; Paris lump, 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There is light business doing, country dealers seeming well supplied. There is an increased demand for New Orleans in barrels, but no very large quantities are moving. Syrup has some attention. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—As in so many other lines, the fish market is active. In pickled herring, Bays have advanced. They have to fill the place of Shelburnes and Cansos, which cannot be got. So, while fair quantities are arriving, the price is very firm. In buying herring, parties should see they are properly inspected and branded if they want to be sure they get the fish they buy. Pollock are dull, but dry cod show better demand, and in boneless large quantities are being sent west. In smoked herring the new hold the higher price, and the few old here have advanced in proportion. Alewives continue to be shipped to New York, and the bulk held here are now placed. Prices received were low. Haddies, bloaters and kippers are still in good demand. Pickled shad are in limited supply. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.10 to $1.15; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.55 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl,

A BOX OF THE BEST BISCUITS

It's a fact you can't gainsay, that Carr & Co 's Fancy Biscuits are the best. They have retained the favor of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, for the past fifty years. Don't try to "argy agin a success." If you don't keep them you should. Your customers are sure to like "CAFE NOIR," for they are the special favorites of these favorite biscuits.

PURE GOLD M'F'G.CO. 31&33 FRONT ST.EAST. TORONTO.

$4.50 to $5; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Yarmouth, 4c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, $1 per box.

PROVISIONS—Pork continues to hold at the firmer figures. There is no large movement. Beef is also quoted higher, and is firm. The advance is not large. As in the other lines, so in lard, higher prices are asked and little if any is now coming from the United States. There begins to be a better enquiry for smoked meats. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14.50; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $11.50 to $12.50; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—While Manitoba has shown the greater advance for the week, Ontarios have also gone higher. A large quantity of Manitoba is bought for this market, and a good profit is expected. Oatmeal is also higher, but, as is too often the case in all lines, is offered less out of store than millers' prices. Cornmeal has at last joined in the march, but as yet the forward movement is not large. Owing to the advance in Ontario oats there has been an increased demand for P.E.I. oats, which, as a rule, give good satisfaction. The fact that they cannot ship in the winter tends to keep their prices low. There is very little demand for feed or low grade flour. Hay has but fair sale. Barley is lower. Buckwheat meal (native) is very dull. It is mostly all yellow, while the grey is preferred. Beans are again marked up, and holders are now hoping for a fair profit. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.25 to $5.50; best Ontario, $4.50 to $4.60; medium, $4.30 to $4.40; oatmeal, $3.15 to $3.25; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do do, $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1.10; prime, $1; oats, 30 to 32c.; hay, $12 to $13; barley, $3.25; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

St. John has a new commission house—Caie & Wilson.

James Murchie & Sons are erecting a large new store at Edmundston.

A car of Grand Manan pickled herring was shipped to Montreal this week.

James Patterson shipped 1,200 bbls. alewives by schooner to Boston this week.

The steamer Damara, sailing for London this week, took over 1,000 bbls. of apples from here.

Dearborn & Co. received the first new figs to come here this season. Quality was satisfactory.

Mr. Robert Jardine has been appointed agent for Andrew Jergens & Co., toilet soap makers, Cincinnati.

Estate of V. S. White has received a shipment of Maconochie's pickles, for which an increased sale is noticed.

The Board of Trade have voiced the general feeling here in protesting against having the Bridgewater take the place of the Prince Rupert on the Bay route while she is up for repairs.

THE CANADIAN GROCER regrets to report the death of H. Humphrey, of the firm of Humphrey & Trites, Petitcodiac.

Our city had the pleasure of entertaining upward of 200 members of the Canadian Ticket Agents' Association this week.

Moncton in future intends to charge peddlers the following; $1 to $2 per day; $5 to $10 per week, and $40 to $60 per year.

The output of apples from the Annapolis Valley for the season is put down at 50,000 barrels more than any former year. Gravensteins alone will be a crop of about 100,000 barrels.

The following is from Gagetown: A farmer sowed 20 bushels white oats on five acres of land and harvested 565 bushels, that is 28¼ for each bushel sowed and 113 per acre. Let us hear from Ontario.

The crop of cranberries in Nova Scotia is very large this year, though quite a quantity was killed by early frost. Near Aylesford on the different bogs 1,500 bbls. were picked. At Kentville, from a two acre bog, 100 bbls. were taken. They are almost all sold in Montreal.

Trade with the United States is an important factor in St. John. During the three months ending Sept. 30, the exports this year were $420,894, being $130,000 less than the same period last year. Lumber is by far the largest item, but pickled fish, granite, lime, hides and horses are important items. Skates amount to $1,300.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

EACH day seems to bring new consignments of goods to complete the fall stock of Laporte, Martin & Cie. Their last report says they have just received a consignment of Valencia and Malaga raisins, and that they are booking orders for them at very low prices. A consignment of the finest grade of currants has also been received by this firm.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer mincemeat in 7-lb. pails.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are just in receipt of a shipment of tapnet figs.

Tilsonburg rolled oats are in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Repeat orders for "Empire" baking powder are coming to Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of another shipment of Filiatra currants in cases and half cases.

In the advertisement of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., Montreal, in last week's issue, it was stated that the firm had arriving 50 half-boxes of Pinard prunes. Instead of 50 it should have read 500 half-boxes.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in stock new pack salmon to retail at 10c.

Kiji Japans, in 1 and 5-lb. fancy packets, have sold fast with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

A shipment of Morton's pickles in square bottles arrived this week for the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

X Ray raisin seeders can be procured from Lucas, Steele & Bristol; they are said to be perfect workers.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering a range of Young Hysons to the trade this season and anticipate a large sale in this line.

"Our popular brands of cleaned currants, Kalamos, Morea and Royal Vonitsa are having large sales," say the Eby, Blain Co, Ltd.

A shipment of "6-Crown Extra Royal" Eleme figs, showing exceptional value, has just been received by W. H. Gillard & Co.

The permanent popularity which Mitchell's Scotch whisky has won for itself in Scotland seems to be one of the best arguments for its excellence, which has secured so ready a sale here in Canada. Laporte, Martin & Cie. are the sole agents.

"Yes, we would advise fruit buying now," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol. "Currants, raisins, etc., have already advanced and must go higher."

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are in receipt of their fruit ex ss. Avlona. They particularly direct the attention of buyers to their "Finest Selected" Valencias.

"That Canadians can turn out pickles, sauces, catsups, etc., equal to imported at less cost is evidenced by the fine line of these goods we put up," report T. A. Lytle & Co.

The material used in the manufacture of the "Rising Sun" and "Sun Paste" stove polish is imported from Ceylon and India and goes through a peculiar manipulation at the factory in Canton, Mass. The able qualities of the stove polish are due to the high quality of the material used.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of something new in coffee mills, called the

The Toronto Salt Works have during the past week delivered to the Davidson & Hay, Ltd., a carload of table and dairy salt.

Morse Bros. received orders one day last week for immediate shipments of "Rising Sun" stove polish and "Sun Paste" stove polish, amounting to eleven carloads of 15 tons each. At this season of the year such a day's sale of stove polish is phenomenal, and attests the popularity of these goods.

Northrup & Co. are handling large quantities of "Golden" haddies. The demand for this brand is rapidly increasing, as the number of orders indicate, coming in from as far west as Vancouver.

Wm. H. Dunn, Montreal agent for the Pure Gold Mfg. Co., Toronto, is just now making a special push with Pure Gold baking powder. The firm is helping him by sampling and bill posting throughout the city.

Another consignment of Commadre figs in taps arrived for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., this week ; a shipment of natural figs in bags and finest Eleme table figs and a shipment of Baker's Premium chocolate arrived this week.

In fruits W. H. Gillard & Co, say they are in better shape this season than ever before, and the quality and appearance of their special qualities of currants, "Haycastle" and "Paradise," are superior to last year's.

Th Salada Ceylon Tea Co. in addition to that at Buffalo has established agencies in the following towns of the United States : Northeast, Ripley, Brockton, Westfield, Corrie, Warren, Oil City, all in Pennsylvania ; Jamestown and Dunkirk, N.Y.

The F. F. Dalley Co. say that the trade for their flours commenced very early this season. They have had to run their mills day and night to keep up with their trade, as they are shipping large quantities to the gold fields of British Columbia and to the Maritime Provinces, thanks to THE CANADIAN GROCER'S ads.

AN OLD FIRM FAILS.

Hall & Fairweather, wholesale grocers, St. John, N.B., have assigned to S. S. Deforest and G. Wetmore Merrit. The liabilities are about $60,000, and the assets cannot be estimated until stock is taken and the books balanced. The failure is largely due to a loss of $50,000 which the firm sustained a few years ago by the dishonesty of a confidential employe. They also lost heavily in shipping, and a few days ago met with a loss of $5,000, which they were unable to bear. The creditors include Merrit Bros. & Co., the Bank of New Brunswick and several western milling concerns. The firm of Hall & Fairweather has been in existence for nearly half a century.

THE WORLD'S WHEAT CROP.

The Marche Francais, of Paris, estimates the world's wheat surplus at 344,000,000 bushels and requirements at 360,000,000 bushels ; that North America can furnish 96,000,000, South America 44,000,000, and says Russian stocks are larger than in 1895. The Corn Trade News estimates that Germany's rye crop will be about 316,000,000 bushels, against 280,000,000 in 1895, and that Servia's crop will fall short 35 per cent., and that Austro-Hungary will only export about 8,000,000 bushels. It is reported that India has established relief stations for its poor on account of short crops.

IGNORANCE REGARDING GLUCOSE.

A SINGULAR ignorance regarding glucose prevails in certain quarters, says The Grocery World, notwithstanding the much that has been published as to its absolute purity and healthfulness. A certain beer-brewing firm of this city advertises in the daily papers : "No poisonous glucose in our beer." This assertion may not spring from ignorance. No glucose is poisonous, and hence this beer brewer might be using the harmless glucose and still be in a position to swear black and blue that he was using "no poisonous glucose."

As a matter of fact it would be a difficult thing to find a more healthful product than the ordinary glucose of commerce, which is simply nothing more or less than the refined essence of corn. Glucose is produced from corn only, and all corn from which it is to be made is cleaned thoroughly before the process begins. After thoroughly cleaning the corn is ground and made into starch, after which it becomes a heavy, colorless syrup, in which shape it is marketed. The thickness of this white syrup determines its grade. The thicker it is the more it costs.

A good grade of glucose sells for between $1 and $1.50 per 100 pounds. It is used probably as much for making mixed syrups as anything else. The pure sugar syrup is unpopular with many people on account of the lingering flavor of bone black, and especially just at this time by the flavor of the beets from which it is made. So to soften these objectionable features a certain quantity of pure glucose is added, making corn or mixed syrups salable under the pure food laws as "compound syrup." Mixed syrups are just as pure and healthful as sugar syrup in every sense of the word, and during the last several weeks have been selling a great deal more abundantly than the pure sugar syrup.

Glucose also enters to some extent in the composition of some grades of candies, preserves, etc.

KNOX'S GELATINES.

The Knox brand of gelatines have become quite popular on the Canadian market and are now handled by the best trade everywhere. They are used and recommended by the leading teachers of cookery to-day as being the purest and most easily prepared gelatines on the market. A great convenience with these goods is that with each packet enclosed is to be found a packet of pink, so that white or pink jelly can be made from each packet. This gelatine will dissolve nearly as quickly as sugar, and needs no clarifying, as it is clear and sparkling. A child can use it and obtain satisfactory results. Each packet makes two quarts of jelly.

To remark with regret that things are not what they were is one way of recognizing, and perhaps of accepting, all this, but it is not the best way. The vision of the optimist is always more correct and more to be relied on than that of the pessimist. The change that progress brings is only to be regretted by those who are left behind.

ENGLISH MINCE MEAT

We are supplying the finest mince meat made, and are putting it up in a shape to suit the most fastidious. Many housewives do not like to buy an article of this kind from bulk stock, and for them we put up 1 and 2-lb. round cans. For larger consumers we put up 5, 10, 20 and 25-lb. fancy wooden pails, while for bulk stock we put up tubs and barrels. All our pails, tubs and barrels are specially prepared, and the goods will not taste of the wood.

WE GUARANTEE THE QUALITY AND OUR GUARANTEE IS GOOD.

CAMBRIDGE SAUSAGES

in 1 and 2-lb. round cans. Will keep all winter. . . . .

NEW ECONOMICAL CONDITIONS.

By Lew.

OR whatever else it may be remembered, the three-year period of 1893-96 will be known to history for the phenomenally low prices which obtained therein. The future may see a still lower range of values. Indeed it is quite possible that it will. The tendency is certainly in that rather than in the opposite direction. But whatsoever may be in the lap of futurity in this respect, it does not alter the fact that the past three years will be known, to this generation at least, for the unprecedentedly low prices of which they have been so characteristic.

Low prices are usually associated with trade depression : the former as the product of the latter. And to advance the same association in the present instance is clearly justifiable. The commercial interests of the country have been depressed for half a dozen years or more. It began with the Baring failure, and subsequent unwise silver legislation, war-scare presidential edicts, and unsound currency agitation in the United States accentuated it.

But all the responsibility for the low range of values now obtaining does not lie on the shoulders of hard times. Indeed it seems to me that for the chief cause we must look elsewhere. And where else can we look than to the inventive genius and enterprise of man ?

During the past decade so fruitful has been this inventive genius and so marked this enterprise that one might almost be excused in wondering whether they had not in these later days of the 19th century reached their climax : In the factory, in the field, machinery has superseded man ; places far distant have been brought near at hand by rapid transit and the convenient telephone. With this modern machinery in the hands of one man, whether in the factory or in the field, he can with ease perform that which demanded the energy of six, twelve or even more of his fellows. This meant cheapened cost of production. And the compensating force, competition, saw to it that all the benefits derived from decreased cost of production were not monopolized by the capitalist. The consumer benefited by it ; and the facts to-day show that he has benefited to the full. This is particularly true with regard to the products of the farm. But it is the introduction of labor-saving machinery which has made more possible successful farming in the great Northwest wheat fields of the Dominion, where the grain must be quickly harvested on account of the shortness of the season. In fact, the same may be said of other countries of extensive grain-growing areas. Combinations, in many instances, have enabled manufacturers to artificially maintain prices above the ratio of other products which have not had the same means of being maintained. It has enabled, and is enabling, coal barons to do the same. But inflated prices can no more be maintained in perpetuity than can a balloon. Natural laws may be suspended through the acts of legislatures or by associated effort on the part of man. But suspension is not obliteration.

It must, therefore, be evident to any man who has given the subject thought that while periods of depression undoubtedly have had much influence in determining prices, so also has evolution in the methods of production. Indeed, it may with equal confidence be asserted that evolution in the methods of production deleteriously affects trade for the time being at least.

Clay, before it becomes a comely vessel, must be pulled and twisted ; marble, before it becomes the graceful statue, must be hammered and cut. And trade, in conforming itself to the changing conditions, must necessarily receive a wrench here and a pull there. It would hardly be fair to term these effects, of which the changing conditions are the cause, hard times. Yet this undoubtedly is what a great many are doing.

Hard times are the product of crop failures or a continuance of unsound business methods. Sometimes it is the one, sometimes the other, and not infrequently the combined influence of both. In any case, therefore, evil is at the bottom of hard times.

The evolution in the methods of production, and the consequent changes that are being wrought in the economical conditions of the advanced civilized nations, are in line with the progress of the age, which, in turn, is genius being realized. All those labor-saving devices, all those inventions for bringing distant places nigh to each other, are not evils. They are blessings. They are for man's good. Consequently they cannot be bad. Their bringing forth may cause the transformation of economical conditions, and, consequently, pain. But it is a source of satisfaction to know that it is progressive, not retrogressive. And then the birth of all things produces pain.

We are entering upon a new economical era. There is no question about that. New ways of doing business, new methods of living, are entailed upon us. To array ourselves against it will be futile. To conform ourselves to it is wisdom.

THE MELON DOWN THE WELL.

The "old oaken bucket" hangs there by the well,
With the green moss around it, I know,
But the heart in my breast still delighteth the best
In the melon that's cooling below.
In the melon that's seen
With a circle of green
In the depth of the waters below.

I know the tired mules have come home from the field,
The farm hand's forsaken the hoe ;
But naught in the picture such pleasure can yield
As the melon that's cooling below.
As the melon that's seen
In the glory of green
In the depth of the cool well be'ow !

THE ART OF WINDOW DRESSING.

By W. L. E.

INDOW dressing as an art is of modern recognition. There are men to-day in middle life who can well remember when an attractive window was the exception and an unattractive one the rule. People put goods in their windows then as they do now, but the difference was in how they put them in. The merchant who twenty years ago realized there was art in the dressing of a window as well as in the painting of a picture was a unique character. In those what might be termed unregenerate days most people put goods in their window because there was a space to be filled, just as some people try to enumerate in an advertisement all the lines of goods they carry in stock.

Window dressing is an art, and the more it is studied the more evident does this become. And the more it is studied and practised the more evident is it that it is a paying art. There are scores of other arts which the more the merchant studies them the more money will he be out of pocket. But the opposite is the case with window dressing.

A window is either a help or a hindrance to a merchant. It can scarcely be otherwise. If it does not attract it must detract. A dirty window is certain to detract. And a merchant who is deserving of the name will see to it that his window, as well as his person, is kept clean. There is nothing a merchant should be more concerned about in his business. There may be some people whom a dirty window in a grocery store may no more affect than nails an ostrich's digestive organs. But even these unconcerned people it will not attract, let alone the average housewife.

Then there is the slovenly window. It is half-brother to the dirty window. A slovenly window may not affect the stomach, for it does not always follow that where there is slovenliness there is dirt ; but it excites prejudice. And prejudice will keep a man out of your store just about as quickly as the peculiarities of his stomach. Slovenliness in the store is the reflection of laziness in the merchant. And where laziness abounds a multitude of business-poisoning fruits are sure to develop.

A window display should not be allowed to become stale, fresh and original as it might have been at first. Stale windows, like stale tarts, do not court trade.

Every man cannot be an expert window dresser any more than can every man paint a picture that will earn applause. But every man who has brains enough to be a merchant ought to have brains enough to learn to be at least a passable artist in this respect. Window-dressing demands thought, and it is only a fool that cannot think. Reading will help a man a great deal to master the art of window dressing ; but observation, together with a little prospecting into the recesses of one's own mind, will do still more towards securing the desideratum. He therefore, who does not dress his window is either a fool or a lazy man. And such an one can hardly remain long in business in these days.

In spite of the enlarged attention that is being given to window dressing, the art is yet little more than in its infancy. A walk along either city or village streets demonstrates that. Quite an impetus would be given to the art were every merchant throughout the Dominion to inspire his clerks with the desire to excel as window dressers. Let each clerk in turn arrange the window, and the rivalry that would be the result would be conducive both to the advantage of the merchant and the clerks.

Business is a warfare ; and one of the factors for waging it is the window display. The oftener the window is dressed the more effective therefore will it naturally be. A fresh window display every day could hardly be expected. But twice a week would not be unreasonable, and once a week every merchant should see that his window is rearranged.

A window display to have utility must have the power of attraction—must be striking enough to demand attention from passers by. It is in the uniqueness of the display, and not in the quantity of it, that lies the secret of its attractive properties. This fact is too often overlooked.

But a window can be attractive and yet have but little utility. Window dressing is a means to an end, and that end is the sale of goods. If this end is not kept in view, the display will scarcely be worth the time that is spent in designing it, no matter how many people may pause while passing to look at it. Make your window sell goods.

Window displays should also be timely. As each season and each holiday comes around try and make the window display in some unique way represent it. Apply the same principle to circumstances and conditions of local interest. When a certain line of goods have either risen or fallen in price make a display of goods that will indicate these conditions.

In country towns most farmers and their wives do their buying on Saturday. For that day every country merchant should make it a rule to have his window freshly dressed. There is no class of people in whom uniqueness excites greater interest than the farmers.

Use placards liberally, but judiciously ; and above all, advertise in the local papers. Make these advertisements, like your window displays, bright and attractive. Study to advertise. When you have an especially good window display it may, sometimes at least, be the best thing to advertise that display only.

The art of window dressing is as interesting as it is intricate, as profitable as it is exacting in demanding attention. Study it.

A window display is only taking when it takes customers into your store.

The window is not a mirror, but it reflects what manner of merchant there is in the store.

A slouchy window betokens a slouchy merchant.

Ideas work their way out through the shop window, just as thoughts are launched through the mouth by the tongue.

A naked window is a disgrace to a business community, just as a naked man is to civilized society.

A shabbily dressed man is often excusable, but a shabbily dressed window never.

A well-dressed window, like a right bower, can be depended upon to take a trick.

You may as well bury yourself as bury your window, for the merchant who has not ambition enough to keep his window in evidence can scarcely escape being buried by adverse circumstances.

A sure business-builder is a well-dressed window.

A well-dressed window is as a sample-room wherein samples of goods in stock are displayed to excite the desire of the public for them.

NECESSARY BOOKS FOR A RETAIL GROCER.

FIRST PAPER.

By a City Grocer and Expert Book-keeper.

TO-DAY cash is king. No one thinks of disputing this or of even suggesting the substitution of any other form of payment for this very satisfactory and economical method. And this is in spite of a certain growth of credit-giving stores of various kinds, which hold a lien on all goods sold until actually and completely paid for. Several other new ideas are constantly being evolved regarding businesses and methods of conducting them, but, be they cash or credit, or a proper combination of both, no one dreams of doing without books, and the more successful the business becomes, it will be found that just so much care has been taken with its books. That failure follows from ill-kept and badly-arranged office helps as often, if not indeed more often, than from any other cause, is a well-known fact in statistical circles, just as well known, indeed, as is the truth that successful men have clean journals and elaborate systems of checking the work of each department of their business.

This series of papers is designed not to give lessons in book-keeping, but rather to suggest handy, methodical ideas in books which may be found applicable to the businesses of our readers. We propose to take into consideration in this first paper the reception of goods and their proper recording in proper journals, so that in our next paper they may be ready for sale. As we desire to preserve some definite order in our work, we will treat of these books in the same way as we would the goods themselves. Thus, our first will be termed the "Order Book," ruled as follows, and the specimen entries submitted will be carried throughout for the purpose of economical comparison :

Date.	From	No.	Goods.	Price.	Remarks.
July 2.....	D. & H.	5	Sugar	3¾	At once.
" 10.....	J. S. & Co.	10	Jap. tea	18	"179
" 12.....	P. J. & Co.	10	Tomatoes	75	1st August.

The active storekeeper will not need much explanation with this simple affair, which need not necessarily be entered up in ink, as it partakes solely of the character of a memo. Busy men need reminders of their acts, no matter how good their memory may be, and it will be found extremely handy at times to have your buyings and attendant particulars before you when invoices and shipping slips are being checked over. Nor need expense be heavy in following out any of our ideas in these suggestions. Rule them yourself in good blank books, and the trial of any notion will prove of very small expense and possibly be of great benefit. This book should be of pass-book size, so as to be portable and handy in the store-coat pocket.

Our next consideration is the "Receiving Book," also more or less of the nature of a scrap book, and so not necessarily expensive. This should be kept at your shipping-door, in a convenient position for constant use, and nothing should be taken into the warehouse by anyone, without being entered into this book. It would be ruled as follows :

Date.	From.	No.	Goods.	Weight.
July 3	D & H	5	Sugar.	288-18 299-19 300-20 300-20 300-18.
July 11	J. S. & Co	10	Tea	Net 80 each.
Aug. 1	P. J. & Co.	10	Tomatoes.	20 doz.

Of course, if it is possible for you to have a shipper whose business it is solely to look after these things, you will be pleased with the use of this book by him alone. Failing this official, you will still find the above contrivance handy and correct in showing you at a glance just what goods have come into your warehouse, and also if any shortage has occurred. Very often wholesale houses ship only part of your order, leaving the balance for another shipment, sending meanwhile invoice for whole order. In such case above book is an excellent medium for proving correct receipts, also for checking weights. It is also found to be of great use in training clerks to be correct in checking, entering, and proving the actual existence of stock.

We have now reached the point in the progress of our purchases into our possession where we have, first, a memo of our bargains, and, second, a memo of our receipts. Next day, along comes our invoice, charging us with certain items, and requiring careful examination to prove correctness of the same. We look into our memo of buyings to check price and terms, and go to the "Receiving Book" to check receipt and quantity. Having done this, a proper register of the invoice is surely necessary, although very frequently, after amount is checked, the invoice has no further charms for many of our store-keeping fraternity, especially after the monthly statement is to hand, and the invoices are checked off. This is a mistake, although not altogether wrong in principle. We commend an "Invoice Book" ruled as follows, which if you adopt you will find to more than repay you for all trouble in connection therewith :

Date.	From.	No.	Goods.	Lbs.	Doz.	Price.	Total.	Remarks.
July 3	D. & H.	5	Sugar.	1,392	....	3¾		....
" 11	J. S. & Co.	10	Jap. tea.	800	....	18	Optional.	"179
" 13	P. J. & Co.	10	Tomatoes	....	20	75		Aug. 1

Now, many of our readers have perhaps ere this given up in disgust. So much work, which is not called for by old-time standards is surely not profitable, some may say, and yet how slight is the trouble caused in ruling this or any book some dull January day. The entering up afterwards will grow to be a positive pleasure, provided always that it is done as each invoice comes to hand. Your estimation of the many uses to which the tabulated information may be put will be very high before a year has passed, and many useful references will be made to it. Nor is it necessary to enter up in detail many smaller items, as, for instance, biscuits. An invoice with a dozen items might very well be summarized by entering only total quantity and amount of invoice. So, with many other instances which will occur. Everyone will have the way best suited to his time in vogue, and will be satisfied therein.

Just two points in favor of the "Invoice Book" to close this paper :

1st. Did you ever want to buy a full line of a certain article, but did not have a clear idea of how much you would sell if business kept on as usual? This book would tell you at a glance : say you want tomatoes—turn to canned goods (have pages indexed), add up total tomatoes bought last month, three months, or year, as desired, and you are posted. As before suggested, small goods need no such sorting out, but regular lines need careful attention as to whether trade in them has increased or decreased, and this book shows you.

2nd. Do you take any interest in the development of your tea and coffee trade? If you do, by reference to these pages you will easily see in which direction public taste is tending, and so be able to govern your business accordingly.

So we might go on expatiating on many points of vantage in these business ways and means. Enough, however, has been said to prove to the energetic storekeeper that more care taken means greater satisfaction at stock-taking, and consequently greater success in commercial life.

A STOREKEEPER OF THIRTY-THREE YEARS.

By the Editor.

Mr. Henry Swan.

A GENERATION in business is an experience which few men have; and that generation spent in one and the same building, under the same landlord, is still more rare. Yet that is the experience of Mr. Henry Swan, the senior partner of the firm of Swan Bros., the well-known family grocers, 162-164 King street east, Toronto. I learned this one day a few weeks ago, while standing in the store of the firm, when I heard the honored head of the firm remark: "I am very busy just now. We are getting ready to take stock. On October 4th we will be in business thirty-three years." I should explain that it was a few days before that date that I heard the remark quoted.

There are older men in the retail grocery trade of Toronto than Mr. Henry Swan, but he is the oldest grocer in Toronto. And yet he is by no means an old man, in spite of his long years in the grocery trade.

It was in 1841, fifty-five years ago, that he first saw the light of day; and Edinburgh, Scotland, was the place of his birth. "I was born," jocularly remarked Mr. Swan, when I began plying him with questions, somewhat against his will, "the same year as Wilfrid Laurier, and the birth of the Prince of Wales took place eleven days before I came into the world. I sometimes tell my friends," he added, as he turned toward me with a laugh, "that the world could not stand three great men being born on the same day, so we were all born within a few days of each other."

Whatever our political tenets may be, we must all acknowledge that Hon. Wilfrid Laurier has become eminent in politics. The Prince of Wales, we all hope, will become eminent in the station to which it has pleased the Constitution to call him. He promises well, at any rate. Mr. Henry Swan; I do not know but what he has been as eminent in his particular sphere as has any other one of the triumvirate that came into the world within a few days of each other in the year 1841. At any rate, he is one of the most successful grocers in the "Queen City" to-day.

When a lad of eleven years he crossed the Atlantic with his parents. His first dwelling place on this side was in the village of Churchville, Ont., near Streetsville. That was in 1853. Although only there a few months the lad Henry Swan formed acquaintanceships that to-day, forty-three years afterwards, are still intact. In 1853 Mr. Swan came to Toronto and found employment in the grocery store of Robert Taylor, Yonge and Albert streets.

"In the whole distance from Albert to Queen street," explained Mr. Swan, "there were then but two hotels, four one-storey frame buildings, and three two-storey frame buildings."

After a year spent with Mr. Taylor, the subject of our sketch went once more to reside under the parental roof. His father at this time was farming in Scarboro' township. There young Henry Swan spent four years helping to cultivate the farm and attending the near-by public school. One of his teachers during that time was Mr. Alex. Muir, the author of Canada's national anthem, "The Maple Leaf."

At the end of the four years referred to, Mr. Swan returned to Toronto to finish his apprenticeship at the grocery trade. For this purpose he entered the employ of Dodgson, Shields & Morton, one of the largest stores in the city at that time.

"I was with them four years, one-and-a-half years of which was as journeyman," explained Mr. Swan. "It was an apprenticeship, I can tell you. It was after the manner of the English apprenticeships; I had to grind pepper and all the different spices, except nutmegs and ginger. These we could not. I had to clean fruit, grind sugar out of the hogsheads, and make bags. For a month before Christmas we had to stay in the store every night cleaning fruit and making bags. I was brought up in the faith, no mistake."

"The lot of the apprentice and journeyman is quite different now," I ventured.

"It is," rejoined Mr. Swan with a quiet nod of the head. "Now nearly everything is done by machinery, while clerks have more pay, shorter hours, and less work. Employers are also more considerate."

"In your apprenticeship days the hours were long, were they not?"

"They were. At Dodgson, Shields & Morton's, the business hours were shorter than in any other grocery store in the city, but they were long compared with what they are in the stores of to-day. We closed at eight o'clock, except two nights in the week, when ten o'clock was the hour. Our time for opening was daylight in the winter and between six and seven o'clock in the summer. These were considered short hours."

Just about the time Mr. Swan had put in four years with Dodgson, Shields & Morton, Mr. Robt. Lawson, now one of the officials at Osgoode Hall, then a retail grocer at 162 King street east, accepted the position of manager of that firm's business. His own business he offered for sale, and Mr. Henry Swan became the purchaser. That was thirty-three years ago, and he is still doing business at the same stand, only it is much enlarged. Mr. Swan was then only about twenty-two years of age. About six months afterwards he was joined by his brother Robert, and the style of the firm became what it is known as to-day—Swan Bros.

Family trade has always been one of the firm's specialties. And its family trade is to-day one of the largest in Toronto. It has also done a great deal of jobbing, although not as much attention is paid to that branch as in former years.

The business premises of Swan Bros. is within a stone's throw of the St. Lawrence Market. In the days when that firm launched forth, the neighborhood of the market was a greater business centre than it is to-day, and there were a great many more grocers there than there are now.

"When I started into business," said Mr. Swan to me, "among the retail grocers around here were Robert Reford, now of Montreal; James Stock, James Burns, Richard Dunbar, Jas. Beswick, William Reford, Ald. W. Strachan, (and known as Little Willie Strachan) and Arch. Milligan. Of all these, ours is the only firm left. Peters & Donald began business about seven months after we did.

"Let me give you an idea of the enormously large business that was done in this neighborhood in those days. The time I speak of was before we had any railways, except the Northern. Farmers drove into the city with their produce from a hundred miles around. Of the wholesale firms in business at that time there is only one left. That is Perkins, Ince & Co."

But while so many of the confreres of Swan Bros. of 30 years or more have gone out of business, they have not only remained in business, but they have expanded, and no store exhibits more activity than does theirs. The original store at 162 King street east has, since Mr. Henry Swan first entered it, doubled in length, and lengthened as far as it can be, while the adjoining store was many years ago pressed into service and connected with the original business place by archways.

It will, doubtless, be a surprise to a good many young men in the trade to know that the grocers of thirty or forty years ago doing business in Toronto no more thought of calling on customers than they did of flying.

"We would have thought it beneath our dignity in those days to have called upon a private customer for an order," said Mr. Swan, when I questioned him on this point. "Such a thing was not known. We kept back as long as we could. You see, people in those early days used to live close around here. When they went away we had to follow them in order to keep their custom. But we thought it was a most undignified thing. People nowadays can have no idea the feeling there was among the grocers of that day when they had to come down to calling upon their customers. Now, you see it is the proper thing, and we think nothing about it. We now keep two city travelers out. They are the best men we have in the store, and they call regularly upon private families."

Referring, during the conversation, to Mr. Swan's long term of years in the grocery trade, he replied :

"Well, do you know I was never very fond of the business. But I always believed in 'doing with my might whatsoever my hand findeth me to do.'"

"That is the secret, then, of your success?"

"Yes," he said, "and this," he added in a serious air, as he took a pencil from his pocket and scribbled some words on a piece of paper, "has been my motto." Then he shoved the piece of paper toward me, with the remark : "Any young man who starts out in life wanting in either of those conditions is handicapped." The motto which Mr. Swan had scribbled on the paper read :

"Not slothful in business ; fervent in spirit."

Mr. Swan has not only seen service in business, but he has done service for both his municipality and his country. In the former respect it was as a member of the Public School Board, and in the latter as a member of the Queen's Own Rifles and a participant with that regiment in the Ridgeway skirmish during the Fenian raid of 1866.

ATTRACTIVE BUSINESS PLACES.

TOO much attention cannot be devoted to making a store or place of business attractive. It pays. It depends upon the circumstances how it should be done and how much the man can afford to spend upon it. It is a form of advertising and should be charged to the advertising account. Some firms spend a great deal too much money in making their place attractive. They are extravagant. They fit up premises in a 1,000 population town that would do for a large city. Sometimes they are forced to do so by their neighbors, but this is not often the case. The aim should be to make the place so neat and attractive that people would be enticed to enter. The work should be substantial rather than of a tinsel nature—work that would look well for years.

Often the expenditure of making a place attractive is soon repaid by increased business. We know a case that occurred a few weeks ago in Toronto. A wholesale tea house fitted up a bright, airy and attractive sample room. Instead of the dusty, dirty packages of tea they had tins specially made and decorated for their shelves. Larger panes were put in the windows and they were kept clean. New linoleum was put down. The best kind of sample cups and saucers were purchased. Everything about the place had a deliciously sweet air. The manager told THE GROCER a few days ago, mentioning the name of a well-known reader of this paper, that they had never been able to sell him goods until one day he stepped into their sample room for the first time, enticed there by the improved appearance of things. He got an order from him, the profit on which paid the small amount expended in the improved surroundings.

THE SANDWICHMAN UP TO DATE.

THERE lately appeared in Montreal a very unsophisticated rustic who spent his time in frantic efforts to reach John Allan's. He made no pretensions in the way of dress. His hat was the ordinary straw affair used in the fields. His coat was something after the style of a barber's white coat, and appeared to have suffered some contraction in the wash. As regards pants, he was more pretentious. He had several pairs which he wore in rotation. One pair was a "high-water" pair of brown derry. A large handkerchief, red of course, was stuffed into one of the pockets. A huge watch and corresponding chain added to the charms of his person. A pair of blue and white socks, together with tan shoes, completed his outfit. In one hand he carried a satchel, and in the other an "abbreviated" umbrella. On the satchel were several phrases pointing out the value of John Allan's as a place for purchasing hats. An inscription on his back read : "If I get lost take me to Allan's." To complete the description of his personal appearance it is necessary to mention his spectacles, and a considerable growth of red whiskers.

Some of the mishaps that befell our country friend are worth noting. While making a thorough examination of John Allan's store he got in the way of a car, but paid no attention to it. When the gong sounded, however, his attention was attracted to the car, and like a true countryman proceeded to make a minute inspection. The wheels and bottom of the car were intently examined. The motorman also came in for a share of his attention. By this time a small army was following him. He entered The Witness office to buy a paper and duly paid for the same from a long stocking in which he kept his wealth.

Wherever he went he created a sensation. Among other things he would take a notion to get his shoes shined and then leave with only one done. Occasionally he would eat fruit on the street. In the intervals he amused himself with a very well meant attempt to whistle "Yankee Doodle" or some other such sublime melody.

Whether or not we agree as to this being a profitable mode of advertising, all who saw "Norman the Rube," agree as to this being the best thing of the kind seen in Montreal.

Regarding the advertising value of such a scheme opinions differ. One difficulty is that the expense is considerable. It is easy enough to get a man to walk the streets for a dollar or a dollar and a half per day. But to get one who can act the part assumed is not so easy. Mr. Allan says he is perfectly satisfied with the results of his outlay, which was $25 for five days work of four hours per day, two in the forenoon and two in the afternoon.

Norman Herstfield, or Norman the Rube, as he is called, has been in this line of business for three years, and has had almost steady employment. This goes to show that a good many people believe in this as a good means of advertising. Before this he took a similar part on the stage, so that he has had some training, and is in a position to act the part with some degree of success. He says his usual rates are from $7 to $10 a day, or, if engaged by the week, from $30 to $40 a week. He has made a contract with S. Davis & Sons to "do" most of the towns of importance in Ontario and Quebec. The contract is for one month.

He has several other roles, the principal being that of a tramp, in which capacity he rides out of a second storey window on a bicycle down a ladder to the street. A political role is also on his book. In St. Louis he created somewhat of a sensation by organizing a rube band and meeting McKinley at the station when he arrived for the convention. Up town, too, he had the pleasure of shaking hands with Mr. McKinley, and the crowd below had some interesting mottoes displayed to view, advising them to buy somebody's $10 suits.

He works only four hours per day, finding that to keep up good acting longer is beyond human powers. In this way he has traveled all over the States and will likely see a large portion of Canada this winter.

REMINISCENCES OF MONTREAL'S TEA SALES.

By W. A. R.

CONDITIONS, whether in business or otherwise, are all subject to that immutable law of transition, governing matters terrestial. Perhaps no line is a more conspicious example of this fact than the tea trade.

The difference between the methods now governing the handling and sale of this great grocery staple, and those in vogue in our grandfathers' day, is as great as chalk from cheese, or any other illustration equally forcible.

It cannot be held either that the changes as a whole have been of a beneficial character. In the first place, the average consumer is satisfied to-day with a much inferior tea to that in use 20 years or so ago. There was no 25c. tea in those days, but to-day that is the ruling cost at the retail counter of the great bulk of the tea that goes into consumption in Canada. No buyer thinks of asking for a "First Young Hyson" nowadays.

In the golden days of the trade this grade cost the wholesaler or jobber about 87½c. per pound. It is quite unnecessary to state that it has practically gone out of use in Canada With a multitude of teas available at 50c. or thereabouts, and the public taste educated to a desire for a harsher, cheaper tea, there is no chance to sell in this country such a high-priced, delicate-flavored grade as the one named in Canada.

There is not the same spice of adventure or picturesqueness to the trade either as in the days of yore. The big auction sales at Montreal, at regular intervals, with their congregation of buyers from all parts of the country, and their many peculiarly attractive associations, are gone never to return. The average importer or buyer can now get his teas as he wants them.

The most entrancing feature about these big sales was, no doubt, the opportunity for speculation that they offered. Even at this day, eyes of veteran tea operators will glisten when reminded of successful coups that they brought off in the Sixties or early Seventies. Thousands of pounds were frequently won or lost on a single turn at these big auction sales. In one case a leading firm of operators in Montreal lost £22,000 or $120,000 on a single lot. This was perhaps the heaviest loss ever made on one turn, in the history of the sales.

The Torrances of Montreal, and the Rosses of Quebec, were the men who financed and put through these enormous quantities of tea. A sale usually lasted two or three days and the offerings generally comprised four kinds of stock, such for instance as "Twanky," "Young Hyson," "Imperial" and "Gunpowder." Each of these was again subdivided into four qualities.

The lots put up for auction were technically classed as a "chop." A "chop" of tea comprised all the above teas in varying qualities, and were sold without regard to such. If a buyer was successful in getting a good "chop" he made money, if not, the reverse. It frequently happened also that competition sent a poor "chop" higher than one which averaged a much better quality. This element of chance contributed not a little to the interest of the sales.

The next operation after purchasing the tea was to blend it to suit the popular taste. This is an art which has disappeared in Canada. A grey-haired veteran here and there in the trade possesses the faculty, but they are passing away. Few retailers in the old days too were without their own special blend ; but they also are passing away. The packet tea and other methods of the kind have caught the public favor, and their usefulness is gone. A big retailer here and there in the larger cities who has a high-class custom blends his own teas, but with the great rank and file it is a case of packet tea, or simply scooping the goods out of the package which comes from the wholesaler.

There is little individuality or art now required to sell tea. Formerly individual customers had to have their own taste suited. For instance, the weekly purchase of one would be, say, a blend of a quarter pound of Souchong and three-quarters of Young Hyson and Gunpowder, or, again, half and half, composed as above. Nowadays it is simply a request "give me a pound of tea at 50c." or otherwise, as the case may be.

It is not proposed to enter here into the respective merits of packet tea, or goods mixed here from the original packages. It is indubitable, however, that traders who desire to do their own blending are not as advantageously situated as they were in the old days. Then the big sales offered a large selection to blend from, and if two did not give the desired result then three or even four were available, until it was secured. Now, if a trader has two or three grades at the outside he is lucky. The case is different in London where a blender has possibly one hundred samples to work with. For this reason, teas blended at that great centre, and, of course, the English packet teas of well-known marks, give a more uniform article than goods blended on this side. These remarks, of course, do not apply to Japan teas, but to China, Ceylons, and Indias.

The relatively higher cost of the average tea in the old days was not due altogether to its superior quality. There was a high duty on tea in those days, ¼c. per pound and 15 per cent. ad-valorem on blacks, and ¾c. per pound and 15 per cent. ad valorem on greens. Then, too, the Mexican dollar, which is still the unit of purchase in China and Japan, has not the same purchasing power as in days of yore. Exchange is against it. It is within the recollection of many of the older members of the trade when the Torrances or the Rosses gathered up all the Mexican dollars they could lay their hands on, packed them in axe boxes and shipped them round the Horn to buy their tea for the big auction sales. Possibly eighteen months after they had their investment returned to them or not, according as how the sales turned out. So that even with its attractive features, the old system had great disadvantages.

There may be, and are, defects in the present methods. At the same time, business is done on a sounder basis, inasmuch as the spirit of speculation does not enter into it to the same extent. Physically and hygienically it may be wrong to encourage the present taste for cheaper teas, but business is business. In any event, there is not, to use a popular expression, "a string" on these cheap teas. Traders can handle, and judiciously encourage, a better grade if they care to do so.

DEPARTMENTAL STORES WEIGHED AND FOUND WANTING.

By W. L. E.

THE intelligent way, the right way, of determining whether the departmental store is an evil or not is by considering what its net results are to the great mass of the people.

We cannot well term the departmental store an evil because it is driving merchants from business. Machinery has supplanted many thousand hands, and although those driven from their employment considered the supplanter an evil, yet we all are ready to acknowledge that the net results of the inauguration of machinery have been beneficial to mankind.

The daily papers, particularly in Toronto, have been pleased to consider the advent of the departmental store and the machinery age as parallel cases, the one as well as the other being a development of economic conditions which, in their influence, are beneficial to humanity.

Goods can at times be certainly purchased cheaper at the departmental store than at the ordinary store. And it is undoubtedly convenient to deal at a store where can be purchased any article from an anchor to a needle, and where both stomach and teeth can be filled if need be. These can at least be classed as conveniences, and what is a convenience is usually a benefit.

But this is only one side of the question. And in order to arrive at an intelligent appreciation of the net results we must look at the other side.

The first to feel deleteriously the influence of the departmental store is the retail merchant. His big competitor may not take his customers away from him wholly, but it does partially. There is no doubt about it. Pull from a bird enough feathers and it will not be able to fly. And draw enough trade away from a merchant and he will cease to exist as a business man. Trade is being drawn from merchants and they are ceasing to exist as business men after their capital has become exhausted, and they have been pushed out into the world to begin life over again, not only without money, but in many cases without the energy of youth.

The natural result of a decrease in the number of merchants through departmental-store competition is an increase in the number of vacant stores. And the concomitant of that is depreciation in property, depletion of incomes, and decrease in value of tax producing sources.

The decidedly worst feature of the departmental store is the weakness of its commercial morality. Any business that is not developed on sound business lines is not in a commercial sense morally sound. There is a law for business as well as for the individual and aggregation of individuals. In the breaking of it immorality is entailed.

The departmental store breaks the business law in its methods of competition. Competition is either fair or unfair. If it is unfair it is wrong. And the competition of the departmental store is unfair. In order to get a customer into his store the departmental man does not rely on the quality of his goods, the attractiveness of his store, or the courteous and gentlemanly manner of his clerks. He relies on the bait he throws out in the shape of goods which he professes to sell, and frequently does sell, below cost. Those who have studied the matter have become convinced that one cannot deal regularly with the department store and save money by so doing. It follows that when a departmental store sells one article below cost the loss thereby entailed must be made up on another. The departmental store is not a charitable institution. It is run to put money in the pockets of the foreign capitalists whose money has been invested in it. Let anyone essay to purchase an article which is not advertised in the bargain list, and nine times out of ten he will pay more for it than he would have had he made the purchase from a regular dealer. There are a good many people among consumers who do not realize this, and innocently they are led to the slaughter. To them the departmental store is synonymous with bargains and continuously they return to be plucked. The fact that they do not realize that they are being plucked, does not alter the fact that they are being plucked. Barnum is credited with saying that people like being humbugged. Provided they do, that does not make it right. Wrong is wrong, no matter by what means the eyes of its victims have become holden that they cannot see.

Aside from its moral aspect, these are the evil effects of the departmental store on the economical conditions of the community. Every time the price of an article is cut there is naturally a desire on the part of all dealers who sell this particular article to get it at a figure that will enable them to compete with the departmental store. By-and-bye the manufacturer is forced to comply, with the result that he in turn is compelled to ask his employes to sell him their labor at a lower price. As to-day this departmental store carries in stock everything that is needed in the way of wearing apparel, everything that is required to furnish a dwelling, everything in the way of physics whose office is to kill and cure, everything that is needed in the way of foods, everything that is needed in the way of dentistry, and even music for the entertainment and photography for the preservation of the features, whether they be homely or comely, it is obvious that its effects on the economical conditions must be far-reaching indeed. Already its effect is only too apparent.

The retailer is not the only description of business man that is suffering from the effects of these big stores: The wholesaler is suffering as well, for his territory is being cut into. Here is an example: A country retailer, while in Toronto one day a short time ago, purchased a certain line of dry goods from a leading wholesale house. From there he went to one of the departmental stores, where he was shown a line identically the same as that which he had purchased, but at a much lower price. He bought it. It was afterwards ascertained that the departmental store had purchased these goods from the same wholesaler as the retailer had and sold them to the latter at one-and-half cents per yard below the price originally paid to the wholesaler.

To any logical mind it must therefore appear that while the department store is occasionally a bestower of bargains and a medium of convenience, the net results are bad, injury without ample compensation being wrought to the storekeeper, the wage-worker, and the municipality.

The remedy for this state of affairs has so far been sought for in vain. The departmental store cannot well be closed up. A law that would essay to do that would be termed an interference with the freedom of trade, and, therefore, ultra vires. The same fate would await any measure that would aim to restrict. The municipality could protect itself by levying a special tax. It is the legitimate merchant who is in the worst fix. The workingmen can combine to keep up the rate of their wages, at least to some extent; but merchants could not, by combining, prevent people from buying at the departmental stores. The only thing, within my ken, that the merchants can do is to be as up to date as the sun is on time.

A man, to be up to date, must have capital. Not necessarily a large capital, but a moderate one, and one that will place him in the position where he can save his discounts and take advantage of any bargains that may be utilized as leaders. Thus fortified, the nearer he can come to the cash basis of selling his goods as well as buying them, the nearer will he be in a position to compete with the evil born of the departmental store.

Advancement

Is the order of the day. Old time methods were good enough long ago, but they wouldn't fill the bill these days. Present needs demand up-to-date-iveness in every branch of manufacture, and when we say that "Windsor" Salt is made by the "Vacuum" process, we want you to know that it is the latest and most scientific process known. It is the result of years of experimenting, and is acknowledged to be the perfect system.

"WINDSOR" SALT

Purest and Best

is the only salt in Canada that is prepared by this process, and that is one reason why the sales of "Windsor" Salt tower so above the sales of other brands. It is perfect in granulation and is absolutely pure. Is always dry and loose and will not get hard.

Knowing and discriminating buyers naturally want the best, especially when the price is no higher than the price of other brands. There is as much difference between "Windsor" and common salt as there is between refined and unrefined sugar. Handle what is known everywhere as the best.

SAVED IN THE NICK OF TIME.

By W. L. Edmonds.

CRIMINALS are not born ; they are made. A child may be born in a nest of crime ; but that does not constitute him a criminal. I was born in an honored home, but——. But I must not anticipate my story.

My name is Isaac Mainwaring. My mother would insist upon my being called Isaac, because I was born to her when she was well up in years, and because in her mother's heart she thought I promised so much. I was the only child, too. She used to call me her Child of Promise. When I look back it seems to me her love for me was even deeper than that of most mothers for their offspring. She did not worship, though. She was what we would now term an old-time Methodist. Rather than that I should have grown up morally crooked she would have preferred to have seen me buried. And I have sundry recollections as to how, by the aid of the rod, she endeavored to keep me straight.

That was something like three-score years ago. But, like a great many other boys, when I left home and lost the parental support, I began to lean to the side that "leadeth to destruction." And destroyed I believe I would have been but for the intervention of a kind Providence.

I was always ambitious. My father was a general merchant in the village of Clerkville. I wanted to be a merchant, too, and was trained up with that end in view. But it was not long before my ambition expanded beyond the ken of a country merchant. It was a city merchant I wanted to be. At first my parents protested. My mother was particularly set in her opposition.

"You'll find the reality is not as pretty as the picture," she philosophically remarked one evening after the store had been closed.

"That he will," added my father, as he paused and peered over his spectacles and paper.

At last I obtained their consent. "I see he will never be satisfied here until he has at least tasted what city business and city life are like."

My father secured a situation for me in the wholesale house of Bedlington & Co., Toronto. And so, one morning early in June, just after I had passed my eighteenth birthday, my trunk and I were driven to the nearest railway station.

"Now Isaac, my boy, remember that industry and honesty are the price of success," called out my mother as the vehicle drove away.

As the train bearing me citywards sped past fields, through forest openings or skirted winding streams what aspirations awoke in my breast, what pictures my imagination painted! Nature was clothed luxuriously in verdure of many hues and flowers of many tints so peculiar to the month of June. But nothing was brighter to me than the success which my imagination had conjured up. A crow perched on a gaunt pine which towered above the other trees of the forest flapped its wings and cawed as if with derision, but I only smiled with disdain.

There are some boys, and men, too, who gather friends around them wherever they go. I was one of them. In our village society people said I was the most popular of young men, and in the city I soon had a coterie of jolly fellows around me.

A man or boy who has those qualities which bring him popularity should also possess a will power, whose strength is at least in proportion to the measure of his popularity. I am sorry to confess that I had not, and the consequence was that my friends induced me to sometimes seek pleasure in places where neither my moral nor mental nature was benefited. But I always religiously attended to my duties. And about five years after I had entered the employ of Bedlington & Co. was advanced to a responsible position, which brought with it an increase in salary.

Unfortunately for me, with this increase in salary came the idea that I was then in a position to be more liberal in my expenditure. I had become associated with men who had a good deal of money to spend, and who took advantage of their position to the full. Naturally, I desired to cut as good a figure in this respect as they did. Most people do. And herein, allow me to add, is one of the most dangerous of pitfalls that threaten young men who essay to shine in society.

About three years after I came to Toronto I began to play cards occasionally for money and to take a little wine. "Just a little now and then won't hurt you, Ike," my companions said when I demurred at first. But these apparently little things eventually became vices. And a year or two after I had been appointed to the more responsible position referred to I suddenly realized that my expenditure was exceeding my receipts.

Instead of, like a wise man, cutting myself adrift from the company that was leading me to ruin, and curtailing my expenses, I did the very opposite. Eventually my indebtedness had become so great that exposure was threatened me by one of my creditors unless within a certain time I paid him.

Almost frantic with the thought of the disgrace and ruin that stared me in the face, I went straight to my room without taking dinner. Throwing myself upon my bed I began to desperately cast about for some way of escape from the dilemma which my unwise manner of life of late years had brought me into.

"Why not take a couple of hundred dollars from the firm," someone seemed to whisper to me. "That will meet your pressing necessities. You can pay it back again before you are found out. You won't be stealing it. There are three hundred dollars which you put in the vault to-night. Go and get it."

It seemed to me the easiest way out of the difficulty, and I decided to accept the suggestion. Taking a deep draught from the flask of liquor which I had lately been in the habit of keeping in my room, I threw myself upon the bed to collect my thoughts before going to the warehouse to borrow the money.

* * * * *

The night seemed chilly as I crept, like a criminal, down the back streets to the warehouse. A key which I carried gave me entrance and I soon had the two hundred dollars. There was not a soul in sight as I tremulously locked the door. Next morning on my way to the office I called in and settled my indebtedness with the two of my creditors—a tailor and a wine merchant—who had been most pressing in their demands upon me.

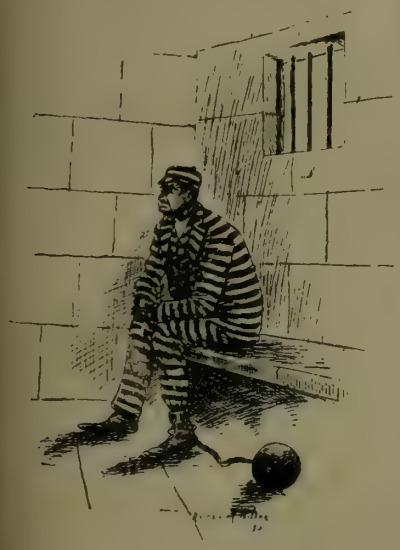
When I reached the warehouse Mr. Bedlington, for a wonder, was there before me.

"Isaac," he said, as he met me in the hall, "I am glad you have come. I received a telegram last night summoning me to New York on important business. I will need to take more money than usual with me. You told me last night that you had had the unusual experience of taking in three hundred dollars after banking hours. I wish you would let me have a couple of hundred."

His request staggered me. I turned pale and gasped as if for breath.

"Why, what's the matter with you?" sympathetically asked Mr. Bedlington. "Are you not well?"

"O, nothing; just a little faintness," I gasped as I staggered toward the vault as if to get the money. My knees knocked together, and I fumbled with the key as if afflicted with the palsy. With as much unconcern as I could muster, I took out the cash box, carried it to my desk and opened it. Taking out the bills I counted them.



"My God, sir," I ejaculated, with what I thought well-feigned surprise. "The amount is two hundred dollars short!"

Mr. Bedlington eyed me closely for what seemed to be an age.

"Mr. Mainwaring, come into my room," he said, somewhat firmly.

Once inside the door he shut and locked it. Seating himself in his chair he swung himself around toward me, exclaiming as he did so, keeping his eyes upon me: "You know something about that missing money?"

I could not look him in the face. But I protested that I was entirely ignorant of its whereabouts. This only seemed to incense him. And springing to his feet he exclaimed vehemently, "Isaac Mainwaring, you have stolen that two hundred. I am positive about it. Your very manner stamps you guilty."

The more I protested the more vehement he became in his charges.

"I'll call in the police. I'll make an example of you. You in whom I had placed every confidence. You, whom I have treated as a son and promoted at every opportunity."

Then I broke down and pleaded with him for mercy. "Be merciful," I importuned. "I'll tell you all. I took the money, but I only borrowed it!"

"Borrowed it," he sarcastically remarked. "We'll let the law decide that point. Isaac Mainwaring," he added, as he frowned down upon me, "I was told some time ago that you were beginning to lead a wild life. But I had such confidence in you that I dismissed it without second thought. Sir, you are a villain, an ungracious villain, the worst kind of a villain."

Mr. Bedlington was naturally a kind man, but if anyone prostituted that kindness of his, he was unforgiving. As he uttered the last words he turned upon his heel, hurriedly scratched a note, summoned the message boy and handed it to him with instructions to be "quick about it."

It was a detective he had summoned, and in less than half an hour I occupied a cell at the police station. An hour later I was arraigned at the Police Court and committed for trial. A week afterwards I stood in the dock at the Assize Court charged with having robbed my employer of the sum of $200. I was as one dazed, with my eyes rivetted on the floor. One or two of my boon companions who had not forsaken me in my trouble retained counsel for me. But he could not rouse me from the stupor into which I had lapsed. The witnesses were few and the trial short. The prosecuting attorney described my actions as an indication of my guilt, let alone my own confession of having borrowed the money which I was charged with stealing. The judge's charge was against me; and so was the jury's verdict. The judge, in sentencing me, said he felt inclined to deal leniently with me, but he urged he had a duty to perform. Cases of this kind were getting too common. People who were drifting in a similar direction required to be warned, and I, the prisoner, must be taught a lesson. "Prisoner at the bar," he added, in solemn tones, "you are sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. You have yet youth on your side. I admonish you to take advantage of it."

Just then I heard a piercing shriek, followed by the words: "My son, my son, you have killed me!"

Aroused now from my stupor, I raised my eyes just as my mother rushed toward me, throwing her arms around my neck only to die in my arms.

* * * * *

"Isaac, Isaac, wake up. What are you groaning so much about? Are you ill?" These were the words I heard as someone grasped my shoulder and shook it. Dazed and bewildered I rubbed my eyes and looked about me. I was in my own room. In fact, I had never left it. My horrible experience was all a dream. The hand that shook my shoulder was my mother's. She and father had come to the city to visit me, and had been shown to my room. It is needless to say I did not "borrow" that $200. Neither did I any more tread in the path that "leadeth to destruction." And that is why I am to-day a respectable old man and a successful retired merchant. I was raised in a honored nest, but I always believe that horrid dream of mine saved me from turning out a criminal, and perhaps a full-fledged one.

IMPORTANCE OF PROMPT SERVICE.

By a Buyer.

THERE are various ways of doing things in a store, whether it is large or small. The proprietor is master and can choose which he wishes. If he prefers, for instance, to have his customers stand around waiting to be served, he is perfectly at liberty so to do. He must stand the consequent decrease in customers. If he serves his customers promptly, increased patronage must follow. In this, as in everything else, have a rule, have a system. More than that, live up to it. A splendid example of prompt service of customers is to be found in a Montreal house, one of the largest and best appointed wholesale houses in the Dominion. Entering the warehouse to see a member of the firm, I found all were busy, the gentleman I wished to see being engaged. I stood a moment till he was disengaged. A bell sounded. A clerk came forward immediately. In a few minutes, the gentleman being still engaged, the writer started to leave. The bell again sounded. Again a clerk came forward. No danger of losing customers in that house. Reduce things to a system, so that no customer, no item of business but will be attended to promptly. A good system in business has two good qualities to recommend it. It saves trouble and it makes money.

Advertising is a tremendous waterfall, says an exchange. But it won't turn the wheels unless you turn it into the right channels, and unless you have the water wheels so that they can be turned when the great power strikes them.

HOW A DRUMMER TAUGHT A LESSON.

By Bill.

IT is good to treat commercial travelers well. Justice as well as financial consideration demands it. The traveler is not the fifth wheel in a coach. He is one of the wheels necessary to the progress of the commercial vehicle. There may be a "Knight of the Grip" here and there who is not a desirable man. But such an one is an exception. And it is these exceptions, not the great body of the travelers, that merchants should keep themselves apart from.

Arrogance towards travelers is an unpardonable sin. Travelers have rights to be respected as well as goods to sell. Arrogant is the man who refuses to recognize this. There may not always be a necessity for travelers. We know not what science may in the future develop as a substitute. The merchant can now whisper his order into the ear of the wholesaler a day's journey distant. And no one can safely venture to say to what degree the telephone will develop or how quickly the goods the merchant orders may be shot into his store. In the meantime the commercial traveler is a factor in commerce, and even from a dollars-and-cents point of view, it is well that the merchant should do unto him as he (the merchant) would have those to whom he sells goods do unto him.

There is doing business in a Western Ontario town a merchant of the arrogant type who received a lesson lately that he should profit by. He has made a little money, and his bump of self-importance has become much larger than his bump of common sense. One day he conceived the idea that, metaphorically, the place for travelers was beneath his feet.

"I will print me a placard and establish me rules that will make these travelers bow to my footstool," he ruminated. And so he had a placard printed in big letters and set up over the cashier's desk, where it would greet the traveler's eye when he entered the store. Its superscription was as follows :

NO TRAVELERS

INTERVIEWED

TILL AFTER BUSINESS HOURS.

One day a traveler came into the store who had some particularly attractive lines to offer. His eye caught the placard.

"Hum," he muttered as he turned to the young lady in the cashier's wicket, "And when is after business hours?"

"After 6 p.m.," came the reply.

"Where is Mr. Blank?" ventured the traveler.

"Up stairs."

"Is he engaged?"

"No, I think not."

Up stairs trod the traveler, where he found the merchant amusing himself with one of his children, which was, of course, quite proper.

"Mr. Blank," said the traveler, "I see you do not allow yourself to be interviewed by travelers until after business hours. I have a line of goods here which I am sure you would like to have. But I must take the six o'clock train out. Can I ——.

"I see no travelers, sir, till after six o'clock," interrupted the merchant with a dignified air, as he turned to resume his play with his offspring.

The traveler possessed dignity as well as ambition to sell goods, and with an "All right, I think you'll be sorry, sir," quietly retired. He immediately went across the street to a competitor of Mr. Blank's, related his experience, and sold him the line of goods.

When the traveler's principals heard of the affair they wrote Mr. Blank, regretting exceedingly that he was unable to see their representative, as the line of goods intended particularly for him had been sold to Mr. Smith, one of his keenest competitors.

A week or so later Mr. Smith was making these particular goods a leader, which was drawing trade like a molasses barrel does flies. And when Mr. Blank had learned it was the goods he had refused with so much dignity to see, he gnashed his teeth. He didn't tear his hair, because he hadn't any. The pocket is always a vulnerable place to strike a mean man.

BROOMS AND WHISKS.

CANADIAN housewives are proverbially cleanly. Throughout the breadth of the land, their wants are supplied by the general storekeeper. One of their chief and frequent wants is a new broom. Moral: no general store should be without a supply of good brooms. When they are in want of this staple line they would do well not to forget Porter, Teskey & Co., St. James street, Montreal. This firm make a specialty of brooms, and control for the Province of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces the goods of a well-known firm in Ontario. The brooms, brushes, whisks, etc., turned out by the concern in question are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Porter, Teskey & Co., will attend promptly to any request for quotations on these, and also on soaps and perfumery. In the two latter brands, their goods are of the fast selling description, suitable to the demand met with by the average country general storekeeper.

HANDLING PROVISIONS AND FRESH FRUITS.

BY C. T. T.

NO subject in the retail trade causes the dealer more anxiety than the various articles that constitute provisions and fresh fruits. The profits are small and the competition so keen, and the waste and losses are indefinite. Only in care in buying and in having the proper facilities for handling the above goods can a merchant make a success of it. The following are the best ideas, in my mind, of handling the above goods.

BUTTER—In buying, see all the milk is worked thoroughly out of it, and the salt is mixed through it and not in chunks. It should have good color, be free from any taint whatever, and be full weight. Keep all butter in a clean, cool room, not over 50 Fahrenheit, and colder if possible. Butter will take a taint from almost everything that is placed beside it, and no quantity more than is required for immediate sale should be exposed to the air. If in rolls, place in a strong brine and keep air-tight. All butter in tubs or crocks should have a strong brine, with but little saltpetre in it, placed on it. After standing for some time, take the brine off and put a thick coat of salt on the top of the butter. All store butter should be selected and packed every morning and the best of care taken of it to get the best results.

BREAD—Buy the best and sweetest that can be obtained in your town, and keep it in a clean glass case from flies and dust, in a conspicuous place, and buy enough for a day's supply.

CHEESE—Some like colored, some uncolored cheese. Get the color to suit your trade. Buy cheese that is rich and of fine flavor. After buying new cheese, turn it over every day for two or three weeks. Keep in a cool, dry room, away from flies. Do not cut before they are a month old. Before cutting clean off all the old cheesecloth, and never put more than half of a cheese in your case at once.

EGGS—In buying eggs see they have not a glossy appearance, nor look as though they had been washed, but buy the best, cleanest and largest. You can keep in a cool place, and not too many in one basket for any length of time. The first week in September select the best and freshest eggs for packing for the winter use. For keeping small quantities pack in clean, dry salt, and keep in cool, dry room. Fresh eggs can be kept very well by placing them in egg carriers, and keeping cool.

HAMS AND BACON—Only buy in quantities that will suit your trade, and the best you can obtain. Keep in cool place and free from flies, and never keep a large quantity exposed to the heat.

HONEY—Buy the clear white clover honey in sections, and also in small jars, and not a large quantity at a time, and keep it where people will see it.

LARD—Buy the best always, and keep in a dark, dry, cool room.

POTATOES—The Barbank and the Hebron are the best to buy at present, and will keep the best. To obtain the best results, potatoes should be kept at 35° Fah. in a dark, dry room or cellar. In buying see there is no rot and full weight.

APPLES—In buying summer apples the one that catches the eye and is ripe is the best. Never buy with blemishes on, and buy in quantities to suit your trade ; keep in a cool place. Fall and winter varieties should be selected with great care and carefully packed in clean barrels. The Northern Spy, Greening and Golden Russet are the best for winter, being the best keepers, while they retain their flavor longer. They should be kept in a cold room, 35 to 40 Fah. Golden Russets can be frozen solid, and if kept frozen till spring and let thaw out at their pleasure, will keep good till the middle or end of May. Other varieties will rot if this experiment is tried, but all apples should be repacked about the latter part of January and the wasty ones sold first.

BANANAS—The difficult task is in buying—to be able to tell the number at a glance. The best way to tell the number, or near it, is to make a given point and count a dozen to the right and then down, continuing the same all around the bunch. Another way is to multiply the length of inches by the number of inches around the bunch and divide the amount by 12, and the dividend by 7 to 12 according to the size, and you will get near the number of dozens in the bunch. Bananas should be kept in a cool place until ready to use. The top ones should be sold for less money than the bottom. A merchant should have three prices, and let those that want the best pay for them. To do a banana trade a merchant wants at least three or four bunches on hand at once, and do not be afraid to give one to your customers once and a while. If you see you are likely to lose some, sell for anything at all and get them cleaned out. Do not be afraid of the banana trade. If you do not make much out of them, you will not lose by having them.

GRAPES—Buy grapes in 10-lb. baskets, as it pays better to handle them in that size, as many take the whole basket. Niagara and Rogers' (Nos. 4 and 9) are the best to handle. Concord and Delaware have their drawbacks. Grapes will keep for a considerable time if kept cool, and are not a "wasty" fruit to handle, but will do your business good.

HUCKLEBERRIES—Are delicate to handle, and should not be bought in large quantities unless they are cheap. They should be kept cold and firm. The berries are spoiled in weighing out, and the dealer should be careful in this matter ; try to avoid breaking the berries.

LEMONS—The best fruit the merchant handles, and give the best results, as there is a large demand and they are easily obtained. The lemon of 300 count with smooth skin and not bitter is the lemon to handle. Lemons should be kept cool. Remove all bad and partly wasted lemons and damp paper from your box and have only a few out to view at a time, and your loss will be very small. Buy in small quantities, except when there is a likelihood of being a sharp advance.

ORANGES—The most desirable fruit we have ; and we are blessed with the best qualities. The orange that is most desired is the Florida, and no wonder, for it contains all the qualities necessary for a good orange. The best time to buy in large quantities is the first of the year, and if kept cool there is little waste and they will keep for two or three months. The best sizes are 200 and 126. The other varieties are very good when the Floridas are off the market. Oranges should not be exposed to the light or air more than necessary, and with a little care are not a hard fruit to handle.

The great secret in handling produce and fresh fruits is in the buying. Many merchants are tempted to buy in large quantities, in fact, larger than they can handle, and the result is that the profits are all thrown out. We should buy according to the demand, and see they are cleaned well up before buying again. Neglect is the great cause of many losses — by not watching what we have and seeing it is not spoiling nor commencing to spoil, and if it is, to sell for what we can get. The maxim in business should be "to watch the end" as well as the commencement of all things.

"Green tea or black tea, miss?" inquired the shopman in a sort of a medico, bedside manner.

"I don't think it matters," said the girl, "missis is color blind."—Fort Worth Gazette.

BUYING AND SELLING TEAS.

By H. E. Wilton, Springfield, Ont.

TEA being the most important feature in connection with the retail grocery trade, it is necessary that the greatest caution be used in purchasing nothing but a first-class article. In order to do this, one must never rely on the statement of any traveler, but prove for himself the quality of the lines he is about to buy. This can be done in various ways.

A small gasoline or coal oil stove can be used to a good advantage by having in connection therewith a tea steeper ; and before placing your order give the different samples before you a drawing. In this way you at once get a fair idea of their respective value. And, to go still farther, I have before now called in one or two of my best tea customers, and by giving them a taste of the drawn teas, secured also their opinion in regard to the quality. Taking into consideration the fact that your customers are the ones who most use your teas, I consider it a big advantage in having their favorable opinion, and once you have secured in this or other ways a good quality of tea, stick to that line just as long as it can be obtained.

NO MONEY IN LARGE PROFITS.

There is no money in selling teas on a large profit. My experience has shown me that it pays to handle nothing in that line except the best qualities in their class, even though you may be obliged to pay a few cents more per lb. for them. For example : I had been selling in a certain space of time 100 lbs. of 25c. tea for which I paid 13c.; I decided to try something better, and paid as high as 18c. for a 25c. line, the result being that I sold 500 lbs. where I had before sold only 100 lbs. The same rule will apply also to the higher priced teas.

THE NEXT THING NECESSARY.

Having used extra caution in selecting the best quality of tea, the next thing necessary is to let the public know that you have such goods in stock. There are various ways in which this can be done. First, an advertisement of the fact should be placed conspicuously in your local paper, followed by the sending out among your customers and others of free sample packages. I have before now sent out two pounds of tea put up in sample packages, and sold 50 lbs. immediately after as a direct result of the samples. In doing this a good plan is to have printed envelopes, stating price, quality, etc., of tea enclosed, with your name printed thereon. This plan is found to be a success if you handle a first-class article.

ANOTHER PLAN.

Another plan in connection with advertising tea is this : Go to at least four of the most reliable and responsible men or ladies in town and present them with, say, a ¼ lb. sample package of some special line of tea which you are making a specialty. After they have given it a fair trial, secure a good recommend from them, and with their permission have the same published. This plan I have worked and it was also a success. In short, it is necessary that you keep constantly advertising your teas in some way. It never pays to put forth special efforts in this line for one week and then remain quiet for a month.

USE WELL THE WINDOW.

Your window can also be used to good advantage. For example : Some time ago I put out an advertisement in regard to teas, and just at the bottom of the circular I had printed the following : "Don't fail to see our novelty tea window Saturday evening next." On the occasion referred to I had the window neatly arranged with fancy tea boxes, tea samples with price tickets in each. To complete the whole affair, I had in the centre of the window a small table neatly arranged with tea pot, cups and saucers, spoons, etc., and sitting at each end of the table, on a low stool, I had a boy about 15 years old. Each had his face blackened, and dressed in laughable appearing costume, both pouring out and drinking hot steaming tea, that we were steeping in the store for them. Above their heads I had such mottoes as the following : "Kum in and git a drink" ; "free samples inside" ; "dis am de best tea I eber drank" ; "just think, only 25c. per pound." A large number came to see the novelty tea window, and nearly all came in and sampled it, after which they would purchase a supply, some getting one pound, others two pounds, and some as high as five pounds. All this from the effects of the previous advertisement, and the novelty window. In this particular case new customers were secured who had never before been in the store, and who are now and have since been steady and profitable traders.

TEA PACKAGES.

Foil or light lead sacks should be used for doing up teas. In such a package as this they will retain both flavor and strength for a long time, and this is all a point in the merchant's favor. No teas should be allowed to stand either in caddies or boxes uncovered, as in such a shape they lose strength and attract bad flavor.

QUALITY THE LINE.

It is foolish to attempt building up a tea trade on quantity. It must be done on the line of quality, together with fair living profits, and once a merchant has the established confidence of the public in this respect, he is sure of a good tea trade. But he cannot stop here. Once this confidence is established, it means work to hold it. The successful tea or grocery merchant never finds idle time on his hands. Some new plan can always be developed, and something new to inspire fresh confidence is always at hand for the merchant who trys to make business a success.

ESCHEW PRIZES.

Never offer prizes of any kind with teas. Prize teas are a humbug and the public know it. Good goods sold on their merits is the only successful road to follow.

WHERE MERIT SUCCEEDED.

A customer called a short time ago and desired to know how many pounds of 25c. tea we could give for $1. I told him four pounds. "Well," said he, "I can get five pounds at such a place," mentioning the name of another merchant. We tried to convince him that the difference in price was made up by the extra quality of our tea, but all to no purpose. We gave him a free sample of our tea and away he went. He purchased five pounds at the other store for $1, and in less than two weeks he called in and took four pounds of our tea at $1. He had tried the sample we gave him, tried a drawing of the cheaper line he had bought, and he was at once convinced that we had stated the truth. He is now one of our regular tea customers, and has every confidence in our teas. Good goods and honest dealing are leading factors in a successful business. Just as soon as you begin to cut and slash the prices of teas, you have dealt a death blow to your better trade in that line and lose the best thing you ever had, namely, the confidence of the public in regard to the quality of your goods.

DEMONSTRATING PURITY TO FAULT FINDERS.

Sometimes it so happens that with the very best quality of tea some customer will find fault and say it is no good. Here is where you have a chance to do some important work. Whatever you do, never allow such a customer to remain under such an impression, as he or she, as the case may be, may do your trade considerable injury by telling friends about it. In the first place, when such a complaint is made, ascertain the manner in which the tea has been drawn, what quantity used, and all particulars in regard to her fault with it. Then go to some customer who has used the tea successfully, and who you know to be a good tea steeper, and learn her mode of using it. Give these directions to your dissatisfied customer, together with a free ¼-lb. package, and in nine cases out of ten the result will be successful. This means a lot of trouble, but what of that? You have succeeded in pleasing your customer, increasing her confidence in you and in your goods. These little affairs all go to try the merchant's patience, and he will sometimes feel like saying something real bad. But don't do it. Remember that you are in business to make money, and you cannot do it if you incur the ill will of your customers. Besides this, the people have a perfect right in demanding satisfaction in good goods, and it is your duty to see that they get it. You should consider it a privilege in having a chance to set yourself and your goods right before any dissatisfied customer.

INJURY FROM EXPOSURE.

Good teas are sometimes injured by allowing them to remain exposed to the air. If you have no regular tea caddies, leave the tea in its original package, never allowing it to remain uncovered or exposed in any way.

SELLING TO NEW CUSTOMERS.

In selling tea to a new customer it is sometimes a good idea to state that Mrs. or Mr. So-and-So are using the same brand and find it very fine. Of course, one must not use any name in this way except you know such statement to be true.

RE WINDOW DRESSING.

Attractive window signs are a good thing if properly arranged, and in no case should they have a cheap appearance. A barn door without hinges generally denotes a poor farmer. The same rule applies to a merchant. If your tea signs are cheaply and roughly made, it denotes carelessness on the part of the merchant, and such a person is usually a poor buyer—at least, the public will think so. Straws show which way the wind blows. Glass signs neatly painted, or nicely printed cards, which any printing office can produce for you, are a profitable investment, the following words being appropriate: "Try Our Famous 50c. Japan Tea"; "Our Special Brand 25c. Tea is a Dandy;" "We Lead in First-class Teas, both in Quality and Price"; Teas—New Crop—Large Consignment Just Arrived. Come in and Get a Free Sample." These, and different other display cards, bearing such mottoes as above and placed conspicuously in your windows, will be of value to any merchont.

HINTS ON STEEPING.

As before stated, many people spoil a good tea in steeping it. In many cases teapots are not properly cleaned, and again it is sometimes injured by the use of a poor steeper, which may be a rusty tin one. These faults can be overcome to a great extent by the following plan: Write up, in as short a form as possible, the general and most proper rules for steeping and serving the different brands of tea. Go to your printer and have him print for you a quantity of these directions with your advertisement also placed prominently at the bottom of the card, and give these to your customers. Don't mix up an advertisement for any other class of goods on this card except tea. The greatest value in any advertising is in confining each advertisement to one article only. The simple act of putting out printed directions leads your customers and others to think that you know a great deal about teas, and if you can establish this idea you are certain of a good trade in that line, not forgetting, of course, to impress it firmly on their minds that your prices are also right. If you use plenty of printers' ink, and do it truthfully, you will find it of great value.

WHAT TO DO AND NOT TO DO.

Never keep a poor tea because cheap. Such brands as "tea dust," which is sometimes found in country stores, should not be tolerated, even if you got them for nothing. I believe firmly in the principle of quality in establishing a profitable tea trade, and not quantity. Follow this plan and once your business is established it has a solid foundation. Buy nothing but the best. Sell for cash. Study the wants of your customers and satisfy those demands, no matter how much trouble it puts you to. Give full weight. Be pleasant. Use special tea scales, and keep them bright. Use all spare moments for the development of new business schemes. Give your clerks a prize for best written tea advertisements. Pay your printer once a month, and don't forget that a little pinched-up advertising space is dear at any price. Use lots of space, even though you have only a little to say. Hustle every day. Make tea a specialty. Have one price for all. Advertise.

A FINE PICKLE.

PERHAPS no other article sold by the grocer of to-day has made more rapid strides or assumed more varied forms of manufacture than have pickles. The product made in the home has almost passed into oblivion, and to suit the requirements of nineteenth century consumers, special and peculiar properties are essential to assure success, but when superior merit is once established the public is not usually slow in its appreciation.

No more striking instance of advancement in this line is known than that achieved by Gillard & Co., of London, Eng., who for over a quarter of a century have manufactured their "New Pickle" and "New Sauce," which have an enormous sale in Great Britain and on the Continent, and are conceded by all connoisseurs to be most delicious relishes. The firm has succeeded in giving to the public a pickle, the liquor of which is a happy blending of piquancy, sweetness and acidity, forming a well balanced and delicious appetizer, while the vegetables are the choicest English and Eastern productions. Considering the size of the bottle and the superior quality of its contents, the makers claim that the "New Pickle" is the cheapest high-class pickle offered. At the great Royal Agricultural Show, held at Leicester, England, in June, 1896, both the "New Pickle" and "New Sauce" were on all the luncheon tables. Those who find it difficult to properly digest the ordinary pickle are delighted by the valuable aid afforded by the "New Pickle" in the process of digestion. Dr. W. G. Grace, the champion cricketer of England, highly recommends their use and will have no other.

The "New Sauce" is compounded from the purest and most appetizing ingredients, and possesses plenty of body, imparting a delicious flavor to soups, gravies, etc. To emphasize the high esteem in which these relishes are held in England, we may state that over five thousand of the leading hotels and restaurants are regularly supplied by the makers.

Arrangements have recently been completed by Gillard & Co. whereby the trade in Canada can secure these pickles and sauce from all wholesale grocers, and at prices which enable the retailer to work up a steady and remunerative business.

HE UNDERSTANDS COCOANUTS.

Mr. McLean, the proprietor and manager of the Canadian Cocoanut Co., has had a long experience in this line. He was for several years in New York, and has had experience with the very best firms. New machinery has recently been put in, and the combination of experience with good machinery should give good results.

It is a good plan to have some article predominate in each window display. Make this article the centre of attraction, like the largest stone in a ring, while the other articles, artistically grouped about it, serve as an appropriate setting.—School of Window Dressing.

TOMATOES

Are our

Specialty

WE FIRMLY believe that the Kent brand of tomatoes is the best on the Canadian market to-day. We have good reasons for believing this. Every detail in growing and canning has been carefully studied and the goods that we turn out are the result of long experience and watchful preparation. The tomatoes we use are perfectly sound and fully ripe—nothing doubtful passes our examiners. Every department of our factory is kept as clean as the cleanest private kitchen.

Our Cans being made by a new process
Have No Solder on the Inside.

In this way we protect consumers from the inconvenience and dangers arising from solder drops. There is no risk about swelled cans, as we test every can before it leaves the factory. The "Kent" brand is sold to you at about the same rate as inferior brands of tomatoes, and you make just as much profit. You will find your customers use five times as much canned tomatoes, when you sell "Kent" brand, as they did when you sold a poor article, and your profits on this line will consequently be increased five fold.

TALK WITH A MAN FROM CHINA.

I HAD an interesting chat not long since with a gentleman who was passing through Canada en route to England from China. He had for three years been a resident of the Celestial Empire, and had traveled over a goodly portion of Japan as well as that country. As a result of that conversation I am open to confess that my opinion of the Chinese is rather more favorably inclined towards them than it was. The gentleman in question, I might say, is a tea merchant, but as I have not permission, I do not feel free to use his name.

Like other Europeans traveling from China with whom I have conversed, he declared that there were still people in some parts of the country who had not yet heard of the war with Japan. "While there are others," he said, "who, while they have heard of the war, firmly believe that the Japanese were the vanquished and not the victors. The fact that the Japanese army withdrew from the country is an evidence to them that they were driven out. They cannot understand why a victorious army should not have marched on to Pekin and invaded the rest of the country."

"What opinions have you formed of the relative natural merits of the Chinese and Japanese soldiers?"

"O, physically the Chinese is the much better man. And as far as bravery is concerned he has plenty of that."

"He did not display much of it in the late war," I ventured.

"I grant you he did not. But you must remember that he was badly armed, badly officered, and badly trained. It has been proved that under good officers they make good soldiers."

"What about the domestic life of the Chinese?"

"Well, a Chinaman thinks a great deal of his wife and family. It is amusing to see his proud and lofty carriage and the happy look he has on his face when he takes his family for a day's outing."

"The Chinese are very clannish, are they not?"

"Rather. Just let our Chinese office boy hear that we want an employe of some kind, and forthwith he will be on hand with some relative."

"What about the alleged crookedness of the Chinese?"

"It is not true that the Chinese as a class are dishonest," he rejoined, with some warmth. "A Chinaman's word is as good as his bond. In our dealings with the Chinese merchants we have every confidence. If they make a contract with you, rest assured they will carry it out, if it is at all possible for them to do so. It is considered a terrible disgrace for a Chinaman to be discovered in a dishonest action. He who is so discovered 'loses face,'" added my informant, as he swept his hand over his own face. "'Losing face,' I should explain, really means that he has lost his good name and is disgraced. And you can almost depend that the man who 'loses face' will go out and drown himself."

Our conversation eventually turned on the antiquated methods of transportation in China. "There is only one line of railway in China, and that is a short one," remarked the gentleman I was interviewing, "while, as for wheeled vehicles, why, in a city the size of Hankow, there are only two. One of those belongs to a broker and the other to a doctor."

"Haven't they got good roads?" I asked.

"The roads are good enough; but coolie labor is so cheap that it doesn't pay to use wheeled carts. When we are loading the ships with tea we do not send the packages to the ship's side in vehicles; coolies carry them. A coolie places a pole over his shoulder, with a chest of tea suspended from either end. Then he starts off for the ship's side on a sort of dog trot, singing in a monotonous air as he runs. A peculiar thing about this coolie carrier is, that should he only have one package of tea to carry, he will fasten a substance of equal weight to the other end of the pole. He wouldn't think of carrying one parcel. A Chinaman will do this work for the extraordinary small sum of eighteen pence per week."

China he declared to be a beautiful country, rich in natural resources, while the Chinese farmers he pronounced to be the best farmers in the world. But, tell it not in Gath, he declared it would pay Canada to utilize coolie labor more than she does.

TWO SUCCESSFUL BRANDS OF CURRANTS.

THE success of the "Paradise" and "Haycastle" brands of currants handled by W. H. Gillard & Co. last year has induced this firm to buy even more largely than they have done in previous years, and they have upwards of twenty carloads of these particular brands in store and arriving, and all bought before the advances in the market took place. It therefore affords this firm pleasure to announce to the trade through the advertising columns of THE GROCER that they are in a position to supply "Paradise" brand at as low a price as that at which ordinary Provincials or Filiatras are being sold. This firm purchased largely in raisins and figs early in the season, and in consequence of this are in an excellent position to give good values to their customers. They have always adopted the principle of buying the best brands packed, without exception, believing that in following this course it not only enables them to do business to better satisfaction with their good friends, but the handling of such goods has been an important factor in increasing the reputation which this house now holds for carrying high-grade Mediterranean fruits.

Recently W. H. Gillard & Co. have been in receipt of a very large shipment of Young Hyson teas, which show extraordinary values, and they are finding a brisk sale for them at the prices offered at. The trade for this firm's bulk blended teas is steadily increasing, notwithstanding the fact that so many package teas are being offered. Their contention is that the sale of teas in bulk by the retailer, provided he secures well-known reliable brands, is much more favorable to his making good profits, instead of working on a close margin on advertised brands which are handled by all his competitors.

KNOX'S GELATINES.

The high quality and splendid values of the Knox gelatines are fast becoming well known, and the goods are now sold by the best grocery trade everywhere. Quite a sensation was recently created at Toronto and Ottawa fairs, where the goods were exhibited. This gelatine is made from calf material. It will dissolve almost as readily as sugar, and each packet will make two quarts of jelly. We anticipate for these goods very large sales.

STAPLES AND DELICACIES.

Caverhill, Hughes & Co., corner Commissioners and St. Peter streets, Montreal, while carrying a full stock of tea, sugar and other heavy staples, devote special attention to dried fruit, canned goods and specialties. They always have leading brands of these in stock, and also represent in the Montreal district "Spratt's patent dog food" and the Eli Pettijohn Cereal Co. Both these lines are fast becoming staples. The former is so much thought of that the animals at the recent dog fair were fed exclusively on it, and the sale of the latter, though only one year in the market, has increased to very large proportions.

A BUSINESS MAN AS WELL AS A SENATOR.

READERS of THE CANADIAN GROCER need not be told that this journal has been the champion of the movement for the improvement of Parliament by the infusion of practical business men, irrespective of what their political complexion may be, into the membership thereof. Every drop of new blood of this character which finds a place on the benches of either the Federal or Provincial Parliaments naturally therefore accords us satisfaction.

The accompanying cut is from a photograph of a business man, who is one of the latest appointments to the Senate. His name is Alfred A. Thibaudeau. He was gazetted August 29 last and represents the electoral division of de la Valliere, in the province of Quebec, the division formerly represented by the Hon. Mr. Angers, who, it will be remembered, resigned to contest Richelieu for the House of Commons during the last Federal contest.

THE HON. SENATOR THIBAUDEAU.

Mr. Thibaudeau is a practical, intelligent business man, being the head of the dry goods firm of Thibaudeau Bros. & Co., of Montreal, and Thibaudeau, Freres & Cie., of Quebec. This firm was established about three-quarters of a century ago by the grandfather of Senator Thibaudeau, and is one of the oldest in Canada.

Senator Thibaudeau is of a retiring disposition, and has been sought after by the offices which he has filled rather than he having sought for them. It is a pity we had not more of his class, say we. He was once a member of the Council of the Montreal Board of Trade. He is at present president of the Dry Goods Association of Montreal and a director of the Great Western Life Assurance Co.

CITRIC ACID.

CITRIC acid owes its name to the source of its manufacture, "citrus" being the generic term for lemons. The acid occurs, however, in the juice of many other fruits than those of the citron variety, as well as in the juice of many plants. The citric acic of commerce, however, is mainly prepared from the lemon, bergamot and lime, the three leading species of citron. Of these three, the lemon contributes by far the greater proportion. In its manufacture the rind is removed and utilized for the purpose of obtaining essence of lemon, as well as essential oil. The fruit is then pressed to obtain the juice. What is technically known as the "single juice" is then boiled down until a syrup of a dark brown color, or of a specific gravity of 1.24 is obtained. The juice contains from eleven ounces to thirteen ounces of citric acid per gallon. The manufacture of citric acid from "single juice" is simple. Whiting is mixed with water and heated by steam in a wooden vat provided with an agitator. The concentrated juice is then pumped slowly in until effervescence ceases, care being taken that the whiting is always in excess. The precipitation that follows is known as citrate of calcium. This is washed with hot water and filtered. It is mixed into a thin cream by the addition of water, and constantly agitated during decomposition, caused by the addition of a small excess of sulphuric acid. This forms sulphate of lime or gypsum, which is insoluble and precipitates. The citric acid left in solution is then separated from the gypsum, and the liquid concentrated in shallow baths by the aid of heat. Much gypsum is at first deposited, and from this the clear liquid is run off into other vessels and further concentrated. When sufficiently strong to crystallize, the hot liquid is run into a tub provided with an agitator, and the liquor is kept in constant motion while cooling. By this means the crystals of citric acid are obtained in a fine powder. The mother liquor is again concentrated and the process repeated. The granulated crystals are drained, and, should impurities show themselves, they are redissolved in water and the solution discolorized by passing it through animal charcoal, from which all phosphates have been removed. The liquid is again concentrated by heat and allowed to crystallize in shallow trays. The resulting crystals are the citric acid of commerce. Citric acid is also contained in unripe fruits, notably the currant, gooseberry and tomato.

HOW SARDINES ARE PRESERVED.

THE catching and preservation in oil of the sardine is one of the most important industries of Brittany, says The Liverpool Post. Along the coast there are about 150 factories. During the sardine fishing season, which lasts about five months, 2,500 boats, equipped with from 12,000 to 15,000 sailors, are employed. Consul Dupin, of Nantes, says that this industry originated at Nantes in the year 1834, and the best brands are still those of that city. These brands are imitated in Spain and Portugal, but are of inferior quality owing to the use of Spanish instead of Italian oil. The sardine is a migratory fish, which first appears on the coast of Africa, passing northward in large shoals, following the coast of Portugal, crossing the Bay of Biscay, and striking the coasts of Vandee in the month of April or May. Here the sardine is met by fishermen stationed at the seaport town of l'Isle d'-Yeu, and in the bays of the Sables-d'Olonne and Saint-Gilles, who assemble from all parts of Brittany and follow the fish toward the north, retarding its progress with a special bait called "roque." Before daybreak the fishing boats leave port to search for the shoals of sardines; many leave in the evening and anchor at sea. When the peculiar bubbling of the water reveals the fish the nets are immediately thrown. Each net is from 900 to 1,000 yards in length, about three yards in width, and black in color. On the upper part of the net are cork floats, on the lower part leaden sinkers to keep the net in an upright position. The oarsmen, generally two in number, row either against the wind or the tide. One man casts the net as the boat advances, while another throws the bait into the water. This bait is an important feature in the sardine catch, as it is expensive, and fishermen often lose a considerable quantity. It is made of the eggs of codfish or mackerel mixed with clay. That made of mackerel eggs is superior. The bait is thrown in the water in small balls, which slowly dissolve and sink. The sardines are spread on floors and salted, and the heads removed. They are then thrown into brine, where they remain for half an hour. They are next washed in clear water and dried on screens. This work is done almost entirely by the wives and children of the fishermen, their united wages during the fishing season enabling the family to subsist during the following winter.

After the fish have been thoroughly dried, they are cooked by dipping them for a few minutes in oil heated to 212 degrees Fahrenheit. They are again drained and handed to workmen, who pack them in small tin boxes, which are filled with pure olive oil and then soldered. The oil used is imported from the province of Bari, Italy. The boxes are next thrown into hot water, where they remain from two to three hours, according to the size of the boxes. When withdrawn the boxes are first cooled, then rubbed with sawdust to cleanse and polish them and packed in wooden cases of 100 boxes for shipment. During their immersion in the boiling water oil will escape from all the boxes not properly soldered. In such case the loss is sustained by the solderer. A good workman rarely misses more than two or three boxes per hundred.

A quality of sardine called "boneless sardines" is prepared by factories in Concarneau and Douarnenez. Their preparation requires special care, and they then command a high price. Sardines in oil are sometimes mixed with truffles. They are also prepared with tomatoes. Sardines are also prepared in butter and vinegar. Sardines preserved in butter are good, but as the butter is generally of inferior quality, it is necessary to remove it from the sardine before serving. Another inconvenience is that the box must be heated to melt the butter, so that the sardine can be removed entire. Sardines preserved in vinegar require to be washed before using. The addition of oil renders the fish more palatable, though the sardine retains the taste of the vinegar, and its flavor is partly destroyed.

DISEASES OF THE NUTMEG TREE.

By Mr. H. N. Ridley, Singapore.

THE only direct cause of injury to the nutmeg tree which has as yet caused serious damage, though others may, under special circumstances, become productive of much evil, is the nutmeg beetle, a very small insect only one-eighth of an inch long, of a deep blackish-brown color, cylindrical in outline, and quite blunt at both ends. It deposits its eggs beneath the bark of the tree, and the small white grub attacks the cambium layer—the living layer between the bark and the wood—causing the bark to flake off. Sometimes it attacks the branches of the tree, burrowing at the base of each twig; in this case the twigs die on each bough, beginning with the lowest, and the beetles soon leave the dead twigs and commence to attack the base of the stem. The nutmeg has a strong tap-root, and the underground portion of the stem and tap-root are the next parts to be attacked. The destruction of the underground portion is unnoticed till the beetles work up above ground, when the bark peels and the wood is seen to be dead or dying beneath. The death of the tree thenceforward is very rapid. As the beetles work away from the parts they have killed to fresh living parts, other beetles, which feed on dead or dying wood, such as longicorns, attack the tree and complete the work of destruction. In order to do as much as can be done to stay the plague the following remedies must be adopted: It is absolutely essential that all branches attacked by the beetle should be at once burnt. The Chinese do not, as good cultivators would, cut off and destroy branches dead from any cause, but leave them lying in or under the trees. As the beetle has been found living six inches underground, the usual practice of burying the boughs at the base of young trees, and with their ends projecting, results in favoring attacks of the new plants by beetles. It is difficult to prevent the beetles from attacking the base or subterranean portion and to arrest the injury when commenced. The better class of cultivators are in the habit of covering the ground beneath the trees with cut lalang; this not only protects the roots from excessive heat and supplies some nourishment to the tree, but it also appears that the beetles attack these trees much less; perhaps they cannot find their way to the bark so easily. Turfing round the trees to the base of the stem would, it is believed, have the same effect. It is also suggested that cultivators should tar the base of the stem, or even tie brushes of cocoanut husk, which might also be tarred, around the base of the stem to the ground, but the brush must be pressed right down to the ground. The rigorous destruction by fire of dead twigs, boughs and trees, the latter being dug out of the ground and burnt, will prevent the pest doing much damage. Another disease of the nutmeg tree is caused by the "mango-borer," a boring caterpillar, to injury from which the mango tree is chiefly liable. It is not unusual to find mango trees planted in or near the nutmeg plantations here and there, and it often happens that the moth which is produced by this caterpillar, not finding sufficient mango trees upon which to deposit its eggs, attacks the nutmegs with disastrous results. As these mangoes produce few or no fruit, they should be destroyed. The parasitic plants, the mistletoes (Loranthus), are most injurious to the trees, soon killing the boughs on which they fix themselves; such branches should be cut off a little below the parasite. A less important enemy of the nutmeg tree is the common blight (a Coccus), which covers the leaves of weak plants, entirely spoiling them. Burning the infected leaves is the best remedy.

SHOULD BE DONE BY BUSINESS MEN.

IT is announced that three members of the Dominion Government will, on November 10, start out upon the mission of gathering data for the revision of the tariff. The gentlemen composing the triumvirate are: Hon. W. S. Fielding, Sir Richard Cartwright and Hon. W. Paterson.

During the proposed data-gathering tour it is the intention, we understand, of the commissioners to glean information from every available source: From the merchant as well as from the manufacturer, from the mechanic as well as from the master, from the consumer as well as from the farmer.

It is to be regretted that the Government did not see fit to act upon the suggestion of this journal, and delegate to a commission of practical business men and such others as might be necessary the duty of investigating the present tariff, and subsequently reporting to Parliament. This, we are persuaded, would have been the better way.

We have no desire to cast any reflection upon the commissioners. The Government could not probably have made a wiser selection from within the Cabinet circle, and in regard to the Hon. Mr. Paterson particularly. He is a business man, born and bred. Our concern is only for the business interests of the country. If politicians can perform the task as well or better than business men, we have no choice in the matter. But it does seem that the business man is the best man for a business job. And gathering material for a new tariff, and fashioning and shaping the same, does appear to be a business job.

Of all the tariff-revising undertakings, none have so much demanded skilled and careful treatment as that which is now to be dealt with. Business common-sense, honesty and enterprise are more important factors in nation-building than tariffs. A nation can exist without the latter, but it cannot without the former. At the same time, however, tariff legislation can do a great deal to help or hinder the progress of a country.

The tariff this country requires is a tariff made by business men for the business interests of the country. A tariff built upon the tenets of party, either Conservative or Liberal, we do not want, neither can we afford to have it. We have already in the past had too many tariffs whose primary object was to bless the politicians. The business interests of the country were a secondary, instead of being the first, consideration. It was not by any means always designedly so. But a professional politician can no more have at heart the interests of the commercial class than can a disgruntled, unmarried woman possess the heart of a mother. Like always begets like, if it gets anything.

A tariff whose foundation is business common-sense will not be constructed with a view to taking under its protection things which wisdom says should never have come beneath its shelter. We are learning by experience that it would have been better to have given some things poison rather than pap. An article worthily deserving of protection often gets into bad repute by being associated with that on the tariff list which is undeserving, just as a good boy gets a bad name by associating with evil companions.

This country is rich in natural resources. We believe no country in the world is more so. The developing of these demands our time and attention. And if we rob Peter to pay Paul, Peter will assuredly suffer.

How necessary, therefore, business care and forethought is in the work of revising the tariff is obvious indeed.

NO NEED TO LOSE HOPE.

THE letter of the Hon. Joseph Chamberlain to the Agricultural Union regarding preferential trade does not contain food for pleasant contemplation by the champions of that movement. At the same time, there is nothing in it that should induce them to abandon hope.

Mr. Chamberlain has not abandoned the scheme, as articles in some of the daily press would have us believe. He merely suggests "that the question of an Imperial zollverein should be deferred for the present." There is no misunderstanding these words. Deferring is not abandoning. Mr. Chamberlain is a practical business man and a tactician: He knows when to be active and when to be passive.

This much is conceded by all: the United Kingdom wants more of the colonial trade and the colonies want more of the Motherland's trade. But the trouble is that we are all more or less wedded to our idols and will not condescend to divorce ourselves from them in the slightest degree in order to secure the desideratum. Free traders in England will not depart one jot or tittle from the most narrow interpretation of the Cobden doctrine, and protectionists in the colonies are not more willing to swallow any part of their faith. Hence, while both are hungry for extended trade, neither will do anything to secure it.

THE CANADIAN GROCER does not pose as a prophet, but this it will predict: Inside of the next couple of years we shall see revived interest in Great Britain and in the colonies (and in Canada particularly) in the preferential trade idea. The United States is Great Britain's chief market, and so it is ours, and the outlook for that country is a McKinley president and a McKinley tariff. What that means is obvious.

Great Britain is essentially a manufacturing country. Consequently it is also an exporting country. And the home market being comparatively limited, it follows that any diminution in the export trade means a decrease in the output of the factories. Now we find that during the last twenty years there has been a steady falling off in the exports of manufactured goods, while in the imports there has, on the other hand, been a steady increase, showing that the British manufacturer is losing both the foreign and the home market. The exports of manufactured articles of the United Kingdom were 22 per cent. less in 1894 than in 1874, while the imports were 47.3 greater. Of the exports we find that those to foreign countries for the years 1890-94 over 1870-74 decreased 10.6 per cent., while for the same period exports to British possessions increased 29.9 per cent.' It is obvious where Great Britain's hope in her export trade for the future lies.

A comparison of the export trade of Canada during the past twenty years will also be of interest in this connection. We find that in 1875 Canada's exports to Great Britain and her possessions aggregated $46,062,177 and to foreign countries $31,824,802. In 1895 our exports on the former account were valued at $68,324,736 and on the latter $45,384,067. In other words, during the twenty years in question the exports of the Dominion to Great Britain and her possessions increased about 48 per cent. and those to foreign countries by about 45 per cent. Our increase is chiefly with Great Britain and the United States, and with the former particularly, although increases of more or less extent are shown in our exports to all countries except Portugal, Italy and the West Indies. But even in the exports to the last-named there has been a steady growth since 1890.

As long, at any rate, as the present high tariffs exist it is evident the British market is the best market for Canada.

NO LOW-GRADE TEAS.

THERE is an absolute scarcity of low-grade Japan and other teas in Montreal at present. This was clearly demonstrated early in the week, when a broker who had an open order from New York hunted high and low for the grades in question. All he could get, though he offered an advance of fully 2c. per pound, was 1,000 packages.

Another unmistakable indication of the scarcity of low grades was the placing of several extensive orders in England by Canadian importers for Young Hysons ranging from 3d. to 4d. per pound for prompt shipment.

In addition to this scarcity in Canada, reliable advices state that there is a big shortage in the crop in China and Japan. Shanghai advices state that the entire visible supply of green teas of all sorts is thirty-three per cent. less than last year. Congous are given as forty per cent. less available for United States and Canada, owing to blight on the crop. In Amoy and Formosa the outlook is for 25,000 half-chests, against 95,000 in 1894, and 65,000 in 1895. Japanese news is equally bullish. The crop of green teas is given as about ten million pounds short of last year, and, as more than nine-tenths of this crop comes to North America, the supply on this continent should be fully thirty per cent. below that of last year. It is said that no fine teas are to be had, and common sorts are up ten to fifteen per cent. Foochow Oolongs are short also, the output being estimated as 25,000 chests short of last year. Russian buyers are reported to have cleared all the dust and siftings on the Foochow market, something unheard of before, and some are speculating whether this action is not the forerunner of a mild famine.

ANOTHER RISE IN VALENCIA RAISINS.

IMPORTERS who tried to place orders for Valencia raisins at last week's level have been unable to do so. Offers cabled last week were refused, as a further advance of 2s. had taken place.

Importers in Montreal, however, had to have the fruit, and willingly conceded the advance. In fact, Montreal commission men state that they have more orders on hand than can be filled in Denia by the remaining direct boat.

Since the Avlona's fruit was landed in Montreal some small parcels have arrived from New York. These were readily absorbed by jobbers at a cost of 4¾c. for off-stalk and 5¼c. for fine.

The Bellona is due in Montreal in about ten days; but her cargo is all sold to arrive. The advance all round has been over 5s. on last year, for fruit that last season cost 16s. is costing at present fully 21s.

CANADA'S EGG EXPORT TRADE.

HE is not a wise man who makes no effort to find another outlet for business when that which he has been accustomed to follow has been closed against him. That which applies to individuals applies with equal force to nations.

When the McKinley tariff went into force six years ago and Canada's practically only foreign market for eggs was closed against her, most people conceded that the egg industry of this country was doomed. Fortunately, however, everybody was not that way of thinking, and those who were not began to turn their attention to the British market. That market has not by any means always been as profitable as one would have desired, but the results have on the whole been much better than a great many a few years ago ever dared to hope it would be.

The voyage is a long one, while the Irish and continental eggs are near at hand, but in spite of these facts, Canadian eggs are increasing in favor with John Bull, and at present the prospects for business with him in this particular line are better than they ever have been, our exports to Great Britain during the past three months having been enormous.

At first John Bull did not like our package. He preferred his 120-dozen case to our 30-dozen case. This prejudice has, however, been overcome, and now with a great many dealers the Canadian package is the favorite.

As far as quality is concerned, that is in the way of size, Canadian eggs are surpassed by the Danish, French and Irish, those from the last three named countries running from 16 to 18 pounds to the ten dozen, while those from the Dominion average from 15 to 16 pounds to the ten dozen. As far as Austrian, Italian, Russian, and eggs from other European continental countries are concerned, those from Canada occupy the first position.

The particular kind of egg which best suits the fancy of the British public is the brown-shelled egg. Eggs of this description will earn from 1 to 2c. per dozen more than the white kind, it being claimed that the former is the richer.

The following table gives the exports of eggs for six years to Great Britain and the United States, together with the total to all countries. As the trade returns for the fiscal year 1895-96 have not yet been issued, the figures for that period are not accessible:

Year.	Great Britain.	United States.	Total to all countries.
	Doz.	Doz.	Doz.
1890	3,600	12,825,735	12,836,660
1891	649,476	7,354,235	8,022,935
1892	3,987,655	3,918,015	7,931,204
1893	4,104,632	2 664,942	6,805,432
1894	3,449,243	1,611,881	5,141,586
1895	4,184,271	2,256,518	6,500,817

This means that the increase in the exports to Great Britain during the six years was to the enormous extent of 116,129 per cent., while those to the United States fell off 83 per cent., and those to all countries by about 50 per cent. Of the total number of eggs which went into Great Britain from all countries in 1895 Canada supplied 2.14 per cent. and the United States 0.61 per cent.

Whether the English market will ever be to us what that of the United States once was remains to be seen. One thing, however, is certain, and that is, that with hostile tariff or no hostile tariff in the United States, Canada should never cease to cultivate the British egg market.

AN ADVANCE IN TEA.

ACTIVITY has characterized the Montreal tea market for some weeks past, the volume of orders from retailers showing a steady increase. A result of this is decreased stocks in first and second hands, and sellers are asking an advance of 1 to 1½c. per pound this week over the figures obtained a week ago.

The great bulk of the demand in Montreal has been for low grade and medium Japan and black teas, but this does not mean that high-grade Japans, China or Ceylon teas have been neglected. Quite the contrary; they have received more than usual attention. Medium and low grades, however, are actually scarce, which makes their strength more conspicuous.

In one case this week a good-sized lot of low-grade Japan was turned over at 11½c. per pound. This same lot was offered the week before at 10c., but buyers were too fastidious then to accept it. The fact that they have done so this week at an advance of 1½c. per pound speaks for itself.

Another lot of medium Japans was shipped last week at 21c., a portion of the same shipment only realizing 20c. six days before. In fact, several instances of similar gains were cited, showing the general strength of the position. The same appears to be the case south of the line also.

Representatives of American firms were in Montreal on Friday and Saturday last offering teas. One of them, a Philadelphia man, had 1,200 packages of his lot withdrawn, showing that there is demand there. In fact, if the sound money party wins a regular boom is predicted in the United States, as stocks generally are estimated to be light.

THE SITUATION IN SULTANA RAISINS.

THE market for Sultana raisins continues strong, and the price of anything of sound quality is high.

Some superior bright fruit, consigned to the Toronto market within the past few days, was picked up at once, and met with a ready consumption at high prices. The grades usually shown on the Canadian market this year exhibit exceedingly poor quality and large admixture of black fruit.

Some samples of rain-damaged fruit are being shown. They present a dark appearance, but the fruit is fat, and undamaged by rain would have been very fine. This particular kind of fruit can be imported at 2c. per pound less than the corresponding grade of undamaged fruit, but buyers are not giving them much attention.

The Produce Markets Review, London, of the 17th inst., in its review of the Sultana raisin market, had this to say:

It is clear that a proportion, at all events, of the fruit that was damaged will be restored to a merchantable condition, as a certain quantity is known to be already on the way, and other parcels are available for shipment. If anything like a heavy weight is saved, it appears likely that some of the more pessimistic estimates of the crop will have to be considerably increased. Two points against any long continuance of present rates can hardly be overlooked, the first being that the growers, if they cannot dispose of their fruit in Smyrna, will no doubt be tempted to consign it to the English markets, and the present scarcity will in one way or another disappear. A second reason is that, at all events, a moderate proportion of rain-damaged fruit will be sent on, and owing to the fact that it is not expedient to hold such stock for long periods, merchants will doubtless force it into consumption. If a considerable quantity be sent, it is not impossible that this fruit may to some extent depress the value of the sound, as has been the case under similar circumstances in previous years.

PROSPECTING FOR CANADIAN PRODUCE.

ONE of the best evidences of the growing impression which Canadian farm and dairy produce is making on the British market is the frequency with which dealers in the large commercial centres there make prospecting tours to this country.

One of the latest to visit Canada for this purpose is Mr. Nalborough, of Nalborough & Sons, Harwich, England, and Leith, Scotland. The firm is an extensive importer of Dutch, Belgian, Danish and German products, and was founded in 1829. How desirable it is for Canada that the Messrs. Nalborough should interest themselves in our products is evident from the fact that their importations are sent from one end of the United Kingdom to the other, and to South America, the West Indies and Africa.

Mr. Nalborough was in Toronto last week, after having made a trip through Western Ontario. The object of his mission to this country is particularly in reference to cheese, butter, eggs and apples, and it is gratifying to know that he has completed arrangements for handling these products. One of his arrangements is to control the sale of Imperial cheese in England, Scotland, Belgium and Holland.

Although greatly pleased with what he on the whole saw in this country, he was not blind to our shortcomings, and he particularly deprecated the carelessness with which some people put up their products, and apples particularly, for shipment to the British markets.

He is not the only one who has uttered a warning in this respect. Only on Monday last a cable from London declared that "if the apple trade is to be kept on a good basis Canadian shippers will have to be more careful in selecting their stock for shipment."

Canada has the fruit, and all she wants is more of the right kind of careful shippers.

ADVANCE IN TOMATOES.

A MUCH firmer feeling in regard to canned tomatoes has developed on the United States market during the past few days. This will be good news to canned goods men in Canada, who are no doubt quite ready to clutch at any straw just now.

The cause of the better prices is the realization of the fact that the pack is 50 per cent. below that of last year. The pack of 1895 was 3,850,000 cases, which in turn was nearly 50 per cent. below that of 1894. The tomato crop, it appears, has been a decreasing one since 1893.

For two weeks past the buying of tomatoes has assumed brisk proportions in the United States. Sales have been made at Baltimore at an advance of five cents per dozen over those obtaining a week or ten days ago, while some sellers are reported to be holding at an advance of ten cents. It is the general opinion that the present season's pack came on a bare market.

The advance in the United States market has naturally induced a better feeling in Canada, but whether it will result in an actual appreciation of values remains to be seen. One thing it appears to have not yet done, and that is induce the wholesale trade to become more anxious buyers. The retail demand, however, has been improving a little during the past couple of weeks, but it is still of small proportions.

The ruling price at Baltimore is 65c., which is better than that obtaining in Canada to-day, which would indicate that at present figures it would be safe to keep stocks in at least a well-assorted condition.

Advices by mail from England state that the demand there for canned tomatoes is improving. We hear of some shipments of tomatoes to that market from Canada during the past few days, but any information as to price we were unable to obtain.

BUSINESS MEN WILL APPRECIATE IT.

Hon. W. Paterson, Controller of Customs, will, it is said, revive the practice of visiting the leading ports periodically for the purpose of consulting with business men on Customs matters. This was a practice that was pursued by Hon. Clarke Wallace, and the business men of the country will not by any means be sorry that the present Controller has decided to follow in his footsteps.

THE EARLY-CLOSING LAW.

THE early-closing question and the recent decision of the Superior Court is a warm subject in Montreal at present.

Last Thursday evening there was a lively meeting on the Main street, Montreal, in regard to the matter. The Retail Grocers' Association, as a body, did not take part, but a number of retailers and a large body of clerks were present.

Some of the former made warm speeches accusing the clerks of taking away the liberties of the proprietors.

President Vallieres, of the Retail Grocers' Association, made a wise suggestion which had the good effect of stopping a discussion that promised to degenerate into a lot of painful personalities and recriminations. It was to the effect that the City Council be invited to suspend the early-closing bylaw until a final decision had been given by the Superior Court. This was adopted and, signatures having been obtained, it was decided to present a petition to the Mayor on Monday morning.

On Monday morning about one hundred and fifty retail grocers and a sprinkling of tradesmen thronged the Council chamber, and on the arrival of the Mayor presented two petitions in reference to the early-closing bylaw. Among those in the deputations were: Messrs. F. de Repentigny, L. J. A. Surveyor, Chas. Gravel, Gagnon & Meunier, A. Gagnon & Co., J. B. A. Lanctot, J. B. Couture, Arthur Gagnon, D. Gagnon, M. Lorge, J. Kelly, J. A. Adams and W. Gundlack.

Mr. Meunier presented the petitions, one from 200 retail grocers, and the other from over 750 tradesmen and others, protesting against the law, and asking for its suspension till the decision in the Supreme Court, as to its constitutionality, is rendered.

Mr. E. Valliere, as president of the Retail Grocers' Association, disclaimed any connection whatever with the present movement.

Mr. E. de Repentigny, in a vigorous speech, denounced the bylaw, urging that it was doing an incalculable amount of mischief. That it did not voice the opinion of the majority was shown by the fact that far more tradesmen were against the bylaw than for it.

Ald. Rainville explained that the bylaw had been passed by the Council in response to a strong petition from the tradesmen and others, and he could only say he was very much surprised at the opposition to it now from all quarters. All the Council could do was to repeal the bylaw, which he was satisfied would be done if a majority of the public declared for such a course.

His Worship the Mayor said the question was one of the greatest importance, and he hoped that those who protested against being compelled to close at a certain hour would take the case to the highest courts in the country.

The deputation then withdrew.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Montreal Grocery Clerks' Association was held in St. Joseph's Hall on Sunday. A number of new members were admitted. The early-closing movement was much discussed, and it was decided that the association help the furtherance of this in every way possible, and it was decided to hold another meeting, when an invitation will be extended to those in favor of the movement and those against to attend.

Mr. Poirier, president of the Early-Closing Association and vice-president of the Grocery Clerks' Association, will start in business on his own account at the corner of Buckingham and St. Catherine streets in the course of a week or two.

A PEEP INTO CROSSE & BLACKWELL'S FACTORY.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER:

SIR,—I have lately returned from a short trip to England, and while in London I paid a visit to Crosse & Blackwell, Ltd. As I handle a considerable quantity of their goods, I was particularly desirous to see their factory. A letter of introduction from their Canadian agent, Mr. C. E. Colson, procured me a most cordial reception from Mr. Blackwell, who requested their Mr. Wyeth to show me around the Soho Square factory, which took at least three hours, and they have two other factories, I believe, as large. I was greatly pleased and struck with the cleanliness and order observed in each different department. I saw some of the finest fruits, vegetables, poultry, fish and meat that I had ever seen, and I am satisfied that in the manufacture of their numerous preparations they use nothing but the best of everything.

I am very glad to be now in a position to vouch for the excellence and purity of the goods which I have always found have given the best of satisfaction. Crosse & Blackwell not only seem to be holding their own, but their goods, I noticed, appear to be still the leaders at home as well as abroad.

Trusting this may be of some interest to your numerous readers who keep Crosse & Blackwell's goods in stock,

I remain, yours, etc.

THE RICE MARKET ADVANCING.

Latest advices received from the European, Japan and India rice markets indicate a strong upward tendency at all points. Stocks in Europe are decreasing rapidly, and the visible supply will fall far short of meeting the prospective requirements of the consumers. The crop in Italy is turning out badly, and that country is drawing on Bremen and London for its supplies. The famine in India has increased the demand for Burmah, Siam, etc., rices, so that all the shippers combined are not able to secure enough to make up a single cargo for export this season. In Japan the crop is very much short and arrivals of new will be delayed fully one month later than usual owing to the typhoons and bad weather experienced during the growing season. All rice-consuming countries are turning their attention to Japan for their wants, and contracts for future shipment have been entered into on a very much higher basis—10 to 15 per cent. above last year's figures.

Success with Canned Meats

It is not a matter of chance. The full and habitual satisfaction of your customer; furnishing goods of unvarying excellence; goods that are certain to please to-day, to-morrow, every day—that is the way to win success. Grocers the world over know that canned meats bearing the "Helmet" trade mark are certain to please. They can be depended on for uniformity day in and day out, and they are prized best by customers who use them most. There is a world of satisfaction in selling them, and a good profit for the grocer, of course.

A shipment of Grenoble walnuts arrived for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., this week. "Our 'Gladstone' and 'Roberoy' pickles are having large sales. They give general satisfaction," so say the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

It is not alone the judicious advertising that has made the "Rising Sun" stove polish and the "Sun Paste" stove polish so successful. The superior quality of the goods is largely responsible for the enormous demand. It may be interesting to the trade to learn that about 20 carloads are distributed annually through St. Louis alone.

Robert Greig & Co. have booked very large orders this season for the beautiful line of Christmas goods shown. Shipments are now being made by each steamer.

Enormous quantities of corrugated paper packing are used in the cases of the "Rising Sun" stove polish. The goods are packed in the neatest and most careful manner, and reach the store-keeper in the best possible condition.

A complete assortment of all kinds of Christmas goods are in store or to arrive with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. Their customers can rely on both quality and prices. "We cannot be undersold by any house in the trade," they write.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in stock a clear, bright, pure sugar syrup in pails and half-barrels, which they offer at a remarkably low figure. The large orders taken to arrive for the pails leave but a few of these, and buyers should order early before this line is cleared out.

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "we believe teas are good property; we are holders ourselves, believing in the future. At same time we are 'free sellers.' Have all descriptions, including good assortment of Young Hysons, Indians and Ceylons. Our Japans at 17 to 18c. are away below what we can import to-day."

ONTARIO'S GOLD.

THERE was received at the head office of the Saw-Bill Lake Gold Mining Co. a shipment of ore taken from the 60-foot levels, where drifting is being done north and south of the shaft. The ore is exceedingly rich and strongly impregnated with coarse, free gold, and will assay up in the hundreds.

As the vein at different points along the surface assayed from $150 to $200 per ton, it is anticipated that even richer ore will be struck in the drifts than that which is now being taken out. The shaft is now down over 100 feet, and gets richer as depth is attained. A large force of miners are at work both drifting and sinking, and a number of new buildings have been erected to accommodate the increased staff during the winter.

Work is progressing favorably at Hawk Bay mine, a short distance from Saw-Bill, in which a number of the directors of Saw-Bill are largely interested. There is every indication from the present showing that as depth is gained the Hawk Bay property will be fully as rich if not richer than that of Saw-Bill. The veins of these properties are undoubtedly true fissures, and both in the case of Saw Bill and Hawk Bay the companies commenced working on ore that showed a handsome profit from the start. Very large dividends are expected, and it is confidently believed that shares in Saw-Bill mine will, in less than 12 months, be eagerly sought after at from $7 to $10 per share.

The average assays of the Hawk Bay mine (which are taken with extreme care by the expert) are over those of Saw-Bill mine, which latter ran on an average of $16 per ton on the surface. Although higher assays could have been secured from both these properties, an average of $15 or $16 shows such a large profit over and above the cost of working that a twenty-stamp mill, crushing from 40 to 50 tons of ore per day, would yield considerably over 100 per cent. per annum in premiums. Recent samples of ore taken from Hawk Bay locations have, it is stated, assayed from $29 to $150 per ton. An advantage claimed for the ore from this region is that it is almost altogether free milling, so much so that with the stamp mill process 80 to 90 per cent. of the gold contained may be taken off the amalgamating plates. There is no scarcity of water in this district, such as in Western Australia, where at the present time the Legislative Assembly is being asked by the Government to advance $12,500,000 to provide a water supply of five million gallons daily to the Coolgardie fields.—Hamilton Spectator.

NOVELTIES FOR GROCERS AND GENERAL MERCHANTS.

SCARCELY two months and the holiday season will be upon us. Between now and then most grocers and general merchants will be casting about for novelties suitable for that trade.

No. 755.

Porter, Teskey & Co., of Montreal, are strong this year in silver, celluloid and leather goods. Their increasing trade and the fine set of samples with which each of their eight travelers is equipped, testify to the ability and experience of this enterprising firm in obtaining and placing before the trade those goods which meet their requirements. Among their most striking lines are smokers' sets, match boxes, frames, trays and jewel boxes in silver.

A very taking novelty is the silver photo holder, No. 1480, gilt embossed, and prettily tied at the end with ribbons.

No. 551.

In jewel boxes, they have various new designs. No. 525 is a handsome one, to retail at 75c.; another taking design is their No. 551, which retails for 50 cents.

No. 755 is a silver calendar, to retail at 50c., and should be a seller.

There are novelties in celluloid coming out all the time, and this line promises to be much in demand. Porter, Teskey & Co. have made careful selections in celluloid goods, and we would mention their letter holders, reticules, handkerchief and glove boxes, etc., to retail at from 30c. to $100.

The new silver pincushions are particularly attractive, and retail at from 10 to 50c. We give two cuts, Nos. 1431 and 1435. No. 1445, an inkstand, is made in both silver and gold trimmings, to retail at $1. No. 9891 is a dressing case.

HOW TEA IS DRUNK IN JAPAN.

The tea drunk in respectable Japanese households, says a contributor to an East India journal, generally costs about 25c. per pound, while from 50c. to $1 will be paid for a better quality fit to set before an honored guest. The most expensive Uji tea costs $6 per pound. At the opposite end of the scale stands the so-called bancha, the tea of the lower classes, which sells at 5c. per pound, and is composed of chopped leaves, stalks and bits of wood taken from the trimmings of the tea plant; for this beverage is tea, after all, little as its flavor has in common with that of Bohea or Uji. Other tea-like infusions sometimes to be met with are Kosen, made by pouring hot water on a mixture of various fragrant substances, such as orange peel, the seeds of the xanthoxylon, etc.; Sakura-yu, an infusion of salted cherry blossom; Mugi-yu, an infusion of parched barley; Mame-cha, a similar preparation of beans. Fuku-ja, or "luck tea," is made of salted plums, sea weed and xanthoxylon seeds, and is partaken [illegible] household on the last night of the year. [illegible] must not be made with boiling wa[illegible] decoction; and the finer the water employed. The Japanese tea equipage actually includes a small open jug called the "water-cooler" (yu-zamashi), to which the hot water is, if necessary, transferred before being poured on the tea leaves. Even so, the first brew is often thrown away as too bitter to drink. The consequence of this is that Japanese servants, when they first come to an English house, always have to be taught how to treat Chinese or Indian tea, and generally begin by giving practical proof of their incredulity on the subject of the indispensable virtue of boiling water.

ENGLISH OYSTERS.

The oyster season concerns a great many individuals. There are even those, says The Morning, who are cockneyfied enough to spell August "Aurgust" in order to satisfy conscience as to the "r" in the months during which the bivalves may be unconditionally consumed. According to reports from Whitstable, Colchester, and other centres of the oyster trade, the warm summer has had a most beneficial effect on the natives, and it is expected that this autumn they will be at least 6d a dozen cheaper than they were last year. But early frosts are the horror of the wholesale dealers, who make their contracts before there is a suspicion of sharp weather. Indeed, in view of the increasing demand, they are obliged to do so. The typhoid fever scare a year or two ago did the business much damage, but now the demand has revived, and is expected to be better than ever. It is not generally known that the Isle of Wight, in the Medina, and especially at the Newtown beds, between Cowes and Yarmouth, produces oysters which are "second to none."

AUSTRALIAN ESSENCE OF LEMON.

At a recent exhibition of fruit products of the Mildura irrigation colonies, Victoria, held at Melbourne Town Hall, essence of lemon made from Victorian fruit was shown by one or two firms. Most of the essence, unlike the Sicilian, is prepared by distillation, the grating process being too expensive, except where labor is very cheap and the lemons can be had almost for nothing. In connection with the distillation of the oil a certain proportion of distilled water is obtained thoroughly saturated with the flavor of the lemon, and an opening is sought for the utilization of this by-product. Citric acid has also been made experimentally at Mildura, but that shown at Melbourne had not crystalized very transparently. Some is in process of manufacture at the present time, but to make a fair profit it would be necessary to charge double the present market price. Bergamot has not yet been produced. Some trees are growing and are more easily cultivated than any other of the citrus tribe.

THE CANADIAN CANNED GOODS PACK.

AN important and interesting meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association was held in the Walker House, Toronto, on Wednesday last. President Ferguson presided. The meeting was the first that has been held since last spring, and was the most representative that has been held for some time, these factories being represented : Bay of Quinte Canning Co. (W. Boulter & Sons), Sydenham Canning Co., Strathroy Canning Co., Miller & Co. (Trenton), Simcoe Canning Co., A. C. Miller & Co. (Picton), Lakeport Preserving Co., Aylmer Canning Co., Lincoln Canning Co., Dunmore Canning Co., Port Hope Canning Co., Burford Canning Co., Garden City Preserving Co., Delhi Canning Co., and South Essex Preserving Co.

The special object of the meeting was to submit and consider statistics regarding the season's pack of vegetables and fruits. The figures presented covered the pack up to October 1, so there is yet another month's output to be taken into account before the season closes on all lines.

Although the pack of tomatoes, corn and peas is larger than it was a year ago, THE CANADIAN GROCER was informed by several packers that the statistical situation as revealed at the meeting was an agreeable surprise to them. "We are all going away much more satisfied than when we came," said one member of the association.

Although the pack of tomatoes is something like one-third larger than last year, it was shown by the figures adduced at the meeting that there was on October 1 something like 50 per cent. fewer goods in first hands than there was a year ago. The explanation advanced for this was that although Ontario has been a light purchaser, the Maritime Provinces and the Northwest have bought more freely than for years. In addition to this there have been some shipments to Great Britain, owing to the short pack in the United States people in the Motherland turning their attention to Canada. Only a few days ago the representative of an English house visited some of the factories, seeing what he could do. There have also been a few speculative shipments to South Africa. One packer present at the meeting offered to purchase the entire pack remaining in first hands, bidding a higher figure than that now ruling. Two others followed, but nothing was done. It was the opinion of those present that the situation in regard to tomatoes was the strongest in the canned goods list. It was shown that five packers were sold out in this line.

The pea pack, as everyone knows, was much larger than last year, but according to the statistics it was shown that stocks had become narrowed down to two holders.

The corn pack exceeded that of last year, and some of the packers spoken to regarding the matter were inclined to consider it the bear feature of the canned goods market, but others again declared that in their opinion there would be none too many at the end of the season.

The fruit pack was light all round, the remembrance of last season's influx of California canned and evaporated fruits having deterred the packers from putting up what they otherwise might or could have put up. Of strawberries it was averred there was not a case left in packers' hands. Pears are nearly all gone. On account of the large apple crop, the pack of apples is not large, and the idea seems to be to put them up principally with a view to the export trade. The pumpkin pack, it is claimed, is also on the small side. One packer explained that he had sold out the first lot he had put up, but he was now putting up a few more. One member of the association informed THE GROCER that the pack of peaches was practically in the hands of one packer, only about one hundred and fifty cases being distributed among the other packers.

These members were appointed to interview the Ministerial Tariff Commissioners : H. Malcolmson, Chatham ; Dr. King, Kingsville ; W. P. Innes, Simcoe ; W. A. Ferguson, Delhi ; Thos. Nihan, St. Catharines ; A. C. Miller, Picton ; H. J. Matthews, Lakeport.

The following factories were made members of the association : Sydenham Canning Co., Kingsville Canning Co., Port Hope Canning Co., Lincoln Canning Co., Burford Canning Co., Dunmore Canning Co.

It was announced that three factories had retired from business, namely, Ridgetown Canning Co., Phœnix Canning Co., Pure Food Canning Co., and that still another had practically done so.

GROCERY BICYCLE RACE.

The staff of the Davidson & Hay, Ltd., held their second annual handicap road race last Saturday afternoon on the Kingston road. The course was five miles with a turn, the starting point and the finish being a short distance east of the Norway Hill. The prize list was a substantial one, and included a handsome gold medal donated by Col. Davidson, for first prize, and a traveling bag from Mr. Hay. The other prizes were also good (even the "Dew of Drumtochty," says Fred. Dixon), although there were hardly enough to go round. There were thirteen entries and the race was as interesting to the spectators as the costumes were varied, which is saying a good deal.

The first six finished in the following dis—order : 1. Charlie Shields, 4 min.; 2. A. A. Paffard, 2 min.; 3. Albert Oakley, 2 min.; 4. F. H. Oulcott, scratch ; 5. H. H. McFadyen, 1½ min.; 6. Fred. Oakley, 1½ min.

The time 16 min. 9 seconds by F. H. Oulcott was very fair considering the gale blowing.

POTATO CHIPS FOR GROCERS.

Quite a trade is being established in Montreal for Marshall's potato chips. Grocers in the different cities should have one of Marshall's glass cases on their counters. They are furnished free. A cut showing the case will be found in our advertising columns. Our representative in the States enquired of several grocerymen who bought these chips. They said the largest sales were to private families, picnickers, campers, hunting parties, etc., and nearly all the free lunch saloons used them. One grocer said he had sold as many as three barrels in a week. Physicians recommend them for fleshy people, as in the process of evaporating and washing the starch is all removed. Mr. Marshall's sales in the New England states alone are five tons a month. The chips are sold in bulk or in ½ and 1-pound boxes, and will keep in any climate.

SMALL COHOE SALMON PACK.

The British Columbia Journal of the 20th inst. says : "The cohoe pack of salmon is very much smaller than was expected, and, after careful inquiry, it is believed that the pack on the Fraser River of this grade of fish will be somewhere in the neighborhood of 20,000 cases."

SEEDED CALIFORNIA MUSCATEL RAISINS.

Something unique in the way of raisins on the Canadian market is just being introduced by George Stanway & Co., of Toronto, It is seeded California loose muscatel raisins, put up in attractive one-pound cartoon paper boxes. The fruit is plump and delicious and should take well, as the cost, taking into account the time and waste saved, is not much more than that of the ordinary article, the waste of which is estimated at 30 per cent. George Stanway & Co. are the agents for Ontario.

The seasonable weather is creating a good demand for the Ireland National Food Co.'s self-rising buckwheat flour.

J. H. CHEWETT, B.A., C.E., in his report on Hawk Bay Location, says:

"As regards the vein, it is undoubtedly a true fissure of great continuity, being well defined upon the surface for fully 1,000 feet, varying in width from six inches to five feet, as far as was observable on the numerous out-crops, the average being over two feet. The vein extends across the full length of the location and can be safely estimated at 2,000 feet.

"In conclusion I have not the slightest hesitation in recommending you to at once proceed with the work of development. The property is well situated, and large returns may reasonably be anticipated."

A full staff of miners are at work, and with most satisfactory results. The vein in the shaft now being sunk is over four feet wide. The vein is undoubtedly a true fissure, and over 2,000 feet in length on the company's property. Very rich assays have been made. The ore for several hundred feet along the vein averages over $17 gold per ton. The cost of mining and milling is fully covered by $5 per ton; with a 20-stamp mill 40 to 50 tons of ore a day can be treated. These facts, taken in conjunction with the extremely low capitalization of this company, warrant the prediction of very large dividends. The capital is $150,000, in one-dollar shares. The dividend paying power of small capitalization is of the greatest importance to investors who look for large returns. The shares in this company are fully paid and non-assessable. Sold in lots of not less than 25 shares. Only a limited number will be sold. Write for prospectus.—H. N. KITTSON, Provisional Sec.-Treas., Drawer 35, Hamilton.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

FURTHER improvement is to be noted this week in the demand for groceries. Being now well supplied with foreign dried fruits, the local market is particularly active in this line. Valencia raisins have further appreciated in the primary markets, and the price of all foreign dried fruits is stronger rather than otherwise. New Valencia shelled almonds and Grenoble walnuts have been received on the local market this week. There is a little better feeling in canned tomatoes than there was, in sympathy with the advance in the United States, and while the demand is also slightly better than it was, yet, generally speaking, the canned-goods trade is dull. Coffees are a little firmer. Syrups are not receiving much attention from either buyers or sellers. Sugars are steady and in fair demand for this time of the year. Increased activity is reported in teas.

CANNED GOODS—The advance in the United States has created a little more confidence in the canned tomato market in Canada, but business in all kinds of canned vegetables as well as tomatoes is still unsatisfactory, notwithstanding that during the past couple of weeks the demand has shown some improvement. No interest whatever appears to be taken in canned salmon. Canned meats are firm, there having been an advance of about 15 per cent. in the price of the Chicago product during the last couple of weeks. We quote best brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 70c.; corn, 55c. for old and 60 to 65c. for new; peas, 60 to 65c. for ordinary; sifted select, 95c.; extra sifted, $1.35 to $1.45; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2.20 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.65 to $2.70; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35; 6's, $7 to $8; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEE—There has been an advance in the primary markets. Santos and Rio coffees are about ½c. per lb. dearer and Javas and East Indian growths are 2 to 3c. per lb. higher. We hear of some transactions locally during the past week in Rios at half cent per pound over previous sales. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS—There are a few dark syrups being offered by the refiners at 1½c., Montreal, and bright at 1⅞ to 2c. There are not many transactions, however. We quote: Dark, 28 to 31c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES—Advices from New Orleans state that the movement is still light, and seems to be partly due to the advance in freight rates from that city. The market appears to be steady. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; ditto, half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR—The sugar market at the time of writing appears to be a little better than it was. In New York on Friday last the refiners were paying 3 1-16c. for raws, but on Monday 3⅛c. was the idea as to price. The New York Journal of Commerce remarked that "for raw sugars it begins to look as though business will be done shortly, and the trade is expecting the principal buyers to soon show themselves upon the market." London, according to latest cable advices to hand, was dull, with beet slightly easier. Locally there does not appear to be any change in the situation. Refiners, it is declared, will not shade prices. We know of one instance where a bid of 1-16c. below the regular quotation for a round lot was refused. There is a fair business doing for this time of the year. Wholesalers' quotations are: 3.95 to 4c. for granulated, and 3 to 3⅛c. for yellows.

SPICES—No specially new features have developed during the week. Business in seasonable spices has been fairly good. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE—The rice market is strong with prices higher in the producing countries. Locally there is no feature to note. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS—New season's Valencia shelled almonds and Grenoble walnuts arrived on the Toronto market this week, and a good demand is being experienced for them at 22c. for the former and 12½c. for the latter. We quote as follows : Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.; chestnuts, $3 to $3.25 per bushel in small lots, with larger quantities being shaded; hickory nuts, $1.75 to $2 per bushel.

TEAS—The tea market continues to be in a healthy condition. There is a good demand for low-grade Indian and Ceylon teas, and teas of this kind, with prices proper, have found a ready sale. A good demand has also been experienced for medium Ceylon teas of fine flavor. Trade in both China blacks and Ceylons is quiet. The wholesale trade reports a good demand for teas of all kinds, particularly Young Hysons and Ceylons of medium grade. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are : Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS—Valencia raisins have further appreciated in the primary market, and a cable on Saturday last to one Toronto broker quoted selected fruit 3s. higher. The demand for Valencia raisins is active. We quote : Off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c.; layers, 6¾c. The firmness is still being maintained in the currant market, and in some lines local wholesalers have advanced their prices during the week. We still quote as follows : Provincials, 4¼ to 4⅜c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c. ; do., half-bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c.; ditto, half-cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Patras, 4¾ to 5c. in bbls., 4⅞ to 5⅛c. in half-bbls. and 4⅞ to 5½c. in cases ; Casalinas, cases, 5 to 5¼c.; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c. New season's Turkish prunes are expected on the market this week. Shipments of California loose muscatels reached the Toronto market this week, and they are beginning to go out in fair quantities. Prices in the primary market have further advanced, the total gain from lowest point being about 1c. per lb. Local wholesalers quote 3-crown at 6½c. and 4-crown at 7⅜ to 7½c. Further shipments of figs are on the market this week and the demand is good. We quote : 14 oz., 10c.; 10 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 18 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 28 lb., 12½ to 16c.; taps, 4 to 4¼c.; natural, 4½c. The market for Sultana raisins remains strong. Some superior bright goods, "Shield" brand, have been consigned to this market during the past week, but in general the fruit arriving is not first-class owing to damage by rain. Prices range all the way from 7½ to 10½c.

Malaga raisins are quiet and unchanged. We quote this fruit as follows: London layers, $2.20 ; black baskets, $2.75 ; blue baskets, $3.25 ; choice clusters, $3.25 ; Dehesas, $3.75.

GREEN FRUIT—Oranges are still in good demand, although prices are a little lower. In lemons the market is a little firmer. Owing to the scarcity prices are likely to be much higher during the next month or six weeks. Shipments en route are light. Bananas are not in very good demand. Grapes are still coming in. The demand for sweet potatoes is being well maintained. A few pears of late variety are still coming forward. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, fancy, $3.50 to $4 per box ; barrels, $6 to $7. Lemons—Verdelli, $2 to $3.50 ; Maoris and Sorrentos, $6 to $6.50 per box ; Malagas, $7.50 to $8 per half-chest ; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2 to $2.25 per bbl. ; apples, $1 to $1.25 for good packed stock ; pears, 30 to 40c. per basket and $2.50 to $3.50 per barrel for ordinary ; grapes, Concords, 1¼ to 1¾c. per lb.; Niagaras and Rogers, 1½ to 2c.; onions, 60 to 70c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish ; Cape Cod cranberries, $5.50 to $6.50 per bbl., Canadian cranberries, $5 to $6 per bbl.; quinces, 25 to 35c. per basket, and $2.50 to $2.75 per barrel; bananas, $1.25 to $1.50 per bunch.

BUTTER—The conditions are much about the same as a week ago, the large quantities of medium and low-grade butter coming forward preventing the market from making any improvement. The demand is light. We quote : Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice ; low grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; pails and CHEESE—Nearly all early makes are sold up and the result is that everybody has got expensive cheese on hand which they cannot afford to sell under 11c. The demand is good. We quote: August make, 10½c.; September, 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.—Beans—There is not much doing, and the idea as to price is much about the same as a week ago, namely, 90 to 95c. per bushel for choice. Dried apples—Large quantities are coming forward, more, in fact, than dealers can handle. There is a fair export demand, but at prices which are almost ruinous. The quality is still very poor, and eight or nine carloads of rejected Canadian fruit are lying in New York. The idea as to price is 2½c. per lb. f.o.b. Evaporated apples — A few orders have been booked for future delivery, but, in general, business is dull. Prices are weak, and 3¾ to 4c. appears to be about the idea as to price. Eggs—There are not many eggs selling, due in part, doubtless, to the inferior quality that is on the market. We quote: Fresh gathered, 15c.; cold storage, 13 to 14c.; pickled, 13c. Honey—Quiet and unchanged. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 7½ to 8c. in 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen. Potatoes—There is no change, the market still being dull and weak. Carloads on track are quoted at 30c. per bag, and small lots out of store at 40c. delivered. Poultry—Receipts fair and demand moderate: Chickens are quoted at 25 to 40c. per pair, and dressed stock at 30 to 45c.; turkeys are 7 to 8c. per lb.; geese, 5 to 6c. per lb., and ducks, 40 to 60c. per pair.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS—The demand has been fairly well maintained, and the near prospect of the closing of navigation has induced a good deal of provisions to go forward. Deliveries of dressed hogs are fairly liberal, but packers claim that prices are too high for liberal buying. We hear of carload lots being taken at $5.15, and sales of butchers' hogs at $5.25. Dry salted meats—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c. Smoked meats—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c.; small hams, 11 to 11½c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above. Lard—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6½c.; tubs, 6¾c.; pails, 7c. Barrel pork—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS—The fish trade is still quiet, but oysters are going out fairly well. We quote: White fish, 7½c.; trout, 6½c.; haddies, 7½ to 8c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

SEEDS—Alsike is quiet and the range in values is wide, some low grades not being worth more than $2.50 to $3 per bush.; some extra choice brings $5.50 to $5.75. Samples of red clover are now being shown, the quality of which is also wide, bringing at present from $4.50 to $5.50 per bush.

SALT—Trade continues to pick up and prices are unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

GRAIN—Deliveries have increased during the week and quotations on the street are higher than they were a week ago. We quote: White wheat, 83½c.; red, 81 to 82c.; goose, 59c.; oats, 26 to 27½c. peas, 49 to 50c.

FLOUR—Buyers and sellers are apart and business is at a standstill with quotations 25c. per barrel lower than a week ago. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $4.80; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.40; Ontario patents, $4.25 to $4.75. Straight roller is about $4, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand for oatmeal is brisk, and prices are firm at quotations. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.20 to $3.30 in bags and $3.30 to $3.40 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

BALED HAY—The free deliveries are causing an easier feeling in prices. We quote: $10.50 to $11 for No. 1, and $9.50 for No. 2.

PETROLEUM—Trade is good and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Flour is 25c. per barrel cheaper.

Lemons are firmer and oranges easier.

California loose muscatel raisins are on the market this week.

There has been a further advance in the price of Valencia raisins.

The Cohoe salmon pack is said to be much smaller than expected.

Coffees are from ½ to 3c. per lb. higher in the various primary markets.

Shipments of new season's Valencia shelled almonds and Grenoble walnuts are on the Toronto market this week.

A letter from Smyrna states that the exports of new crop Sultana raisins to England to September 30 amounted to 383,000 boxes, against 573,045 boxes for the same period in 1895.

GROCERIES.

THE absorbing interest of the week has been the activity and excitement in almost all kinds of dried fruit, in which advances are the rule all down the line. This is notably the case in both Valencia and California raisins, which, despite the radical gains they have made, are still pointing higher. A result of this has been a decided anxiety on the part of local importers to place orders, but to do so they have had to consent to sharp advances in price. In tea, also, strength is the rule, and the market is bare of low grades, and values have advanced fully 2c. per pound during

. . CAUTION . .

DRIED APPLES will be almost unsaleable this year unless the Farmers and Merchants give the strictest attention to CUT, COLOR and CONDITION. Requirements are LARGE QUARTER-CUT FRUIT, BRIGHT COLOR and DRY. DISCOURAGE all SMALL-SLICED and CHIPPY stock. POSITIVELY REJECT everything DARK, BURNT or WET.

With careful attention given to these requirements there is hope for a considerable trade at vastly higher prices than the U.S. fruit returns; by neglecting them, Canadian fruit will be reduced to the U.S. level in quality and price.

It is quicker to Cut fruit LARGE (in quarters) than SMALL, and as easy drying BRIGHT as DARK, it only requires therefore care on the Farmers' part and firmness on the Merchants' to ensure them both a profit as against a loss, besides creating a superior reputation for CANADIAN DRIED APPLES.

the week. Other lines are steady, with the single exception of sugar, which continues unsettled and weak, refiners having consented to concession since last report, and booked orders for delivery as late as January at the decline.

SUGAR—The sugar market seems to have no bottom, for there has been more cutting by the refiners since last report. Business, despite the inducements offered, does not expand, for buyers will not stock up ahead. In a round way sales have been made of large lots at 3 13-16 for granulated f.o.b. at the refinery and it is considered probable that even this figure has been shaded in some cases. Naturally, this unsettled feeling has its effect on jobbers' prices, and though 4c. is the nominal idea for granulated it has been shaded in several instances. We quote 3⅞ to 4c. for granulated and 2⅞ to 3½c. for yellows, as to grade. The position of raw continues much the same. It was thought a week ago that beet had touched bottom, but since then it has gone lower, though more recent cables have reported a distinctly improved feeling.

SYRUPS—The situation in syrups is unchanged, business being very quiet. Stocks are not heavy, but holders are disposed to make concession to effect a turnover when the same is possible. Prices are unchanged, at a range of 1½ to 2¾c. per lb. as to quality.

MOLASSES—Business in molasses has been of a limited character, and this market has developed no change since last week. Values are pretty low at present, and are not expected to go any lower. We quote: Barbadoes, 30c. in a jobbing way, and Porto Rico, 30 to 31c. These prices would be shaded in the case of a round lot.

RICE—Foreign advices on rice are firm, but there is no change locally. Demand is fair and prices well maintained. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES—Enquiry for spices is improving every week, business being fairly active at this writing and spot prices steadily held. Abroad, as already noted, pepper is held very firm. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE — The coffee market continues quiet, though some purchasing in a large way by jobbers is noted. Maracaibo has commanded 16½ to 17c. on this account, and Santos, 16 to 17c. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 19c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS—The tea market has maintained the activity noted last week, the brisk demand for medium and low-grade Japans almost clearing the market of this description of stock, while values have advanced fully 2c. per pound since last week. Green teas are firm here and abroad, in fact, cables generally on all sorts are firm with an upward tendency. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grade; Japans, 12 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT—The excitement and strength in Valencia raisins noted last week continues, and, in consequence of firmer advices abroad, prices have been marked up all round, while orders for future delivery, as specially noted elsewhere, have been placed at an advance of 2s. Jobbing prices here, as a result of this strength, have been marked up ¼ to ½c. per pound, as follows: Ordinary off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine do, 5½ to 5¾c.; selected, 6 to 6¼c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c. The advancing tendency of California raisins also continues, and prices show another rise this week. In fact, bids of 7¾c. were made by local jobbers here for 4-crown, and refused by the agents, who demanded 8c. Values are fully ½c. higher, as follows: 2-crown, 6 to 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c.; and 4-crown 8 to 8½c. A few small lots of Sultana raisins have arrived and are offered by jobbers at 7¾ to 12c., as to grade.

Business has been done in Malaga clusters and layers for forward delivery by the direct steamer at a lower cost than is possible via Liverpool. These fruits when they arrive can be jobbed out at a range of $1.50 to $4. The strength in currants is maintained and higher prices are being asked this week for Patras and Vostizzas, which are ¼ to ½c. up, while other discriptions are firmly held. We quote as follows: Filiatras, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c. Fine provincials are worth about ⅛ of a cent a pound more; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6¾ to 8c. There has been no quotable change in spot prices for prunes, but values are firmly held all round. We quote: French, 5 to 6c.; Austrian, 6 to 6½c., and California, 10 to 11c. The advance noted last week in evaporated California fruit is more than maintained. Bids of 12c. have been refused by agents for apricots and we quote 13 to 15c., while no peaches are obtainable under 9½ to 10c. Figs are steady, jobbing out this week at 12 to 15c., and bag stock at 6 to 6½c.

NUTS—There has been no change in nuts. We quote pecans firm at 12c. Tarragona almonds, 11 to 12c.; filberts, 8 to 10c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 21c.; shelled almonds, 18 to 20c.; peanuts, 6 to 8c., and shelled do., 8 to 10c.

CANNED GOODS—There is moderate enquiry for canned goods and values generally are unchanged. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT—There have been few changes in green fruit. We quote: Oranges, $5 to $5.50; lemons, $3; bananas, 50c. to $1; pears, 30 to 40c. basket, and $2 to $2.50 per keg; grapes, 14 to 17c., and California Tokays, $1.75 to $2 per keg. Sweet potatoes are now arriving and are selling well at $2 to $2.25.

APPLES—The apple market was quiet and under increasing receipts values are easier. Business was done this week in seconds at 85c. to $1, and firsts $1.15 to $1.50, for winter fruit. No fall fruit is on the market now. Cables to-day from Liverpool say: Market opened with a stronger demand, and prices made a slight advance on our last quotations. Receipts continue to land in bad condition, generally. The outlook for good, sound fruit is favorable.

FISH—No improvement has been noted during the week in the demand for fish, on account of the continued unfavorable weather, and, with the exception of pickled herrings, trade in all lines has been light. In fresh fish, haddock continues very scarce, and prices in consequence have advanced ½c. to 1c. per lb. Several carloads of pickled herrings have arrived during the week, and sales, in a jobbing way, have been made at $5 per barrel, and at $2.75 to $3 per half-barrel. The arrivals of green cod have also been considerable, and No. 1 are selling at $4 to $4.25 per barrel. At present the market is completely bare of B. C. pickled salmon, but two or three carloads are expected by the beginning of next month, and sales to arrive have been made at $11.50 to $12 per barrel and $6 for half-barrels. No. 2 small Labrador salmon are selling at $12 per barrel, and No. 1 at $16.50 per tierce. Mackerel are moving very slow at $12 per barrel for No. 2, and $17.50 for No. 1. Smoked fish continues in fair supply, and haddies are now more plentiful, but prices are unchanged at 6½ to 7½c. per lb. Kippered herrings are selling at $1.50 per box, Yarmouth bloaters at $1 per box, and new smoked herrings at 11c. per box. The stock of dried codfish is small, as is also the demand, at $4 per 100 lbs. Pollock are unchanged at $2.20 per case of 100 lbs.; skinless cod at $5.25 per case; boneless cod, 5½ to 6c. per lb., and fish 3c. The feature in fresh fish continues to be the scarcity of haddock, and prices in consequence have advanced ½c. to 1c. per lb. to 5 to 6c. Some pan-frozen stock arrived during the week, which is an unusual occurrence for this season of the year, and sales of this stock have been made at 4½c. per lb. B. C. salmon are plentiful at 10 to 11c. per lb., and pickerel at 7c. per lb. Owing to the long stormy spell in the east, shell oysters of a desirable quality are scarce in this market. Ordinary P.E.I. stock are selling at $2.50 to $3.50 per barrel, Buctouche hand-picked at $4.50, and Miramichi at $2.75 to $3.

COUNTRY PRODUCE—Eggs—There is no change in the egg market, which is quoted 18c. for fresh laid, and 13½ to 14c. for choice candled. Beans—Without movement at 70 to 75c. in car lots and 80 to 90c. in a small way. Hops—A few small lots are moving on the basis of 6 to 7c. Honey—There is no change in honey, prices ruling at 10 to 12c. in the comb and 8 to 9c. extracted. Potatoes—Desirable quality is not plentiful, and is held firm at 35 to 40c., but inferior stock is plentiful all the way down to 30c. Dried apples—Show no change from 3 to 3½c., while evaporated are nominal at 5½ to 6c. Baled hay—Meets a moderate enquiry, and is steady at $9.50 to $10 for No. 1, and $8.25 to $8.50 for No. 2.

HIDES—The hide market continues firm at the advance. Dealers paid 7, 6 and 5c. for the three grades this week, and are asking 1c. advance on that basis.

ASHES—This market continues quiet with receipts rather light. We quote: First pots, $3.50 to $3.55; seconds, $3.05 to $3.10, and pearls, $4.45 per 100 lbs.

PROVISIONS—With receipts of new pack, pork holders are more anxious sellers of old pack. Offers were made this week at $10, and only a few lots could be sold at the price. They were taken by Quebec buyers. New pack is held at 11 to 12c. We quote: Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 6¼ to 6½c.; bacon, per lb., 7½ to 8½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5 to 5¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED—The flour market is not as buoyant as it was a week ago, and though no declines have taken place buyers are more indifferent. We quote: Winter wheat, $5 to $5.15; spring wheat, patents, $4.90 to $5.05; straight roller, $4.50 to $4.75; straight roller, bags, $2.40; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50 to $4.75. Oatmeal has been marked up since last report, but enquiry is not active at the advance. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.40; granulated, bbls., $3.50; rolled oats, bbls., $3.40; rolled oats, per bag, $1.65. The demand for feed continues fair and the market is moderately active and steady. We quote: Bran, $10 to $11; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER—The cheese market has exhibited an easier feeling since last report. The chief item this week was the lower prices accepted for 3,500 boxes or so, Quebec make, offered. They sold at a range of 9¾ to 9⅞c., which is a decline of ⅛ to ¼c. on last week's range. Aside from this there was little doing on spot, and it may be said, at the same time, that these boat sales are no reliable criterion on which to figure the possible price for finest Ontario fall cheese. It is unquestionable, however, that they reflect a market of decidedly less buoyancy. The butter market was quiet, and finest is as firmly held as ever. In fact, it is understood that 19½c. was refused to-day, 20c. being asked, but it is doubtful if exporters would concede the latter price. Enquiry from lower ports for dairy butter is being experienced. A lot of 100 tubs western dairy was put through to-day at 13c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Malaga raisins for forward delivery by direct steamer were offered this week for considerably less money than the early shipments cost via Liverpool.

A few small lots of Sultana raisins have been received this week. They are held steady.

Sugar refiners have offered granulated for delivery as late as January at 3¾ to 3 13-16c.

Low-grade Japan and black teas have advanced fully 2c. per pound in the past eight or ten days.

Considerable import orders for Young Hyson teas for prompt shipment have been placed in England by importers here.

Offers for Valencia raisins were refused this week and importers had to consent to 2s. advance before their orders were accepted.

California raisins have been marked up ¼ to ½c. in a jobbing way on spot, and a similar advance is also asked for Valencia raisins.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 29, 1896.

BUSINESS during the week has shown increased activity, and many report business much better than a year ago. Another feature that produces a much better tone in business is that on many lines a fair and in some a large profit is being made. Also in lumber and water freights, which tend to influence the general feeling here, the changes are for the better. Sugar has continued to drop during the week. If the duty be deducted, it never was offered as low here. Quite a large quantity has been bought to arrive. Pickled fish have had a large movement during the week, some large quantities going to Quebec and Ontario. Carleton is a very busy place at present, owing to the very large number of men working night and day to complete the wharves and warehouses for the large export business expected this winter. St. John has freely spent her money that Canada should have a winter port in a satisfactory condition to handle her large and rapidly growing trade. It is for the other parts of the Dominion to see that she is supported in her effort by having their exports and imports via St. John.

OIL—There continues the large demand spoken of last week. Locally prices in burning oils were rather easier, but it did not result from any decline in the market and is not likely to have any lasting effect. We quote: American burning oil, 21c.; best Canadian, 19½c.; prime, 17c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—The market has taken up the full quantity which has been offered, as it had been bare, and some fifteen hundred sacks coarse are sold out of a cargo daily expected. Where possible importers sell at ship's side, as expense of handling is large. The ex-ship price is, therefore, made low. Demand for fine is rather easier. The large sale of Canadian fine, particularly boxes, has very much affected the sale of the Liverpool factory filled. We quote: Coarse, 50c., factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—While some continue to sell at about cost, many dealers are holding their goods firmer, particularly tomatoes, peaches and strawberries. Of the last two, strawberries are quite scarce and there is quite an enquiry for peaches. Both pears and tomatoes are firmer. Holders of lobsters are very firm. Large quantities from the provinces are being shipped to England. While on the whole salmon are held firm, some low quotations are heard. There are a number of cars still to arrive. New oysters are offered. In pineapple, the grated is being more freely sold than the sliced, as the can contains much more and the quality is usually better. We quote: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 70 to 75c.; tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; gallon apples, $1.85 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.; strawberries, $1.90 to $2.

GREEN FRUIT—While large quantities of apples are moving it is chiefly fall fruit. Prices are rather better than they were, but

MY FRIEND

When thou art in the market for seed, remember that Cottams is the best, and as a bird food 2½ times the value of any other seed. The demand for COTTAMS BIRD SEED is so great, it will pay thee well to handle it. Carefully manufactured virtually under 6 patents, covering the most valuable and most recent discoveries for birds, it will make thee and thy customers, as well as their birds, sing for joy. All wholesalers.

Does it Pay to Handle?

CERTAINLY IT DOES. I take no chances. The quality is of the very best. The New York Condensed Milk Co. is a very responsible concern and guarantees the

GAIL BORDEN EAGLE BRAND

CONDENSED MILK to its customers. Besides, it is no trouble to sell. The majority call for it, and won't take any other brand. If I don't keep it my customers will get it elsewhere. Smaller profit! No, I guess not; have tried both ways and found that it pays to sell only the "BEST." It has been demonstrated to my satisfaction that the GAIL BORDEN EAGLE BRAND HAS NO EQUAL.

still low. The few hard apples arriving also sell low and there is not expected to be much change. The low prices make people very careful about quality. Poor apples will not sell. Lemons are quoted rather easier. Oranges still have a limited sale, as have bananas. California grapes are now selling freely. They and Malagas are taking the place of the Canadian. The most of the pears to hand are Nova Scotia ; the sale is about over. American quinces are being received and find good demand. We quote : Lemons, $5 to $6 ; bananas, $1 to $2 ; apples, $1 to $1.50 , California grapes, $1.50 to $2 ; grapes, Canadian, 30 to 40c. ; grapes, keg, $5 to $6 ; crab apples, 90c. per bbl. ; oranges, $5 per bbl.; cranberries, $4 to $6 per bbl.; pears, $4 to $5 per bbl.; sweet potatoes, $2.50 to $2.75.

DRIED FRUIT—New goods continue to come in slowly. In figs a large quantity have arrived and quality is good. They were sold very freely, and dealers are waiting for further shipments. Quantity of Valencia raisins to hand is very small. Prices continue to advance. California loose muscatels are up another quarter on the Coast; first shipments will be here soon. Those who bought at lowest prices will make a nice profit. Malaga London layers are the grade chiefly bought. Few of the California were ordered owing to the others being lower. The date market seems in odd shape. While our merchants have bought, some of the largest English houses have not yet quoted. There are very few new evaporated apples here as there is no demand, even at the low price. Onions are in good supply, and the trade has increased much in the last few years. By some French prunes are not thought as good as the plums. It would seem the real prunes and the Imperial plums are the same, while that which is sometimes called prunes are more widely known outside of France as plums and are a second grade of prunes. Peels begin to move more freely. We quote : Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; layers, 6 to 6½c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c.; London layers, $2 to $2.25 ; currants, cases, 4½ to 5½c.; bbls., 4 to 4¼c.; cartoons, cleaned, 7 to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 6 to 7c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 4c.; evaporated apples, 5½ to 6c.; onions, $1.90 to $2 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 ; figs, 11 to 15c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron, 17 to 18c.; lemon, 11 to 12c.; orange, 12 to 13c.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Cheese are quoted higher, while stock here is light. Our dealers advance their offers very slowly. It would seem as if they were unwise, as everything points to higher prices. Butter is slow again, and while good brings a fair price, if quality is at all off it is very hard to move. In a wholesale way very little creamery is being handled. Eggs hold the advance of last week and have a good demand. We quote : Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; new creamery, rolls, 20 to 22c.; do., tubs, 18 to 20c. Eggs are steady at 15 to 16c. Cheese, 10 to 10½c.

SUGAR—Prices are again lower, but the low figures do not seem to make general demand very active. Wholesale dealers have, however, bought freely this week at prices said to be (after deducting ½c. duty) the lowest ever known. There is, however, no great hope of any advance yet. We quote : Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3 to 3⅛c.

MOLASSES—The demand continues light. The imports this year have been between five and six thousand casks, which is larger than usual. The first arrivals were more largely sold to country dealers than usual, which makes present demand quiet. New Orleans continues to have better movement, and a very nice syrup is shown at fair figures. We quote : Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 29 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 30c. ; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—Sales are good and full values maintained, particularly in pickled fish. Some Barrington are offered this week, and the price seems low for the quality, compared with other grades. Several lots of pickled herring for Montreal from Nova Scotia have passed through here this week. The shipments of smoked haddies have also been large. They go by express. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50 ; medium, $2.75 to $3 ; pollock, $1.20 to $1.35 ; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.60 per half-bbl.; smoked, 7½ to 8c.; shad, half-bbl., $5.50 to $6 ; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Canso herring, $4 to $4.50 per bbl.; Quoddy herring, $2.75 ; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—While there is some movement, it cannot be called active. Pork is still moving upward slowly, while beef is low, though rather firmer. In lard there is a better feeling, and prices have advanced. There is quite a quantity of old still held. In hams and rolls, outside of those locally cured, there is little moving. We quote : Clear pork, $14 to $14.50 ; mess, $13 to $13.50 ; plate beef, $11.50 to $12.50 ; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 8½ to 9c.; compound, 7 to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—The advance in flour has continued during the week ; this time it has been greater in Ontario brands. Stocks bought for here are large, and were bought at right prices, so our merchants are making a good profit. While it is thought advance may not be much greater the market looks firm. In oatmeal the advance for the week is perhaps even more noticed, as our market had not followed the millers' prices as promptly as in flour. Cornmeal is still at the advance of last week, and but for local competition would be still higher. Oats continue to advance, owing to bad weather on P.E. Island. Shippers have found difficulty in moving oats, which has curtailed the sale, which was quite free, as they were under Ontario prices. Beans, much to the satisfaction of the holders of large stocks here, continue to work up slowly. Advance so far is about 25c. per bushel from lowest point. Barley and split peas have had more enquiry during the week and a number of orders have been placed at very low figures. Feed is still quiet. Buckwheat meal comes in freely, but shows light sales.

The two in one

It is one thing to sell profit-making goods, it is a decidedly different thing to sell satisfactory goods. The first often means but a single sale, while the latter means continuous selling. But happily combines the two. It pays the retailer a satisfactory profit, while, at the same time, it constantly attracts the customer to your store with a magnetically irresistible force.

If you have not got it in stock, write us for samples and quotations. Sold in lead packets only.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

J. Hunter White is agent for New Brunswick for Pepsin cream cheese.

Thos. Gorman received this week some extra new smoked herring.

Two large cargoes of oats are loading at P. E. Island. One for Barbadoes and one for Trinidad.

A cargo of 3,187 bbls. of potatoes was shipped to Havana by W. H. Chase & Co., of Fort Williams, N. S., this week.

Four thousand sheep have so far been shipped from P. E. Island this fall. Five carloads for Boston were forwarded one day this week.

Smith & Tilton say that while they have to push many of their lines, Colman's mustard has no competitor. Their sales are larger than ever.

James Patterson received a consignment of very fine Barrington pickled herring this week, which he offers low in barrels and half-barrels.

The first steamer of the Beaver Line leaving Liverpool for St. John will be the Lake Huron on the 21st November. She will sail from St. John on December 9. Ontario parties should note these dates.

Burning oil dropped 1¼c. a gallon in the local market this week. There is a combination price among the dealers which was broken by one house, and the others took the above action to try to bring the refractory one to terms.

It is said, with the opportunity to ship Gravenstein apples to England in cold storage steamer, the extra profit to the shipper would be $1 per bbl. The crop this year is 100,000 bbls. Total amount of apples for export this year from Nova Scotia is 400,000 bbls., eight times what it was five years ago.

As a result of the meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade, the freight on oats and potatoes from P. E. Island to St. John has been reduced 30 per cent.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

OUR merchants usually buy a lot of fish from Newfoundland. This season has been an exceptional one in that respect. Not because Halifax did not want the fish, but because Newfoundland wanted more than their value. The fish had to come from somewhere, because some of our merchants were unable to fill orders. Gaspe supplied the deficit. One firm alone, N. & M. Smith, bought over $50,000 worth of fish in Gaspe, some of which is being landed here now. The Newfoundlanders have since come down in the price, but they have lost this market for this season. The Gaspe fish look well.

Large quantities of potatoes are being shipped to the West Indies from Colchester County.

Trade in green fruits is fairly good, but not buoyant. Apples are a drug on the market, selling all the way from 75c. to $2 per bbl. Only soft, fall fruit is being received. Ontario grapes are still arriving in good condition and sell at from 30 to 40c. per 10-lb. basket. There are a few Jamaica oranges on the market but the trade is limited. They are quoted at $7 per bbl., repacked. Californias and Floridas will be along in a few days. Lemons are plentiful enough for the demand, which is very limited. They are quoted at from $4 to $5 per box. Cranberries are plentiful, and sell at from $4 to $7 per bbl., the latter figure being for extra fancy Cape Cod stock.

There is nothing doing in dried fruits, as the market is about bare. New figs are overdue. The direct fruit steamer will not be along for another week.

Canned goods are slow and hardly asked for.

The sugar market is dull and featureless. Refinery quotations are: Granulated, 3⅞c.; circle C, 2⅞c.; extra circle C, 3c. The refinery quotations same date last year were: Granulated, 4¼c.; circle C, 3c.; extra circle C, 3⅛c.

Breadstuffs are firm at the advance with a fair volume of business. The amount of business done at Halifax is not what would be generally supposed on account of its situation, indeed, a few years ago any one merchant would have done more than all the dealers are now doing. This is accounted for from the fact that travelers for the large milling firms have cut the ground up. The firm of De Long & Seaman, Boston, have virtually full charge of the Bay of Fundy trade and the western Atlantic coast as far east as Lunenburg. They employ a good many vessels carrying cargoes of lumber, etc., to Boston and utilize them to bring home return cargoes. Our merchants carry very small stocks, mostly selling to arrive. Quotations are: "Ogilvie's" or "Five Roses," $5.20; Ontario made Manitobas, in wood, $4.75 to $4.90; Manitoba shipments in sacks, $4.40 to $4.60; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $4.40 to $4.70; 80 per cent. patents, $4.50 to $4.65; 90 p.c. patents, $4.35 to $4.50; low grades, $3.75 to $4; oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.25; cornmeal, $1.95 to $2; middlings, per ton, $15.50 to $16; shorts, $15 to $16.50; bran, per ton, $15 to $15.50; white oats, per bushel, in sacks, 30c.; cottonseed meal, per ton, $22 to $23; oilcake meal, per ton, $22 to $23; hay, per ton, $11 to $11.50; split peas, $3.15; pot barley, $3.50; white beans, per bush., 95c.

The number of vessels in port with Prince Edward Island produce is not large, probably aggregating 8,000 bushels of potatoes and 6,000 bushels of oats. Island potatoes are of good quality and sell at from 28 to 30 cents per bushel, ex vessel. Oats bring the same figures. Turnips sell at 20 cents per bushel.

Lard is moving on this market, being quoted at 9½c.

Eggs are still advancing and not very plentiful, Island stocks being slow in arriving. The jobbing quotation for good stocks is 16c.

Cheese is going up and is now quoted at 11c.

Butter is also stiffer and in good demand. Tub creamery is quoted at 20c.; prints, 21c., with a further advance expected, and dairy 16 to 18c.

A good business is being done in fishstuffs. Alewives are very firm at present, and the prospects are for a further advance. They are quoted at $3.25 ex vessel. There are no salmon obtainable here. The Newfoundland market is also reported bare. The present quotations are $17.50 for 1's and $15.50 for 2's. Fat herrings are in good demand, there not being quite sufficient offering to fill local orders. Bank and bay cured codfish, if anything, are stronger in tone, owing doubtless to the scarcity on account of exceedingly bad curing weather. We look for a good advance in the near future if arrivals are not larger. Newfoundland hard cured cod are very scarce and none reported on the way. There were ten vessels last season to one this from that locality. Quotations are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50 large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.25; Labrador, $2 to $2.55; haddock $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.25; Bay of Islands herrings, $1.25; Labrador, No. 1, $5; do., No. 2, $3.50; No. 1, large, fat shore, $3.25 to $4; alewives, $3.25; mackerel, No. 3, large, $8 to $8.50; No. 3, fat, $10; No. 2, fat, $11.50; No. 1, fat, $13; salmon, No. 1, $17; No. 2, $14; No. 3, $12.

The death occurred in this city on Monday of J. B. Black, of the produce and commission firm of Black & Flynn. He was in his 34th year.

DO YOU MAKE MONEY ON

Malaga Raisins?

If not, you ought to, and you can by buying only, and insisting on getting only, the brand—

W. C. BEVAN & CO.

Five years ago this firm came into the Canadian market with fruit packed for the RETAILERS' REQUIREMENTS (not with the face of the box looking pretty by packing loose raisins among the layers to show an even face but) with fruit packed in CLUSTERS, which can be lifted out singly and without breaking, thus avoiding loss.

Did the trade appreciate this? The answer is to be found by asking another question: Where are the brands that held the Canadian market up to the advent of "Bevan"? Their very name is forgotten, and they are followed by a few cheap imitators who have tried to pack raisins to "look like Bevan's," and, even as far as they dare, adopted brands to sound like his. The brands of Clusters packed by W. C. BEVAN & CO., Malaga, are—

Connoiseur Clusters
Royal Buckingham Clusters
Extra Dessert Clusters
Imperial Russian Clusters
Royal Excelsior
Windsor Clusters

"GRAHAM'S BEST ROLLED OATS."

If there is one thing a consumer can be excused for being fastidious about it is his porridge food. Grocers and general merchants should, therefore, be careful that they handle nothing but breakfast foods whose quality can be relied upon. In another page will be found an announcement regarding "Graham's Best Rolled Oats," which the trade should consider. Mr. Graham, the maker of this brand of oatmeal, has just fitted out his mills at Uxbridge with improved machinery of the latest design, and consequently is turning out a modern and first-class breakfast food.

A NEW FIRM FOR SHELBURNE.

Ritchie & Rowland is the name of a new firm that has just opened a general store in Shelburne, Ont. They are bright, pushing young men, and should succeed. Mr. Ritchie is a son of Mr. R. W. Ritchie, one of the Eby, Blain Co.'s veteran travelers, and, like his father, has also carried the "grip" for the same firm. Mr. Rowland is also a trained business man.

TIMEKEEPING BY FLOWERS.

Gardeners should know that it is quite possible to so arrange flowers in a garden that all the purposes of a clock will be answered, says Pearson's Weekly. In the time of Pliny forty-six flowers were known to open and shut at certain hours of the day, and this number has since been largely increased. For instance, a bed of common dandelions would show when it was 5.30 o'clock in the morning and 8.30 o'clock at night respectively, for these flowers open and shut at the times named, frequently to the minute. The common hawkweed opens at 8 o'clock in the morning and may be depended upon to close within a few minutes of 2 in the afternoon. The yellow goat's beard shuts at 12 o'clock noon, absolutely to the minute, sidereal time. The sow thistle opens at 5 a.m. and closes at 11.12 a.m. The white lily opens at 7 a.m. and closes at 5 p.m.

QUICK SHIPPERS.

For years past the firm of Lucas, Steele & Bristol have given their personal care to prompt shipment of orders. To-day they are known all over the country as "the quick shippers." Orders received even by afternoon mail are sent out same day. Their phones, 447 and 1258, are always at customers' disposal.

Hoover & Son, Toronto Junction, have added a grocery to their flour and feed store.

The eccentric John Randolph once sprang from his seat in the House of Representatives, and exclaimed in his piercing voice, "Mr. Speaker, I have found it." And then, in the stillness which followed this strange outburst, he added, "I have found the Philosopher's Stone: it is Pay as you go."

A bankrupt merchant, returning home one night, said to his noble wife, "My dear, I am ruined; everything we have is in the hands of the sheriff." After a few moments of silence the wife looked into his face and asked, "Will the sheriff sell you?" "Oh, no." "Will the sheriff sell me?" "Oh, no." "Then do not say we have lost everything. All that is most valuable remains to us—manhood, womanhood, childhood. We have lost but the results of our skill and industry. We can make another fortune if our hearts and hands are left us."

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, NOVEMBER 6, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 45

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

When business is not business it is ruin.

Whoever has industry possesses a winning card.

Money dammed up by the father often drowns the son.

A clean store may not attract flies, but it does customers.

Have a name for good goods and keep it before the public.

Looking on the dark side beclouds one's chances of success.

Give your clerks their due as well as your customers their weight.

That which is bargain in name is often deceitful above all things.

Honesty is the best policy for the merchant as well as the clerk.

Buy with confidence and judgment and sell with profit and honesty.

What a man shall reap in business depends upon what he shall sow.

Persistency is the wedge which opens up to its possessor the way of success.

When values are hardening the heart of the mercantile man begins to soften.

It is better to aim high in life, even if your shot does fall short of the mark.

Push and industry, spiced with confidence, is the best remedy for trade depression.

Many a man has failed in business because he failed to select the right business.

If a man's goodness does not expand with the swelling of his bank account the gold which he is acquiring is making him poorer rather than richer in that which is to be desired above all things else.

When a merchant knows his business it does not take the people long to know him.

It does not matter whether the rot be dry or wet, it will kill business as well as a tree.

A pleasant smile is worth from five hundred to a thousand dollars to any merchant.

If you cannot do what you want to do, grapple with that next to it which you can do.

Ambition has ruined many a man; but without ambition all men would be nonentities.

Be enthusiastic in your business or you will never inspire people to come to your store.

Have regard to the children, and there need not be much concern about the parents.

The better you learn your business the less likely are you to learn about the evils of adversity.

The business man who cannot make two ends meet will eventually have to meet his creditors.

If a merchant would have his clerks respect him he should respect the rights of his customers.

Not until the day comes when a loafer is an article of commerce should he be tolerated in the store.

It is not so much what he takes in as what he digests that makes a man strong in business practice.

It is well to have a store that will attract; but a merchant should not rely on the store alone to bring customers, but he should send out in the highways and byways and bring them in.

Temper largely determines a man's possibility for success in life as well as a sword blade's utility.

If you lose a customer go out and try to find the cause, even if you cannot get the customer back.

A man that assumes airs is usually full of wind and empty of everything else that is worth possessing.

Buy what you require, but do not buy that which someone wants to sell you but for which you have no use.

You do not add anything to the goodness of your own name by trying to give disrepute to the "other fellow."

The clerk who gets into the kernel of his business will get the kernel of trade when he is in business for himself.

The hardest things that can be said against a competitor are too soft and weak to be used as business building material.

A young man may lose minutes and hours by being obliging, but it is not in dollars or in other people's esteem that he will be any the poorer.

Like seed, the better an advertisement is the more fruitful will it be. A poor advertisement cannot be expected to produce good results.

What we are all hoping for is that the golden grain will now make gold for the farmer, so that he in turn may make glad the heart of the merchant.

MORSE BROS., Proprietors, Canton, Mass.

FOR SALE BY ALL WHOLESALE GROCERS, ALSO THE M'CLARY MFG. CO., LONDON AND TORONTO.

A GREAT ENTERPRISE.

AN addition has been made to the architecture of London, by the opening in the City road of Mr. T. J. Lipton's new premises. The buildings in Bath street were rapidly growing too small for the ever-increasing volume of business, and a commanding site in the City road was decided upon two years ago. Built of white stone and red brick, the building presents from the road an imposing appearance, which is not a little enhanced by the magnificent doorway, 30 feet in height, and flanked by pillars of grey marble. At the top of the doorway are a couple of emblematical female figures, supporting the Royal Arms. Entering the office, one finds oneself in a magnificent apartment, having a floor area of no less than 6,000 feet. This, as well as the entire building, is lighted by electricity. The height from floor to ceiling is 28 feet, the magnificent panelled ceiling being supported by majestic marble pillars. The desks are strikingly arranged, and a large beautiful Spanish mahogany counter runs the whole length of the office. Here Mr. Lipton's clerical staff of over 300 male and female clerks are comfortably accommodated. Here, also, the private telegraph wires and rows of telephone boxes are placed for communication with the head depots in Glasgow, Liverpool, and Dublin. To the right of the large general office are five smaller offices, which are devoted to the use of secretaries and managers, and at the back one comes to Mr. Lipton's own private office. This apartment, with its carved ceiling, its panellings of no less than ten different kinds of wood, its electric lamps, and its sumptuous fittings, may justly claim to be one of the most luxurious ever seen in a purely commercial office. This room is connected by telephone with every part of the building, and is fitted with every convenience. It is a fact well worth noting, and one that will help to measure the huge extent of Mr. Lipton's business, that on the premises there is a private printing office employing 200 hands. The printing staff are bestowed in two large rooms on the second floor. There is everything that would be found in a first-class printing office—type of all founts and for thirteen different languages, and machines, including litho-machines, totalling up to forty of all kinds and the best and most improved makes. There are printed here posters (including the familiar Cingalese damsel drinking a cup of "Lipton's tea," that is so well known on the hoardings), handbills, wrappers, labels—in fact everything needed in the business. When it is considered that Mr. Lipton has his tea, coffee and cocoa estates in Ceylon, stock yards and ham and bacon stores in Chicago, while he has his own stores and buyers in most of the principal markets in Ireland, large curing and distributing stores in Liverpool, Glasgow, Dublin, and branches in every part of the world, it will be readily understood what an immense amount of printing material is required. Unusual as it may appear, Mr. Lipton keeps his own architects and solicitors on the premises, special apartments being set aside for them, where all plans and specifications of new buildings, leases of premises, and other legal business of the firm are respectively dealt with. Beyond, again, is the "canteen department," as it is called. From here a ship or a regiment can be completely victualled on the shortest notice. Up above the printing office on third floor are the tin and box-making departments. All the tinware used by the firm is here made up from the sheet tin, and a most interesting sight is the great room with its huge piles of glittering tins, and the busy machines cutting and shaping fresh piles every hour. The huge building through which we have just passed shelters, during the day, no less than a thousand employes. It may also be mentioned as a notable feature in connection with the opening of the new offices, that a full-sized portrait of Mr. Lipton, painted by Professor Herkomer, R. A., and subscribed for by all his employes throughout the world, was presented by the staff.—Illustrated Sporting and Dramatic News.

JACKSON-SMYLIE.

IN the presence of a very large gathering of friends and relatives that filled every seat in Grace Church, Detroit, one evening last week, occurred the marriage of Miss Helen Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert William Smylie, and Mr. R. J. S. Jackson, of Montreal. The bridesmaids were Miss Lillie Little and Miss Ruth Scott, of Quebec. Dinner was served at the Detroit Club, and Mr. and Mrs. Jackson left on the late train for the east. The bride received many beautiful gifts from friends in Detroit, and several handsome cheques and useful presents from Quebec, Toronto and here are awaiting her at her new home, 415 Mount Pleasant avenue, Westmount.

Mr. Jackson has been connected with various local sporting and social clubs and has always made a satisfactory and energetic officer. He was secretary of St. George's Snowshoe Club for years, and a large share of the club's success is due to him. Mr. Jackson was secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Skating Club, from which office he resigned recently, He was at one time secretary of the Lachine Boating and Canoeing Club and is a member of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, and occupies a position on several of the club's committees.

Mr. Jackson is a member of the firm of Chard, Jackson & Co., agents and importers, Montreal. He is a native of Quebec and is a son of Dr. Jackson, of that city. He has a large circle of friends among the readers of THE GROCER, who wish him all possible happiness.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. George Stanway, Toronto, spent last week in Montreal, his old home, and was, as usual, warmly received by his numerous friends there.

Mr. E. F. Murphy, of Chicago, representing Siegfried & Co., Kobe, Japan, was in Toronto this week. He was accompanied in his visit to the trade by Mr. George Musson, the firm's local agent.

NECESSARY BOOKS FOR A RETAIL GROCER.

SECOND PAPER.

[By a city grocer and expert bookkeeper.]

IN our former paper, we had safely received, checked and noted down all necessary particulars regarding our goods. In this paper we propose to sell and deliver them economically and profitably to our customers. "Goods well bought are half sold," some wise man has said. He must have been a shopkeeper, of course, or he would not have known anything of buying and selling goods. Still, notwithstanding the ancient proverb, it is very hard work selling goods now-a-days, and the art of the salesman is taxed to the greatest tension to keep up with the demands of the pampered and spoiled public.

Our first requirement is the "counter check book." We all know it, and revere the original inventor whoever he may be. The various companies manufacturing this handy affair have been fighting ever since trying to prove which of them bought out the original inventor, nor have they placed him yet. We do not propose to tell our readers which is the best book to use; we firmly believe that the worst is better than none at all, and that this one convenience has saved more labor than many other schemes combined. As we are all thoroughly conversant with the check book in its many forms, no lengthened description will be necessary, but this idea may have value: In ordering your books have them all numbered on the outside, as from 1—100. If you order largely have them lettered also as A, B, C, D, E—A 1—100, B 1—100, and so on, the idea being to have your books handy for reference, and also handy to give each clerk his individual check book, for which he is responsible. Having got our order taken down, it goes, of course, to the cashier's desk, to be entered in the day book, which is of the ordinary type, the only difference being in the way of using it. The left-hand page is reserved for paid orders and the right-hand one for charged accounts. This notion has been found to work admirably, in that paid orders, having their own place and being necessarily disposed of on delivery of the goods, there is no further action necessary, save only in case of mistake. The charged goods, on the other hand, having yet to be ledgered, are by themselves. All must be entered up, and there is no excuse for missing any. As the day book may be differently used, an extract from a page will be useful at this stage:

GOODS PAID JAN. 2, '95.

Book.		Driver.	Pl.
A 96	J. Smith, 10 Ross street...	A		$6 80
B 10	R Brown, 18 George st. ..	J		75
C 13	G. Ross, 17 Classic.....	A		7 98

"Goods charged" have exactly the same ruling, the only difference being that a line is left between each entry in case alterations or additions are made. The first column represents number of check book duplicate, noted in case reference is necessary at any time. The use of the driver's initials ensures proper location of blame should any complaint be made of inattention. Our readers will also notice the total absence of all entering up of items of each bill. The check book duplicate being preserved, and easy of access, if John Smith wants particulars of his account, a simple reference to his entry shows us that the information may be found in A 96, July 2, '95, and we there have everything in the original black and white, written in his presence, and therefore indisputable.

Meanwhile, the bill being entered up, is passed out to be put up ready for delivery. This is an important branch of store work, and the careless clerk putting up orders has caused more bad language and lost more business than anything else we know of. After being put up the goods must be delivered by a man, horse and wagon. If this driver has nothing to check and guide him, he trusts too much to memory, and occasionally forgets some of his most important injunctions. Some stores use sheets of ordinary paper, others printed forms, but our suggestion is for a "delivery book," thus:

P. or C.	Name and Address.	Pcl.	Box	But	Odds & Ends
P	J. Smith, 10 Ross.	1		1	Broom.
E	C. Thomas, 9 Cherry	1			¼ flour.
P	G. Ross, 17 Classic.			1	Box eggs.

This, although an important help, is not so esteemed by everyone. Many will not think it necessary so to provide for the driver of a wagon. But give a man a sheet of paper, on a wet day, with a big load of groceries to be delivered all over a scattered town or city, and where will your sheet be after a block or two? Then in case of dispute where is your record of his load? If he has a dozen "collect orders," do you not think it will be more satisfactory to have them marked off his wagon book by yourself on receipt of same? Many other points of value will crop out in the constant use of a strong, plain, narrow book, suitable to be put in the pocket and carried in a handy position. You need not rule it if pressed for time, as the straight line can be used for all necessary information. The "butter column" is not for use in cool weather, but only when the ice box, which every go-ahead grocer uses when he wishes his customers to get their butter in good order on hot days, is in commission.

With this book there is no excuse for the driver forgetting any man's goods. The odds and ends, such as washboards, pails, brooms, etc,, cause endless trouble by reason of their not being packed with other goods; but, with his register of orders properly made out, the porter not only receives his load, but delivers it satisfactorily to all concerned.

The driver having got fairly started with his load, nothing remains for us but to leave him to deliver the same to the customers, taking care that each party checks the goods by the bill which always goes along. This bill is preserved by the careful housekeeper, and if an account is kept at your store there will be no necessity for using that ancient nuisance, viz., the pass-book, as the bill is all that is required to check the monthly statement. This statement need not be in detail either. There is positively no necessity for copying over again details which are already in the hands of the customer. So we have our goods in safety, to give complete satisfation we trust to our customers.

In our next paper we hope to treat of the purely office books, such as cash, petty ledger, ledger, etc.

BUSINESS-LIKE TARIFF WANTED.

WHILE tariffs are not by any means the chief factors in nation building, they exercise an influence for weal or woe to an important degree. It is clear then that in the ensuing revision of the Canadian tariff it will be necessary to exercise much wisdom in order that good and not harm may be done.

The tariff of this country has become a matter of business. It was at one time a question which political parties were to ride in or out of power on it. But that day has gone by. The reasons forsooth may not arise from the same motive; but that does not alter the fact that for the time being at any rate Canada cannot do without a Customs tariff.

In drawing up the proposed new tariff the Government will naturally be beset by many difficulties. Some industries will doubtless want the tariff-wall which already surrounds them made a little higher while others whose wall of protection is already too high—as every business man knows is the case—will strenuously oppose any and every attempt to cut it down.

When a merchant undertakes the reorganization of his business he decides to curtail here and expand there. His whole object is to produce effects which in the net result will be beneficial to that in which he has his capital invested. The tariff is a business matter, and that which is the best for the commercial interests of the country is what it is the duty of the Government to try and secure.

When a man invests his capital in a commercial enterprise he is not looking alone at the possibilities of to-day; his eye is upon the future as well. It is the same with the general when manœuvring his battalions on the battle field; it is the same with the chess player when he makes a move.

In re-arranging the tariff there are some things upon which it will obviously be to the best interest of the country that the rate of duty should be made much lower, or perhaps removed altogether. In others again it will probably be found that business commonsense would demand that an opposite course be taken.

When a tariff is being revised the question as to whether this or that proposition leads in the direction of free trade or protection should not be considered. The great question is: Is it business-like?

If the tariff is considered from a business point of view, the mere fact that the rate of duty upon this or that article is 10, 25 or even 75 per cent. should not be in itself the determining factor for either increasing or decreasing it. It is quite possible that a tax of 10 per cent. may be more unreasonable and burdensome to the country than even a duty of 75 or 100 per cent.

It is the utility which that duty possesses as a developer of the industrial interests of the country which should be chiefly taken into consideration. In other words, does the rate of, say, 35 per cent. produce industrial results of a higher percentage of benefit to the country? To put it another way: Would the money saved to the country by reducing or removing the duty on a certain article be greater than the loss that would be entailed in capital, wages, etc., through the foreign-made article being thereby allowed to supplant the home-made article? That should be the pivotal point upon which the question should turn.

It is no use for this country to waste its time and energy in trying to develop industries which are no more natural to it than are teeth to an oyster; but it would be equally unwise to cripple or destroy industries which are, in their net results, beneficial to the country in order that what is an apparently high tariff may be reduced to what is considered a medium or low one.

No wise man hesitates to spend a dollar in order that he may earn a dollar and a half; neither should a nation object to be taxed 25 to 50 per cent. when the investment is a profitable one.

WINNIPEG CITY TRAVELERS.

The commercial men of Winnipeg who represent the wholesale houses for city business have decided upon permanent organization. A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the city travelers was held in the Civic Committee room at the City Hall on the evening of the 30th ult., with Mr. D. M. Horne in the chair, when the above decision was arrived at, the organization to be known as the Winnipeg City Travelers' Association.

CANADA AND THE PRESIDENTIAL CONTEST.

THE sympathy which Canadians generally have given the victor in last Tuesday's presidential contest is not born of any solicitude for Mr. McKinley. Canada's sympathy was born of the fact that he was the champion of sound business principles, as applied to the currency question. There her concern ended.

Had Bryan triumphed that confidence which is so essential to healthy trade would have undoubtedly taken wing. What would follow in the wake of the vanishing confidence is obvious.

Mr. Bryan's opponents undoubtedly exaggerated the consequences which would follow were the economical doctrines he enunciated to triumph. But this does not alter the fact that the bare possibility that there was of his election caused a partial paralysis of trade, induced foreign capitalists to withdraw their capital, and even frightened many men in the United States to deposit their surplus cash in banks in Canada.

If, therefore, the mere supposition that Bryan might triumph wrought so much injury to trade, what must have been the consequences, for some time to come at any rate, had the voice of the people of the United States spoken otherwise than it did?

In such an event Canada would have suffered. At present the trade conditions in the Dominion augur well. Our crops on the whole have been good, and a much better range of values are obtaining. Then, our mining industries are being developed as they never were before, while our export trade is expanding and our home industries reviving.

Canada naturally does not expect any favors from McKinley or the triumphant Republican party. McKinleyism and Republicanism in the pasthas meant high tariff against Canadian products, and we have no reason to expect that they will mean anything else in the future. But Canada's desire to see triumph the cause of sound, economical principles takes precedence over all other questions.

The election of Mr. McKinley means the revival of trade now. In both Canada and the United States the manufacturing industries have been running at their minimum capacity and merchants have been buying merely with a view to keeping the soul and body of trade together. And, in order to secure to-day the good times, we in Canada prefer to run the risk of a revival of McKinleyism to-morrow rather than by rejecting it, bring into existence that which might be more dire in its results.

CANNED TOMATO SITUATION.

SINCE THE CANADIAN GROCER went to press last week it has been ascertained that one of the things decided upon at the special meeting of the Canadian Packers' Association held in Toronto on Wednesday, the 28th ult., was the fixing of a uniform price on certain lines, notwithstanding that after the meeting in question it was stated to this paper by some of the members that no such action had been taken.

There is no question now, however, that an understanding to this effect was arrived at. It does not appear to have been a hard and fast agreement ; it was merely an understanding whereby tomatoes should not be sold below 65c., corn at 55c., and peas at 65c. per dozen.

There appears to be a difference of opinion among the trade as to the wisdom of this at this time, when the demand is light, but it is generally conceded that the extremely low prices which have been obtaining lately, on tomatoes particularly, warranted the packers taking some steps to prevent the continuance of the evil, goods in many instances being sold below the cost of production.

The advance, which is five cents per dozen, has induced some at least of the wholesalers to put their figures up 2½ to 5c. per dozen, but it does not appear, so far at least, to have induced them to become freer purchasers. It must, however, be remembered that this is not the time, as a rule, when they do buy much. And then, while the jobbers' purchases in Ontario have been light, so also have those of their customers, the retailers.

One thing, however, is certain, the market is stronger, and, as one wholesaler put it, "If the canners can hold out they will in time get the advance."

There is some talk that the condition of the market in the United States would allow Canadian packers to export to that country and net them as good or better prices than they are getting in the home market. This, however, does not seem possible. The duty alone on tomatoes at 60c. would be 18c. per dozen, the rate being 30 per cent. ad valorem, to say nothing whatever about the freight. This alone would bring the price up to 78c., while, according to The Trade, of Baltimore, the Hartford county packers are holding at 70 to 75c., and the New Jersey packers at 80to 85c.

In New York this week 3-lb. tomatoes are quoted at from 75 to 85c., according to brand. Prices there are firm and unchanged, except in gallons, which are held 10 to 15c. higher than they were a week ago. These prices, it may be stated, are 20c. above the lowest point.

In England tomatoes are slightly dearer on the spot, "but the market," says Produce Markets' Review, "responds very slowly to the higher prices asked for both American and Italian growths, and the accumulations of stocks here are doubtless still large enough to prevent any important advance for some time to come."

STRONG POSITION OF JAPAN TEAS.

THE most interesting feature of the tea market at the moment is the strength which teas of Japan growth have developed during the past few weeks.

According to the latest cable advices the shortage of the tea crop in that country is from 9,000,000 to 12,000,000 pounds compared with the yield of 1895 ; but the fact that the shortage is 7,000,000 pounds below the average of the last six years is a still stronger feature.

Not only is the crop much shorter than a year ago, but the statistics which are from time to time issued from Yokohama and other tea centres in Japan reveal the fact that except in an isolated instance here and there the purchases of the great shipping firms have been very much less than they were a year ago at this time. As far as Canada is concerned, a well-known authority declares to THE CANADIAN GROCER that there is not probably one-fifth the usual quantity held in importers' hands, while both wholesalers and retailers have been light purchasers. Besides this it will be remembered that there has been some buying on this market on American account.

With the realization of the shortage in the crop have naturally come higher prices. In the primary market there have been advances aggregating $2 to $4 per picul, according to grades. In Canada so far the advance has been chiefly in small lots.

In New York sales have been freely made, it is said, at from 1 to 3c. per pound above the figures ruling three weeks ago.

There are some old season's teas in Canada for which at one time during the year 11½c. could not be obtained, which are now being sold comparatively freely at 13 to 14c. In the United States, according to information received from a tea man in that country, even better prices than these have been obtained for teas of last season's growth, 13c. per pound being obtained where 10c. was not procurable before.

It will also be interesting to note in this connection that there is a shortage in the crop of China green teas of something like 60,000 packages, or 3,000,000 pounds, compared with that of last year, while the latest cable advices from China announce an advance of six taels per picul.

NO FODDER CHEESE!

THE production of fodder cheese, it has been demonstrated time and again, is rather a detriment than an advantage to the market. The factorymen recognized the fact this spring, and in response to an appeal from the Butter and Cheese Association, of Montreal, turned out little or no fodder make to weigh on the market.

They were right in doing so, for the depression during the early part of the season of 1895 was certainly due in part to the large output of fodder make put on the market. Owing to its quality, it met a slow sale and was not absorbed soon enough to be out of the way of straight grass make.

That this fact contributed materially toward producing the abnormally low range of values is now generally admitted. Consuming centres were already in a congested condition, and the receipt of this large quantity of a low-selling inferior cheese doubly aggravated matters. Factorymen, therefore, were wise this spring in abstaining from its production.

This fall, however, reports to hand from some sections indicate that the lesson of 1895 has not been sufficient, and that the higher prices ruling this fall have caused some factorymen to announce their intention of running late into November and producing a part fodder and part grass cheese.

Every well-wisher of Canadian cheese hopes sincerely that they will not pursue such a foolish policy. An any rate the Montreal Butter and Cheese Association is determined that they will be warned in time, for at a meeting held a few days ago, a committee was struck to draw up a circular on the matter, which is to be sent to every factoryman in Canada.

Naturally, the farmers want to do something with their milk. If so, they can turn it into creamery butter more profitably than cheese. Winter creamery has proved to be a success. Winter cheese has not.

YELLOW SUGARS SCARCE.

The strength which has developed in the sugar market in Canada during the past week is chiefly in yellows, the appreciation in them being ¼c. per lb., while in granulated the advance of ⅛c. has not been general.

The reason that the advance in yellow sugars has been more marked than in granulated is their scarcity. Of the three refineries represented on the Toronto market only one has any to offer, and that one has nothing under 3⅛c. Montreal.

The scarcity is alleged to be due to the fact that the refineries have not been making much sugar lately, and that they are now oversold on yellows.

A QUESTION OF INSURANCE.

A COMMITTEE of citizens has been calling upon business men in Montreal during the past few days to raise a fund to assist the widows and families of the three brave firemen who met their death while fighting this destroying element in Montreal. The committee is doing a grand and noble work and every effort is due them for their self-sacrificing efforts. At the same time we must differ from them on a question of principle. This, we think, is a work that should be done by the insurance companies. It was practically for them that these men lost their lives, and the insurance companies, in this instance, should raise a sufficient fund to make up for the loss of revenue to the widows and families. Business men have far too many calls of this kind on their good nature. Far more than the ordinary citizens imagine. Many of them pay enormous premiums annually to insurance companies. Besides, they spend money in putting their places in such shape that the dangers from fire are lessened, and they employ, very often, watchmen to still further reduce the danger. Why should they be called upon to contribute one, two or five hundred dollars to make up for the carelessness of officials or other business men?

We have more than once pointed out that insurance rates were far too high and could easily be materially reduced. It is not that the insurance companies themselves make large profits, for they do not, but the cost of getting business is much too great. In fact, there is often a great deal of gentlemanly blackmailing about it. There are many men who have failed in many lines of business, but with a family or other connection they manage to get the privilege of placing the insurance of a few of their friends. They go to the insurance companies and tell them that if they pay a certain commission they will receive the insurance they control. Competition is keen, and insurance men are often forced to pay large sums in this way that should go to the insured in the way of lower rates. In brief, there are too many middle men between the insured and the insurance companies in the large centres These men receive an average of 20 per cent. of the premiums paid. In country towns and villages middle men are necessary.

LOOK OUT FOR IMPURE VINEGAR.

The Inland Revenue Department is coming in for a good deal of criticism these days, but we wish to say that the Government, in one matter at least, is deserving of credit in endeavoring to prevent the sale of impure and fraudulent articles of food.

The latest subject of their activity is vinegar, than which there is no article more subject to adulteration or sophistication, or in which the public can be more easily deceived. As was pointed out in THE CANADIAN GROCER last March, there is a great deal of acetic acid and other deleterious substances sold under the name of vinegar, which finds purchasers because it is cheap, and those dealers who failed to profit by our advice last spring will have only themselves to blame if some morning they find themselves presented with a blue paper inviting their attendance at the Police Court.

Samples have been collected all over the country, and it is to be hoped that an example will be made of those who have knowingly transgressed the law.

CALIFORNIA MUSCATELS AND PRUNES.

Advices from California state that the demand for loose muscatel raisins from the Eastern States continues enormous, in consequence of which it is almost impossible to get shippers to pay attention to the small orders from Canada.

Prices on three-crown loose muscatels are up fully 1c. per ponnd from the lowest point, and compared with last year are 50 per cent. higher. In spite, however, of this enormous advance packers are unable to keep up with the demand.

A large trade is also being done in the United States in other descriptions of dried fruit, and one large packer advises his Toronto representative that his firm is thirty carloads behind in its orders for prunes, and that in this line there is likely to be an advance.

MONTREAL'S EARLY-CLOSING LAW.

On Wednesday morning last a deputation waited on the Mayor of Montreal with reference to the early-closing bylaw. The petition was as follows :

> We, the undersigned merchants and traders in the different lines of commerce, respectfully submit to you, that the trade at night being nil, or nearly nil, we don't believe that this bylaw in favor of early closing will be of such a nature as to effect in any manner our commercial interest, and that for our part we hope that you will maintain the said bylaw.

This was signed by about a thousand of the merchants of Montreal. These signatures are all of bona fide merchants. In the case of the petition against early closing, out of 951 signatures, 231 were of persons other than merchants, or were repeated, sometimes as often as four times.

The Mayor expressed himself as strongly in favor of the early closing of the stores, but at the same time could not shut his eyes to the difficulty of enforcing this as a law on free citizens. He suggested that an understanding might be come to among the merchants themselves. In concluding his remarks he said he could promise that if the courts decided that the law was legal, it would be strictly enforced.

THE BELLONA'S FRUIT.

The second direct fruit steamer, the Bellona, landed her cargo of nuts, raisins, etc., at Montreal on Wednesday.

It was then developed that practically her entire cargo had been sold to arrive, and now the unusual fact is witnessed for this time of the year of little or no fruit in first hands in Montreal.

The fruit ex the above steamer comprised 2,050 boxes Tarragona almonds; 84 boxes, 53,344 half-boxes, 4,868 quarter-boxes and 3,150 eighth-boxes of Valencia raisins; 7,100 boxes, 110 half-boxes and 3,925 quarter-boxes Malaga raisins; 3,060 boxes shelled almonds, 15 bags almonds and 940 pails of figs.

The great bulk of this fruit has, it is understood, been sold in the west, and eastern buyers who expected to get hold of some goods were disappointed.

Cables in regard to Valencia raisins this week to Montreal commission men note a further advance at Denia of 1s. 6d., fine fruit now being firmly held at 19s., off-stalk at 17s., selected at 22s. 6d., and layers at 24s. 6d.

The above prices mean a net cash cost laid down Montreal of 5 to 6½c., according to grade.

Demand has been good, and several large orders were booked at the above advanced prices. In fact, some of the largest shippers in Denia have cabled their representatives that it is impossible to fill all the orders forwarded.

THE SEASON'S SALMON PACK.

Since last week two more of this year's salmon fleet have sailed. The Glenogil, on October 21, for Liverpool, with 97,253 cases, and the Natuna, October 25, with 48,318 cases, making a total of 241,207 cases shipped by sailer of this pack.

At the close of the sockeye fishing season The Commercial Journal's estimate of the pack of the British Columbia canneries was 549,544 cases, since that time about 20,000 cases of cohoes have been packed on the Fraser, and 5,000 cases of sockeyes on the West Coast, bringing the approximate pack up to nearly 575,000 cases.

The pack of the canneries since the beginning of the industry in British Columbia are as follows :

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the market is the strength of sugar, during the past week there having been advances, both at home and abroad. Locally, yellows, which are scarce, have advanced ¼c. per lb. and granulated is ⅛c. higher. Business generally, in the wholesale grocery trade, is fairly brisk. Foreign dried fruits of all kinds are in active request with prices being well maintained ; in fact, in Valencia raisins, there has been a further appreciation of 2s. per cwt., or about ½c. per lb. Canned goods are being more firmly held, for tomatoes and peas from 2½ to 5c. per dozen more being asked. Business in this line also shows some improvement. There are not many syrups offering and there is not much demand. Spices remain much as before. In nuts, the feature is an advance in the price of chestnuts owing to their scarcity. The position of teas continues strong, with Japans and China greens higher.

CANNED GOODS.

As a result of the decision of the members of the Canadian Packers' Association to advance the price of tomatoes and peas by 5c. per dozen, there is a stronger feeling in regard to canned vegetables, and wholesalers are quoting from 2½ to 5c. per dozen higher than a week ago. A good many small orders have been received by the wholesalers during the last few days for tomatoes, and there has been a little doing in corn, but trade in canned goods, is, on the whole, still quiet. The wholesalers have not yet, however, shown much disposition to buy, evidently preferring to first reduce present stocks. Salmon is quiet and unchanged. We quote best brands as follows : Tomatoes, 67½ to 70c.; corn, 55 to 65c.; peas, 60 to 65c. for ordinary ; sifted select, 95c. ; extra sifted, $1.35 to $1.45 ; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2.20 for 2's ; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80 ; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25 ; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40 ; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40 ; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins ; cohoes, $1.20 to $1.25 ; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30 ; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins ; flats, $2.65 to $2.70 ; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30 ; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35 ; 6's, $7 to $8 ; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEES.

The markets are fairly steady, and the local conditions are much as before. We quote green in bags : Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade ; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c. ; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

A few medium and low-grade syrups are offering at prices which show excellent value. The demand, however, is light. We quote : Dark, 28 to 31c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c. ; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Arrivals of molasses at New Orleans are yet only moderate, and prices rule steady. Locally the market is quiet. We quote : New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; ditto, half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market during the past week has developed considerable strength. The New York market closed last week with an advance of ¼c. in raws and ⅛c. in refined. In Canada the market is also stronger. Yellows are very scarce, the Toronto agents of two of the refineries have none at all to offer, and the third has a little, but ¼c. per lb. more than a week ago is wanted for it. There are no yellows now to be had under 3⅛c., Montreal. The price of granulated has been advanced ⅛c. by one refinery, and another is quoting a fraction more than it was. So far the St. Lawrence is the only one which has made no change in granulated, but its quotations are firm, and an advance is quite probable. There is a fair demand for sugar. Wholesalers' quotations are higher, being as follows : Granulated, 4 to 4.10c., and yellows, 3⅛c. up.

SPICES.

Trade is fair with prices much as before. We quote : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c. ; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c. ; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c. ; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb. ; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, ETC.

The conditions in the lines enumerated below are much about the same as a week ago. We quote : Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c. ; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c. ; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

The small shipment of new Grenoble walnuts received on this market a week or two ago appear to have all been pretty well sold out. Chestnuts are scarce and dearer. We quote : Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack ; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots ; pecans, 10½ to 11c. ; chestnuts, $3.30 to $4 per bushel ; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1.50 per bushel.

TEAS.

The feature of the tea market is the strength of Japan and China green growths. In Japan the advance is from $2 to $4 per picul, and there have been substantial increases in the United States. Canada has been slower to respond, but even here higher prices are being asked and obtained. In Young Hysons the advance has been about 1c. per lb. on low grades, 2c. on medium grades, and 2 to 3c. on the finer grades. So far the settlements of China green teas this season are only about one-half those of the same period a year ago. There is an increased demand for those teas on the local market, and one broker reports that lately he has made sales aggregating 1,200 packages. In regard to some sales an effort has been made to duplicate the invoices. Advices from India state that low grades there are strong and well competed for. Locally a better demand has been experienced for Indian and Ceylon teas of all grades. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are : Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades ; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades ; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades ; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia raisins have experienced a further appreciation in price during the past week, the cables announcing an advance of 2s. per cwt. The demand locally is good. We quote : Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5½ to 5¾c.; selected, 6½ to 6¾c.; layers, 6½ to 7c.

Currants are steady and in good demand. We quote : Provincials, 4⅜ to 4½c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c.; do , half-bbls., 4½ to 4⅝c. ; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5⅛ to 5¼c. in half-bbls. and 5¼ to 5½c. in cases ; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.

California loose muscatels continue firm in price, and it is almost impossible to get shippers to pay attention to the small orders from Canada, so great is the demand in the United States. Prices are fully 1c. per lb. up from the lowest point. We quote 3 and 4-crown at 7⅛ to 8½c. per lb.

Fresh shipments of Malaga raisins are due on this market in a few days ex ss. Bellona, which reached Montreal on Tuesday.

Figs are in fair demand, with prices firm. We quote : 14 oz., 10c.; 10 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 18 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 28 lb., 12½ to 16c.; taps, 4 to 4¼c.; natural, 4½c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are in good demand at steady prices. Lemons are firmer, supplies still being scarce both here and in New York. The demand for bananas continues light. Cranberries are going out fairly well. Pears are still coming in, and a fair sale is being experienced in them. Receipts of domestic grapes are falling off and prices are higher for really good fruit. Further shipments of Malaga grapes are on the way, but prices are firm. We quote : Oranges—Jamaicas, fancy, $3.50 to $4 per box ; barrels, $6 to $7. Lemons—Verdelli, $2 to $3.50 ; Maoris and Sorrentos, $6.50 to $7.50 per box ; Malagas, $7.50 to $8 per half-chest ; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2 to $2.25 per bbl. ; apples, $1 to $1.25 for good packed stock ; pears, 25 to 50c. per basket and $2 to $3 per barrel for ordinary ; grapes, 2 to 2½c. per lb. for Concords, Niagaras and Rogers; onions, 60 to 70c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; Cape Cod cranberries, $6.50 to $7 for fancy dark, and $4.75 to $5.50 for ordinary, Canadian cranberries, $5 to $6 per bbl.; quinces, 20 to 30c. per basket, and $2.50 to $2.75 per barrel; pineapples, 10 to 25c. each; bananas, $1.25 to $1.50 per bunch.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is still no material change in the situation. Choice dairy is in none too plentiful supply, but there is an accumulation of low-grade and medium. The demand for creamery butter is only fair. We quote : Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice ; low-grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c. 1-lb. blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The local demand continues fairly good, with prices steady at 10 to 10½c. for August make, and 10½ to 11c. for September.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull, with jobbers asking 80c., but there is practically nothing doing.

DRIED APPLES—Business is still dull. The idea as to price is about 2½c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—The market is in much about the same condition as that for dried. They are nominally worth 3¾ to 4c.

EGGS — The market is a little firmer, scarcely any fresh gathered stock coming foward. We quote : Fresh gathered, 16c.; limed, 13 to 14c.: cold stored and held, 15c.

HONEY—Quiet and unchanged. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 7½ to 8c. in 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

MAPLE SYRUP—A good demand is being experienced for this at the moment at from 80 to 85c. per gallon.

POTATOES—The market is dull and weak at 30c. per bag in car lots on track ; 40c. is quoted for small lots delivered.

POULTRY—There is no demand, it being difficult to find a market for the little that is coming forward. We quote : Chickens, 25 to 40c. per pair,; turkeys are 6 to 6½c. per lb.; geese, 4 to 5c. per lb., and ducks, 45 to 50c. per pair.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

There is a good demand for provisions, and prices are steady with the supply fair. Dressed hogs are not offering very freely, but prices are weaker than a week ago. The highest price being paid for choice weights of 100 to 150 lbs. is $5 ; for over these weights $4.50 to $4.75 is the idea.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots ; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 9½ to 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c. ; small hams, 11 to 11½c. ; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 6¾c.; tubs, 7c.; pails, 7¼c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50 ; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The close season for whitefish and trout began on the 1st inst. Consequently there are none of these fish on the market. There are a few pickerel on the market, but the demand generally is dull for fish. Oysters are also quiet on account of the mild weather. We quote : Pickerel, 6c. per lb. ; haddies, 7 to 8c. per lb. ; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl. ; boneless cod, 4c. per lb. ; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

SALT.

There is still a good business being done. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

SEEDS.

Alsike is still the chief article that is offering, although during the past week there has been a falling off in this respect. Medium and low grades are dull, but finer qualities are still in good demand. Prices range from $3 to $3.75 per bushel for common to choice, with a slightly higher figure than the outside price being paid for fancy qualities. Samples of red clover offering vary a great deal, those from some localities showing poor quality, while fine lively ones come from others. Jobbers are paying from $4 to $5.50 per bushel at point of shipment. For the little timothy that is being offered $1.20 to $1.50 per bushel is being paid.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts are more liberal. We quote: White wheat, 83 to 83½c.; red, 81 to 82c.; goose, 59 to 60½c.; oats, 23½ to 24½c.; peas, 48 to 50c.

FLOUR—Prices are again higher, and there is a good demand. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50; Ontario patents, $4.25 to $5; straight roller, $4.25, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—There has been a further advance this week in the price of both oatmeal and rolled wheat, our quotations being 10c. per bbl. higher. The demand is good, particularly for oatmeal. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.30 to $3.40 in bags and $3.40 to $3.50 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.50 to $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

BALED HAY—There is a moderate demand. We quote: $11 for No. 1, and $10.50 for No. 2 in carloads on track.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7¼ to 7½c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 60 to 65c.

WOOL—The market is firm. Dealers are paying 20 to 21c. for fleece. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras, at 22 to 22½c.

PETROLEUM.

Trade continues good and prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Dressed hogs are easier.

Chestnuts are scarce and dearer.

Japan and Young Hyson teas are much dearer.

Fresh gathered eggs are 1c. per dozen dearer.

Both oatmeal and rolled wheat are 10c. dearer.

Sugar is fractionally dearer, both at home and abroad.

Canned tomatoes are from 2½ to 5c. per doz. dearer.

Lemons are higher than a week ago on account of the scarcity.

The close season for trout and whitefish began on the 1st inst.

A slight advance has taken place in glucose, according to advices from Chicago.

A cable to J. L. Watt & Scott, announces a further advance of 2s. per cwt. in Valencia raisins.

Dates are up 3s. 6d. from the lowest point. "By the time they arrive in New York, 6½ to 7c. will be wanted for them on account of the short supply," remarked a Toronto dealer.

C. H. Anderson reports that his recent deals in Young Hysons aggregate 1,200 packages. His advices regarding these teas are to the effect that the market is strong and advancing. His latest advices from Calcutta state that low-grade teas there are strong and being well competed for.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE business in dried fruit and the activity that it displays in all its lines is still the dominant factor in the wholesale grocery situation. Further advances have been cabled on Valencia raisins from Denia, and Californias are so strong that quotations have been actually withdrawn on 3-crown fruit. In other lines the position is much the same, except in sugar, which has taken a sudden change for the better. Tea continues active and firm with an upward tendency, and the improved feeling in canned vegetables is more marked.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has been excited since our last report, with advances in yellows at the refineries, though the price of granulated is unchanged. The change in temper was induced by the active demand for raw material at New York, and it was quite sudden, for, as everyone knows, up to the 27th refiners were offering goods at very low prices. At this writing refiners' prices for all grades of yellows are ⅛c. per pound higher, and there has been a good demand, especially for yellows, of which stocks in refiners' hands are very small. We quote: Yellows, 3 to 3¾c., and granulated, 4c.,

SYRUPS.

Demand for syrups continues slow and the market quiet. Values, however, continue steady at 1½ to 2¾c. per pound, as to quality.

MOLASSES.

There has been no change in the situation of the molasses market. The demand is chiefly for small lots, and prices rule unchanged at 27½c. for Barbadoes and 28c. for Porto Rico in a wholesale way. In a jobbing way the range is 30 to 31c. for single puncheons.

RICE.

The firm feeling outside has not yet influenced prices locally, but, if it continues, is very apt to do so. Values are steadily held, with a fair enquiry. We quote: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

. . CAUTION . .

DRIED APPLES will be almost unsaleable this year unless the Farmers and Merchants give the strictest attention to CUT, COLOR and CONDITION. Requirements are LARGE QUARTER-CUT FRUIT, BRIGHT COLOR and DRY. DISCOURAGE all SMALL-SLICED and CHIPPY stock. POSITIVELY REJECT everything DARK, BURNT or WET.

With careful attention given to these requirements there is hope for a considerable trade at vastly higher prices than the U.S. fruit returns; by neglecting them, Canadian fruit will be reduced to the U.S. level in quality and price.

It is quicker to Cut fruit LARGE (in quarters) than SMALL, and as easy drying BRIGHT as DARK, it only requires therefore care on the Farmers' part and firmness on the Merchants' to ensure them both a profit as against a loss, besides creating a superior reputation for CANADIAN DRIED APPLES.

WHOLESALE IMPORTING AND MANUFACTURING GROCERS

TORONTO - CANADA

SPICES.

There has been a fair demand for spices and values have a firm tendency under strong foreign advices. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There is no change in the coffee market, business ruling quiet. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 19c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

The week has been an active one in teas, and some excitement has prevailed in the trade. Cable advices have been of a very strong nature, noting advances in prices in several lines. Demand for all lines has active, and a large volume of business is reported at very firm prices. We quote: Young Hysons, 10 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 12 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The strength and activity in Valencia raisins continues, and further advances have been cabled from abroad. In fact, it would cost to lay down new supplies here 5 to 6½c. net cash. As a consequence of this, jobbers are asking rather higher prices as follows: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

The upward tendency of California raisins continues also, and higher prices have been asked f.o.b., while at this writing quotations have been withdrawn entirely for future business in 3-crown fruit. We quote: 2-crown, 6 to 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are steady at 7¾ to 12c., as to grade.

Malaga raisins range from $1.50 to $4.

Currants continue firm with a fair enquiry. We quote as follows: Filiatras, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c. Fine provincials are worth about ⅜ of a cent a pound more; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6¾ to 8c.

Prunes are strong also in line with all other dried fruits. We quote: French, 5 to 6c.; Austrian, 6 to 6½c., and Californias as follows: 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50s.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60s.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70s., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80s. The first carload of new California prunes will be distributed this week.

NUTS.

This market continues without change. We quote pecans firm at 12c. Tarragona almonds, 11 to 12c.; filberts, 8 to 10c.; shelled walnuts, 18 to 21c.; shelled almonds, 18 to 20c.; peanuts, 6 to 8c., and shelled do., 8 to 10c.

CANNED GOODS.

The canned goods market is steady and without change on the whole. A firmer feeling is noticeable, however, in regard to vegetables. We quote: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market continues much the same as last week. We quote: Oranges, $5 to $5.50; lemons, $3; bananas, 50c. to $1; pears, 30 to 40c. basket, and $2 to $2.50 per keg; grapes, 14 to 17c., and California Tokays, $1.75 to $2 per keg. Sweet potatoes are now arriving and are selling well at $2 to $2.25.

APPLES.

The apple market was quiet, with business passing at 85c. to $1 for seconds and $1.15 to $1.50 for firsts.

FISH.

The continued mild weather has interfered considerably with the fish trade, and the movement of all lines has been small. At present all lines of fish are in ample supply. In regard to pickled herrings, there are too many coming forward, and the market in consequence has been weak and prices have declined 25 to 50c. per barrel. The arrivals during the past four or five days have been about 18 carloads. In a jobbing way No. 1 N.S. are selling at $4.50 to $4.75 per barrel, and at $2.75 per half-barrel; No. 2 small Labrador salmon are easier at $11.50 to $12 per barrel. B.C. salmon are out of the market, but several carloads are expected by the middle of next month. No. 2 mackerel are also easier at $11.50 to $12 per barrel.

In smoked fish, prices for haddies and bloaters are easier. Receipts are more liberal, for which the demand is only fair. Haddies are selling at 6½ to 7c. per lb. Yarmouth and Bay bloaters at 90c. to $1 per box, and kippered herrings at $1.50 per box, and medium new smoked herrings at 11c. per box.

The supply of dried codfish is small here, consequently prices are firmer at $4 to $4.25 per 100 lbs.; pollock at $2.20 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod at $5.25 per case; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb.

The receipts of fresh fish have been larger of late, and in consequence there is a good supply of haddock and cod on this market now, and prices for the former have declined 1 to 2c. per lb. since this day week. Haddock and cod are now selling at 4c. per lb. Fresh B.C. salmon are firmer at 10½ to 11c. per lb.; dore, 6½ to 7c., and pike, 4½c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is no change in the egg market. We quote: Fresh laid, 18 to 20c., and candled 13½ to 14c.

BEANS—Quiet and steady at 70 to 75c.

HOPS—A few lots moving at 6 to 7c.

HONEY—Without feature, prices ranging from 10 to 12c. in the comb and 8 to 9c. extracted.

POTATOES—Quiet and steady at 35 to 40c.

DRIED APPLES—Move slowly at 3 to 3½c., while evaporated are held at 5½ to 6c.

BALED HAY—The market for baled hay has advanced $1 per ton to $10.50 to $11 for No. 1 and $9 to $9.50 for No. 2.

HIDES.

Are quiet at last week's prices. Dealers pay 7, 6 and 5c., according to grade, and sell at an advance of ½c. on those figures.

ASHES.

Receipts have been rather light and business quiet. We quote: First pots, $3.50 to $3.55; seconds, $3.05 to $3.10, and pearls, $4.45 per 100 lbs.

PROVISIONS.

There is no change in provisions, except that new pack is now being quoted here. We quote: New Canadian pork, 11 to 12c.; old Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 6¼ to 6½c.; bacon, per lb., 7½ to 8½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5 to 5¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There was a fair demand for flour, and the market was active with a good volume of business on local and country account. We quote: Winter wheat, $5 to $5.15; spring wheat, patents, $4.90 to $5.05; straight roller, $4.40 to $4.65; straight roller, bags, $2.10 to $2.25; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50 to $4.75.

The meal market continues quiet here, but advices from millers state that receipts of oats are light and prices are fully maintained. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.25 to $3.30; granulated, bbls., $3.35 to $3.40; rolled oats, bbls., $3.25 to $3.30; rolled oats, per bag, $1.55 to $1.60.

A fairly active business continues in feed, there being a good demand for car lots at steady prices. We quote: Bran, $10 to $11; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues heavy, and the make yet remaining in factorymen's hands is gradually being picked up at lower figures. This was the case this week. At the wharf Monday morning 3,000 Quebec makes sold at 9⅝c., a decline of ⅛c. from last Monday, and at St. Hyacinthe on Saturday 7,000 sold at 9⅜c.

The butter market continues quiet, with creamery greatly nominal around 19½c. No new business of importance is possible on export account, as all limits are too low.

MONTREAL NOTES.

About eight carloads of California raisins have been sold on this market so far.

The first carload of new California prunes will be distributed to the trade this week.

There has been another advance in Valencia raisins at Denia of 1s. 6d., fine fruit now being held at 19s.

The ss. Bellona will land her cargo of dried raisins and cocoanuts in Montreal this week. It is all sold to arrive.

There is practically no Valencia fruit in first hands in Montreal at the moment. This is an unusual occurrence at this time of the year.

Recent sales of California raisins have been made at 6½c. net, Montreal, to the importer. This is an advance of 1c. on the opening price.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 5, 1896.

THE Fall Number of THE GROCER, if possible, created a better impression than ever, it being, in the opinion of the trade, equal, if not ahead of any trade paper ever received here. In markets the feeling is firm and dealers are in a better frame of mind than for months. A successful fall and winter's trade is looked for. During the week sugar has shown the first firmness since last February. An active demand rules from the west for pickled fish, one dealer shipping eight cars in the last two weeks. New dried fruit continues to come in. California and Malaga raisins are to hand this week. The advance in price in the California raisins since some were bought amounts to $300 a car.

OIL—While the demand for burning oil is active, there is no change in value, though, as noted last week, in local business a cut is being made in American particularly, owing to a dealer underselling the combine price. The matter is likely to be shortly arranged. We quote: American burning oil, 20 to 21c.; best Canadian, 19 to 19½c.; prime, 17c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—The market is at present bare, and quite a demand is noted. Some large quantities are daily expected, both direct from Liverpool. When speaking of a cargo of salt a full cargo is seldom meant. Parties wishing to buy would do well to order so as to have it shipped from vessel when unloading, as price is much lower that way. We quote as follows: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—First cost is still the quotation for corn, peas and tomatoes by some dealers, but, on the whole, a firmer feeling is noticed, and many of the dealers refuse to sell at the cost price. There has been a call for oysters during the week. While lobsters are scarce and the high price asked is being obtained, it is so limiting the demand that sales are small and dealers will not buy from first hands at prices asked. Canned citron is being offered for the first time by many. It is Canadian packed. California canned fruits are quoted much higher and many lines of best quality are cleaned up. There is very little demand. Canadian goods are satisfactory, owing to short pack. There is some enquiry for American peaches, that is, Baltimore pack. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 65 to 75c.; tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; gallon apples, $1.90 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—California raisins to hand this week. They have a large sale here. Those who bought early have a nice profit. The tendency of prices has been so long downward that a good many are out in the cold. They are held firm. Valencias have been scarce, but are arriving more freely. They are also higher. Both currants and Malaga fruit are to hand. The holiday fruit trade is in full swing. There is some call for evaporated apples, but buyers want to buy at even lower prices than those quoted, which are very low. Canadian yellow onions move freely at low prices. Some red onions in the market, perfectly good, could be bought low. Best quality French prunes, in sizes usually sold here, are out of the primary market, and Bosnias are also higher. We quote: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c.; London layers, $2 to $2.25; currants, cases, 4½ to 5c.; bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 3 to 4c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5½c.; Canadian onions, 90c. to $2; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron peel, 16 to 17c.; orange and lemon, 12 to 13c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7½c.; 4-crown L. M. raisins, 7¾ to 8c.

GREEN FRUIT— Business in this line is rather less active. Large quantities of apples are here, but they move slowly. The low price does not seem to increase the demand. Some apples sent here are poor. In a season such as this these should be kept at home. They only hurt the already poor market. Only fine fruit will bring a fair price at all. Lemons are higher, with small sales. Few oranges are moving, chiefly Jamaica. Malaga grapes are firm, and higher prices are looked for. Canadian grapes are still low. A few melons here have no sale. Sweet potatoes move quite freely. Bananas slow. Pears are about out of the market. We quote: Lemons, $6 to $7; oranges, $5 to $6; bananas, $1.50 to $2; grapes, 30 to 40c. per basket; apples, $1 to $1.65 per bbl.; keg grapes, $5 to $6; Bartlett pears, $4 per bush.; N. S. pears, $4 to $5 per barrel; cranberries, Cape Cod, $6 to $6.50 per bbl.;

bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5 ; sweet potatoes, $2.75 to $3.

SUGAR—While not a very large quantity was bought at the lowest point, considerable was bought very near it, and is considered good stock. Already there has been a small advance in granulated, though no change has yet taken place here. Holders are more hopeful than for a long time. Sales are quite freely made. We quote : Granulated, 3 to 4c.; yellows, 3 to 3⅛c. ; Paris lump, 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There is rather a better movement and a somewhat firmer feeling. A small quantity of New Orleans arrived during the week. Best grades are firmly held. We quote : Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is coming in more freely, but a large part of it is only fair, while much is not even that in many cases. Even the packages are bad. Good butter commands a fair price, and has ready sale. While cheese is held firm at the advance, buyers are still backward. There are but few cheese here. Eggs are good sale at advancing prices. We quote : Dairy butter, 16 to 18c. ; new creamery, prints, 20 to 21c.; do., tubs, 20c. Cheese, 10 to 10½c. Eggs, 15 to 16c.

FISH—The best demand is from the west, and largely for pickled fish, which tend upward. Supply small, Grand Manan, about the only grade being at all freely received. In cod the feeling favors higher prices. Pollock dull. Smoked herring have shown a marked change in the past two months. Prices have doubled and stocks are light. They had got where the fishermen would not cure them. Bloaters, kippers and haddies have large sale. Shad are getting within small limits. Fall shad are held firm. We quote : Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.55 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50 ; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box ; kippered, $1 per box ; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—There is a fairly active demand. Pork is held firmer. In mess there is no American sold here now, it being locally put up. While beef is low, there has been some advance, and it is thought prices will be higher. The quantity of Canadian beef sold is but small. Hams and rolls are yet slow. In hams there is quite a range in price among curers. Lard finds better enquiry and is rather higher. In compound the sale here is about confined to one brand. The local output of pork, barreled, hams, rolls and lard is larger than ever this season. The latter is still, however, quite limited. We quote : Clear pork, $13.75 to $14.50 ; mess, $13 to $14; plate beef, $12.50 to $14.00 ; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—While flour has shown but little change during the week, higher prices are looked for. Flour in St. John is sold almost altogether by the brand, and in selling samples are little used. New brands work in very slowly. Oatmeal is again higher. Prices out of store are weaker than market warrants. Cornmeal shows no change, but keeps low. Oats are higher, and arrive slowly. P. E. Island is backward in shipments. Beans appear rather easier. We quote : Manitoba flour, $5.50 to $5.75 ; best Ontario, $4.75 to $4.80; medium, $4.40 to $4.50; oatmeal, $3.50 to $3.65; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15 ; bran, do do, $13 to $14 ; hand-picked beans, $1.10; prime, $1; oats, 30 to 32c. ; hay, $12 to $13 ; barley, $3.25 ; round peas, $1.15 ; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25 ; yellow eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

B. B. Hardwick, the representative of Pearline, called on THE GROCER this week.

J. Hunter White has been appointed agent for L. Schepp, the well-known manufacturer of desiccated cocoanut.

James Patterson has shipped eight cars of pickled herring to the upper provinces. The demand is larger than usual.

A. S. Bowman, representing The Geo. Tuckett & Sons Co., Ltd., of Hamiiton, Ont., was in town this week.

Maine shippers are doing as THE CANADIAN GROCER of last week suggested, in the shipment of apples. They wrap in tissue paper and pack in half-barrels and cases.

Freights have advanced to winter rates on the railways. The special low rate on flour and grain has been cancelled, and rates to Moncton, Pictou and Point du Chene have been raised to those of Truro, N.S.

Potatoes keep very low, selling at 60c. per bbl., including packing. Shippers to the West Indies are buying and storing large quantities. In Maine prices nave advanced, and better prices are looked for here.

Much to the satisfaction of up-river people, the steamer is now running between Fredericton and Woodstock. The freight to Woodstock in less than car lots by rail is beyond reason, and the same is true even in car lots.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE exporters of apples at this port and in the Annapolis Valley have complained long and loud about excessive freight rates to England. On Saturday last a meeting was held at Kentville, which was attended by the leading fruit growers of the Valley. The Minister of Militia was also present. It was pointed out that from small beginnings the apple industry of Nova Scotia has grown to important proportions. It is computed that the gross product for this year of the main apple belt lying between the line of railway from Newport to Annapolis will be 500,000 barrels. Not more than 20 per cent. will be absorbed in home and local consumption, leaving some 400,000 for export. The United Kingdom is the principal and practically the only market. Notwithstanding these facts, it was contended, the producers have hitherto failed to benefit to the extent the advantages entitle them ; that the legitimate profits are absorbed by excessive freight rates by middlemen and by commission charges in England; that their proximity to the market has been a positive disadvantage, freight rates being invariably lower from Montreal, Portland, Boston and New York than Halifax. In view of all this, the meeting decided to form a limited company (capital, $50,000) for the attainment of the following objects :

The carrying on of a general agency and exporting business.

The contracting with steamship lines for the conveyance of apples and other produce from ports in Nova Scotia to ports in the United Kingdom or elsewhere.

The chartering of vessels for the conveyance of apples and produce as aforesaid.

The purchasing, warehousing, handling, exporting and selling of apples and other produce.

The acting as agents for shippers of apples and produce.

The acquiring of land and the erection of warehouses and buildings.

Some $2,000 was subscribed on the spot.

The long-looked-for fruit steamer, Bellona, has arrived, and by this time has discharged the balance of her cargo at Montreal. She brought about 300 tons for this port.

We have experienced a rise in sugar, and the market is firm at the advance, with a good demand, dealers feeling the chances of a further advance to be good. The Acadia Refinery is not quoting granulated, and jobbers are asking 3¾c. The refinery quotations for yellows are: Circle C, 2¾c.; extra Circle C, 3⅛c.

Green fruits show no change from last week.

The rise in tea reported at Montreal does not affect this market, the brands used here not being affected. If anything, our market is easier.

The breadstuffs market is firm with a fair volume of trade. Quotations remain unchanged as follows: "Ogilvie's" or "Five Roses," $5.20; Ontario made Manitobas, in wood, $4.75 to $4.90; Manitoba shipments in sacks, $4.40 to $4.60; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $4.40 to $4.70; 80 per cent. patents, $4.50 to $4.65; 90 p.c. patents, $4.35 to $4.50; low grades, $3.75 to $4; oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.25; cornmeal, $1.95 to $2; middlings, per ton, $15.50 to $16; shorts, $15 to $16.50; bran, per ton, $15 to $15.50; white oats, per bushel, in sacks, 32 to 33c.; cottonseed meal, per ton, $22 to $23; oil-cake meal, per ton, $22 to $23; hay, per ton, $11 to $11.50; split peas, $3.15; pot barley, $3.50; white beans, per bush., 95c.

Prince Edward Island produce is on the advance. Potatoes have gone up 2c. per bushel from schooners, selling to-day at 33c., and oats have advanced 2 and 3c., selling at 32 and 33c. Several small cargoes were received last week, which soon found a market. The imports from the Island this fall will not be large, as a great part of the potato yield there has been destroyed by wet weather.

Fishstuffs still continue healthy in tone. Shipments to the West Indies and U. S. are heavy. Quotations are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50; large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.25; Labrador, $2 to $2.55; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.25; Bay of Islands herrings, $1.25; Labrador, No. 1, $5; do., No. 2, $3.50; No. 1, large, fat shore, $3.25 to $4; alewives, $3.25; mackerel, No. 3, large, $8 to $8.50; No. 3, fat, $10; No. 2, fat, $11.50; No. 1, fat, $13; salmon, No. 1, $17; No. 2, $14; No. 3, $12. 5,000 quintals of cod were received in one shipment this week from St. Pierre.

Eggs are still on the advance. Stocks on hand are very light. The quotation is about 17c. for good Nova Scotia and P. E. Island stocks.

Butter continues about the same as last week. Early creamery in tubs is quoted at 19½c. and late at 20c. Prints are worth 21c. and dairy from 16 to 17½c.

The demand for molasses is good. There is no Porto Rico remaining in first hands. Inferior grades are moving. Quotations are: Fancy Demerara, 33c.; choice Porto Rico, 31c. Sixty-five hogsheads went to Boston on Monday.

Poultry is coming in freely and is fairly reasonable in price. Geese sell at from 60 to 75c., chickens, 60c.; fowls, 40 to 60c.; turkeys, 13 to 15c. per lb.

Green fruits are in good supply and in fair demand. Sixty-five barrels Jamaica oranges were received this week. The steamer St. John City took 13,675 barrels of apples to London this week.

PRUNES ON THE COAST.

In its last issue received here, The California Fruit Grower says, with reference to the prune situation on the Coast: "The price remains at 3½c. basis for the four sizes. The demand is good, and shipments have been very heavy from all points. From San Jose the shipments for seven days ending Oct. 17 were 4,532,490 pounds; and for the season to date, 12,595,720 pounds. This movement has not been equalled since 1893. California prune men need not fear French competition this season. The weather continues favorable, but most of the fruit is safe under cover.

Cheese Perfection

is attained in MACLAREN'S IMPERIAL CHEESE. It has an indescribably delicious flavor, is rich and creamy and has most remarkable keeping qualities. Imitators cannot produce anything to resemble it in any way. It is the only perfect cheese on the market. All wholesalers carry it.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

JOHN SLOAN & CO. are in receipt of a shipment of Crosse & Blackwell's goods, including pickles, olives, sauces, peels, etc.

Clemes Bros. have a shipment of pineapples in store this week.

A shipment of Malaga raisins is arriving this week for S. K. Moyer.

Pepsin cheese, two dozen in a box, is a seller with Lucas Steele & Bristol.

Increasing sales for "Kincora" package tea are reported by John Sloan & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. have Brazil nuts which they report to be choice stock.

"The sale of 'Ludella' Ceylon is steadily increasing," say H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Robert Greig & Co. report nice orders for Lorimier's Worcestershire sauce.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering at special prices a line of new 14-oz. figs.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. report large sales of low-grade Young Hysons and Japans.

Canadian and imported peels—lemon, orange and citron—are in stock with H. P. Eckardt & Co.

Another shipment of Crosse & Blackwell's goods, consisting of capers, salad cream, sauces, catsups, preserved ginger, soups, extract of meat, bloater paste, potted meats, pickles, malt vinegar, jams, currie powder, marmalade, peels, etc., arrived for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. offer a choice golden tipped Ceylon Pekoe packed in 5-lb. boxes.

Some extra fine bundle codfish are in store with Lucas, Steele & Bristol, also new scaled herrings.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report the arrival of a shipment of French imperial plums, in cases 50 lbs.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol are receiving invoices of new teas right along, which they report to be fine sellers.

"We have a few '95 pack cold storage Eleme figs: 10-lb. boxes, at special prices," report H. P. Eckardt & Co.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are finding ready sale for "Golden" haddies. They have lately replenished their stock.

Through the advertisement of dried fruits in last issue of THE GROCER, Hudon, Hebert & Cie closed out several lines.

A good article always gives satisfaction. Some three years ago Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, agents for the manufacturers of Keen's mustard, Oxford blue, mixed spices, etc., put on the market a few boxes of high-class ground spices, in 1-oz. tins, cloves, nutmegs, cinnamon, cayenne, currie powder, etc., and each year since, as Christmas approaches, they have special enquiries from the best trade in Canada for these pure ground spices. The name Keen is a guarantee of purity the world over.

Messrs. Martin & Robertson, Vancouver, B.C., have been appointed agents in British Columbia for Colman's mustard.

Only a few of the 1-lb. fancy bags of "Kiji" Japan are left with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. Buyers govern themselves.

A large consignment of fine flavoring Ceylon teas in chests and half-chests arrived for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., this week.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. expect arrivals of their second direct shipment of Malaga fruits, etc., about Monday next.

"Last week was a banner week for 'Kurma' tea, the sales being treble that of the corresponding week last year," report The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Tomato catsup is a successful line with T. A. Lytle & Co. this season. They report the demand greater than any previous season, and it is still increasing.

The F. F. Dalley Co. say that in spite of the many competitors, both foreign and domestic, their sale of "Gem" stove paste has largely increased this year. They state

An honest grocer

Will offer his customers only such goods as are worth the price asked for them. When he handles canned goods of that the superiority of the goods always tells with the consumer.

"We have something fine in Young Hyson teas which we are offering at a low figure," say the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

W. H. Gillard & Co. state that since lowering the price of their "Diamond" baking powder a marked increase has taken place in the already large sale of this article.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have arriving early this month a shipment of their "Paradise" currants. These currants are of the richest growth, carefully selected and packed in cases.

Robert Greig & Co. are shipping quantities of French mustard just now. Customers are laying in their winter's stock owing to the difficulty of making shipments during the cold weather.

Robert Greig & Co. are bringing out a five-ounce bottle of "Kola Cafe," to retail for 20c. Also an extract of coffee and chicory made by the same firm, John Mackay & Co., Edinburgh.

The first instalments of Southwell's jams and marmalades, etc., are at hand per steamers, via Boston. The agents, Frank Magor & Co., 16 St. John St., Montreal, will be pleased to send price lists for the fall and Christmas trade.

Marshall & Co., Aberdeen, have a shipment by the State of Georgia of their "Crown" brand salt herrings in kegs, barrels, etc., consigned to purchasers in Montreal and the west. These herrings are a delicious breakfast delicacy.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie have been notified by the packers that owing to the short catch they cannot supply all the canned salmon contracted for. Hudon, Hebert & Cie, however, continue to quote $1.12½ for Caribou brand.

Marshall's Scotch kippered and fresh herrings, bloaters, herrings in tomato and anchovy sauce are still leaders, if we can judge by the shipment on the State of Georgia. A high standard of quality is always appreciated by the trade.

RESULTS OF CUTTING.

AN unsettled feeling on the three staple lines of canned vegetables, peas, corn and tomatoes, especially the latter, was a prominent feature this fall. This condition of affairs was due to the reckless cutting indulged in by packers, who at one time in September seemed willing to accept almost any price, for the sake of getting an order.

Many of the prices quoted were entirely out of proportion to the cost of the material. The war, in fact, was carried to such a length that buyers one day never knew whether the next would show that their purchase would prove unprofitable. Briefly, the practice became so general that it was evident the larger canners had determined to smother the smaller concerns at their own game and stop their annoying tactics if possible. The latter, of course, fought hard, but the effort was too much for them, for the market after about a fortnight's attack of unrest settled down on a more normal level, and has ruled so ever since.

It now transpires that to one firm at least the results of the campaign were disastrous. This was Racine, De Gruchy & Co., of Laprairie, Que., on whom a demand of assignment was made last week by P. H. Dufresne. Their liabilities are in the vicinity of $14,000.

Among the trade but little sympathy is expressed for them. They were among the firms who freely cut prices, and possibly the fact had a good deal to do with their present embarrassment.

TEA TRANSHIPMENTS.

Transhipments of Indian and Ceylon tea to the United States and Canada are shown below, from the 1st January to 30th September during each of the last three years. "The progress made in the use of both descriptions is remarkable," remarks Gow, Wilson & Stanton's Tea Report. "These figures, however, do not afford an actual test of the trade of British-grown tea with the continent of North America, as the exports from the United Kingdom, as well as some of those direct from India and Ceylon, have to be taken into account."

Does it Pay to Handle?

CERTAINLY IT DOES. I take no chances. The quality is of the very best. The New York Condensed Milk Co. is a very responsible concern and guarantees the

GAIL BORDEN EAGLE BRAND

CONDENSED MILK to its customers. Besides, it is no trouble to sell. The majority call for it, and won't take any other brand. If I don't keep it my customers will get it elsewhere. Smaller profit! No, I guess not; have tried both ways and found that it pays to sell only the "BEST." It has been demonstrated to my satisfaction that the GAIL BORDEN EAGLE BRAND HAS NO EQUAL.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, NOVEMBER 13, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 46

NECESSARY BOOKS FOR A RETAIL GROCER.

THIRD PAPER—BY A CITY GROCER AND RETAIL BOOKKEEPER.

IN our former efforts we successively bought, recorded, received, disposed and delivered our goods to our customers, and by easy stages have shown various ideas which have been of value in conducting a successful business. No idea is to be considered as being absolutely new. There are few indeed, now-a-days, which have a bright newness about them to attract people's attention to their merits. Books must of necessity be more or less compendiums of the best of that which has gone before. So it is that we crave the indulgence of those who may see that which they have seen before, or some idea of which they have thought many times, without actually putting it into practice.

This paper and also the following will be devoted to the more commonly known books of the office, viz.: the cash book, journal, petty ledger and ledger, and the minor diary, cheque book, cost book and others. The cash book for this system is not in any way new or startling ; it merely has its place in any well-defined bookkeeping, like singing in a church service, and cannot be done without, even if one had any desire to do so. One's cash book ought to be a safe and confidential record of every action of the day. The ruling, as follows, is not perhaps necessary, but is inserted so as to afford illustration of every book in use.

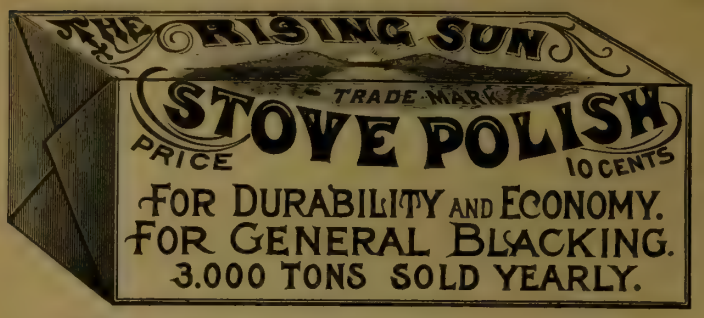
	Cash.			Contra.
May 15	To Sales	158 00	May 15	By J. Jones.	426 75
May 16	To Imp. Bk.	456 00	May 16	—Gas acct.	15 60

The proper entering up of every transaction in the cash book is of great importance, as on its correctness depends the ease and consequent self-satisfaction experienced in finding your weekly cash balance. The forgetting of only one item will cause endless trouble, as most of our readers are doubtless aware, and many of our more methodical merchants resort to the simple expedient of making a pencil memo, if not in the book itself, at least, on a tab of paper, for future recollection purposes. It is better, however, to make it a rule to enter cash book entries in ink at the time and not later.

For ordinary businesses, such as retail groceries, it is now a question as to whether there is any actual necessity for a journal in order to be correct in a book-keeping sense. As in every other controversy, there are two sides to the question, and while at this time taking no part in the discussion, we are inclined to omit the journal, and will therefore proceed with a consideration of the next important book, viz., the petty ledger.

This book will be, of course, the most used and most interesting in the outfit. In it will be found the tell-tale history of bad, doubtful and good debts, and a careful, painstaking study of its contents often and regularly will save many an account from growing too largely and being neglected too long. Of course if you sell exclusively for cash, you will not require a petty ledger, but if reports are correct, there are no grocers so furtunately situated. These ledgers may now be obtained with the main rulings placed in the centre of the page, thus doing away with the awkwardness of writing on the innermost folding of the pages of the book.

Dr.	James Jones.								Cr
Date.		F	D	B		P	D	B	Date.
May 12	To goods.		78	50	68	50			By cash. May 16.



The convenience of such an arrangement is at once apparent, and if there should be any difficulty in procuring any books of this ruling, a slight alteration in the old form may easily be made without any disfigurement of the page. In the disuse of the journal, it is unnecessary to say, perhaps, that of course all entries are made direct into the ledgers from the day book, and the before-mentioned plan of having all paid orders on one page, and unpaid orders on another, by themselves in the day book, makes it quite possible to have perfect accuracy in transferring your entries, one after the other, into the petty ledger.

We now take up the main ledger, a most important and momentous tome, as by its pages we are daily taught how much we owe, and how little we own. It is ruled, of course, precisely the same as the petty ledger, but should be a larger and more generous affair. The principal accounts in this book will be those of cash, merchandise and expense. Besides these there will be accounts for each of the purchases of any importance from the different houses dealt with, and in other ways, not necessary to enumerate here, the ledger will be of no less importance to an ordinary grocery house than to more portentous businesses. As we have presumed to dispense with a journal, it will be in order to state here the method pursued in posting to the ledger.

Cash and expense will come direct from the cash book. Merchandise will come in part from the cash, and in part from the invoice book, or if preferable from the invoice file direct. Many are to-day posting direct from the file, only indicating, on a corner of each invoice, page of ledger transferred to. Our invoice book, previously referred to, has been used solely for such purposes, in addition to its other uses. As, however, the invoices are in themselves more to be relied upon, these had better be carefully filed in alphabetical order and posted, when convenient. After account is settled the invoices may be removed or destroyed, as thought best or necessary. Whichever plan is followed, and each man will find some plan to suit his needs better than any other, there does not seem to be any necessity for the journal, and the time spent on another book may thus be saved.

We have now reached the stage in our remarks where we have the goods bought, sold and paid for, all being registered in the proper manner, so that in case of a dispute or error there are the records to be referred to to settle all differences. In closing this paper we cannot help hoping that criticism will freely flow. No man has, fortunately, a monopoly of the good ideas floating around. Canadians are not popularly known as inventors, nor do they lay any claim to being such. They do things well in a storekeeping way, much more thoroughly than the American grocers, as any who have investigated the matter will allow. Still we lack that certain spice in storekeeping life so necessary and so stimulating. May we not hope for an exchange of ideas on this matter with some of our U.S. people? This country does not brook old-time secretive methods of doing business, and he is not most thought of, nor indeed successful, who holds all his knowledge to himself, because this very habit will oft-times hinder him from taking up some brilliant idea of his more progressive fellow merchant.

THE RISING SUN STOVE POLISH AND THE SUN PASTE STOVE POLISH

CORRECT IDEA OF ADVERTISING.

THE Troy Laundry Machinery Co. are the largest manufacturers of laundry machines and supplies in the world. They do a business of close on a million dollars annually, and have branches in several of the leading cities of this country and in London, Paris, Berlin, Amsterdam and St. Petersburg. They believe in advertising and are generous patrons of the best trade journals that are pertinent, and spend a good deal of money on their catalogues, circulars, etc.

Mr. Allen Conkling is the secretary of the company and general manager as well. He also takes charge of the advertising. I found him at the western salesrooms, at 395 Fifth avenue, Chicago, the other morning.

"Whom do you strive to reach by your advertising?" I asked.

"Laundry, hotel owners and keepers, the managers of public institutions and the architects."

"That must require quite a diversity of mediums, doesn't it?"

"Not so very great. We reach the laundry trade of this country through just one medium—The National Laundry Journal. For the hotel man we use quite a few papers—three here in Chicago—The Hotel World, Hotel Monthly and Hotel Reporter. Through The Architectural Record we keep our name before the architects of this country. We want them to keep us in mind, you know, when they are specifying for public buildings that need laundries. For the managers of public institutions we use no regular mediums, but send them our calendars, catalogues, etc., regularly."

"How much do you spend a year in the trade journals?"

"About ten thousand dollars."

"And in other things?"

"Quite as much more."

"In your journal advertising I notice you always use illustrations."

"Yes, and exact illustrations, too. Ours are all made from photographs. I do not regard an illustration as of any value at all in machinery advertising unless it is exact—in fact it has a negative value, I think."

I noticed that most of the illustrations used by Mr. Conklin were wood cuts, and asked him about it.

"Yes, we use wood cuts almost exclusively in our illustrating. There are times when a photogravure might look better, but the average utility of the wood cut I have found to be greater for exact illustration, and it preserves a sort of harmony to use the one form all the way through."

"In all your trade journal advertising that I have seen, Mr. Conkling, you are not technical—give no technical reasons for the use of your machinery."

"No. In our old catalogues we used to do that, but in our advertising we try to get the trade to write us for particulars. People won't read a long technical argument, anyway. Then, too, trade paper advertising differs from ordinary advertising, in that it appeals to a public who are vitally interested in our goods. If they are thinking of buying they will write us, for they want to know far more than we could possibly say in an ad. We advertise mainly to keep our name prominently before the trade. That's why we use four pages an issue in The National Laundry Journal—it gives us a predominant prominence."

"And you don't advertise prices?"

"Not on machinery. They're too high. Our machines run up as high as $3,000 apiece, and, while they are worth it, such a large number of dollars would probably deter a good many from writing at all who now respond to our ads and become good customers in a small way."

"Do you trace your advertising in any way."

"No. We can't."

"It has often been estimated that about 30 per cent. of the replies from advertising state where the ad. was seen. Is that the case with you?"

"No. I don't think that applies to trade journal advertising. On the contrary, very few ever state where our ad. attracted them. I don't believe 1 per cent. do."

"What do you regard as your best advertising?"

"Our traveling men, of whom we have fifteen. Then our customers who recommend us, and lastly our work in the trade journals, catalogues and price lists."

"Could you leave out the last three?"

"We could." Mr. Conkling smiled, and I remembered that machinery makers must be exact themselves, and asked:

"Would you?"

"No sir. If our advertising did nothing but prepare the path for our traveling men, sold directly no goods at all, I should hesitate a long time before dropping it. Our advertising pays."—Arthur B. Chivers in Trade Press.

The grocers of Thamesville, who have hitherto kept open all week evenings have now fallen into line and the Thamesville public must now buy its groceries, dry goods and hardware before 6 p.m. Monday, Wednesday, and Friday.

The creditors of James Ireland, cheese and butter maker, of Beachville, insolvent, have accepted the offer of 20 cents on the dollar. The secured liabilities amount to $2,500, while those unsecured are placed at $2,700 or $3,000. Mr. Ireland will continue the business.

The different banks in Windsor, Ont., which had, pending the result of the election in the United States, refused to accept United States currency for deposit are now satisfied that no loss can accrue to them through the acceptance of American money, and the boycott has therefore been raised. American money will now be taken at par as heretofore.

The Customs returns for the port of London for October show the total value of dutiable goods imported to have been $121,172, on which $36,937.35 was collected, a decrease of $10,545.02 in the collections compared with October last year. The free goods imported were valued at $64,496 and the exports at $56,089, the heaviest items under the latter heading being bacon, $23,916, and cheese, $8,282. Of the duties collected, $3,346.33 was on fruits and $2,449.42 on spirits.

The new steamer Canada, of the Dominion Line, which left Liverpool at 5 p.m. October 29, arrived in Quebec at 11.30 a.m. on Friday, beating all previous records to the St. Lawrence. The Canada made the passage from Liverpool to Quebec in 6 days 23 hours and 30 minutes, correct time. She was detained somewhat by fog between Father Point and this port.

A London, England, cable under date of 7th inst., says: "The Canadian Government has granted from £3,000 to £4,000 to be expended in England with the object of introducing Canadian products in the British markets. A Canadian expert will shortly arrive in London and will take every opportunity to show where the Dominion may assist the Mother Country in supplying such agricultural produce as poultry, butter, bacon, eggs, fruit, cheese, and the like. It is also proposed to supply salmon for the market during the English close season."

RETAILERS AND THE TARIFF.

THE Government has asked for the assistance of the business men of the country in the work of revising the tariff. It is to be hoped it will be accorded.

There are times when the revision of a Customs tariff is necessary; but the less frequently the operation is performed the better. The knowledge that there is to be a re-arrangement of the import duties is certain to have a more or less deleterious effect on trade. But a nation, like an individual, has occasionally to take nauseating medicine. Tariff revising is intended as medicine to the commerce of the country, but we must guard against giving it an overdose.

It was less than three years ago that there was a general revision of the tariff, and now we are at it again. How soon we shall be repeating the operation depends upon the skill that is displayed in completing the task now in hand. And what the measure of that skill shall be depends a great deal on the influence of the business interests of the country.

As we have already declared in previous issues, this country needs a business tariff. Such a tariff can only be inspired or fashioned by business men. Professional politicians can no more bring forth a business tariff than can an elephant a crocodile. At best their production will be a deformity.

To obviate this is within the power of the business men of the country. Between this and January next, when the House meets to consider the tariff, every board of trade, every business men's organization, should give this subject careful consideration and take steps to acquaint the Ministers to whom the duty of gathering data is delegated, the suggestions they may have to make. To the retail associations particularly would we draw the attention of this matter. Great as are the interests they represent, in the revision of former tariffs—due partly to their own apathy and partly to the ignoring of them by the Government of the time—the retail merchants of the Dominion have had no part or lot in the matter of tariff revision. We have not noticed that the present Government are any the less sinners in this respect. But even if the Ministers have not courted suggestions from retailers, the retailers should not be bashful in pushing upon them such suggestions as they may have to offer. The arch which has one stone left out of it is incomplete. And so is a tariff, in the compilation of which no cognizance of the business interests of the country has been taken.

A tariff that will please everybody is beyond the wisdom of any aggregation of human beings to devise, but that does not prevent our creating one that will be as near perfection as it is possible to make it. And the nearer we get to the desideratum the farther away will we be from the next tariff revision. Let all the business people say, "Amen," and take off their coats and lend a helping hand.

VALENCIA RAISINS STILL HIGHER.

Notwithstanding the marked advances which have characterized the market for Valencia raisins, the past week has witnessed still further appreciations in values.

Between Saturday and Tuesday last off-stalk advanced nearly four shillings per cwt., while selected were cabled two shillings dearer on the latter day.

At present prices ruling in the primary market off-stalk would cost 5.72c. per lb. to lay down upon the Toronto market, and selected 7 to 7¼c.

These advances have naturally caused increased interest in the market, and wholesalers are beginning to mark up their quotations, as large quantities of the fruit in stock and arriving have already been sold.

Advices from Denia state that stocks there are practically exhausted.

The situation in Valencia raisins is undoubtedly a strong one, and the trade would do well to keep stocks well assorted.

ALMERIA GRAPES HIGH.

The first receipts of new Almeria grapes in kegs were distributed to dealers in Canada this week. Like all other Spanish fruit, they have a higher range of value than last fall. They are selling to-day from $5 up to $7.50 for choice descriptions. Last year they opened at $5 and varied very little from that.

Advices to hand state that the demand for these grapes for European consumption is much larger this year, and that this fact, as in the case of all other fruits, is largely responsible for the higher prices.

CANADA AND McKINLEYISM.

SINCE the election of McKinley to the United States Presidency became known speculation has been rife in Canada as to what the outcome will be in regard to the tariff.

It is quite natural the subject should come in for some consideration. The expenditure in the United States has lately exceeded by many millions the revenue of the country; and the natural inference is that the two ends will be made to meet by increasing the revenue. It is the way politicians have. Then we have the sentiment of the Republican press and the Republican speeches of the past year or two in remembrance, while above all, we have before us the composition of the new House of Representatives.

That institution, according to the latest figures, will contain 213 Republicans, 118 Democrats and 24 Free Silver men (Republicans and Populists). This means a Republican majority over all other combinations of 71. And as Republicanism and protection are synonymous terms, it is obvious what the Lower House could do in the direction of higher tariff if it so desired.

In the Upper House, the Senate, the forces that might be mustered for a higher tariff have clearly not things so much their own way, for, out of a total of 90 members, the Republicans will number 47, and these are divided into gold and silver Republicans. The remainder are gold and silver Democrats and Populists, and we know pretty well where they stand on the tariff question.

As for the President-elect himself, the message which he sent out two days after the election contains not one word regarding the tariff. "The victory," he declared, "is not to party or section, but of and for the American people." But still we know enough of McKinley to know where his sympathies lie.

No doubt we shall witness a rearrangement of the United States tariff, but whether or no it will be an old-time McKinley rearrangement remains to be seen. Whatever it may be, Canada need not exhibit much alarm. The effect could scarcely be as keenly felt as it was in 1890, for the simple reason that we are not now nearly as dependent as we then were upon the United States as a market for our surplus products.

To have increased the difficulties of getting our products into the United States market was, of course, most regrettable, but that its results were not so injurious as might have been supposed is evident from the trade returns.

In spite of the hostile tariff of our second best customer, our total exports continued to increase, being about 20 per cent. larger the year the McKinley tariff went out of existence than in the year of its advent. Then as far as our exports to the United States were concerned, the average of the four years under the high tariff was practically the same as that of the four years subsequent to it, while our exports to all these countries increased to a more or less extent: Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Newfoundland, West Indies, China and Japan. How our exports increased to Great Britain during the existence of the McKinley tariff is known to all men. The following tables give a comparison of the percentage to the whole of the exports of our various products to the United States and also to Great Britain during the first and last years of the McKinley tariff; also in 1895, the first year of the Wilson tariff:

	1890	1894	1895
Mineral products—
United States	81.61	88.44	89 81
Great Britain	13.00	4.44	5 56
Products of the Fisheries—
United States	33 69	29.37	28.29
Great Britain	32.00	41.31	38.76
Products of the Forest—
United States	30 67	59 70	66 05
Great Britain	68 07	39.84	33.41
Animals and their Products—
United States	23.76	7.25	10.80
Great Britain	74.00	90.92	87.31
Agricultural Products—
United States	63 15	15.75	23.60
Great Britain	30.75	70.32	66 25
Manufactures—
United States	42.91	42.91	45.50
Great Britain	45.31	43.63	42.37

A glance at the above figures shows that where the McKinley tariff did hit Canada was in her most vulnerable part—her agricultural industry. But while in animals and their products we sent 69 per cent. less in 1894 than in 1890, our sales to Great Britain were 53.50 per cent. more in the former than in the latter year. Then, again, while our exports of agricultural products to the United States decreased in the same period by 75 per cent., our exports to Great Britain increased by over 120 per cent.

Canada by no means desires another McKinley tariff. On the contrary, we desire closer trade relations. But another McKinley tariff should not, in the light of past experience, give us the "blues."

Dishonest dealing and business will only be compatible when it is demonstrated beyond question that commerce is the devil's medium for working evil, and not good, in the world.

IT DOES HIM GOOD.

Mr. Wm. Stephens, of Guelph, who recently bought out the business of Mrs. J. Clarke, has been busy getting in new goods and fixing up his stock and store.

In remitting his subscription, he expresses his appreciation of THE CANADIAN GROCER, and testifies to the benefit he has derived from his perusal of its pages.

THE ADVANCES IN OATMEAL.

THE oatmeal market has been more than usually interesting during the past few weeks. The reason is the sharp advances which have characterized it.

The advance from the lowest is no less than one dollar per barrel.

The causes which have been conducive of this are many. The most potent factor has been the inferior quality of oats for milling purposes, on account of their lightness, it taking on an average about two bushels more oats than is usual in other seasons to produce a barrel of oatmeal. At the present price of oats this alone means a difference of 45c. per barrel in the cost of producing the manufactured article.

Another bull factor is the export demand for oatmeal, which is decidedly active at present. Still another influence is the lightness of stocks.

Back some time ago, just before the oat harvest, it was the general opinion that this cereal would rule remarkably low during this campaign on account of the anticipated large yield. The mills, in their haste to grind up and dispose of the oats they had before the new crop was marketed, lowered prices and pushed business, with the result, so THE CANADIAN GROCER is assured, that at one time the millers were selling oatmeal at 75c. per barrel below cost.

At the moment the price of oats suitable for milling purposes is 24 to 25c. per bushel compared with 17 to 18c., the lowest point.

THE STRENGTH IN SPICES.

THE strength in all kinds of spices in the outside markets has been marked recently. Indeed it is no exaggeration to say that for late purchases Canadian roasters have paid all the way from 10 to 15 per cent. advance, and may pay more for future supplies.

In May last, black Singapore pepper in invoice lots, was worth 4¾ to 4⅞c. for No. 1; West Coast, 4⅜ to 4½c., and Acheen, 3⅞ to 4c. at New York. On October 24th the respective prices were, 5⅛ to 5¼c.; 4⅝ to 4¾c., and 4 to 4½c. The rise has, therefore, been from ¼ to ½c. per pound on these goods. Other peppers are even stronger. Penang white cost 6⅝ to 6¾c. in round lots at New York last May, or ¼ to ⅜c. less than it is worth now, recent contracts having been at 7 to 7¼c. New York.

The rise in cayenne has been even greater, as it has cost 11 to 11½c. at New York within the past fortnight, against 10c. in May.

Zanzibar cloves are ⅜ to ½c. per pound higher than in May, at 4⅞ to 5c., and Penang ditto, 2 to 3c. up, at 14 to 16c. round lots, New York.

Cassia is firm, and points still higher. It has cost 7½ to 7¾c. at New York, or fully 1c. more than in May. Other kinds are in line. Broken China has sold at 4c. against 3¼c., and Batavia extra 2½ to 2¾c. higher at 13c. A corresponding gain has been established on No. 1 and No. 2, which were quoted recently at 12½ and 11 to 11½c. respectively.

Jamaica ginger is 3 cents higher than it was in May, both bleached and unbleached, at 20 to 21c. and 18 to 20c. respectively, against 17 to 18c. and 15 to 17c. In a word, all staple spices are costing more, and the only surprise is that the cost to local jobbers has not been increased also. If the cost of supplies keeps up as it has, spot prices are bound to advance.

Silver was good enough for Bryan, but it was not good enough for the people of the United States.

SENATOR GEO. A. COX.

THE appointment of Mr. George A. Cox to the Senate is a most commendable one from a business man's point of view, whatever it may be from a politician's standpoint. It is on a par with that made by Sir John Macdonald when he called the late Mr. John Macdonald, the well-known dry goods merchant, to the Upper House.

Mr. Cox is a self-made man, who, by the business instincts and common sense which he possessed, has made for himself a name in the commercial world. The important position he holds in the banking and insurance institutions of the country are proofs enough of his ability if we had no other evidence.

The Senate should to all intents and purposes be an institution where men, independent in thought and rich in business common sense, should sit. The members may not have a great deal to do, but that which falls to their lot should be done well. If they are blinded by party prejudice, or are men of small mental calibre, they are obviously incapacitated from doing this.

Mr. Cox no doubt has his political sympathies, but he has never been a politician, a negative quality which increases his fitness for the position to which the Government has been pleased to call him.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has for some years advocated the election or appointment of practical business men to Parliament in place of the professional politician, and it is, therefore, with satisfaction that we see another stone added to the edifice which we have been trying to erect.

THE B.C. SALMON PACK.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 9.—Inspector of Fisheries MacNab places the total salmon pack of the Fraser and Northern Rivers of British Columbia at between 590,000 and 600,000 cases for the season just at a close. The Northern pack can be estimated very closely, as, with perhaps two or three exceptions, the official returns are now in. The official returns of the Fraser River are not yet to hand, and till they are the estimate of the canners must be taken as under, rather than over, the mark, as past experience has proven. It is therefore quite probable that the total from all sources will somewhat exceed 600,000. The Vancouver Island Canneries at Clayoquot and other West Coast points have proved a dismal failure owing to the lateness of the run in this quarter, a sequence of which will probably be the abandonment of these canneries next year and the transfer of their plants to the North. It was in the North that especially good results were had this year, as the attached abstract of the catch shows :

SKEENA RIVER.	No. of Cases.
Northern Pacific Canning Co	10,000
Anglo-British Columbian	12,000
Royal Canadian Pkg. Co	10,800
Balmoral Canning Co	12 000
Skeena Pkg. Co	11,000
Windsor Canning Co	10,000
Inverness Cannery	11,120
Standard Pkg. Co	10,500
Carlisle Canning Co	13,600
RIVER'S INLET.
Good Hope Cannery	30,000
Brunswick Canning Co	17,500
Wannuck Pkg. Co	20,400
Victoria Cannery	13,966
River's Inlet Cannery	26,409
Alert Bay Canning Co	2,555
Lowe Inlet Canning Co	10,000
Namu Harbor Canning Co	4,000
West Coast (Clayoquot Sound) Co	4,000
Naas River	20,000

This makes a grand total for the Northern canneries of 249,850 cases. Inspector MacNab estimates the Fraser pack at 350,000. To satisfactorily compare this season's pack with those of the past three years it is necessary to separate the Fraser River from the Northern pack, and it will be seen that while the Fraser pack has been continually diminishing the Northern pack has been simultaneously increasing, and it is the Northern pack that makes this "off" year the unexpected big year :

	1893.	1894.	1895.
Northern pack	112,635	128,666	170,145
Fraser River	557,570	363,566	432,920
Totals	670,205	492,232	603,065

Inspector MacNab's theory of the gratifying yearly increase in the Northern pack is that though the fish have always been there they are more difficult to net than in the Fraser, owing to the strong currents, clear water, etc. In addition, the number of fishermen is constantly growing, and they are spreading and fishing further outside. The inspector confesses that he was much surprised at the big catch this year, owing to its being an historical off year. There has, it is true, been a decline in the Fraser catch since 1893, but nothing like the sliding scale of previous off years. The total pack in 1889 was 76,000 cases, and four years previous to that, 68,000. The hatchery is generally believed to be responsible for the improvement. If this be the fact, the more hatcheries the better for British Columbia. The present hatchery will accomodate 6,500,000 ova, but there may be trouble in obtaining this number, as this year the water in the small creeks has been very low, and it is feared the usual number of gravid salmon have not spawned in the old spawning ground; although no one can answer for what took place earlier in the season. This fact may affect next season's run, and, if the expected big year 1897 does not come up to anticipations, this will no doubt be ventured as a reason. There are now 35 canneries on the Fraser, and upwards of 25 in the North and on Vancouver Island. Next year will see 10 or 12 more added to the list, the majority of them on the Fraser, and also will witness the construction of hatcheries on both the Fraser and the Skeena. The British Columbia canners have now practically abandoned the talls for flats, finding the latter description of can much more favorably received on the market.

C. H. GIBBONS.

A good many men who curse the fates for their misfortunes would be less short of the mark if they were to anathematize a little nearer home.

MALAGA RAISINS DEARER.

Malaga raisins are evidently catching the bull fever. For some time they have been developing a firmer feeling, but within the last few days there has been an advance in prices of from 20 to 25 per cent. Dessert clusters alone would cost 2s. 1½d. more to lay down upon the Toronto market than a short time ago.

Malaga raisins have been, and still are, relatively the cheapest fruit in the way of raisins on the market, and, in view of the strength of foreign dried fruit generally, a higher range of values was naturally expected.

Stocks on spot are on the light side, and it is expected that supplementary shipments will not reach here till after the holiday trade.

MONTREAL'S EARLY CLOSING LAW.

IN last week's issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER a mistake was made with regard to the number who signed the petition against the bylaw. Instead of reading 951 signatures against, it should have read 660 and 951 in favor. Out of this 660 against 105 names were submitted by merchants residing outside the city, 53 merchants not included in the bylaw, 6 doubtful, and 67 repeated signatures. This leaves only 429 genuine names against the bylaw. There are only 214 merchants engaged in the grocery business against, the rest being made up of other merchants, such as dry goods, etc. Out of the 951 merchants who are in favor of the bylaw ; 497 are bona-fide grocers, which gives a majority of 283 grocers alone who are in favor of the bylaw. It is expected that judgment will be given out this week by Judge Loranger in the action taken by those against the bylaw to have it declared illegal.

The Retail Grocers' Association also considered the matter at their regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening last. Vice-President Jno. Scanlan was in the chair, President Vallieres being absent owing to illness in his family. The expressions at the meeting were both pro and con, though the majority admitted that if it could be universally carried out it would be a good thing. It was decided, however, that the wiser course would be to abstain from any decision until the superior court, before which the matter was at present, had given its decision. A resolution in accordance with this was passed.

It is not the size of the key which indicates the strength of the lock, nor the display a merchant makes the strength of his business.

LOOKING FOR AN ENGAGEMENT.

In another part of this paper appears the advertisement of E. A. Ramsay, of the firm of Wilcox & Ramsay, Virden, Man. Mr. Ramsay is withdrawing from the business and will soon be open for an engagement. He is prepared to take interest in or buy out established thriving business. Mr. Ramsay has had a wide experience in mercantile life. In 1887 he was a member of the firm of Farr & Ramsay, Woodbridge, Ont., and prior to that time he clerked for David Stewart, of Thistletown, Ont. He is still on the sunny side of middle life and is looking for an A1 opening where he can settle down for life.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

A DECIDEDLY better tone has developed in the wholesale grocery trade of Toronto during the past week. Business has increased somewhat, but the chief factors which have contributed to bring about the better tone of the market are the continued upward tendency of the price of staples generally, and the election of the sound money candidate in the United States. Sugar of all kinds jumped up ⅛c. per lb. on Monday, and the outside markets have also been advancing. There has been no further change in canned goods, but the market is generally firm, particularly in regard to tomatoes, and purchases are being made more freely. Coffees are advancing. Further sharp advances in Valencia raisins are to be noted. Currants, on the other hand, are weaker in the primary market. California loose muscatels have again appreciated in price. So have Malaga raisins. And a further advance is reported in French prunes. Teas continue firm, but without any special change. Payments are fair.

CANNED GOODS.

The position of the canned vegetable market has gained rather than lost strength during the past week. This remark applies with particular force to tomatoes. The demand, however, is not very active, but it is improving, and we hear of purchases of tomatoes at 2½c. per dozen above the figures that the same buyers were willing to pay a few weeks ago. This is significant. The demand is a little better for salmon. The position of the market appears to be strong, and next spring, when the demand begins to improve, higher prices are confidently looked forward to by the trade. The pack of cohoes does not appear to be up to anticipations, and THE CANADIAN GROCER learns that it will be impossible to fill orders placed by some Toronto wholesalers. Some houses, in fact, have already been notified to that effect. We quote best brands as follows : Tomatoes, 65 to 70c.; corn, 55 to 65c.; peas, 60 to 65c. for ordinary ; sifted select, 95c. ; extra sifted, $1.35 to $1.45 ; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2.20 for 2's ; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80 ; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25 ; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40 ; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40 ; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins ; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25 ; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30 ; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins ; flats, $2.65 to $2.70 ; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.25 to $1.30 ; 2's, $2.25 to $2.35 ; 6's, $7 to $8 ; 14's, $14.50 to $15.50.

COFFEES.

Brazilian and East Indian coffees continue to advance. Orders for a good deal of Brazilian coffee have been placed on the Toronto market lately at an advance of nearly 1c. per lb. Stocks of good green Rio coffees are light. We quote green in bags : Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade ; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c. ; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

The demand is improving a little, with the bright grades most wanted. We quote : Dark, 28 to 31c.; medium, 33 to 35c.; bright, 40 to 42c. ; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

A fair demand is being experienced for molasses, and advices from New Orleans state that the market there is firmer with the demand improving. We quote : New Orleans, barrels, 28 to 30c.; ditto, half-barrels, 30 to 35c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The feature of the market is an advance of ⅛c. per lb. in the price of all Canadian refined sugars. The advance took place on Monday, and has stimulated the demand somewhat. Yellow sugars continue scarce, the St. Lawrence being the only refinery that, up to the time of writing, has any for prompt shipment. The market is strong at the advance, and the refineries are disinclined to make contracts even at to-day's prices. In New York there were two distinct advances of ⅛c. per lb. each on refined sugar during the past week, one being on Saturday and the other on Monday. Wholesalers in Toronto are now quoting granulated at 4.05 to 4⅛c. per lb., and yellows from 3⅛c. up.

SPICES.

The market rules firm, with demand moderate. We quote : Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c. ; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c. ; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, ETC.

The firmness previously noted in the rice market has been maintained. Locally there is nothing specially new to note. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

A cable received in Toronto on Monday advised the shipment of Grenoble walnuts for this market. Nearly all the trade here have lots in this shipment. Prices quoted to-day for Sicily filberts are very much higher than the figures which obtained at the opening of the season. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.; chestnuts, $3.30 to $4 per bushel; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

TEAS.

There is a good trade doing in China teas, both Congous and Young Hysons, and in the latter particularly. Trade has been active in Japans, especially in the medium grades. Young Hyson teas are scarce and wanted. The market for Indian and Ceylon teas remains much as before. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia raisins show further advances. Selected would now cost from 7 to 7¼c. per lb. laid down here, there having been an advance of 2s. per cwt. Between Saturday and Tuesday off-stalk advanced 4s. per cwt. The demand locally continues active, and wholesalers' ideas as to price are higher. We quote: Off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¾ to 7c.; layers, 7 to 7¼c.

Currants were on Tuesday last cabled 6d. cheaper, and our figures on Provincials and Filiatras are slightly lower than a week ago. The local demand is still brisk. We quote: Provincials, 4¼ to 4⅜c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4⅜c.; do, half-bbls., 4⅜ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5⅛ to 5¼c. in half-bbls. and 5¼ to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 6 to 6½c.; do., half-cases, 6½ to 6¾c.; do., extra fine, 6¾ to 7¼c.; do., half-cases, 7¼ to 7½c.

Since our last there has been another advance of ¼c. per lb. in 3-crown California loose muscatel raisins, and they are still hard to get. Buyers have so far been willing to take practically everything offered by the shippers. We quote 3 and 4-crown at 4½ to 7½c. per lb.

Malaga raisins have advanced from 20 to 25 per cent. during the last few days. The actual advance on dessert clusters is about 2s. 1½d. per box. The first direct shipment reached the Toronto market this week.

A letter from Smyrna, under date of Oct. 16, in regard to figs, states that since the opening of the market prices have steadily advanced, with the result that at that date quotations were from 6 to 7s. higher than in the beginning of September. Wholesale quotations are: 14 oz., 10c.; 10 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 18 lb., 12½ to 14c.; 28 lb., 12½ to 16c.; taps, 4 to 4¼c.; natural, 4½c.

In prunes the principal feature is the strength of the French article, which, according to the latest cable advices, are 50 per cent. above the lowest point. In California shippers are away behind in their orders, and are unable to cater at all to the Canadian market.

California new dried peaches and apricots are expected to arrive upon this market in about 10 days or two weeks.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges continue in fair demand, with prices steady. Further strength has been developed by the lemon market during the past week, and our quotations are higher. The demand is active, and there does not appear to be any possibility of values being any lower for some time. The cheap lines of lemons are about cleaned out on the market. Bananas are in a little better demand with, prices ruling as before. Cranberries are not yet much wanted. In apples there is a fair trade doing. There has been a good enquiry during the past week for Almeria grapes and prices keep firm. We quote: Oranges — Jamaicas, fancy, $3.50 to $4 per box; barrels, $6 to $7. Lemons—Verdelli, $2 to $3.50; Maoris and Sorrentos, $7 to $7.50 per box; Malagas, $7.50 per half-chest; cocoanuts, $3.75 a

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Receipts of butter during the past week have been principally large rolls, and the trade has been taking these freely. Tub butter has been neglected, except when an occasional fancy tub has been offered. Poor and medium grades are practically unsalable, and, as large quantities of these are coming in, stocks are accumulating. Creamery butter has been in fair demand, but reports indicate that a number of winter creameries will be operating about the middle of this month, when the supply, it is thought, will exceed the demand. The feeling is rather easier, in sympathy with cable advices. We quote : Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice ; low-grade to medium, 7 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c.; 1-lb., blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The tone of the market is easier. There is practically no export demand, and holders and buyers are apart. Stocks are accumulating, and it is probable that unless the British markets improve lower prices will rule. We quote : 10 to 10½c. for August make, and 10½ to 11c. for September.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—There is not much doing, and the idea of jobbers as to price is 70 to 75c. per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—Are coming in freely, but in spite of this, really good bright stock is scarce. A few lots are going out on export account. Good bright stock, large cut, is quoted at 2½c. f.o.b.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Dull and cheap, the idea of buyers for extra choice being 4c. f.o.b.

EGGS—The price of limed eggs are firmer than they were, with the result that cold stored eggs have come in for a little more alteration than they otherwise might. The demand for eggs is fair. We quote : Fresh gathered, 17c.; limed, 13 to 13½c.; cold stored and held, 14 to 15c.

HONEY—There is very little doing. We quote: Strained, 7 to 8c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8 to 9c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

MAPLE SYRUP—The demand continues fair at 80 to 85c. per gallon.

POTATOES—Dull, at 30c. per bag in carload lots on track, and 40c. out of store delivered.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade continues active in long clear bacon and barrel pork. The demand for smoked meats is not as good as it was, but as stocks are light, traders find that their goods are going out as fast as they are cured. Lard continues active, with prices improving. Stocks are limited, and difficulty is being experienced in keeping up with the orders. Last week offerings of dressed hogs were not so large on account of the milder weather. This week, however, rail lots are offering more freely. Local receipts are not more than sufficient for the ordinary butchers' demand. Packers are, therefore, compelled to look to outside sources for their supplies, for which they are paying $5 per 100 lbs. for select weights of 100 to 150 lbs.; heavy weights about 50c. less.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c.; small hams, 11 to 11½c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish market is not attracting much attention. There is an abundance of ciscoes on the market, and they are going at almost any price, although 75c. to $1 is the ruling range. We quote: Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 7 to 7½c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, 75c. to $1 per 100. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

SALT.

Trade continues fairly good and prices unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN— The receipts of grain on the Toronto market are liberal, and prices are advancing. We quote: White wheat, 88c.; red, 86c.; goose, 65c.; oats, 24 to 25½c.; peas, 46 to 47c.

FLOUR—Trade is good and prices are considerably higher than a week ago. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.25; straight roller, $4.50, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Another material advance is to be noted this week in the price of breakfast foods. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.70 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50. Further advances are looked for in rolled wheat.

BALED HAY—Dull. We quote: $11 for No. 1, and $9.50 to $10.50 for No. 2 in carloads on track.

PETROLEUM.

A good active trade is to be noted this week, with prices as before. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Currants are cabled 6d. easier in Patras.

French prunes are 50 per cent. above the lowest point.

There has been a further slight advance in the price of lemons.

Brazilan and East Indian growths of coffee are still advancing.

Malaga raisins have advanced 20 to 25 per cent. within the last few days.

Sugar has advanced ⅛c. per lb. in Canada and ¼c. per lb. in New York.

Another ¼c. per lb. has been added to the price of loose muscatel raisins on the Coast.

The price of Sicily filberts are much higher than they were at the opening of the market.

Oatmeal has advanced another 20 to 30c. per barrel, and rolled wheat is 10c. per barrel cheaper.

The cable announces that Grenoble walnuts for the Canadian market were shipped on Monday.

Selected Valencia raisins advanced 2s. on Monday, and off-stalks appreciated 4s. between Saturday and Tuesday.

Smyrna figs are 6 to 7s. higher than at the opening of the season, and the stores in the primary markets are practically closed.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 12, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been more life and variety to the grocery market this week. The excitement in dried fruit has abated somewhat with the arrival of the second cargo, but jobbers here are not plentifully supplied, and, with prices very strong abroad, spot values are apt to advance. Sugar has taken a change for the better at last, yellows going up last Friday, and granulated on Monday of this week, and further advances may transpire before the week is out, as refiners' stocks are very low. Canned vegetables are more firmly held and the strength in tea is more marked, if anything. Spices outside show considerable appreciation, and it will be natural to expect a rise in spot values as a result. In a word, the general position of all staples seems to be stronger than it has been in any previous fall for years.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has at last taken a change and prices are firmer this week, both on yellows and granulated. The chief feature of the market is the great scarcity of the former, refiners' stocks of them being almost exhausted. As a result they asked ⅛c. advance on Friday last, and to-day no goods are available at the refineries under 3⅛c. On Monday of this week also, the local refiners advanced granulated and now will not shade 3⅞c., while 4c. is the figure for small quantities. Jobbers, as a consequence of this firmer tendency in first hands, are not as prone to cut sugar as they were

. . CAUTION . .

DRIED APPLES will be almost unsaleable this year unless the Farmers and Merchants give the strictest attention to CUT, COLOR and CONDITION. Requirements are LARGE QUARTER-CUT FRUIT, BRIGHT COLOR and DRY. DISCOURAGE all SMALL-SLICED and CHIPPY stock. POSITIVELY REJECT everything DARK, BURNT or WET.

With careful attention given to these requirements there is hope for a considerable trade at vastly higher prices than the U.S. fruit returns; by neglecting them, Canadian fruit will be reduced to the U.S. level in quality and price.

It is quicker to Cut fruit LARGE (in quarters) than SMALL, and as easy drying BRIGHT as DARK, it only requires therefore care on the Farmers' part and firmness on the Merchants' to ensure them both a profit as against a loss, besides creating a superior reputation for CANADIAN DRIED APPLES.

WHOLESALE IMPORTING AND MANUFACTURING GROCERS

a week ago, their range on granulated being 4 to 4⅛c., and yellows 3⅛ to 3¾c.

SYRUPS.

This market continues quiet, orders being only for small lots, and prices are unchanged at 1½ to 1¾c. per pound, or 22 to 35c. per gallon.

MOLASSES.

As a result of a desire to turn over some stock in first hands a rather esier feeling is noted this week in molasses, though the jobbing range is unaltered. Ten puncheon lots of Barbadoes have sold as low as 27 to 27½c. and Porto Rico at 28c. The guild price, however, is unaltered at 30 to 31c., as to quantity.

RICE.

Advices on rice continue strong, and imported Patna sold at $4.75, or ¼ to ⅜c. more than was asked for it a short time ago. Domestic mill prices are unchanged, however, at: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; polished Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

It is costing roasters fully 10 to 15 per cent. more for their supplies now and if the strength continues local prices ought certainly to advance. The strong feeling is inducing an active demand from domestic manufacturers particularly for white and black Penang pepper. Zanzibar cloves have also been enquired for. Jobbing values are: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

This market continues quiet, but is actuated by a rather firmer feeling this week, round lots of Maracaibo and Rio having changed hands at better prices. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 19c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

With continued strong cables there is no change in the strength displayed in tea. In fact, sellers in most cases are disposed to demand higher prices. Round lots of Japans have changed hands at 14 to 16c, which is an advance of 2c. over what was bid for the same lots previously, and no Japans are now available here under 14c., Young Hysons cannot certainly be had cheaper than 12c. We quote: Young Hysons, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 14 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The dried fruit market continues firm, and, as noted last week, with practically no Valencia raisins in first hands. Jobbers are demanding firm prices in the case of any new orders. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

Advices from the Coast report very light stocks of California raisins, and, as a result, the fruit is held firm here at the advance. We quote: 2-crown, 6 to 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins continue strong, as last noted, at 7¾ to 12c., as to grade.

Malaga raisins have been cabled 6d. to 1s. higher, and prices here are held firm at $1.50 to $4, as to grade.

The strength in currants is fully maintained. We quote as follows: Filiatras, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c. Fine provincials are worth about ⅜ of a cent a pound more; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6¾ to 8c.

Prunes are firm, with no change in values. New French prunes are selling all the way from 5 to 9c., as to grade, and Bosnias are offered to arrive by jobbers at 5¾ to 6c., which is rather lower. Californias are strongly held as follows: 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

Dates are selling to arrive in a jobbing way at 5¾ to 6c., and figs all the way from 9½ to 15c., as to grade.

NUTS.

Cables on shelled almonds from Valencia quote an advance of 1s. per box since Saturday. Other nuts are strongly held. New Valencia shelled almonds have sold at 18 to 20c., and are the only new stock offered so far. In old nuts we quote: Filberts, 8 to 9c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 8 to 10c.; Grenoble walnuts, 14 to 15c.; shelled walnuts, 20 to 22c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100. There are no Tarragona almonds or Brazil nuts on the market.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been little change in canned goods, except that vegetables gradually display more apparent steadiness. We quote: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in the green fruit market. We quote: Jamaica oranges, $5 to $5.50; lemons, $3 to $3.50 per box, and $6 to $7 per chest; bananas, 50c. to $1; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; grapes, 14 to 25c. per basket; California Tokay grapes, $1.75 to $2 per case, and new Almerias $5 to $7.50 per keg.

FISH.

A somewhat better business has been done in fish since last report. Pickled herrings and green cod have been in fair demand. The former has continued weak and prices show a further decline of 50c. per barrel, which makes a net drop in the past two weeks of 75c. to $1 per barrel. Recent sales of No. 1 N.S. herrings have taken place at $4 to $4.25 per barrel and at $2.50 per half-barrel. No. 1 green cod have sold at $4.10 to $4.25 and No. 1 large at $5. No. 2 small Labrador salmon have changed hands at $11.50 to $12 per barrel. A few small lots of B. C. salmon have come to hand and met with a ready sale at $6 per half-barrel. No. 2 mackerel are quiet and unchanged at $11.50 to $12 per barrel. Smoked fish of all kinds are in good supply, for which the demand is fair and prices rule steady. Haddies are selling at 6½ to 7c. per lb.; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters at 90c. to $1 per box, kippered herrings at $1.50 per box, and new smoked herrings at 11c. per box.

There has been a better demand for dried codfish, and the market at present is pretty well cleaned up of stock; in consequence, prices are firmer at $4.25 per 100 lbs. On the other hand, pollock is weaker and prices are 20c. per 100 lbs. lower at $2. Skinless cod are selling at $4.50 to $5.25 per case as to brand; bonelsss cod at 5½c. per lb., and fish at 3c. per lb.

Fresh fish are in good supply, especially haddock, of which the receipts are in excess of the demand for this season of the year, and prices in consequence are easier at 3½ to 4c. per lb., and cod at 3c. Frozen B.C. salmon are selling at 10c. and fresh at 11c. per lb. Dore are in demand at 6½ to 7c., and pike at 4½c. per lb.

The arrivals of shell oysters have been large during the past week, but really choice stock continue scarce and firm at $4.50 to $5 per bbl.; hand-picked extra Buctouche at $4.50; Miramichi at $3 to $3.50, and ordinary at $2.50 to $3.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Fair demand for eggs at 18 to 20c. for fresh laid and 13½ to 14c. for candled.

BEANS—Quiet at 70 to 75c.

HOPS—Only a small demand at 6 to 7c.

HONEY—Featureless, at 10 to 12c. in the comb and 8 to 9c. extracted.

POTATOES—Prices contine steady under a fair enquiry at 35 to 40c.

DRESSED HOGS—Receipts of these have commenced. They sell all the way from $4.75 to $5.25 per 100 pounds.

BALED HAY—Market continues firm at $10.50 to $11 for No. 1 and $9 to $9.50 for No. 2.

DRIED APPLES—Little demand at 3 to 3½c., with evaporated 5½ to 6c.

PROVISIONS.

Provisions continue dull, and in the main featureless. We quote: New Canadian pork, 11 to 12c.; old Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 6¼ to 6½c.; bacon, per lb., 7½ to 8½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5 to 5¼c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

In sympathy with the strong wheat markets Manitoba millers have advanced prices 25c. per barrel to $5.30 for spring wheat patents and $5 for strong bakers'. Ontario grades are very firmly held, and higher figures will likely follow. It was also stated that the large millers bought up all the smaller millers' flour they had to offer.

There was no change in meal. The demand was slow and business quiet, as buyers are well supplied for the present. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.35 to $3.40; granulated, bbls., $3.45 to $3.50; rolled oats, bbls., $3.35 to $3.40; rolled oats, per bag, $1.65 to $1.70.

In feed, business rules fairly active and will likely continue so until the close of navigation. We quote: Bran, $10 to $11; shorts, $11 to $12; mouillie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Business in cheese continues inactive, current trading being confined to under grades, which are available at 10c. and under. Finest makes are purely nominal. Shippers have no orders for them and holders are not going to sacrifice what they have got for the sake of securing a purchaser. At the wharf Monday morning 3,500 boxes were offered, chiefly the tail end of October. The quality did not grade very high, and the prices paid, 9¼ to 9½c., a decline of ¼ to ½c. on last Monday's level, was considered all they were worth from a speculative point of view. At Cowansville on Saturday also, it is learned that 500 cheese sold at 9⅝c. off the board.

The butter market exhibits no change. Practically all the October make is still held in first hands. Factorymen have been bid from 19½ to 19¾c. for it, but have not seen fit to accept, and as demand is not brisk shippers do not consider it good speculation to advance on these prices. At Cowansville two creameries sold at 19½c in the country, which is the equivalent of 19¾c. here.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Several good lots of Cottam's bird seed were distributed to the trade here this week.

Cables on Malaga raisins were quoted 6d. to 1s. higher on Tuesday, with an advancing tendency.

New dates are selling to arrive at 5¾ to 6c. in jobbing lots, and figs at 9½ to 15c., according to grade.

The first large lot of Almeria grapes were distributed this week. They are selling all the way from $5 to $7.50 per keg.

New shelled Valencia almonds were the first new nuts offered on the market this fall. They are selling at 18 to 20c. this week.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 12, 1896.

THE week just passed has been a busy one, and one of not a little profit to our merchants. Markets are still upward, particularly flour, which has shown more strength than expected. In cream of tartar our merchants have bought quite largely, some orders being placed at lower prices than for some time.

SALT—Of coarse salt there has been quite a famine here during the past week, and everything has been cleared up, the wholesalers even buying what stocks were held by the retail trade to fill outside orders, prices asked being as high as 60c. A large supply is daily expected, three sailers with each a quantity on board being now due. This, with the regular sailing of direct steamers to Liverpool, which will shortly begin, will prevent the market being again short, while it will bring the price down to usual limits. In fine, market is well supplied. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c., factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—While there is little change in prices, there is a firmer feeling and rather higher prices expected. There are, however, too large stocks here for much advance in our market this fall. Canned meats are higher, but sale at this season is light. New oysters are daily expected. Peaches and strawberries are the firmest lines, while corn is the weakest, there being still old corn here. Salmon continues to arrive and market is hardly as firm as was expected. Domestic sardines are having a better demand; besides the usual mustard and oils they are being put up spiced and also in tomato sauce. These goods are chiefly sold west. We quote: Corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 65 to 75c.; tomatoes, 70 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to

JAMIESON'S BISCUITS

Manufactured by

R. E. JAMIESON - OTTAWA

$3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Apples continue to arrive in large quantities. There is a fair sale for best grades, but, on the whole, the trade is unsatisfactory. Over six thousand barrels have so far been sold at auction at from 50c. to $1. Valencia oranges are expected about the last of the month. Jamaicas are rather higher. Lemons show quite a decline. Very few bananas are seen and pears are of indifferent quality. We quote: Lemons, $4 to $4.50.; oranges, $5 to $6; bananas, $1 to $1.50; grapes, 40 to 50c. per basket; apples, $1 to $1.65 per bbl.; keg grapes, $5 to $6; N.S. pears, $2 to $3 per half-bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $6.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5.

DRIED FRUIT.—New goods are now all to hand. California loose muscatels are finding ready sale, though the present high prices somewhat affect quantity sold. Holders are firm. Quantity of Valencias appears short. Arrivals have been slow, keeping stocks low. Malaga fruit to hand is fine stock. Currants, of which sale is large, are of better grades than usual, and prices are held firm. Prunes show light sales. No new California have yet been received. New California evaporated fruits are also not yet seen, there being no demand at this season. Dried apples are not spoken of and evaporated move slowly. Some for future shipment have been bought. Figs are having a large sale this season, and in spite of reports of damage to crops, quality is good. Onions are only in fair demand. We quote: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c.; London layers, $1.60 to $2.25; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4 to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 3 to 4c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5½c.; Canadian onions, $2 to $2.10; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron peel, 16 to 17c.; orange and lemon, 12 to 13c.; Valencia layers, 6½ to 7c.; California 4-crown L.M. raisins, 7¾ to 8c.; Imperial cabinets, $2; Dehesas, $2.50 to $3.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—There is a firmness in eggs owing to light stocks, and prices are moving upward. Cheese continues lower here than in Ontario, but late makes are held firm, and stocks being light there is no doubt higher prices will rule. Butter is in good supply, but not in too many cases of good quality. Best grades rather higher, but poor moves slowly. We quote: Dairy butter, 17 to 20c.; new creamery, prints, 22c.; do., tubs, 20 to 21c. Cheese, 10 to 10½c. Eggs 16 to 17c.

SUGAR—Is showing a better movement. Yellows are showing more firmness than granulated this week. Stocks of yellow are lighter than granulated in proportion. Owing to refineries not selling future, merchants did not buy as largely as they otherwise would, but quite large stocks have been bought. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3⅞ to 3¾c.; Paris lump, 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—Continues without feature of interest. Prices low and unchanged. While quality of New Orleans arriving is hardly up to last year's, price is much lower, dealers, owing to small movement and low price of West India goods, not being willing to pay the price of better grades. The value is extra. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—While there is a good demand the upward tendency of prices appears to be at an end. While dry are quite firm pickled are hardly as firm as a week ago. Best grades of herring cannot be got. Shad are scarce, but above a certain figure they will not sell. Some fine No. 1 mackerel are on the market, but owing to the high price the sale here is light. In boneless fish rather less demand is noticed. The sale is to the west and dealers there appear stocked for the present. Smoked herring, kippers, haddies and bloaters have good demand. The express companies do a large business handling this for western markets. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.60 per half-bbl.; smoked, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Yarmouth, 4c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington herring $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; mackerel, $18 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—There is a good movement in pork and beef. The latter is firm and quoted rather higher. Lard has shown a good deal of activity during the week and is also quoted higher. Local price continues low, but higher figures are looked for. Smoked meats are in fair demand. Local cured stock is held high and brings the price. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $11.50 to $12.50; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour continues to advance in price, particularly Manitoba. The difference in price between it and Ontario is from 75c. to $1 per bbl., but the price does not seem to affect demand. Oatmeal, while hardly as firm, is still quite high. Oats show no change from last week. N. B. oats are offered here quite low, but merchants will not buy. They are poorly cured. P.E.I. oats are hard to get, and prices are higher, but still below Ontario figures. Other lines show little change. Quite a quantity of barley and peas have arrived here lately. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.75 to $6; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.60 to $4.70; oatmeal, $3.65 to $3.70; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do., do., $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1.10; prime, $1; oats, 31 to 33c.; hay, $12 to $13; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A. Armstrong is again at the old stand, having resumed his fruit business.

The effort to introduce standard time into St. John is a failure. It got only as far as the Customs house and post office, and now the post office is back to local time.

Four cases of California raisins from the firm of J. K. Armsby Co. arrived here this week, and another car is due next week. They were the first California raisins to arrive. J. Hunter White is the local representative.

The last English steamer brought large consignments of Lazenby's goods for merchants here. F. H. Tippet & Co., the local agents, in speaking to THE GROCER, said that in spite of the number of cheaper goods being now put on the market, they found an increased demand for their different lines.

The following resolution was passed by the Charlottetown Board of Trade: That a committee be appointed to interview the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and Minister of Agriculture to ask them to use their influence with the Government to secure a subsidy for steamer from Montreal to Liverpool, calling at Charlottetown both ways, once or twice a month.

Marshall's Saratoga potato chips are to be found at our leading retailers, Van Wart Bros., W. A. Magee, Puddington & Merritt and W. A. Porter each receiving fresh supplies this week.

At a meeting of the creditors of Hall & Faither the following statement was made: Liabilities, $58,250. Assets, estimated value, book debts, $11,218; stock, $11,000; cash, $370; total assets, $22,589. An offer of 20 per cent. cash or 25 per cent. extending over a year, was made, but neither were accepted at the first meeting. It is thought, however, that the cash offer will be eventually accepted.

Imports of St. John for Oct., 1896, were $279,309. Of this $125,690 were free goods. On the balance duty to the amount of $61,263 was collected. The figures for the same month last year were: Imports, $313,252; free, $118,993; duty, $75,105. The exports this year were $321,724; last year, $333,439.

Business men of Moncton are active in their opposition to the increased freight rate on flour, etc. Upwards of 40,000 barrels of such goods are handled yearly there. It took years of effort to get on equal basis with St. John and Halifax, but the freight business at the I. C. R. shed amounted to about a quarter of a million a year, and showed the justice of their claim. They rightly feel it is most unfair to be put back to their old position.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

BAD weather has interfered with business somewhat during the week, but there is a fair volume doing notwithstanding. The fall business will be up to the average, but had it not been for the reaction of the past few weeks the indications are a reverse report would have to be made.

Breadstuffs are slow, owing to bad weather. The prices are still upwards. We quote as follows: "Ogilvie's" or "Five Roses," $5.70; Ontario made Manitobas, in wood, $5.00 to $5.15; Ontario and Manitobas mixed, for patents, $4.60 to $4.80; 80 per cent. patents, $4.55 to $4.75; 90 p.c. patents, $4.50 to $4.60; low grades, $3.90 to $4; oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.25 to $3.50; cornmeal, $1.95 to $2; middlings, per ton, $15.50 to $16; shorts, $15 to $16.50; bran, per ton, $14 to $14.50; white oats, per bushel, in sacks, 32 to 33c.; cottonseed meal, per ton, $22 to $23; oilcake meal, per ton, $22 to $23; hay, per ton, $11 to $11.50; split peas, $3.15; pot barley, $3.50; white beans, per bush., 95c. to $1.

The provision market is also feeling the effects of the continued wet weather, particularly in fresh stocks, there being no cold storage available. Beef is in fair demand. Small cattle are worth from $4.50 to $5, and heavy $7 to $7.25. The demand for lambs is slow. Prices range from $1.75 to $2. Fresh pork is slow, on account of the quantity of old on hand. The outlook for pork is not promising; quotation this week is 5½c. Poultry is plentiful and low in price. Turkeys are quoted at 10c. per lb.; geese, 50 to 60c. per pair; chickens and fowls, 40 to 50c. do.; partridges, 30c. do., and rabbits, 15c. do. Eggs keep moving up. The quotation for good stocks is 17c.

The domestic sugar market is strong. Granulated remains unchanged at 3⅞c., but yellows are scarce and in good demand at 3⅛c. for Circle C, and 3¼c. for extra Circle C.

The exceedingly bad weather interferes with the curing of fish. Fishermen are abandoning the work and allowing the bulk of the late catch to lie over until spring. West India herrings are in fairly good supply, with easier prices, $2.25 to $2.50 being about the value. Salmon are very firm. Mackerel, if anything, are lower. Alewives advanced to $3.25 ex vessel. Fat herrings are much wanted. Grocery cod is scarce. Quotations are: Dry cod, shore, tol quol, prime, $2.50 to $3.50; small bank do., $2.25 to $2.50; large do., $2.75 to $3; bay do., $2 to $2.25; Labrador, $2 to $2.55; haddock, $1.75 to $2; hake, $1.25 to $1.50; pollock, $1.25; Bay of Islands herrings, $1.25; Labrador, No. 1, $5; do., No. 2, $3.50; No. 1, large, fat shore, $3.25 to $4; alewives, $3.25; mackerel, No. 3, large, $8 to $8.50; No. 3, fat, $10; No. 2, fat, $11.50; No. 1, fat, $13; salmon, No. 1, $17; No. 2, $14; No. 3, $12.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

W. H. GILLARD & CO. report a large sale for stove polish—Dixon's Carburet of Iron. The retailer is enabled to sell at 5 cents a package and make a good profit. In the United States this polish is sold for 10 cents per package.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. offer No. 1 Spanish onions in crates.

John Sloan & Co. received last week several lines of Japan teas, all of which show excellent value.

Tilsonburg rolled oats are in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol have now in store some excellent values is Gunpowders and Oolongs in cads.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. have just received a shipment of Burnett's English malt vinegar.

"We are quoting special prices on choice 4-row Eleme figs in 10-lb. boxes arriving this week," say The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Jams and jellies from the factory of T. A. Lytle & Co., Richmond street west, Toronto, always find ready sale. The firm reports business in these lines quite up to any previous season.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd, are making special prices on round lots of corn, peas and tomatoes.

W. H Gillard & Co. are reported to be showing some good values in Japans, which were bought before the advance.

Some excellent values in Young Hyson and Congou teas are still offering by Lucas, Steele & Bristol at 10 to 12½c.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. have in stock this week, ex. ss. Bellona, Malaga fruits, shelled almonds and currants.

Good quality syrup at a reasonable price is now for sale with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. The firm have just received another lot of bargain molasses.

Last fall Messrs. Morse Bros., proprietors of the "Rising Sun" stove polish and the "Sun Paste" stove polish, shipped over 23 carloads of 15 tons each in less than two weeks.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. report a brisk demand for their pure sugar syrup in pails as advertised last week, and advise buyers to order early before this line is cleared out.

An enormous quantity of the "Rising Sun" stove polish is now being exported to Great Britain. Sixty-five thousand cases were sold through the English agency in London last year.

The F. F. Dalley Co., Ltd., say that the sales of their "Pure Fruit" extracts are increasing by bounds. It is the quality of the goods that makes them sell. "Some grocers complain," writes the firm, "that they are not selling nearly the amount of extracts that they used to, and that the trade has gone into other channels. The cause of their losing the trade is that a great many grocers will only keep the very cheapest goods that they can buy. They say it suits their trade. They may fancy it suits their trade but they are making a mistake, for when people have once used 'Pure Fruit' extracts, and then find that their dealer does not keep them, they invariably seek the store where they do keep them, and that dealer consequently gets the trade. A good deal of that trade has been

Laporte, Martin & Cie. report that the winter trade of Mitchell's Scotch whisky is opening up well

"We have an excellent variety of Malaga table raisins arriving this week," say the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

An increase of over one hundred per cent. was recorded in October for the sale of Robinson's patent barley and patent groats. They are always in good demand and pay a good profit all round.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. report that P. Richard's brandy is securing the same firm hold on the Canadian market as in Europe.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie. Montreal, are offering this week 50-lb. boxes evaporated apples, "Elite" brand, at 4½c. per pound.

D. Gunn, Bros. & Co. report the demand for "Maple Leaf" lard good, and that some difficulty is being experienced in satisfying it.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. report a shipment of Malaga raisins, in splendid condition, just arrived for them per ss. Bellona.

"The demand for our cleaned currants is increasing every day. Our 'Kalamos,' 'Morea' and 'Royal Vonitsa' are prime favorites," say the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie., Montreal, have just landing 1,500 boxes Sultana raisins ex ss. Parisian. They are of the well-known "Shield" brand, and are offered at 7½c. per lb.

A shipment of Filiatra currants, in bbls., half-bbls., cases and half-cases, and Casalina Patras currants, in cases and half-cases, arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. report that the 2,500 demijohns of Labruyere's are going rapidly, owing to the low rate at which they were being offered. There is still a small balance left.

The attention of the trade is called to the advertisement of Chas. Boeckh & Sons on page 31. The firm is up to date in its advertising, and its reputation is sufficient guarantee that what it advertises will be strictly adhered to.

Business is picking up already since the election to the south of us, and the enquiries for the various lines handled by Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, such as Keen's mustard, Oxford blue, Southwell's jams and marmalades, show that the public appreciate these well-known articles. Shipments just in by the last London boats.

SECRETARY CORRIE RESIGNS.

At the regular meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto, on Monday night, a communication was read from Secretary J. Muat-Corrie tendering his resignation. It was decided to accept the resignation, and the Executive was instructed to receive applications for the vacant position. Mr. Corrie, during the several years he has held the office, has proved a most efficient secretary. He was led to send in his resignation on account of his having accepted the agency of the H. J. HAY BUYERS.

Mr. A. D. Urlin, Dutton, Ont., writes asking for the names of hay buyers in the east. The following are a few of the principal firms: Mr. James Malone, Three Rivers, Que.; White & Esdaile, Board of Trade, Montreal; Archambault & Co., Board of Trade, Montreal; Jas. Kerr, Wellington street, Montreal; A. L. Hurtubuise, Board of Trade, Montreal; P. McIntosh & Son, James Goodall & Co., and Delaporte & Co., Toronto.

TYPES OF THE WORLD'S ARMIES.

Rose & Laflamme are distributing excellent representations of the different armies of Europe. They are most tastefully got up and form an excellent index as to the uniform that is worn by the crack regiments of the different countries. They should be sought after by the retailer, especially at this season of the year, when articles such as this, given with a pleasant word, go a long way towards cementing business dealings.

A NEW COCOANUT PREPARATION.

Preparations of cocoanut already in use, while being all that was desired for ordinary purposes, have not given perfect satisfaction in flaky ornamental work on the top of cakes and confectionery.

It has been difficult to obtain a straight, lengthy strip for this purpose with the machinery that has been in use. The Canadian Cocoanut Co. have, however, after long experiment, got a machine that gives the desired result. Its output is now on the market, and small lots of it, placed in the hands of leading confectioners, have given good results in the direction desired.

The company have christened the goods "Feather Strip," which will be their trade name in future. The title is fittingly descriptive of their appearance, for they look for all the world like milk-white feather strippings.

LARGE CARGO OF SUGAR.

The largest cargo of sugar that has ever entered the port of Montreal was landed this week by the steamship Assaye of the Elder-Dempster Line. The cargo consists of 42,000 bags which figures up to the enormous quantity of 9,000,000 pounds. The Assaye is from Hamburg, and the sugar aboard is of the German beet variety. The nearest approach in size to this cargo came in this season on the steamship Aladdin, and was something like 36,000 bags. The present cargo is consigned to the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery. The steamship Romulus, also with a cargo of raw sugar, is on her way to this port. This is for the Canada Sugar Refinery, and is the last sugar ship of the season.

M. Raphael, of Hamilton, is suing John Davis for $5,000 damages for breach of contract. The plaintiff recently purchased a grocery business from the defendant, and claims that the latter has violated the agreement by going into business again.

SILVER DUST WASHING POWDER

Our Cans Have No Solder

On the inside. The seam of the can is in the shape of two flat hooks dove-tailed together These hooks are dove-tailed in such a way that the solder has to be placed on the outside of the can. It is absolutely impossible for the tomatoes to become lead-poisoned through contact with the solder.

It is worth something to you to be able to guarantee each can of tomatoes. Not only that, but customers who have not bought canned tomatoes before, on account of the solder scare, will be induced to try "Kent" brand.

There is no doubt about the quality of the Kent tomatoes; all those who handle them speak very highly of that. If you are not already a handler of our tomatoes, will you not try a few cases? They will be sure to please your best trade.

Our Cans Have no Solder . .

On the inside. The seam of the can is in the shape of two flat hooks dove-tailed together. These hooks are dove-tailed in such a way that the solder has to be placed on the outside of the can. It is absolutely impossible for the tomatoes to become lead-poisoned through contact with the solder.

It is worth something to you to be able to guarantee each can of tomatoes. Not only that, but customers who have not bought canned tomatoes before, on account of the solder scare, will be induced to try "Kent" brand.

There is no doubt about the quality of the Kent tomatoes; all those who handle them speak very highly of that. If you are not already a handler of our tomatoes, will you not try a few cases? They will be sure to please your best trade.

Paradise Currants

(In cases of 120 lbs.)

10 CARLOADS---JUST ARRIVED

A SUPERIOR GROWTH from a district in Greece, celebrated for the handsome appearance and rich flavor of its currants.

SPECIALLY SELECTED and prepared for us exclusively, under the personal supervision of one of the best known and most influential packers of currants in Greece.

FOR SEVERAL YEARS we have been striving to perfect arrangements in Greece whereby we could rely on securing exceptional quality and value for our retail friends, without entailing extra cost.

JUDGING from the universal satisfaction expressed by the trade handling this brand of currants during the past few years, we believe this has been accomplished. PARADISE Brand compare favorably with other varieties costing from 1 to 1½ cents more.

WE DON'T ASK YOU to take for granted all that we say in this connection, without first satisfying yourself by a personal and careful test as to the merits of these currants. A sample case will convince you of the accuracy of our statements, and will, we believe, bring an order for your full requirements.

THE CANADIAN GROCER

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, NOVEMBER 20, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 47

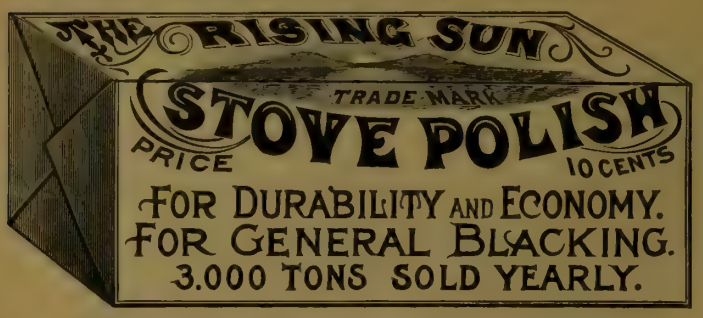
NECESSARY BOOKS FOR A RETAIL GROCER.

FOURTH PAPER—BY A CITY GROCER AND EXPERT BOOKKEEPER.

THIS concludes the series. We have treated of all the important books of a larger and more-used character. There now remain but a few points to be treated of before leaving the matter in our readers' hands. The cheque book is not any too well looked after by very many people. You can easily tell this by the way hosts of buyers will pull out a dirty rolled-up thing and write you out a cheque, in many cases not even filling up the stub, or even making a fairly educated-looking affair of a cheque. Some of these things produced in a court of law, as they sometimes have to be, would afford endless matter for lawyers to make merry with. And no one relishes that or even the thought of it. This remark may be made now as well as at any other time: Keep every book in such a way that shame will never follow its public exposure. It pays to keep them that nicely for your own eye, and it will be doubly remunerative to have them irreproachable in the public gaze. The cheque book should be entered up on the stub; deposits, drafts, notes and cheques, all just at the moment they occur, and in a clean, business-like manner. Then you can always tell how much you owe the bank, because, being a grocer, you will never have such a thing as a balance to your credit.

The cost book is very valuable. It should be of a permanent character, as it will last for years, and should contain much information of a private and confidential nature. No ruling is necessary, as regularity of entry will not be possible, and even if possible, nothing would be gained. Such information as one gleans from day to day and year to year as to head sources of supply, quantities necessary to buy to obtain finest price, agents' addresses, any references mentioned, actual figuring in re import costs from Great Britain or U.S., new goods to be corresponded about, tares and allowances, liquid weights and measurements, and so on ad infinitum. You will soon value this little reminder of many things valuable to know, and which you should, and probably do, know, but which never occur to your mind at the proper time. Take one page of the book—Cocoanut.

Schepps', 5 brls., ea. 180.
Cost in N.Y.....14c.
Duty 25 %. .... 3½c.
Freight ..... ½c.
18c.



Cases 2c. ad. per lb. duty on pkg. and cocoanut weighed together.
Dunham's 1c. cheaper bulk.
" 2c. dearer pkgs.

It will show you not only cost, but at a glance best way to buy next time. No grocer ever bought a bill of goods but that he could have bettered himself on at least one item for lack of proper information thereon. Everyone takes stock, and must perforce have a stock book. Twice a year is not too often, once is necessary, and any more seldom is criminal. There is nothing peculiar about a stock book. Any ordinary day or cash book will do, with an additional ruling for guidance in addition and classification. In taking stock the quickest way is the best, but not the most thorough. The most thorough way is for everything to be counted and marked on little tabs fastened to each lot, and for the proprietor to go over and copy, or have called to him, each lot for entry. This plan is tedious and apt to find goods sold before able to be reached, by reason of the quick selling nature of groceries. The other plan is to quietly prepare for a few days before the proper day by sorting over everything possible into a convenient style for counting. On the day have two or three indexed, cheap blank books, and let two or three start in different directions, writing down as fast as they count each lot. Before night everything will be down, and it may be entered up at leisure. A sufficient check may be made by the proprietor, without going to very much trouble, by simply taking the blank books and going over an item or two to satisfy himself that a fair amount of trouble has been taken to be correct.

In the back of your stock book make up a table of your fixtures every year, putting opposite each a fair price, having in view the cost of renewals, if such should at any time be necessary. Such a table is very apt to save you trouble in case of fire. Have also in the back a table of insurance carried, in which company and when it does lapse; the same regarding life insurance. Some day the agent may forget to call for premiums, although such a thing has never happened yet. Some grocers have none of the preceding books and are fairly successful. We all know some. But if you have none of them, by all means have a diary anyway. You can buy a splendid one for a quarter and you will be surprised how helpful it becomes with its ever-filling pages of do this and do that, or pay this or pay that, on this, that or another date, and jot down in it your deposit slip each day. I have found a case where it saved $5 and it was paying for itself then you will perceive.

Now, we have said before that many will have small patience with all of these notions enumerated in these papers; many will pooh, pooh some of them and extol others, and some will be so superior as to have none of them. So be it, we have not a monopoly of the good notions. At the request of the genial editor of THE GROCER we present herewith a connected list of books necessary for a grocery store. You may have similar and better plans in use. Then you do not need advice. Another may be glad of it; to him may we say with all gladness: make use of all you need and let us hear how you succeed. But by all business interests in our fair land, let each and all do his level best to make for such records as shall bear the light of everlasting day. Let it never be said that so-and-so failed and his affairs took a Philadelphia lawyer to straighten them out. No books are too cumbersome, or too elaborate, to use in order to avoid having that said of us. So let each and all combine to evolve the very best means to attain the great end of every legitimate venture, viz., success.

TREATMENT OF CHILDREN IN STORES.

HERE is an instance of how the same boy was indirectly the means of a tradesman losing a customer. The boy, by the way, is of a philosophic and serious frame of mind, and he does considerable purchasing of household supplies. One day he said : "I don't like to go to ———'s."

"Why not ?" I asked.

"He always keeps me waiting and he's too fresh. He thinks he's funny, and about every time I go there he makes a joke at me, and then his clerks laugh." I had noticed that the person in question appeared to be about what my son represented him, and naturally not wishing the boy to be a target for one of his calibre, the man lost my trade. It was not large, but averaged about $15 a month.

In buying many small articles we let our three boys go wherever they please. They go to only one bake-shop, and the reason is they always get a cake for themselves when they purchase there, and they are treated considerately and are not kept waiting. The number of children who patronize this particular bake-shop, to the exclusion of any others in the vicinity, is remarkable, but not surprising when one knows the reason.

One day I asked the eight-year-old boy why he went three blocks to Tony's cobbling emporium when there were others much nearer.

"It's because," he replied, "Tony gives me a cent to spend every time I take him work, and if it comes to a quarter or more he always gives me two cents, and sometimes three."

I mentally remarked that Tony knew his business and also had good ideas on advertising for small tradesmen.—John Z. Rogers, in Printers' Ink.

FAILURE OF LABRADOR FISHERIES.

The deplorable shortage in this season's Labrador fishing, which on certain parts of the coast has never been worse, will, undoubtedly, have the effect of leaving many of our "hardy toilers of the sea" totally unprovided for the long winter months. The worst feature is that they can take up no other employment until the fishing season again comes round ; and how many cries of want will be heard ere then ! We almost blush to pen these words with such glowing reports of our mineral and fishing wealth going the rounds of the foreign press, but yet we fear that starvation will be a stern reality with some of our northern fishermen before the snows of '97 are obliterated.—Fishing Gazette.

A GOOD WORD FOR GUELPH.

Mr. H. C. Fortier, of the Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co., spent two days in Guelph last week in the interest of the company. He says Guelph is the cleanest city in Canada, and that he found all the merchants hopeful of a good trade this fall and winter. The grocers of that city, says Mr. Fortier, are successful because they attend personally to their stores. Every grocer seems to be a worker and a hustler. The private homes of Guelph are all solid, well-built houses, with plenty of ground around them, and altogether Guelph is a city where any man might wish to reside. A visit to Guelph and its model farm would be a pleasant day's outing for excursionists.

EARLY-CLOSING LAW IN WINNIPEG.

The most interesting case before Col. Peebles at the City Police Court on Monday was that of Mr. F. Cloutier, who has just begun anew his fight to upset the early closing bylaw recently enacted by the City Council. A number of prominent members of the Early-Closing Association were on hand to watch the case, the prosecution being conducted by City Solicitor Hough. Mr. Cloutier's chief contention was that he ran a general store, and that while the by-law did apply to grocery, boot and shoe and other specifically mentioned lines of business, it did not apply to general stores. A large amount of evidence was given in the case by Mr. Cloutier, but the magistrate could not endorse his contention. Mr. Cloutier was charged in two separate counts as relating to both his grocery and boot and shoe departments, and on each charge he was fined $10 and costs. Mr. Cloutier promptly gave notice he would appeal to the higher courts.—Winnipeg Free Press, Nov. 10.

FLORIDA ORANGES.

The first Florida oranges of the season were placed on sale in Jacksonville, Oct. 30. They came from the Manatee section, and while large and well-developed, were only half ripe. Of the crop, estimated at about 125,000 boxes, very few boxes are being shipped north at this early date, the growers preferring to hold until the fruit is thoroughly ripe and the prices better. Fully half of this crop, however, has been sold on the trees, at prices ranging from $2 per box up.

ESSEX COUNTY'S FRUIT CROP.

An estimate has been given of the fruit shipped from the Leamington district besides the amount consumed by the residents of Essex county. This year the amount of peaches shipped by freight and express was 793,060 pounds, which brought $31,722.40. Last year there were 431,650 pounds shipped for which $35,396.30 was received. There were 373,695 pounds of berries shipped, netting $33,632.55, as against 209,070 pounds last year, at an income of $20,907. Other fruits this year amounted to $994.70. The total amount received in the district this year for fruit was $66,349.65, as against $104,224 last year. The reason for the falling off in the receipts this year is that there was such an abundance, and the prices were consequently low.

FULL-PAGE ADVERTISEMENTS.

By Nath'l C. Fowler, Jr.

The good of all good is in the good way of handling it.

A good thing, badly presented, may be as poor as a bad thing well presented.

Too little office room is extravagant economy.

Too much office room is wasteful extravagance.

Enough is plenty.

A large business, and a large office, generally go together.

A hundred-dollar man does not often wear a ten-dollar overcoat.

In the equilibrium of the parts of the business is the success of the whole of it.

The successful house has enough room, enough clerks, and enough of everything.

By your surroundings so will you be commercially judged.

Extravagance and economy, like the extremes of heat and cold, act the same.

There are several reasons in favor of full-page advertisements in trade papers.

To logically and practically present them, allow me to give them, number by number:

First—The full-page advertisement stands for progress.

Second—The full-page advertisement represents success.

Third—The full-page advertisement must be seen.

Fourth—The full-page advertisement is exclusive—nobody else occupies the page with you.

Fifth—The full-page advertisement gives you individual identity—you stand by yourself on your own ground.

Sixth—The full-page advertisement may not be a guarantee of respectability, but few, except the most reliable of houses, use full pages.

Seventh — The full-page advertisement admits of the boldest typographical display.

Eighth — The full-page advertisement allows ample room for comprehensive illustration.

Ninth—More than four times as many people see and read the full-page advertisement than see and read the quarter-page advertisement, and the full page does not generally cost quite as much as four times the cost of the quarter page.

The traveling salesman should never be obliged to initiate the buyer, for the first time, with the name of the house he represents.

The full-page advertiser knows that the name, and the business he does, are familiar to every possible buyer.

The advertiser of smaller space generally finds that his advertisement pays him, and if he finds it to be so, there is no reason why his reason should not furnish reason to make the good thing that paid him well, pay him better.

There are exceptions, for no invariable rule ever existed, but no man of sense dares risk his dollars in following the law of exception, when the rule of average leads on to success.

So long as 99 per cent. of the most progressive and successful houses use full pages, have used full pages, and always expect to use full pages, the argument in favor of full pages lifts itself from out of the sea of doubt, on to the rock of successful safety.

A CONTEMPORARY'S GOOD OPINION.

Col. Mitchell Floyd, of The New England Grocer, dropped in at the Montreal office the other day, and in the course of his conversation spoke in regard to The Canadian Grocer, and what it had done for its interests throughout Canada. He was surprised at the magnificence of its work and of the courage shown by its proprietors and editors in projecting such marvellously fine work. Col. Floyd's early life was passed among the grocery and flour interests in New York, and no one is in a better position than he to appreciate such work as The Canadian Grocer has done.

WINNIPEG CITY TRAVELERS.

At an adjourned meeting of the city travelers of Winnipeg, the project of forming an association was completed. The organization will be known as the Winnipeg City Travelers' Association. The officers elected are: J. Mouat, honorary president; D. M. Horne, president; A. E. Scott, vice-president; John Horne, secretary; W. Watson, treasurer; committee, H. G. Spurgeon, J. H. Dickey, R. J. Galna, J. Douglas, D. B. McRae. The meeting was adjourned for two weeks, when the committee will submit a code of bylaws for approval.

STRONG OUTLOOK FOR MOLASSES.

A letter from New Orleans to a New York merchant says: "Tell our friends not to forget the very sharp jump in molasses which took place about the end of November last year. On the 30th, kettles were shipped at 30c., and on December 7 sent same forward at 23c. One year ago 'Allendale' molasses was bringing 12c. f.o.b., here, whereas to-day we are offering them at 11c. Cane syrups are a cent a gallon cheaper than 12 months ago, and there is no question that this year's crop will be fully as short as last year. In the Lafourche country and the territory bordering on the Mississippi River, from the mouth of Bayou Lafourche to New Orleans, good crops have been made this year; almost the entire remainder of the sugar territory is burnt up by the drouth. Out in the Teche country, which is considered the sugar bowl of Louisiana, they will not make much over half a crop, and the average tonnage of cane per acre is now running about 10 tons, whereas last year it exceeded 22. As the total receipts of molasses at this port last year were short 200,000 barrels, and stock carried over very small, I think you will find goods sold up cleaner this year than ever before in our experience of the trade."

The Farmer's Profit

in Buckwheat depends upon quality, and highest quality means good judgment as to the proper reaping time. Shrewd farmers make the biggest profits because quality counts. And the seeds that make Tillson's Roller Process Buckwheat Flour are furnished by farmers who are paid the most for their product. Inferior grades, gathered before the seeds were ripe, yield a bitter tasting flour; yet the flavor is one of the strongest selling points. Quality depends largely upon ripeness.

CHEAP GROCERY STAPLES IN ROSSLAND.

MR. J. W. Lang, of the wholesale grocery firm of J. W. Lang & Co., Toronto, has returned from a trip to the Coast. On his way back he visited Rossland and other mining centres in the Kootenay country.

"I merely went out," he remarked to THE CANADIAN GROCER, "to see the country and make myself acquainted with the men with whom I have been doing business."

It was Mr. Lang's first visit to British Columbia, and he is delighted with what he saw. "My dear sir," he said, "it is a glorious heritage we have out there. No one can have any idea what the country is like until he visits it."

Referring to the possibility of wholesalers and manufacturers in Eastern Canada doing business in the Kootenay country, he declared that while the freight rates to that point were as heavy as they now are it was impossible for merchants in some lines of goods to cater to that trade, on account of the close proximity of the United States market and the lower freight rates from there to Rossland and other points. "Why, do you know," he added, "you can get canned goods and some other staple groceries just as cheaply in Rossland as in Toronto."

A LOBSTER'S LEGS.

A LOBSTER'S legs all told are ten in number. But only eight of these are largely used for walking. The front pair, or big claws, have been specialized, as in the crab and most others of the higher crustaceans, into prehensile organs for catching and crushing the prey, says Longmans' Magazine. Their use is obvious. Lobsters feed largely off mollusks of various sorts and other hard-shelled marine animals. In order to be able to break or crush the shells of these, and so to get at the softer flesh within, they have acquired such large and very muscular nippers or pincers. That is not all, however; not only have the two front legs been differentiated and specialized from the eight others in this manner, but also, by a rare exception to the symmetry of the body, the right claw has been specialized from the left, each being intended to perform a distinct function. One is a scissors, the other is a mill, one is a cutter, the other is a cracker.

As a rule, the right claw is the slenderer and longer; it has toothlike projections or serrated edges on its nipping faces, and it is rather adapted for biting and severing than for crushing or grinding. The left claw, on the other hand, is usually thicker, heavier and rounder; its muscles are more powerful, and in place of sharp teeth it has blunt tubercles or hammers of different sizes; it acts, in fact, more like a nut-cracker than like teeth or a saw; it is a smashing organ. Nevertheless you will find it interesting to observe, by noting the lobsters served to you at table, that this differentiation has hardly as yet become quite constant; for sometimes it is the right claw that displays the hammer-like nut-cracker type, and the left that acts as nipper and biter, while sometimes no difference occurs at all, both claws alike being sharp-toothed or blunt-hammered in the same specimen.

THE TEA MARKET.

A matter which has proved a subject for comment among tea men is the auction sale of Indian tea in London, England, on the 2nd inst., both the quantity brought forward and quantity sold being the largest on record. The figures were 33,324 and 62,554 packages respectively. And in spite of this the sales passed off with good competition, at prices which showed no change from those of the current week. This is significant. The offerings at public auction for October were 193,000 packages, against 224,000 the same month a year ago, while the average price was 9d., compared with 8¾d. a year ago.

According to cable despatches the exports of tea from Calcutta to the United Kingdom since the opening of the season, up to the 6th inst., aggregated 84,250,000 lbs. against 78,550,000 lbs. for the same time last year.

The exports of tea from Colombo from June 1st to November 3rd were 38,000,000 against 33,350,000 lbs. the same period a year ago. The average sale price of Ceylon tea at the London auction during October was 8¾d. per lb. against 9¼d. a year ago.

From the beginning of the season to November 3rd the exports of tea from China were 32,000,000 lbs, against 34,250,000 lbs. a year ago.

A BOOK WORTH HAVING.

For those interested in making the interior of their stores attractive, especially for the holiday trade, a book just published by Chase & Sanborn, Montreal, is well worth having It contains photographic reproductions of the interiors of leading stores in each province and in each of the United States. It is beautifully printed on heavy coated paper. It is, of course, an advertisement for Chase & Sanborn's coffees, but from the large number of interiors shown there are very few merchants who cannot pick up some ideas from the book. It is probably too expensive a book for general distribution, but no doubt they will send a copy to any live retailer—as every reader of THE GROCER is—who sends a postal card asking for it.

BUSINESS LETTERS.

Business letters are written for business purposes.

Therefore they should be confined to business.

Brevity is a merit except when it interferes with a clear understanding of the subject.

Write all that is necessary and then stop.

But don't stop until all has been said.

One letter will do as much work as six if the contents of the six are included in one.

And it saves 10c. in postage.

Write only on one side of the paper.

If the white paper gives out finish on a piece of yellow.

Talk about the weather when it crowds out material business facts is in bad taste.

Before "yours truly" is written, read over the letter to discover possible omissions.

Add them to the body of the letter.

It will look better than a postscript.

Fancy signatures should be accompanied with a diagram.

A lawyer once had occasion to write a justice of the peace.

He knew his town but not his name, though he had the justice's signature to a letter which lay before him.

He could not read it.

Lawyers are not so easily baffled, however.

He cut the signature out of the letter with his knife, pasted it on an envelope, and addressed it to the town where the justice resided.

It reached its destination safely and in good time.

The local postmaster knew the justice's handwriting.

Still this is considerable trouble.

But it doesn't often happen.

A good business letter consists simply in stating plainly and fully all the writer wishes to say.

It is not, as some people suppose, one of the hidden mysteries.

The grammatical construction is of secondary importance to saying all that is to be said.

And then stop.—St. Louis Dry Goods Reporter.

OUR TROUBLES ARE VANISHING.

IT seems evident beyond all question that we are on the eve of better times. For more than a year indications favoring a return of greater commercial activity would make their appearance, but as far as the North American Continent was concerned they would again vanish. What at least helped to drive them away was Cleveland's Venezuelan message and the free silver agitation. Both of these are now no longer influences from which we need expect immediate trouble at any rate.

As far as the present indications are concerned, there is no mistaking their import. They are decidedly auspicious, and more so than at any time since the recent reign of hard times began.

The root of the commercial system is the farmer, and any improvement that does not originate with him is short lived. During the past year or two there have been spasmodic bursts of industrial activity. But they began with the manufacturer and ended there. The root does not respond to the branch. It is the other way about. As long as the farmers are losing money on the staples they produce no country can be in a healthy condition. And it is true beyond all question that the farmers during the past few years have been losing money.

The improved trade conditions which are now evolving themselves began at the right end: They began with the farmer.

The price of nearly everything he produces, and especially wheat, his chief staple, is appreciating, not as a result of manipulation, but because the consuming countries have become seized of the fact that there is an enormous shortage in the world's great staple food product. At the time of writing wheat is worth something like 25c. per bushel more than it was six or seven weeks ago.

This means millions of dollars increase to the revenue of the farmers, which in turn means not only the liquidation of long-outstanding claims from the merchant, the manufacturer, and the loan companies, but more liberal purchases of those things which the tillers of the soil have during the hard times been compelled to deny themselves.

At a point in Western Ontario, white winter wheat sold on Saturday last up to 90c., or over 61 per cent. better than in June last. In the United States at the end of last week the price of wheat reached a point to which it had been a stranger since 1892.

Next to the farming industry that which is of the most importance to Canada is that relating to the forest. This industry has been in a most deplorable condition, owing to the crisis in the United States, that country taking over 52 per cent. of our forest output. In this important branch of our trade there has been a perceptible improvement during the past few weeks on United States account.

We hear of yards where a month or two ago lumber was piled up with no prospect of any immediate movement, and yet in some instances the stocks to-day are practically all bought up, principally for shipment to points across the line.

Much of the demand is doubtless induced by the anticipation that the United States will place an import duty on lumber. But whatever may be the cause, it is enough for us to know that the lumber is being sold, and that the money is going into the pockets of Canadians.

Then, in addition to what is being done with the market across the line, it is gratifying to know that for some months past we have been doing an increasing trade with Great Britain in this particular product.

Besides the improvement in farm and forest products, it must be remembered that the revival in the mining industry of the country, and that relating to gold, particularly, is most important. Everywhere where gold is to be found, and that is in British Columbia, Manitoba, Ontario and Nova Scotia, mining of the yellow metal is being pushed with vigor.

The improved earnings of the railways and increase in the bank clearings are also indicative of healthier trade conditions.

While Canada has by no means experienced that commercial depression which has been so much in evidence in the United States, yet we have had our own troubles in this respect, and glad are we to see a way out of them.

LUCKY TURNS IN DRIED FRUIT.

THERE are no Valencia raisins in control of commission men at Montreal. One leading firm said to THE CANADIAN GROCER last week that they had practically closed their business for the fall. The shippers at Denia, whom they represented, and who handle some of the best-known brands on the market, are booked so far ahead that they have shut down on any further orders.

This is a peculiar position of affairs, and it is doubtful if dried fruit has ever been more active and strong than it was this fall.

Some Montreal wholesale firms who were far-sighted enough to get their orders in early, are making good money at present by supplying the wants of other jobbers who cannot get supplied anywhere else.

There have been sales this week of round lots of fine off-stalk at 5¼c. net to western buyers by a leading wholesale firm in Montreal. This firm got in early, and are reported to have made fully ½c. per pound on the turnovers they have made so far. In fact, the stocks in Montreal jobbers' hands generally are not by any means well assorted at the present moment.

Very few firms have any selected Valencias at all, and those who have, have only light supplies. The same remark applies with equal force to layers.

CANADIAN APPLE PRICES.

The premium that has been paid on Canadian apples at Liverpool recently is certainly flattering. On the whole they have realized from 1s. to 5s. per bbl. more than the same grades of American apples. This is quite a substantial difference, and for that reason a comparison of the prices paid on Canadian and American on the 30th October last at Liverpool will be interesting:

CANADIAN VS. AMERICAN CHEESE.

The year book of the United States Department of Agriculture points out that while in 1860 the United States exported more than 15,000,000 pounds of cheese and Canada only 125,000, in 1895 the latter exported 85,000,000 more than the latter.

The compiler of the report considers these facts humiliating. No doubt they are; but they should also goad the cheesemen of the United States to catch up, and those in Canada to keep well in the lead. There is a danger we may get too "fleshy" with no foeman to induce us to keep in training.

THE TARIFF AND BUSINESS.

WE have very little sympathy with members of the Dominion Government who, for political reasons, refuse to meet the urgent requests of the business men in all parts of Canada to announce the date on which the tariff changes will be brought into force.

While taking no side in politics, we were among those who approved of many of the Ministers selected by Mr. Laurier. It was generally spoken of as a business Administration. It was thought that they would rise above party considerations and work in the best interests of the community. Members of the Government with whom representatives of this paper have discussed the question individually admit the justice of the requests made by the business men, but get out of it by saying that it is not policy to meet their requests and that the Conservatives might use it against them.

Notwithstanding what the party papers may say, it is a fact that this uncertainty as to tariff changes is seriously hampering business. Editors and reporters of this paper are in constant touch with merchants and manufacturers in every part of Canada, and they all speak of the unsettled condition of affairs.

It is said that Parliament may not meet until April and that tariff changes will not be brought down for a month later. If this be the case, why cannot the Ministry announce the date on which Parliament meets and the probable time at which tariff changes will be submitted ? This itself would afford a certain amount of relief.

While on this question we are reminded by a Nova Scotian that we have not done justice to Hon. Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia. He points out that we have not included him among the business men in the Cabinet, when he is in reality one of the leading general merchants in his native province. Our informant is right. We owe Dr. Borden an apology. The medical prefix before his name threw us completely off the scent at the time we were referring to the representatives of the business community in the new Cabinet. He is manager of the Canning, N. S., agency of a leading bank, and is interested in a lumber and general store business. He seems to have been more successful than the average business man, for Bradstreet's gives him a higher rating than is usually accorded to general merchants. That he is a live business man is shown by the fact that he has long been a subscriber to THE CANADIAN GROCER, Hardware and Metal and The Dry Goods Review.

Hon. Dr Borden's presence in the Government leads us to expect still more from this Administration. Why was he not included in the Tariff Committee? It is generally believed that the members have undertaken more than they can properly do. If they were assisted by representatives of the different bodies interested they could do more and better work. For instance, such experienced men as Robert Bickerdike, president of the Montreal Board of Trade ; E. B. Osler, M.P. president Toronto Board of Trade ; A. E. Kemp, Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and the presidents of the Trades and Labor Congress and of the Farmers' Institute, and some representative retailer would be invaluable.

The free silver men may not have contemplated the repudiation even in part of their obligations, but people in their mental blindness often do that which, vision clear, they would scorn to perform.

TRADE WITH GREAT BRITAIN.

The Department of Trade and Commerce has completed a statement of leading Canadian exports to Great Britain during the past nine months, as compared with the same period last year. It shows a considerable increase in British trade. The following are the details :

	1895	1896
Bacon	$1,672,070	$2,300,511
Hams	650,727	1,181,540
Oxen and bulls	5,767,768	5,612,699
Wheat	2,106,307	3,751,201
Wheat flour	2,929,796	2,363,078
Hewn timber	2,080,922	2,976,599
Lumber	9,323,952	12,439,046
	$24,531,542	$30,824,694

Is it not possible that what was claimed to be a shock of earthquake at Calgary the other morning was the action of Trade in shaking off the cumbrances which have been holding it down during the last couple of years ?

A CUSTOMS BOARD.

The late Government were appealed to several times, without effect, in regard to a Board of Customs Experts and now the present Government are to be tried. The Council of the Montreal Board of Trade has ordered that the Premier be addressed with regard to the petition presented to Parliament in May, 1895, by the merchants, importers and manufacturers of Montreal praying for the establishing of a Board of Customs' Experts, and, as the prayer of that petition has not been fulfilled, the Council now asks the Government's earnest and favorable consideration, believing, as did the Council of 1895, that such a Board of Customs' Experts would be a great boon to the mercantile interests of Canada.

BADLY DRESSED POULTRY.

JUDGING from the character of the poultry that is coming upon the Toronto market, a great many of those who prepare it have yet to learn both honesty and their business.

This conclusion is forced upon THE CANADIAN GROCER as a result of a tour of inspection among the different commission houses.

We feel that we are well within the facts when we say that not more than 10 per cent. of the poultry shipped to the Toronto market can really be classed as first-class stock.

There are a variety of causes for this. The most prolific is the careless manner in which the birds are dressed. Being too lazy to pluck turkeys, chickens, etc., dry scalding is resorted to, with the result that they are not only red in color, but torn and ragged. Then frequently when dry picked the farmer has taken pains to feed well the turkeys, chickens, or whatever it might be in order that the weight of flesh and bones may be supplemented by a good bulky crop. A great deal of the poultry has been both well fed before death and badly scalded after death, and a day or two on the market has sufficed to impart a dirty green color to it.

If the inspector's eye falls upon a great deal of the poultry that is on the Toronto market this week there is no question what its fate will be.

A few days ago a commission house received a consignment of ducks, accompanying which was a note to the effect that a certain price was expected. While, however, the case containing the ducks was being opened, the inspector appeared, and he confiscated the whole lot. And thus the poor consignor got nothing.

There is nothing gained by practising either carelessness or dishonesty in the preparation of poultry for market. No matter how nicely a turkey, chicken, duck or goose is picked a full crop means a reduction of one cent per pound in price, and from two to four cents per pound if scalded and torn.

It is a pity the merchants in the different villages and towns throughout the country cannot arrive at some understanding with each other and thus establish a sort of standard for poultry with a running scale for that which was full cropped and scalded. It would pay the storekeeper and educate the farmer, and eventually increase the profits of the farmer, if some such a system were in vogue.

When a man begins to peculate there is not much room for speculation as to the outcome.

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

HON. MR. FIELDING, Finance Minister; Sir Richard Cartwright, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Hon. W. Paterson, Controller of Customs, on Tuesday last, began their enquiry into the tariff at the Board of Trade Building, Toronto. The enquiry was continued on Wednesday and Thursday.

The evidence of a number of gentlemen representing different industries was taken. Reference below is only made to such testimony as relates to the grocery and allied trades.

Mr. William Dobie, representing E. W. Gillett, manufacturers of baking powder, yeast and other products used by grocers, opposed the reduction of the duty on the goods turned out by his company. Their headquarters, he said, were in Chicago, and if the duty were reduced they would have to manufacture their goods there instead of in Toronto. It was on account of the imposition of a high duty that the firm had begun to manufacture yeast in Toronto. Before that they had paid a duty of 20 per cent. and manufactured in Chicago. If the present duty were lessened Toronto and Canada would lose this industry. Moreover, the price of yeast to the wholesaler, retailer and consumer would not be lessened by a lowering of the duty, for the consumer paid the same price in the States as in Canada. He thought, too, that the duty on compressed yeast like Fleischman's should be made identical with dry hop yeast, such as that made by Gillett & Co.

The wholesale importers of dry goods present were unanimous in protesting against an imperfection in the administration of the Customs law which permits retail dealers in small places to obtain their goods at a lower rate of duty than they in Toronto can. It was pointed out that the existence of an unnecessarily large number of ports of entry accounts for this. The wholesale men have frequently found cases where some of their customers have by this means secured goods at a lower rate than themselves, they, therefore, asked that the policy of the Government be rather in the direction of lessening the number of ports of entry, so that equality might be secured.

So far as their own import trade was concerned, the wholesale men were not particular whether duties are lowered or not. They did ask, however, that if there is to be a lowering of duty, that the Government will be good enough to protect the retail men from loss. These retailers buy in February; their stock is not sold out until July. The deputation, therefore, desired that if the change be advocated before July it do not take effect until that date. Of course, if the suggestion be brought down in July it might take effect at once.

On the subject of Canadian manufactures the delegation were not unanimous, all shades of political opinion being represented. They advocated that specific duties be done away with and ad valorem duties substituted in all cases.

The vinegar manufacturers of Ontario had representatives from three Toronto factories, two in Hamilton and one each from Kingston and Norwich. They also elected to exclude the press. These gentlemen sufficiently recognize the probable tendency of the Government to prevent them from asking an increase of duty. They do desire, and urge it very strongly, that the present duty of fifteen cents a gallon be not interfered with.

These gentlemen also have a grievance, and apparently a serious one. Why they should be so secret about presenting it is not clear. They pay an excise tax of six cents a gallon on vinegar made under Government inspection to secure its fitness for domestic use. They pay the Government $600 annually towards the support of an inspector, who is always at the factory. At the same time they claim that others are making a vinegar for commerce which is merely acetic acid with a small portion of sulphuric acid. Acetate of lime is produced by the destructive distillation of wood; sulphuric acid then detaches the lime, leaving acetic acid. Traces of the stronger acid remain. The law is framed to prevent the sale of this stuff, but the deputation of today claim that the law is not enforced, and they desire that it should be hereafter. The impure stuff is said to be secretly made in out-of-the-way places, as secretly as though it were illicit whiskey.

Mr. John Gowans, of Gowans, Kent & Co., and Mr. John S. McMahon, of McMahon, Broadfield & Co., appeared as representing the crockery trade. They asked that a uniform duty of 30 per cent. be placed on all their lines. The duty now averages that ratio, but hovers between 25 and 35 per cent., with just enough indefiniteness to cause friction and vexation. Mr. McMahon said he had passed thousands of dollars' worth of goods through the Customs on which, but for a confusion of terms, he would have saved 2½ per cent. His loss through error had not been made good. They appealed against a section of the Act which allows silver-plating companies to import glass bowls at 20 per cent. to compete against themselves, who pay 30 per cent. Glass vases pay 20 per cent. This was explained as due to the charity of a Hamilton glass manufacturer, who had the duty raised to 30 per cent. on all articles he manufactured, but "he did not want to be a hog," more particularly as he did not manufacture vases, and agreed to allow them to come in at 20 per cent.

Mr. Emil Poliska, representing the manufacturers of Sapolio, asked that that article should be allowed to come in under the same duty as laundry soaps, as it did not compete to any extent with them. The duty, he said, should be 20 per cent. instead of 35 per cent. He also wanted olive oil admitted free.

Messrs. F. W. Fearman, president of the Pork Packers and Provision Dealers, Hamilton; James Park, D. Gunn, Andrew Park, Charles Blackwell, A. Gunn, Robert Thompson, James E. Baillie, James Madden, a representative of the William Ryan estate; Frank Mathews, Peterboro; W. E. Mathews, representative of Hull and Peterboro; W. A. Maclean, Owen Sound, and F. F. Telfer, Collingwood, appeared as representatives of the pork-packing industry.

Mr. Andrew Park read a prepared statement, which showed that the pork packing industry since 1881 has increased 50 per cent., and that two-thirds of the hogs produced in Canada are consumed in this country, the balance being exported.

Mr. Fearman stated the case of the pork men, and said it was absolutely necessary for the success of the hog trade in Canada that the tariff should not be reduced at present. Had it not been for protection this increase would never have occurred. Mr. Fearman quoted the following figures: In 1881 the production of hogs amounted to 1,207,619, and in 1891 to 1,733,850, showing an increase in the production of 536,231 hogs in the 10 years. In Ontario alone in 1881, the number was 700,922, and in 1895 was 1,299,072, an increase of 598,150, so that in 1896 it was safe to assume a showing equally favorable. The estimate of packing for 1895 numbered 1,360,000 hogs. The Canadian trade exported in 1895 hams, bacon, pork and lard, valued at $3,943,275.

The soap men were represented by Messrs. C. C. Dalton, of Dalton Bros.; John Taylor, and Fred Richards, of Woodstock. They stated that they wished to have the tariff on laundry soap put back to where it was two years ago. It is now 1c. and was 1½c. then. Mr. Taylor wanted the old duty of 10c. per lb. and 10 per cent. ad valorem placed on soap. This was changed to 35 per cent. ad valorem the last time the tariff was revised, and now some dealers sending goods into Canada took advantage of the ad valorem duty by putting ridiculously low values on their importations. On high-grade soaps the deputation would like the duty to be made 5c. per lb. and 5 per cent. ad valorem.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

NO marked changes have taken place in the wholesale grocery trade of Toronto, either in regard to volume of business or prices. If anything the demand for canned vegetables has further improved, but the turn-over is small as yet. Prices for all kinds of canned goods remain firm. Coffees are active and steady in price. In syrups a nice trade is being done. Molasses is in moderate request. Sugars are steady in price, but the demand is scarcely as brisk as it was. Latest mail advices indicate continued appreciation in the price of spices. Further shipments of nuts are to hand. Valencia raisins are still strong. Bosnia prunes are cabled higher. The currant market is still easy. Teas are receiving fair attention, and prices remain firm. Both oranges and lemons are firm. Payments are fairly good.

CANNED GOODS.

The position still indicates firmness. The demand for canned vegetables is, if anything, a little better, but the buying is by no means free. At the same time the packers do not appear to be anxious sellers, anticipating that when the demand springs up a couple of months hence, higher prices will obtain. Canned salmon is quiet with prices firm and unchanged. Canned meats are a little firmer again although no change has taken place locally. We quote best brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.75 to $2.85; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The demand is active locally, with sales being confined nearly altogether to Rio growth of coffee at from 15 to 16c. per lb. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

The demand is fairly good for the cheaper grades. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

Business in this line is moderate only. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The tone of the outside market is scarcely as strong as it was. Cables early in the week noted a decline of 3d. in London, and in New York the market is dull, with 96 test easy at 3⅜c., while buyers are cautious. In Canada no change has taken place in regard to prices, the recent advances having been maintained. The demand, however, is not as brisk as it was, and the refiners have been able to catch up with their orders. Wholesalers in Toronto are now quoting granulated at 4 to 4⅛c. per lb., and yellows from 3⅛c. up.

SPICES.

The spice market is more than maintaining its strength. Cassia in particular is strong, having within the past few weeks advanced 4 to 5c. Mail advices to hand this week note a further advance of about ¼c. per lb. in pepper. Canary and hemp seed are much dearer also. Local quotations have not yet been changed. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, ETC.

The rice market is firmer, some shippers having notified their Toronto agents of withdrawal of prices. Tapioca and sago are up 1s. 3d. from the lowest point. There is not much doing in these lines. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

Grenoble walnuts will be here this week. Prices will be somewhat higher than a year ago. Filberts will be a little late this season. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; pecans, 10½ to 11c.; chestnuts, $3.30 to $4 per bushel; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

TEAS.

The past week has seen a further advance in both Japan and China teas, and shippers, having confidence in the market, are not pushing sales. Wholesalers are free purchasers of Japan teas ranging from 13 to 14c. per lb. The price of Indian tea is being well maintained, and a slight hardening is to be noted in the Ceylon article. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

No change has taken place in Valencia raisins during the week. Advices state that the Denia crop may be considered ended for the season. The market continues strong, but prices for importation are too high to admit of business. Locally, an active demand is still to be noted. We quote: Off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

In currants the latest cable advices are to the effect that the market is dull and prices easier. Prices are still nearly one cent. per pound dearer than a year ago. Locally stocks are light and the demand good. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls. and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

California loose muscatel raisins continue strong and some of the shippers have withdrawn their quotations. Heavy rains have still further retarded shipments from the Coast. We quote 7½ to 8½c. for 3 and 4-crown.

Local wholesalers' stocks of Malaga raisins are now complete, and our quotations are not now as high as they were. We quote: London layers, $1.60 to $1.85; black baskets, $2.20 to $2.65; blue baskets, $2.25 to $2.50; choice clusters, $2.25 to $2.75; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

Figs are in good demand at quotations. Wholesale quotations are: 14 oz., 9 to 10c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7¼c. in boxes.

Bosnia prunes are cabled 2s. 6d. per cwt. dearer, but in spite of the advances in the primary market buyers here do not seem interested, anticipating that the consumption in this country will be light, on account of the plentiful supply of domestic fruit.

In California fruits, prunes are slightly higher on the larger sizes. The smaller sizes, on the other hand, are a little cheaper than last year. Apricots are unchanged, but peaches are a little dearer.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges have advanced 50 to 75c. per box in New York, and the quotations which we give will probably not be good by the time this issue is in the hands of the trade. In lemons the local market is very bare, and it is expected that prices will rule firm throughout the holiday season. There are no Maoris, Sorrentos or Verdellis on the local market. There are a few Malaga lemons in boxes at about $5. New Messina lemons are due here this week, and they will probably sell at $6. There are a few pineapples on the market and a fair demand is being experienced for them. The Almeria grape market is firm, while stocks are not very heavy. We quote as follows: Oranges—Jamaicas, fancy, $3.50 to $4 per box; barrels, $6 to $7. Lemons — Malagas, $5 per box; Messinas, $6 per box; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2 to $2.25 per bbl.; apples, 75c. to $1 for good packed stock; pears, 25 to 50c. per basket and $2 to $3 per barrel for ordinary; grapes, 2 to 2½c. per lb. for Concords, Niagaras and Rogers; onions, 65 to 70c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; Cape Cod cranberries, $6.50 to $7 for fancy dark, and $4.75 to $5.50

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER — The position of the butter market is much about the same as it was a week ago. Deliveries are not very heavy, but the quality is poor. There is a great deal of medium butter coming forward, Large rolls are still the chief source of supply. Creamery butter is slow. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c.; 1-lb., blocks, 18 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The market is rather weaker on export account. The demand locally is good. We quote: 10 to 10½c. for early makes, and 10½ to 10¾c. for late makes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS— Dull, with 70 to 75c. per bushel as the jobbing price for good hand-picked beans.

DRIED APPLES—There is a little being done in an export way, but the market is, on the whole, quiet. There is still a great deal of poor fruit coming forward, and there is a wide range in prices. The idea as to price for bright, large cut fruit is 2½c. f.o.b.

EVAPORATED APPLES— Practically nothing doing, and from 3¾ to 4c. f.o.b. is the idea of buyers as to price.

EGGS—Prices are steady and the demand fairly good. We quote: Fresh gathered, 17 to 18c.; limed, 14c.; cold stored and held, 15 to 16c.

HONEY—There is very little doing. We quote: Strained, 7 to 8c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8 to 9c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

MAPLE SYRUP—The demand continues fair at 80 to 85c. per gallon.

POTATOES — Dull and unchanged with sales at 30c. per bag in carload lots on track, and 40c. out of store delivered.

POULTRY—Receipts are light and demand poor. We quote: Chickens, 20 to 40c. per pair.; turkeys are 6 to 8c. per lb.; geese, 4½ to 5½c. per lb., and ducks, 40 to 55c. per pair.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The demand for long clear during the past week has been fair, due to the improvement in the lumber trade. The demand for smoked meats is not as large as it was, but the supply is light and prices unchanged. The demand for lard continues fair. Deliveries of dressed hogs have been much more liberal during the past week. For selected weights of 100 to 150 pounds $5.50 is being paid; hogs either under or above these weights are quoted at $4.50.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish market is still dull, and the demand for oysters is not as good as it was. We quote: Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, 75c. to $1 per 100. Oysters are quoted at $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

SALT.

Packers' demand for salt is improving, and the volume of business is, on the whole, good. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts continue liberal. We quote: White wheat, 91 to 92c.; red, 89 to 90c.; goose, 67 to 69c.; oats, 24 to 25½c.; peas, 46 to 47c.

FLOUR—Straight roller is rather easier. Cars are offering west at $4.10 for ordinary grades. Manitoba flour is firm.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand continues fairly good. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.70 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50. Further advances are looked for in rolled wheat.

BALED HAY—Quiet and steady. We quote: $11 for No. 1, and $9.50 to $10.50 for No. 2 in carloads on track.

SEEDS.

Business in alsike has fallen off during the week and prices are from 25 to 50c. per bushel cheaper, quotations now ranging from $3 to $5.25 per bushel f.o.b. The feeling in red clover is a trifle easier at from $4.50 to $5.25 per bushel f.o.b. at point of shipment. There is very little doing in timothy.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7¾ to 8c. Dealers pay 7c. for No. 1, 6c. for No. 2, and 5c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6c. for No. 1 and 4c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 65 to 70c.

WOOL—The market is unchanged. Dealers are paying 20 to 21c. for fleece, but offerings are limited. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras, at 22 to 22½c.

PETROLEUM.

The demand is active; prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Pepper is ¼c per lb. dearer.

Alsike is from 25 to 50c. per bushel cheaper.

Tapioca and sago have advanced 1s. 3d. from the lowest point.

A cable to J. L. Watt & Scott reports the currant market dull and easier.

Cassia has advanced from 4 to 5c. in the primary markets during the past few weeks.

A cable to P. L. Mason & Co. announces a further advance of 2s. 6d. in Bosnia prunes.

P. L. Mason & Co. have heen advised of the arrival of their shipment of Grenoble walnuts from Estrine & Co., Marseilles.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE strength noted continuously in several leading staple lines during the past few weeks is fully maintained. It is as strongly marked as ever in the case of nearly every line of dried fruits, and the tenor of late advices from primary markets tends to accentuate it, if anything. The better feeling in regard to sugar also continues, and the fact has led to demand for it, while the call for all kinds of dried fruit is quite active, but holders are treating their orders very conservatively. Some coffees have been offered easier this week, but the fact does not affect spot prices. Teas are active and firm, and the general grocery situation is distinctly buoyant at present.

SUGAR.

The sugar market retains the strength noted last week, and business has been more active in a wholesale way since. Both yellows and granulated rule firm, sales of the former at the refineries being noted at 3¼ to 3⅝c., and granulated has changed hands at 3⅞c., over 2,000 barrels having been moved on western account during the past week. In fact, stocks in refiners' hands are very light and values have a higher tendency in sympathy with the feeling outside. We now quote granulated in a jobbing way firm at 4c., and yellows 3¼ to 3⅝c.

SYRUPS.

There is a quiet trade doing in syrups, and quite a few nice lots of the brighter grades have been moved. We quote: 1½ to 1¾c. per pound, and 22 to 35c. per gallon, as to grade.

MOLASSES.

There is very little to report in molasses, a quiet distributing trade being noted at 30 to 31c. in Barbadoes and Porto Rico. Round lots are available for less money, but there is little demand for large quantities, as stocks generally are ample.

RICE.

The rice market furnishes a fair degree of activity and the tone is firm in sympathy with outside advices. Current prices: Crystal Japan, $4.75 to $5; standard B., $3.45; shed Patna, $4.75 to $5; Carolina, $6.50 to $7.50, and Java, $3.75 to $4.

SPICES.

There is a fair demand for spices, and the strength outside is quite apt to lead to higher prices locally in the near future. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

There have been lower offers of coffee in invoice lots during the past week, especially

. . CAUTION . .

DRIED APPLES will be almost unsaleable this year unless the Farmers and Merchants give the strictest attention to CUT, COLOR and CONDITION. Requirements are LARGE QUARTER-CUT FRUIT, BRIGHT COLOR and DRY. DISCOURAGE all SMALL-SLICED and CHIPPY stock. POSITIVELY REJECT everything DARK, BURNT or WET.

With careful attention given to these requirements there is hope for a considerable trade at vastly higher prices than the U.S. fruit returns; by neglecting them, Canadian fruit will be reduced to the U.S. level in quality and price.

It is quicker to Cut fruit LARGE (in quarters) than SMALL, and as easy drying BRIGHT as DARK, it only requires therefore care on the Farmers' part and firmness on the Merchants' to ensure them both a profit as against a loss, besides creating a superior reputation for CANADIAN DRIED APPLES.

HUDON, HEBERT & CIE.

Wholesale Grocers and Wine Importers

MONTREAL

Santos and Maracaibo, but the ordinary range of quotations can be reported as given last week. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 19c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

The tea market remains firm, with a good demand from retailers, and this fact, coupled with light stocks in jobbers' hands, produces a very strong feeling regarding values, especially in view of the advices recently received from primary markets. Low grade and medium blacks and Japans in fact promise to develop into an absolute scarcity, and none are now obtainable under 13 to 14c. We quote: Young Hysons, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 14 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The strength already noted in Valencia raisins is fully maintained. A few of the jobbers have moderately well assorted stocks and expect some fresh supplies via New York, but others are scantily supplied. Demand is brisk also at higher prices and values are firm. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

The strong feeling on the Coast in California raisins continues, and commission men here have not even received any quotations from their principals on the Coast. We quote: 2-crown, 6 to 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are held firm with a fair demand at 8 to 12c., as to grade.

Malaga raisins continue steady at $1.50 to $4, as to grade.

Currants continue firm abroad and spot prices are firmly held. We quote: Filiatras, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c. Fine provincials are worth about ⅜ of a cent a pound more; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6¾ to 8c.

The situation in prunes is strong in line with other fruits. No consignments of Californias are looked for this year and both French and Austrian appear to be firmly held. We quote: French 5 to 9c.; Austrian, 5¾ to 7c. and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

New figs and dates are in second hands here. The former range from 9½ to 15c. and the latter 5 to 7c. as to grade.

NUTS.

The nut market is quiet, but firm. We quote: New Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 20c.; old Filberts, 8 to 9c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 8 to 10c.; Grenoble walnuts, 14 to 15c.; shelled walnuts, 20 to 22c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

The strength in canned vegetables continues and there has been more demand for them this week, though it is not especially active or noticeable. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.90 to $2.25; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.27 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

There is a fair enquiry for all kinds of green fruit. We quote: Jamaica oranges, $5 to $5.50; lemons, $3 to $3.50 per box, and $6 to $7 per chest; bananas, 50c. to $1; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; grapes, 14 to 25c. per basket; California Tokay grapes, $1.75 to $2 per case, and new Almerias $5 to $7.50 per keg.

APPLES.

The apple market is unchanged locally. We quote seconds, 75c. to $1, and firsts, $1.50 to $1.75 per bbl. The exports from Montreal last week were 27,688 to Liverpool, 26,206 to Glasgow, 18,367 to London, 6,145 to various ports, and 6,000 to Hamburg.

FISH.

The continued mild weather has tended to curtail the city and country trade in fish, consequently the market has been quiet during the past week, but as there is no overstock of preserved or fresh fish, with the exception of pickled herrings, prices show no material change from a week ago. No. 1 N.S. herrings are selling in a jobbing way at $4 to $4.25 per bbl., and in half-bbls. at $2.40 to $2.50. No. 1 green cod have changed hands at $4.25, while No. 1 large have sold at a decline of 25 to 50c. per bbl., at $4.50 to $4.75, and No. 2 at $3.25. Small Labrador salmon, unchanged at $11.50 to $12 per bbl., and B.C. in half-bbls. at $6. No. 2 mackerel, steady at $11.50 to $12 per bbl.; No. 1 halibut at $9, and tongues and sounds at $7.50 per bbl. Prices are unchanged at 6½ to 7c. for haddies; 90c. per box for Yarmouth bloaters; $1.35 per box for kippered herrings; $1 per basket of 100 for Siscoe herrings, and 11c. per box for medium smoked herrings. Owing to the very small stock of dried codfish on the market prices are firmer at $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt. Pollock are steady at $2 per 100 lbs., skinless cod at $4.50 to $5 25 per case as to brand, boneless cod at 5½c. per lb., and fish at 3c. per lb. Haddock have sold at 3½ to 4c.; frozen B.C. salmon at 10c.; fresh salmon at 11c.; dore at 6½c., and pike at 4½ per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is a quiet demand for eggs at 14 to 14½c. for candled, and fresh laid are scarce and firmer at 20 to 21c.

BEANS—Continue as before, at 70 to 75c.

HONEY—Remains dull at 10 to 12c. in the comb and 8 to 9c. extracted.

POTATOES— There is no change in these, which we quote at 35 to 40c.

DRESSED HOGS—The demand for dressed hogs is quiet and prices are steady at $4.75 to $5 per 100 pounds.

BALED HAY—Without change, demand ruling quiet at $10.50 to $11 for No. 1 and $9 to $9.50 for No. 2.

DRIED APPLES—Dull and unchanged at 3 to 3½c., and evaporated 5½ to 6c.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for all kinds of provisions is limited and the market is quiet, with no new feature to note. We quote: Canadian pork, new, $11 to $12; Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 7 to 7½c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5¼ to 5½c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The tone of the flour market continues firm, and prices are fully maintained in spite of the declining wheat markets in the States for the past few days. Millers to-day reported the demand good, but Ontario dealers stated that sales were rather slow, as buyers are pretty well stocked up for the present. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.90 to $5.10; spring wheat, patents, $5.20 to $5.30; straight roller, $4.40 to $4.65; straight roller, bags, $2.10 to $2.25; extra bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50 to $5.

The demand for oatmeal continues slow and the market is quiet, with no change in prices to note. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.35 to $3.40; granulated, bbls., $3.45 to $3.50; rolled oats, bbls., $3.35 to $3.40; rolled oats, per bag, $1.65 to $1.70.

In feed the feeling is steady, and millers report the demand good, especially from Eastern Ontario buyers. We quote: Bran, $9.50 to $10.50; shorts, $11 to $12; moullie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market was quiet, and with the tail end of the fall make being gathered up at low prices there is nothing to induce buyers to meet holders' views on finest September at present. Accordingly, the values on these are purely nominal.

The butter situation is unchanged. For finest creamery in boxes buyers' and sellers' views are apart, the latter asking 19½ to 20c. and the former bidding 19 to 19¼c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

New dates and figs are now distributed to jobbers here. They are held very firm as quoted last week.

No consignments of California prunes are expected this year. The fact has imparted a firm disposition to the market.

There have been lower offers on both Santos and Maracaibo coffee in lots, but the fact does not affect ruling spot prices.

Stocks of Valencia raisins in jobbers' hands are poorly assorted at present. Holders lucky enough to have any hold them very firm.

Mr. J. D. Roberts, of the Pure Gold Mfg. Co., Toronto, was in Montreal on Tuesday. After looking up some business here he intends going on to Halifax, N.S.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 19, 1896.

LARGE quantities of goods have been moving, and, as almost all values are firm and upward, the general feeling is one of satisfaction. The fall has been mild and the fall of rain much larger than usual. A drive of logs of this fall's cut has been brought down the river, and is said to be the finest ever brought down the same season as cut. We have had our first snow, and river steamers are making their last trip. The quiet season will soon be here, at least in wholesale lines. In tea quite a large business is being done in locally packed lead packages. Till lately one firm has had the business to itself. Trade in this line extends into the state of Maine. Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, was present at a meeting of the Board of Trade this week in the interest of cold storage. He said any help given by the Government would be to railways or steamship lines in connection with arrangements for export business.

OIL—Continues to move freely. Steamers are making their last trips, which causes an increase in shipments. We quote: American burning oil, 20 to 21c.; best Canadian, 19 to 19½c.; prime, 17c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—Is still scarce, though a cargo of over 7,000 sacks arrived this morning. There are two more cargoes near to hand. In fine factory-filled demand is but fair. We quote as follows: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—There is a fair sale. In oysters new are now offered. Prices are rather easier since the season opened. Strawberries are the firmest fruit. Canned meats are held firm by first hands at the advance, but this is the off season. Gallon apples were offered low this week, but demand is light. We quote as follows: Corn, 70 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 75c.; tomatoes, 70 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—Winter apples are coming in freely and are of extra quality, but demand is only fair, though prices are rather firmer. Pears are about out of the market, and Canadian grapes are also nearly done. Lemons are high. Oranges move slowly. Only a few bananas are being received. Cranberries are held firm, with chief demand for Cape Cods. Sweet potatoes are easier. We quote: Lemons, $7 to $7.50; oranges, $5 to $6; bananas, $2 to $2.25; grapes, 40 to 50c. per basket; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; keg grapes, $5 to $6.50; N.S. pears, $4 to $5 per bbl.; cranberries, Cape Cod, $6 to $6.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5; sweet potatoes, $2.50 to $2.75.

DRIED FRUIT—The off-stalk Valencias to hand are in many cases not giving satisfaction. The people largely have themselves to blame, as they bought at lowest possible prices from houses they did not know. Good goods can only be bought by paying fair prices. The Californias give good satisfaction, but there is not enough of them. Some shippers did not fill all their orders. Some dealers find themselves short on peels. Large quantities were to hand this week. No new California prunes are being received. Evaporated apples show better demand, but prices keep low. Some Nova Scotia dried apples offered this week brought but 3c., and that in only limited quantity. We quote: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L. M. 3-crown, 6½ to 7c.; London layers, $2 to $2.25; currants, cases, 4½ to 5c.; bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 3 to 4c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5½c.; Canadian onions, $1.90 to $2; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron peel, 16 to 17c.; orange and lemon, 12 to 13c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7½c.; 4-crown L. M. raisins, 7¾ to 8c.

SUGAR—During the week a good demand is noticed, and refineries report sales active. Prices are firm at the advance and higher figures are looked for. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3⅛ to 3⅜c.; Paris lump, 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—A car was shipped this week to the province of Quebec. Local demand has been active, and there is a firmer feeling. In syrup less is being done than last season. New Orleans finds a fair business, but has been affected by the dulness which has ruled in other grades. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Butter is dull. The quantity of poor butter offered keeps the price down. There is but a limited demand. Cheese shows good business, but not much higher prices are looked for. Stocks here are light. Eggs have good sale and are higher. We quote: Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; new creamery, prints, 20 to 22c.; do., tubs, 20c. Cheese, 10 to 10½c. Eggs, 17 to 18c.

FISH—Shipments have been good during the week. Prices show little change. A few pickled Canso herring were here and sold at high figures, but quality was not satisfactory. Smoked herring show a marked change from last year, for not only are they much higher, but hold firm, stock being light. In boneless fish demand is quieter. The demand is good in the west, and buyers for the present seem stocked. Quite a quantity of fish are now shipped, boxed whole with the skin taken off. In haddies and bloaters demand continues good. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.55 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—There has been a good movement in all lines. Lard has been largely bought. Several cars are either here or to arrive; prices rather higher. Beef is also firmer. In compound lard little is doing. While there is a fair business in smoked meat, quotations show a large range. Pork is still low. We quote as follows: Clear pork, $13.75 to $14.50; mess, $13 to $14; plate beef, $12.50 to $14.00; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is still a matter of interest. Prices show an upward tendency. Stocks, particularly in Manitoban, are large. At present there is but little heavy buying. Low grades and feed have still but little movement owing to the low price of corn. Middlings are, however, rather higher. Oatmeal is still firm at the advance, but St. John merchants are not active buyers owing to good stocks being held. Beans have shown but little further advance, and prices are still low. P.E.I. oats are offering more freely but at higher prices, figures being now about equal to oats of Ontario growth. Hay is moving freely. Western grey buckwheat is arriving in large quantities. There is a demand here. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.80 to $5.85; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.60 to $4.70; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.75; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do do, $14 to $15; hand-picked beans, $1.15; prime, $1; oats, 32 to 33c.; hay, $12 to $13; barley, $3.00; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.00 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.75; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25.; grey, $2 to $2.25.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A car of cheese went from Petitcodiac to Montreal this week.

Moncton gives the new Acadia Sugar Refinery 50,000 gals. of water per day free.

Jardine & Co. and C. & E. Macmichael this week received shipments of Beardsley's shredded codfish.

Leonard Bros.' haddies continue to move west in large quantities. The demand this year is larger than ever.

A new broom is on this market from our local manufacturer. It has a bamboo handle, which makes the larger brooms quite light to work with.

The new cheese, "Pepsin Cream," is for sale by our leading retailers. The quality of the cheese, together with the low price, wins for it many friends.

Tea is a matter of some interest and some large orders have been placed for direct shipment. Not only are values firm and tending upward, but a number feel there is a fair prospect of duty being placed Apples are now being shipped direct to Manchester, as well as to Liverpool and London. A steamer is chartered to take 9,000 barrels of Nova Scotia apples there.

Mr. Rautenbery, so widely known through these provinces as the representative of Park, Blackwell & Co., of Toronto, has given up his business and intends becoming an evangelist.

Turnips are low here, selling from river steamers as low as forty cents per barrel. St. Andrews turnips, the best grown here, are chiefly sold in Boston, where they are shipped by the car, one of which goes about every day.

St. John is to have another first-class biscuit and cracker factory. A new building will be built and the latest machinery procured. The building will be a three storey one 45 by 90 feet. Mr. C. D. Bass, who has a large factory in New London, Conn., is the leader in the movement.

G. J. Hamilton & Sons, of Pictou, who have gained such a large trade here in biscuits and confectionery, intend to conduct their business here in the future rather differently. In place of working through an agent, they will sell direct to some one wholesale house, who will supply the retail trade.

"You can see for yourself that these goods are marked down," said the salesman, pointing to the altered price marks. "They appear to be all marked up," replied the customer, as he looked at the many hieroglyphics.—Yonkers Statesman.

A boy walked into a merchant's office the other day in search of a situation. After being put through a catechism by the merchant, he was asked: "Well, my lad, what is your motto?" "Same as yours, sir," he replied; "Same as you have on your door—'Push.'". He was engaged.

The store occupied by T. A. Rowat & Co., 228 Dundas street, has been purchased by Mr. T. G. Whiskard. This will necessitate Messrs. A MARKET FOR CANADIANS.

Mr. R. M. Horne-Payne has addressed the following letter to Mr. E. B. Osler, president of the Board of Trade:

"In passing through Toronto I venture to address you on a subject that I consider should have the greatest interest for Toronto merchants and manufacturers generally throughout Canada. Whilst conducting the large mining operations in British Columbia of the Lillooet Fraser River Co. during the past eight months, nothing has struck me more forcibly than the remarkable absence of representatives of Eastern Canadian houses in the race for the supply of the mining trade of the Pacific province—a trade which has rapidly assumed gigantic proportions. Eastern Canada does not yet seem to have realized that already many millions of capital have come into the province, and that there are in the West Kootenay alone not less, probably, than 10,000 miners, and twice as many other workers to be fed and clothed and supplied with the necessities and luxuries of life. Few manufacturers from here are represented at all; those that are are for the most part represented by young men of little experience in their work, who devote more time to dabbling in mining claims than to their legitimate business. Against this the manufacturers of the United States are represented by the best and most active men they can command, and every train brings in fresh travelers to almost force American goods down would be English buyers' throats. Neither are these facts attributed to the inability of the Canadian manufacturer to compete with his American opponent, because having made up my mind to favor English trade wherever possible, I this year sent our purchasing agent on a month's missionary trip to the Ontario and Quebec manufacturers, with the result that, with the exception of machinery not made in Canada, we satisfactorily filled all our requirements in these markets. I am told that locally this state of affairs is attributed, first to lack of transportation facilities from eastern Canada to the Kootenay, and, secondly, to the fact that the great majority of the working mines are controlled by the United States.

"In reply to the first argument I would say, firstly, that the Southwest Kootenay is not by any means the only mining district in British Columbia, and that in the Illecilloowaet and the Lardeau (which are admirably served by the C.P.R.) the Canadian has the same advantages which he complains of the American having in Rossland, and yet he does not avail himself of them; and, secondly, that when the Crow's Nest Pass road goes through (which it undoubtedly must before long, as the demand for it is absolutely imperative) it should find the Canadian manufacturers already in the field with their very best men posted at every point—acquainted with every district and ready to attack and secure the position now held by their American cousins, who, I think, there can be no doubt, to-day control 90 per cent. of the trade.

"As to the working mines being all controlled by Americans, this is simply a mistake. I am satisfied that by far the largest share of the mining business of the province to-day is controlled by Englishmen anxious to help English and Canadian trade. I trust that you will consider the importance of this subject sufficient justification for me in trespassing on your attention."

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE continued wet weather has put a damper on trade, and in almost every line there is reported very little doing. This applies more particularly to our great staple, fish. The catch has been all right, but the fishermen have not been able to get it dried, and in consequence will have to carry it over till spring. This means great hardship for the fishermen and dulness among the trade in general.

There is a fair movement in sugar, but quotations remain unchanged.

Provisions show no life whatever.

Seventeen packages of P. E. Island butter were shipped from here on Saturday to London.

Canned goods are moving slowly. Gallon apples are worth $1.85; butter and string beans, 80c.; new corn, 70 to 80c.; peas, 75 to 80c.; pears, $1.65; peaches, 2's, $1.85; pineapples, sliced, $2; grated, $2.25; tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; N.S. salmon, $7 per case; B.C. do., $5 for old and $6 for new. Lobsters are scarce, $9.75 to $10 being quoted for flats and $7.50 to $8 for talls per case. Canadian canned beef is worth $1.15 for 1's and $2.55 for 2's.

Dealers are looking for 11½c. for September cheese. Old stocks are about cleared up. Some P. E. Island makes just put on the market are meeting with much favor. Halifax is sure to become a good market for Island cheese, if the quality keeps to its present excellence.

There is no improvement in the local apple market. The demand is large, but the prices are too low for profit. Good winter fruit retails at $1.50 per barrel, and common varieties sell as low as 75c.

There is a fair demand for molasses in a jobbing way. A small order was filled for Newfoundland account last week. Quotations are: Fancy Demerara, 33c.; fancy Porto Rico, 33c.; choice Porto Rico, 31c.; common grades can be had at 25c.

Stocks of dried fruits on this market are getting low, although supplies were recently received by late English steamers. Higher prices are anticipated. Valencia raisins are quoted at 6⅝c. in lots of 100 boxes, and 6¾c. in lots of 50 boxes. Fine off-stalk Merles and Morands are quoted at 5¾c. in lots of 100 boxes, and 5⅝c. in lots of 50 boxes. London layers are worth $1.75 to $1.90 per box; Imperial cabinets, $2 to $2.20; black baskets, $2.25 to $2.50; and Dehesa bunch, $3.50 to $3.75. Layer figs are worth 12c. and French prunes 5½c.

There is a fair trade doing in green fruits. Jamaica oranges, repacked, are worth $6, with possibilities of an advance. Pears are worth from $4 to $6 per barrel. A carload of Canadian grapes was received on Saturday. They are selling at 30 to 40c. per basket. Almeria keg are worth $5.50, with indications of a rise. Lemons are quoted at $4.50 to $5.50. Silver skin onions are selling at 1¼c. per lb.

The steamer Barcelona took 1,260 cases of cheese to Liverpool on Saturday. They came from P. E. Island. The same steamer also took 508 barrels of apples.

J. B. Scott, grocer, of Moncton, is about removing to Parrsboro, N.S.

The Dominion Government is going into the green fruit business. The steamer Newfield arrived here last week with 63 barrels of cranberries from Sable Island, which were sold at auction on Tuesday. They were picked by the life-saving staff on the island and the proceeds of the sale went to swell the Dominion coffers.

P. E. Island oats are arriving freely and sell ex vessel at 30c. per bushel. There are plenty of oats on the Island, but very few potatoes. Vessels arriving this week are bringing large quantities of oats, but very few potatoes. The latter are worth 30c.

The flour market is decidedly on the up grade. There is a very perceptible change in quotations this week and the movement is encouraging to dealers. Since last report prices have advanced 25c. per bbl. This makes in this market an advance from the lowest point of $1.50 per bbl. Feeds and corn are steady at last quotations.

James D. Eisenhauer, one of the most prominent merchants in this province, died at his home in Lunenburg on Monday, aged 64 years. Deceased carried on an extensive business with the West Indies, sending out cargoes of fish and bringing back the product of the islands. In his business he was very successful, and the town of Lunenburg will feel his loss. He sat in the Provincial Legislature for some years and represented his county at Ottawa for one term. He was a Liberal in politics.

Fishstuffs—The volume of trade on the whole is fairly satisfactory. Late West India steamers had full cargoes ordered. Buyers are stocking up for the holiday season, now fast approaching. Prices have declined considerably in Porto Rico, but the market still shows a profit. The prospects are that the Brazils, Cuba and Porto Rico will not be flooded this year with jerked beef from Rosario, and, if this proves true, a better average price will be secured. Fat herrings are scarce. Alewives are firm and advancing. The market is bare of salmon of higher grades. There is no stir in mackerel, and holders feel anxious. No advance is anticipated on account of the enormous quantities still to come from Ireland. A large catch is also reported in the Gulf. West India herring are in good supply.

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands — the true touchstone of merit.

QUICK SHIPMENT OF GRENOBLES.

Estrine & Co.'s (Marseilles, France) shipment of Grenoble walnuts arrived on the Toronto market on Thursday, 19th inst. On the 7th inst. the nuts were in France, so that only 12 days elapsed between the time they were shipped and the time they were in wholesalers' hands in Toronto.

A UNIQUE PLAN.

A NUMBER of merchants in a Missouri town have adopted a rather unique plan for dealing with the farmer trade. It is described by an exchange as follows. The grocer with whom any given farmer deals agrees to take all his produce at the top price, in trade. No cash is paid, and an endeavor is made to get the customer to get a credit to his account, if possible. If anything not handled by the grocer is wanted by the customer — for instance, dry goods, clothing, boots or shoes, or anything of that kind — the grocer gives his customer a credit slip stating the amount due him, which is accepted for the goods needed. The bill is then presented to the grocer, who pays the same, less a small percentage as commission and pay for his trouble. As the grocer usually pays almost the retail price for produce, his profit comes in a measure from the commissions he receives from other merchants. The plan is said to work very successfully and to bring trade to the town, for when a farmer once has a balance to his credit he is not apt to go to some other point for the things he may need.

The future of the scheme will be watched with interest, but it would appear to an outsider that there are elements of weakness in it. In the first place, it gives the grocery merchant who succeeds in making such a deal with a farmer a rather unwarrantable control of trade not in his line. Then again, the number of farmers with whom he would succeed in making such an arrangement must be limited, as farmers are getting more and more careful of allowing their affairs to be managed by outside control, by mortgaging their crops ahead, etc.

PEEK FREAN & CO.'S NEW LINE.

The novelty in biscuits shown by Peek Frean & Co. this year is chocolate macaroons, a very tasty and nutritious article. They are put up in neat tin boxes with soft metal coverings so that they should keep an indefinite time. The keeping quality of Peek Frean & Co.'s biscuits seems to be greater than they themselves say. When Mr. Petter was in Halifax some weeks ago, Bauld, Gibson & Co. said they had a case of vanilla sugar wafers which had been lying in their cellar for 10 years. They were afraid to offer them for sale as they thought they were sure to be off flavor. Mr. Petter had them open one of the boxes, and to their surprise they were as sweet and crisp as the day they were packed. He is sending a box to England for his firm to examine.

The "Marlborough" is another novelty. It is a light, delicately flavored almond biscuit. The "Dutch Macaroon," which was so popular here some years ago, has this year sold very well. For the really first-class trade where a very fine plain biscuit is wanted Mr Petter has been selling the "Health." A popular biscuit with children is the "Juvenile" at 6c. of which 1,260 go to the pound.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. J. H. Weir, one of Sault Ste. Marie's live grocers, was in Toronto this week.

Mr. Lightbound, of Lightbound, Ralston & Co,, Montreal, is in Toronto this week looking up business.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, of the Salada Tea Co., has just returned from a two weeks' trip to Boston and other points in the United States. While in Boston he made arrangements to start a branch of his business there. "There is a great opening there for fine teas," he remarked to THE CANADIAN GROCER. "Salada" tea has already been introduced in Western New York and Northern Pennsylvania.

Mr. J. N. Christie, of Thomas Doherty & Co., tea merchants, Montreal, is in Toronto this week with a number of samples under his arm. He has been through to the Northwest and is stopping over in the "Queen City" for a few days to gather in orders. He corroborates what has already been said regarding the improved business outlook in the Northwest.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie. had one of the largest shipments that has come to any one firm for some time ex Bellona, namely, 18,871 packages.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

A FRESH supply of following are just to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol: Roberts' table and invalid jellies, English rock candy, Robinson's groats and prepared barley, "Pure Gold" icings and pastry spice.

S. K. Moyer has a shipment of Almeria grapes arriving.

W. H. Gillard & Co. report a lively sale for their Japan teas.

Crosse & Blackwell's peels are in stock with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

All back orders for currants have been filled by Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

T. Kinnear & Co. have in stock a shipment of new Formigetta almonds.

L. Schepp reports an ever-increasing demand for their cocoanut in packages.

Lazenby's soup squares and solidified jelly are now in stock with H. P. Eckardt & Co.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are showing this week some fine natural figs in 30-lb. boxes.

The manufacturers of Gillard's new pickle and Gillard's new sauce (Messrs. Gillard & Co., of London, Eng.,) in a letter written to their agents in Canada, state that they are delighted at the high favor which these products are finding with Canadian consumers.

Perkins, Ince & Co. are in receipt of a shipment of Crosse & Blackwell's candied peels.

John Sloan & Co. have a carload of fancy package salt, to retail at 10c., arriving next week.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have a direct shipment of Ceylon teas due to arrive shortly.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have at hand 10 carloads of their "Paradise" brand of currants.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of Tarragona soft-shelled almonds.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have another line of syrup in stock this week. It is a dark one.

Laporte, Martin & Cie., Canadian agents, report greatly increasing sales for P. Richard's brandy.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. report the arrival of new Terragona soft shelled almonds and Grenoble walnuts.

John Sloan & Co. are putting a Japan tea in one-pound packages on the market. It is named the "Golden Stork" and retails at 35c. The package is an attractive one.

Merchants can now obtain Graham's Canadian Pepsin cream cheese from their wholesale grocer.

Some fancy cartoons, 2-lb. and 5½-lb. each, of Malaga raisins are to hand with Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. find that the low prices they are asking for green codfish have brought in many orders.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have in stock shipments of Bevan & Co.'s and Rein's shelled Valencia almonds.

A lot of Labrador and Nova Scotia herrings, in barrels and half-barrels, has just been received by Laporte, Martin & Cie.

Clemes Bros. have their first direct shipment of Grenoble walnuts in stock this week; also a carload of new Messina lemons.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering Eleme figs 14-oz. boxes at 8c. per box by the case. These are not the ordinary figs packed in small boxes.

Shipments of East India pickles have been recently made to Norway and South America, and orders come pouring in from different parts of the world. The manufacturers are now extremely busy filling their fall orders. Merchants should now lay in their winter supply while the weather is mild.

T. A. Lytle & Co. are still selling large quantities of vinegar and catsup, but their most recent and seasonable output is a line of mince meat.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report a shipment of "Prime," "Extra" and "Imperial" Sultana raisins just in store; also a shipment of figs.

THE POTATO CROP OF 1896.

A smaller acreage and a decreased rate of yield are resulting in a decidedly smaller and more manageable crop of potatoes, says The American Agriculturist in its final report published this week. It says that the amount available for market is by no means as burdensome as was the crushing crop of 1895. The crop now being harvested in the United States is placed by this authority at 245,480,000 bushels, a decrease of more than 50,000,000 bushels, or 17½ per cent. compared with a year ago. The total area harvested approximates 2,865,000 acres, which in turn is 10½ per cent. short of last year. This report makes the Canadian crop 55,300,000 bushels, a decrease of nearly 13,000,000 bushels compared with 1895. In view of the shortage on this side of the ocean and the smaller crop in Germany and England, The Agriculturist thinks that the outlook for prices to farmers is certainly better than a year ago.

HOW HE HANDLES PEDDLERS.

A Northwest Missouri grocer writes an exchange that he is having some fun with the vegetable peddlers in his section, and thinks he is getting the best of them. Each morning it is his custom to send his waggon around for orders, and of late weeks he has tried loading it up with nice green stuff, which is sold direct, and the customer selects what is wanted then and there. Orders for other goods are taken and delivered afterward. His trade has increased to such an extent that he now employs three waggons instead of one. His customers prefer to buy from him than from the itinerant peddler, for they know the merchant cannot afford to misrepresent his goods.

WILL INJURE NEWFOUNDLAND'S FISH.

The Newfoundland correspondent of The Fishing Gazette writes that journal as follows: "A cablegram was received last week by a leading fish exporting firm from London, which says: 'Differential duty Portugal favor Norway, ten pence halfpenny sterling.' This means that we shall have to pay 21 cents a quintal more duty on fish than our Norwegian competitors. The French bounty system has always hampered us, but we were always able to compete with Norway hitherto. This differential duty may mean the loss of one of our best markets—Portugal. The average annual exportaton to Oporto—only one Portuguese market—is 100,000 quintal, and a loss of 21 cents on that quantity means a loss of $21,000 to our fishermen. Lisbon, Vianna and Figuiera are the other great fish centres of Portugal, and, allowing that a similar loss is met in the importations to these ports, the result will be a loss of $40,000. This is a very serious matter to Newfoundland, as we find, by referring to the exportations of fish for 1895, that the Oporto market that year was the salvation of Newfoundland."

Josh Billings defined "a thurer bread bizniss man" as "wun that knows enuff about stealin' so 't theare kant ene body steel from him, and enuff about law so 't he can do his stealin' legally."

Whatever may happen to a man of fixed purpose, even though his sails may be swept away and his mast stripped to the deck, though he may be wrecked by the storms of life, the needle of his compass will still point to the north star of his hope. Whatever comes, his life will not be purposeless. Even a wreck that makes its port is a greater success than a full-rigged ship with all its sails flying, with every mast and rope intact, which merely drifts into an accidental harbor.—Architects of Fate.

TRADE CHAT.

THE C.P.R., according to The Winnipeg Free Press, continues to send east 150 cars of wheat daily. Navigation is expected to close about the 28th inst.

Over 4,900 barrels of dried apples were shipped from Ingersoll one day recently.

The will of the late John Faraday Young, provision merchant of Front street, Toronto, who died at Minden on Oct. 14, has been filed for probate. It leaves all the estate, $4,151, to the widow.

Every ton of Atlantic water, when evaporated, yields 81 pounds of salt; a ton of Pacific water, 79 pounds; Arctic and Antartic waters yield 85 pounds to the ton, and the Dead Sea water 187 pounds.

The H., G. & B. Electric Railway carried 147,000 passengers between May 1 and October 31 last and 26,000 packages of fruit. The total amount of freight carried during the months referred to amounted to 2,259,620 pounds.

Recently in the City Police Court Mr. F. Cloutier was fined for obstructing the sidewalk with his goods. He refused to pay the fine so on Saturday the police visited his store and seized two chests of tea. Mr. Cloutier says the police may sell the tea for he will not pay the fine.—Free Press, Winnipeg.

The spice factory of Dyson, Gibson & Co., Winnipeg, was damaged by fire on the 13th. The fire started in a peculiar manner. A quantity of alcohol had become spilled on the floor, and the gas rising from it caught fire from the candle which Mr. Dyson was carrying, and held near to see what was spilled.

A carload of geese was shipped from this station on Tuesday by Messrs. George and John Murray, of Seaforth. They paid from 45 to 55c. for each goose and bought a few ducks at 25c. each. It was the cause of scores of farmers coming to town on Tuesday and made things very brisk for that day. The geese will be shipped to the United States, where a fair figure is realized for them.—Journal, Wingham.

Thos. Hourston shipped 5,000 lbs. of wool to the Midnapore woollen mills, California, last week, exchanging it for cloth of the mill's manufacture. The price allowed for the wool was eleven cents a pound. The goods taken in exchange are of good wearing quality. Mr. Hourston is of opinion that the wool clip of the Edmonton district during the past season was about 50,000 pounds.—Edmonton Bulletin.

When Mr. W. Lindsay, near Porter's Hill, was packing some exceptionally fine Kings this fall, he inserted a note in one barrel, asking the purchaser to correspond with him and let him know the prices at which the apples were bought. The other day a letter was received from W. Wallace, a Liverpool dealer, who stated that the fruit had been bought at 8s. the barrel. As the fruit originally cost 75c., it will be seen that there was in reality no margin left.—Clinton New Era.

Mr. Arch. Lamont, a large pork packer of Chatham, has been at work on an important invention, and Saturday he received word from Ottawa that a patent had been granted. The invention is an apparatus for transforming railway freight cars into refrigerator cars. It is, in brief, an adaptation of the principle used in cold storage warehouses to these conveyances. At present cold storage cars are cooled by ice, which has frequently to be replenished. Mr. Lamont's idea is to secure power from a connection with the axle of the car and by means of compressed air and a small engine generate frigidity from ammonia, doing away wholly with the use of ice.—Journal, St. Thomas.

JAS. BROWNLEE'S UNTIMELY END.

The death by suicide of James Brownlee came as a shock to the grocery trade of Toronto and Western Ontario, during his connection as traveler with Perrin & Co., of London, and Smith & Keighley, of Toronto, he having acquired an extensive acquaintanceship. Since the latter firm went out of business Fortune had rather frowned than smiled upon poor Brownlee. Being of a sensitive nature, he became melancholy, with the result that early on Wednesday he threw himself into Toronto bay.

DOMINION TRAVELERS MEET.

THE quarterly meeting of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association, held on Saturday evening in their rooms in the Board of Trade Building, Montreal, was largely attended, and so great was the disposition to transact business that the deliberations did not last more than one hour. Amongst those present were : Messrs. Fred. Massey, in the chair, Max. Murdoch, D. Watson, Gustave Piche, Jas. A. Cantlie, Fred. Hughes, Fred. Birks, Frank Gormley, J. T. Dwyer, W. P. Beauchamp, Lawrence A. Wilson, W. Brewster, W. Kissock, Thos. Herries, E. B. Garneau, of Quebec ; J. Croil, H. W. Wadsworth, N. Tucker, A. S. Campbell, E. H. Copland, F. S. Cote, F. X. de Grandpre, Sam Woods, L. O. Demers, Henry Langelier, Geo. Logan, E. E. Brewster, and others.

With the exception of a little good-natured banter on the dinner question, there was apparently no inclination to make speeches, and the business went through with a rush. For the second time in a little over twenty years the French-Canadians will have a representative in the most important office in the gift of the association, and it goes without saying that the president-elect is a gentleman who will reflect credit upon the association as well as upon his race. This, in fact, is not the first time that the English speaking community has expressed its confidence in Mr. J. D. Rolland, for it is indeed a great compliment to the man to be chosen president of an association comprising 2,200 English and 500 French-speaking Canadians.

At the quarterly meeting the nomination of officers is the chief business, yet it seldom happens that an election of a president by acclamation takes place. This year has been the exception, and it has been brought about by the generosity of Mr. Max Murdoch, whose name has been freely mentioned as a candidate, but who graciously retired in order that the French Canadian element in the association might have their representative in the chair for 1897. Mr. Rolland was declared elected by acclamation, and the president-elect, although absent, received a hearty cheer.

There will be a contest for the vice-presidency. Messrs. James Armstrong, Wm. Kissock and Newton Tucker being put in nomination by their respective adherents, and a keen, but, of course, good-natured, contest is expected. There are two positions in the D.C.T.A. which scarcely ever provoke a contest, the treasurership, filled by Mr. Fred. Birks, and that of secretary, by Mr. H. W. Wadsworth, Saturday evening being no exception to the general rule.

"There are now five directors to be chosen," said Lieut.-Col. Massey and the following twelve names were immediately put in nomination : A. A. Brown, J. Edgar Buchanan, J. Croil, H. Dean, Jno. T. Dwyer. J. S. N. Dougall, R. H. Holland, W. D. McLaren, W. B. Mathews, Jno. E. Wright, L. O. Demers and John Taylor.

The question of the annual dinner was then taken up, and a brief discussion followed, Mr. Beauchamp being leader of the opposition. A big majority decided, however, that it would be heresy not to have the annual spread, and December 22nd was fixed upon as the date, with the following committee : David Watson, W. P. Beauchamp, L. A. Wilson, J. T. Dwyer, F. S. Cote, Thos. Herries, Fred. Hughes, Fred. Birks, Hy. Langelier, Frank Gormley, Wm. Kissock, E. B. Garneau, Max Murdoch and John Rogers.

Three days before the dinner, viz., December 19, the annual meeting will be held, when the result of the voting will be announced. The notices of motion were few, but an important one by Mr. E. H. Copland, to the effect that the quarterly meeting proceed at once to the election of officers was made.

LOBSTERS FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

The scarcity of lobster packed in Canada and at other points in America has brought out offerings from remote markets, such, for instance, as South Africa. A brand of lobster packed in Cape Town, South Africa, has been brought here, and is said to be receiving considerable favor. It is known as the Triton brand. Last year a similar grade of goods was brought here, but did not take, as the fish was not separated from the shell. Profiting by experience, the shipments this year were made with a view to meeting the requirements of the American market, and there were no shells in the can. Only flat tins are offered, but the comparatively low prices named, it is said, are making a market for these goods, and although it is still an experiment, the importers are hopeful of finding a good market here.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

A press despatch from Windsor, under date of Nov. 9, says : "Some months ago Florey & Sons, general merchants, of Amherstburg, sold out their business to Smith & Healey, with the express stipulation that an opposition store would not be opened by the former. The promise was not kept, however, and Smith & Healey decided to obtain legal redress for their injuries. This morning Mr. J. W. Hanna, acting for the plaintiffs, obtained from his Honor Judge Horne an injunction restraining the defendants from continuing in business in Amherstburg."

OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK

Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It has been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

Paradise Currants

(In cases of 120 lbs.)

Shrewd Merchants, in many instances, have proved the truth of our statements in last week's GROCER---Others are considering the exceptional value---their orders will arrive later.

Ordinary Currants under this brand would only discredit our reputation as handlers of high-grade fruits---We know this, and have used every care to offer the Trade

The Best Possible Value for their Money.

Paradise Currants are the product of a favored district in Greece, noted for the rich and handsome appearance of its currants; the packing is under the personal supervision of one of Greece's best posted and most influential dealers; and our contract calls for a certain high grade---which we offer our friends at the price of ordinary fruit.

If Your Requirements in this direction are large---the more reason you should handle only the best---Paradise.

CHEAPER PARCEL DELIVERY.

By Scott McKerrow.

"Of all inventions, the alphabet and printing press alone excepted, those inventions which abridge distance have done the most for civilization."—Macaulay.

"There be three things which make a nation great and prosperous: A fertile soil, busy workshops, and an easy conveyance for men and goods from place to place."—Bacon.

TRANSPORTATION is a subject which, in all its different phases, is far too great for me to dwell on, so that in my few remarks I shall confine myself to a discussion of the subject as it affects the conveyance of our small packages of merchandise.

Looking backward over the past few decades to the days when "the horseman," with a bundle on his shoulder (as seen in the trade-mark or official label of our express companies), was a probable representation of the express business of the time, and compare it with the Canada Southern's fast train of fourteen or fifteen cars of purely express matter running daily between New York and Chicago, we have something that would astound a Rip Van Winkle to behold.

If we compare that laughable incident in connection with one of Lever's Irish characters, who stole a bundle of letters, seeking value for his master's money, because he had to pay four shillings for a letter, with England's penny postage or the United States two-cent rate of the present day, we cannot help being struck at the marvelous progress our mail system has made both in efficiency and economy.

We have a money order system to-day which is simple, cheap, safe and popular. We have a parcel-post system which permits of our sending bona fide samples of merchandise and patterns at ¼c. per oz.; or merchandise, open to inspection, at 1c. per oz.; closed parcels at 1¼c. per oz., limited to 5 lbs. in weight and 2 ft. x 1 ft. in size.

This is good, as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough, as it is only available for parcels containing unbreakable merchandise, there being no facilities whatever for the transportation (by mail), of fragile merchandise. Herein we lack, and in this lack our commerce is retarded.

France has to-day a parcel post system whereby parcels of all descriptions, both strong and fragile, are safely transmitted, there being facilities for their proper manipulation and at the same time having no limit as to size or bulk, as bicycles can be sent in this way, having simply sufficient "franks" pasted on tag bearing the address.

Our express companies carry our larger parcels satisfactorily, but there is, and has been, a long-felt want for a cheaper minimum rate by express than the present rate of 25 cents per package.

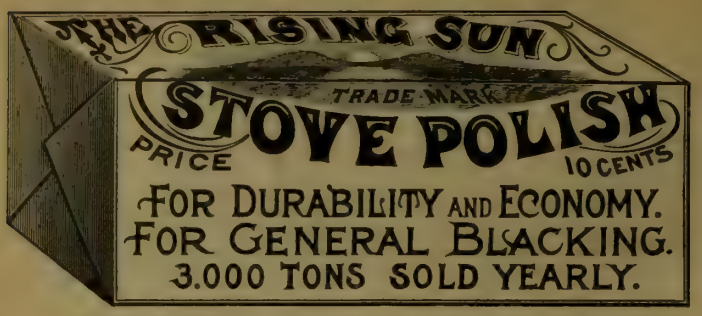
Under the present rate it is frequently the case to find packages are sent which are not of greater value, often of less value, than the rate charged.

That a less rate than 25 cents minimum charge is needed, and would pay the express companies, is proven by the case which is now being fought out in the courts between the Dominion and Canadian Express Companies and the National Despatch Co.

Some months ago several employes severed their connection with one of the express companies, and, knowing something of the inner workings of the concern, started a company which agreed to accept and forward small packages of merchandise from ½ to 5 lbs. (on which, separately, the minimum charge was 25 cents with the regular companies) at 5, 10, or 15 cents per package, according to number of packages to be sent. Then, sorting these at their office, several small packages were made up into larger parcels and shipped to their destination, where they were redistributed by the agent at that point. In this way the express company would charge 40 cents for a parcel that probably contained ten or twelve smaller parcels, which had been accepted by the Dispatch Co. at 10 cents each, so that there was good money in it for the new concern.

Whether we get a lower rate on small parcels from the express companies or a better and safer system of parcel post from the Government, as they have it in France, it matters not, as long as we get it.

It will be beneficial to the country dealer as well as consumer, and at the same time be of great benefit to either postal authorities or express companies in the increased volume of business.



With the country merchants there are often goods asked for which are not kept in stock, and owing to their small demand would hardly pay to stock, but for which the city dealer finds a steady trade. In many of these cases with a lower minimum rate, these articles could be procured, but under the present circumstances, with the express charges added, the price becomes prohibitive and the sale is lost.

Through the advertising medium of our press circulating throughout every town and village of the country, as well as using the mails for the distribution of their catalogues and circulars, many of the large retailers of our business centres are establishing what is known to them as a mail order business, and its influence is far-reaching and acutely felt by the smaller dealer.

The way in which this mail order business is cultivated clearly shows how great a value is placed upon it by those who cater for it. It does not require any demonstrating to show wherein the country consumer would benefit by a cheaper express rate, nor is it necessary to show how desirable such a state of affairs would be to our large city stores, who seek a larger market for their goods and who use their influence accordingly.

There are various reasons why the city stores offer better inducements than their country competitors, but the principal reason is that they buy for cash and sell strictly for cash. Then they do a larger business on about the same capital pro rata, not having any money in the country in book debts tied up. They are satisfied with a smaller margin, and turn their stocks over oftener. But there is no reason why a country merchant cannot meet the city dealer on all these points. He can buy and sell for cash, and what he may not be able to get on account of quantity price, he can make up by cheaper rent and running expenses, as well as freight rates as against express rates on general goods.

That a cheaper minimum express rate is one of the events of the near future no one can doubt. It therefore behooves our country dealer to join the ranks of the army of merchants doing business for cash, from whose ranks there are few, if any desertions. And, as in the case of our prairie fires, smaller ones are built to stop the onward march of such a mighty influence, they would do well to adopt these advanced business methods, and therefore forestall a state of affairs that will be the inevitable result of cheaper rates of transportation.

EASED HIS CONSCIENCE.

"No," said the old storekeeper, sternly, "I will not do it. Never have I sold any thing by false representations, and I will not begin now." For a moment he was silent, and the clerk who stood before him could see that the better nature of his employer was fighting strongly for the right. "No," the old man cried again, "I will not do it. It is an inferior grade of shoe, and I will never pass it off as anything better. Mark it 'A Shoe Fit for a Queen,' and put in the window. A queen does not have to do much walking."

WHAT THE COUNTRY NEEDS.

"What this country needs to develop its business is confidence," said the local politician in the grocery store. "Mr. Briggs, will you trust me for a fortnight for a barrel of flour?" "No," said the grocer; "my terms are spot cash." "There you have it, gentlemen," exclaimed the local politician. "Mr. Briggs has not the confidence and I have not the flour; consequently he misses an opportunity to do business, and does not sell the flour. It is the spirit he illustrates that compels many men to do whitewashing who otherwise would preach great truths to a waiting world."—Boston Transcript.

A MEAN STOREKEEPER.

"ABOUT the meanest storekeeper I ever traded with," began Farmer Jones, meditatively, "was an old chap named Abe Davis, out at Cranberry Corners. Abe is dead and gone to his reward, so 'twon't do any harm to tell the story.

"One day when I was settlin' up my monthly bill with him, I ran across the following items, of which I had no account.

"Sept. 1. Credit by 25 pounds butter at 20c. $5.00
"Sept. 15. Debit to 25 pounds butter at 30c. $7.50

"When I asked for an explanation, he said:

"'Didn't I ask you the first of September if you had any butter to spare, and you said you reckoned so, and you'd bring in a twenty-five pound crock of it the next time you came?'

"'Mebbe I did,' said I.

"'All right,' said he; 'I knew your word was good for twenty-five pounds of butter, so I give you credit for it on that date. The next time you came in, September 15, I asked you how about that butter, and you said the cows were dryin' up so on their milk you guessed you'd hafter keep the butter for your own use, so I charged it back to you on that date to square up the transaction.'

"'I see you did,' said I, 'but there is a mistake in it, anyhow. You've got the price 30c. on the debit side and only 20c. on the credit side.'

"'That's all right,' says he; 'the price of butter riz between September 1 and 15. It may seem like quite a jump, but I always buy my butter at wholesale rates and when I sell it, of course, I've got to have the retail prices.'

"I paid this bill without sayin' anything more, but that was the last money he ever got out of me. I didn't mind takin' that butter back, seein' I had never parted with it, but there was 'most too much difference between Abe's wholesale and retail prices to suit me, so I hunted up another store to do my tradin' with after that."—Ex.

TAKE YOUR DISCOUNTS.

There is a sure profit in taking discounts, remarks American Grocer. One of our most successful retailers was obliged to give notes during his first years in business; but now every discount is taken, all purchases being made for net cash. To do this required the concentration of money into the business, until a point was reached where the cash resources were more than enough to buy all goods for cash. Then outside investments were made, but not until that time arrived. Now he feels justified in gratifying his love for horses and in making real estate investments. He found cash a powerful friend; it opened many a door which was closed to credit; it cemented trade friendships and made powerful allies. It will do as much for anyone who will pay the price in self-denial.

Remember that the man who always pays cash is always sought, particularly in times like the present, when money is tight and worth 10 to 12 per cent. per annum.

Save your discounts, even if it does demand rigid self-denial. A man doing a trade of $30,000 per annum can about save his rent by taking discounts. It is an easy way to offset expenses and make a net profit on the year's business—a sure thing.

A shipment of new Tarragona almonds arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.; also a shipment of new Grenoble walnuts.

Some handsome lines of Japans are being shown by W. H. Gillard & Co. In view of the advances in Japan lately they should be good value.

The Eby, Blain Co.'s output of cleaned currants has grown to enormous proportions. They have the "Kalamos," "Morea," and "Royal Vonitsa" brands.

To meet the demand for a 25c. package tea in ½-lb. packages, the Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have decided to introduce this size in their 25c. grade of "Kurma," and at the same time have changed the label of this grade to the same style as the other and higher grades of "Kurma" tea. The package is handsome and attractive.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., Montreal, turned into stock a shipment of several hundred boxes two and three-crown California loose Muscatel raisins.

Southwell's orange marmalade, in 1-lb. glass, 7-lb. tins and 7-lb. pots, just received into stock by Frank Magor & Co., 16 St. John street, Montreal.

The F. F. Dalley Co. say that the demand for their self-rising buckwheat and other flours is on the increase. The company have been forced to treble their machinery to meet the growing demand for their flours, which are giving universal satisfaction.

Keen's spices—cinnamon, cloves, nutmegs, mace, currie powder and Cayenne pepper, in 1-oz. tins, specially packed for Christmas trade by the manufacturers of Keen's mustard. Send for quotations to Frank Magor & Co., 16 St. John street, Montreal.

An increase of over 50 per cent. in one year speaks well for an article in general use. This is the record made in Robinson's patent barley and patent groats, the well-known infants' food, by Frank Magor & Co., Montreal, the Canadian agents.

Of the 26 carloads of fruit for Hamilton ex ss. Bellona, which landed in Montreal recently, 19 carloads (comprising in the neighborhood of 10,000 packages of Mediterranean fruits) were for W. H. Gillard & Co. This firm do an enormous trade in Mediterranean fruits, as will be seen by their heavy importations, several cars being received by the ss. Avlona, which arrived two weeks earlier.

AN AD. FOR LIPTON'S.

Mr. Alured A. Cuningham, son of the chief engineer and manager of the Montreal Street Railway, has just left for Northern India where he intends beginning life on a tea plantation He has been for several years in the head office of the Bank of Montreal, at Montreal.

In looking over the advertisements in THE GROCER, while sitting in the office the other day, he read Lipton's tea advertisement.

"This reminds me," he said, "of a clever thing I heard in a leading London theatre when I was over there a few months ago. A maid brought in a cup of tea to a player on the stage. He asked":

"Whose tea is that?"

"Ceylon tea."

"All Ceylon tea is good, but I want"—

He bent over her. Their lips met. The audience caught on at once, and the words "Lip-ton's teas," were heard in all parts of the immense audience.

TEA BOOMING.

THE strength of the tea market was fully exemplified recently by the refusal of several Montreal jobbers to sell tea which they bought at 12c. for 13c.; their idea being a profit of 2c. per pound at 14c.

Demand for grades running from 13 to 20c. can hardly be supplied, and Japan teas of the 1895 growth, that were sold at 10c. last May, easily command the inside price to-day. In fact, 13c. has been refused for them, and some holders protest their indifference even to bids of 13¼ to 13½c. per pound. The sharp advances in the United States also since the election are quite likely to add strength to the Canadian situation.

In New York greens have advanced 5c. per pound; Japans, 3c.; Oolongs, 3 to 5c., according to grade, and China Congous, 1½ to 2c. since the election. Reliable reports also state that it is only the scarcity of big blocks of tea at New York and other centres which prevents active speculation south of the line. There is none, because there is nothing to speculate in.

The same scarcity rules proportionately in Canada, there being only two good-sized blocks of Japan teas in first hands on this side the line, and, according to all accounts, there is little prospect of any heavy additional receipts between now and the next crop date. The bulk of one of the blocks here also consists of low-grade 1895, there being no low-grade '96 tea among it, though there are some high-grade growths of this year. If the demand from second hands also is a fair criterion, the stocks on this account are not heavy. In fact, some of the oldest members of the trade state they do not remember as small stocks of tea for 25 years back. The States cannot be depended upon for any appreciable quantity, so that tea is considered a purchase, and the aggregate daily movement is heavy.

Trades amounting to 2,000 Japans at 16 to 18c. and 1,200 blacks at 14½ to 16c., have been among the recent large transactions out of first hands in Montreal. Jardine, Matheson & Co., New York, have sold to Irwin, McBride, Cotherwood & Co. recently 8,500 packages. This lot will certainly be wanted in the States, but even if efforts were made to place some of it in Canada by its new purchasers, the duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem imposed on tea not imported direct, and the freight of at least ½c. per pound, not counting sellers' commissions if they were content to forego them, would handicap it heavily in competition with tea sold direct, by Canadian sales agents.

It will take more than the departmental store to kill a live, up-to-date merchant.

WINNIPEG RETAILERS DINE.

THE first annual banquet of the Winnipeg Retailers' Association was held in the Leland on the 18th inst., when over two hundred representative men of the "Prairie City" sat down to a magnificent spread.

After justice had been done to the viands provided with lavish hand by Capt. Douglass and prepared in tempting style by his cordon bleu, the tables were cleared, and the intellectual part of the proceedings was introduced. Before announcing the toast list, letters of regret were read from the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Thomas Greenway, Hon. J. D. Cameron, Hon. D. H. McMillan, R. J. Whitla, Geo. Ryan and others. The chairman, Mr. C. H. Wilson, expressed his regret that these gentlemen were not able to be present.

The toasts to the Queen, the Governor-General and Lieutenant-Governor were drunk most heartily.

In reply to the toast of the "Dominion Parliament and Local Legislature," Mr. H. J. Macdonald said: "We ought to be proud of our Dominion Parliament, and I think that all Canadians can be proud of those who assemble in Ottawa to transact the business of the country. The present Parliament is not less competent than the one which preceded it. There is a very erroneous idea that the life of an M.P. is a perfect round of pleasure. Members of Parliament have serious responsibility resting upon them. They must not only express the views of their constituents, but they must also think out to clearness the various questions which arise, regarding the affairs of a great country. The western members have an especially arduous task by reason of the extent of their constituencies and the fewness of their numbers." The speaker then went into lengthy discussion of the St. Andrew's rapids question, stating that he believed this work would soon receive the attention of the Government. On behalf of the Local Legislature, Mr. P. C. McIntyre thanked those present for the hearty manner in which the toast had been drunk. He recalled the very small thing Winnipeg was 18 years ago, and noted the advance made since then, and prophesied great things for the future of the city, situated as it is between an El Dorado on the east and an El Dorado on the west.

Rev. Mr. Johnstone then sang "The Highlandman's Toast," receiving a hearty encore.

In announcing the toast to the "Mayor and Council," the chairman said that they had coupled the names of Mayor Jameson and Ald. Craig, because these gentlemen were both retiring members of that body.

Mayor Jameson, in responding, said the city had outgrown its infancy, and was now in a position to demand those reforms, such as the improvement of St. Andrew's rapids. He referred in generous terms to the work of Ald. Craig.

Mr. Crosby Hopps, at the close of Mayor Jameson's address, sang "The Death of Nelson," and in response to a vociferous encore, "Highland Mary."

Ald. Craig spoke of the last Council and its record. They might say that the Council in its last moments was undertaking improvements. He would say that what was being done was in good faith, and with sincere desire to forward the city's best interests.

Mr. Deegan, vice-chairman, then took the programme, and called upon the company to drink to the toast, "Commercial Interests," coupling with it the names of Messrs. Fowler and Bole.

Mr. Fowler, who is a past president of the association, made a very neat speech.

Mr. Kenneally rendered a solo in an acceptable manner, and, as an encore, gave "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

Mr. Bole, replying to the toast, said he believed this country was on the eve of a period of unprecedented prosperity—not a boom, but good, substantial prosperity.

"Our Guests," was responded to by four gentlemen. Mr. Matthewson, president of the Board of Trade, was the first to speak. He said that Winnipeg now occupies the proud position of third city of the Dominion. (Cheers.) The business of this country in his fourteen years' experience had never been in such good financial condition as it is to-day. Mr. Georgeson replied on behalf of the Jobbers' Union, an organization whose only endeavor was to make Winnipeg one of the chief jobbing centres of America. He believed that Winnipeg must sometime be the largest city in Canada.

Mr. Horne replied on behalf of the City Travellers' Association. Mr. Appleton, president of the Trades and Labor Council, said the efforts of the organization were to make Winnipeg a Chicago, without its slums and sweat shops.

In reply to "Winnipeg, Its Possibilities," Mr. J. A. M. Aikins spoke of the rapid growth of the city since he had been a resident. He spoke very eloquently, and his remarks were the cause of much laughter and applause.

Mr. Ashdown replied briefly, referring to his experience of twenty-five years in the retail business.

"The Ladies" was well upheld by the secretary of the association, Mr. J. M. Teichman, who spoke very feelingly of the fair sex.

Another song by Mr. Crosby Hopps proved very enjoyable and was received with long applause.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is indebted to Mr. John Mouat, commission merchant, Winnipeg, for the above report.

INSUFFICIENT CAPITAL.

THE man who starts a store with insufficient savings and fails, winds up by having nothing left, and has to start over again. As a rule, he will find it much harder the second time to accumulate his former savings than it was the first time. As he grows older his habits and wants are more expensive. He wants to dress better, live better, has different companions, who live on a more expensive scale, and his pay does not increase in the same proportion. Hence, he may never be able to save another $1,000, while, if he had kept on working for wages at first but a few years longer, he would have had the money and experience to become a successful business man.

When a grocer cannot satisfy one creditor his bills are likely to come in epidemics. If he is forced to give a mortgage, all his creditors will know it through the records published in the papers, and they will all curtail their credit. There is only one result to be expected, and that is an early failure.

If the grocer is using credit to the extent of $1,000, at least one-half of that credit will be cut off at once, as soon as a mortgage is published. The other creditors will press for payment, and hence the grocer will require much more capital after than before, as he will have to buy much for cash. Failure is almost inevitable as soon as a creditor demands money or a mortgage to secure him.

The tendency to go into business with insufficient capital is so strong that it becomes the most fruitful source of business failure. It is quite natural though, and easily explained. The young clerk who has saved $500 by five years hard work, feels that it may take him another five years of clerkship or more to get $1,000, which is not even enough to start a store on a good scale. Having heard of a good many others who started in business with a few hundred dollars, using some credit, and getting rich in the end, the young man is apt to be sanguine and hope for similar luck in his case. Though the majority of young men who start in business with insufficient capital fail, there are a few who pull through by good luck, and no one can see why he should not be among the lucky ones. So he takes his chances and gambles with his future.

Young men are nearly always inclined to take roseate visions of their prospects, and that is very often their misfortune. If their first experiment in business is a failure, they may have to suffer for life.

LOOSE MALAGA MUSCATELS.

THE CANADIAN GROCER intimated some weeks ago that the high prices ruling on California loose muscatel raisins would divert the demand to a certain extent to Valencia layers and Malaga fruit. The prediction has been verified in the case of the latter.

Importations of Malaga cluster fruit are customary every season, but not Malaga loose muscatels. This fall, however, for the reason above given, they are being imported. L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., Montreal, have a good-sized consignment on the way, which is expected to compete pretty keenly with the loose California stock. The shipment in question is put up in fifty-pound boxes, which should make it specially acceptable to the trade, especially as they are a new thing on the market this season.

It may be interesting to note in the same connection that California fruit continues as firm as ever on the Coast. Recent trades that have been put through have been on the basis of 3¾c. for 2 crown, 4½c. for 3 crown and 5½c. for 4 crown, f.o.b. on the Coast.

HOW TO DEVELOP TRADE.

Dr. D. H. Muir's remarks before the Maritime Board of Trade at St. John had the right ring about them. The problem needing to be grappled with to-day is—how are we to keep our people at home? Times have changed in our little province. Farming, especially in our rural localities, does not pay as it once did. Our young men seek employment elsewhere. Let all newspapers throw open their columns for the discussion of this subject and give an opportunity for throwing out suggestions concerning it. A few crisp snap shots on the question would arouse interest and might be attended with great good. Long evenings are now upon us and a little deep thinking might throw some light and cause some agitation on a matter that deeply affects our welfare as a province.—Truro News.

If business men in other places would do as Dr. Muir himself and the people of Truro have done there would be very few complaints of clever young men deserting the rural localities. The Truro people simply used their heads and "hustled." They developed their local industries. For instance, they found they had good grazing land in the locality, and their cows gave very fine pure milk. They organized a company and condensed the milk to ship to parts of Canada where they could not get the pure article. The result is that they are distributing thousands of dollars annually among the farmers, who are now among the most prosperous in Canada.

The only thing Truro suffers from is too many stores.

Let none of our readers go into the condensed milk business on this tip—the market is already over supplied.

There are hundreds of ways in which localities can increase their revenue and employ more labor if they would but use their brains. There are few places in which intelligent work would not produce a very much greater revenue. When times change men should change with them and not sit whining of the good old times. These should and can be made better days.

AVERAGE YEARLY PRICES OF REFINED SUGAR.

The average price of refined sugar in the United States in 1878 was 8.94 cents. The highest average was reached in 1880, 9.84 cents, and the lowest, 4 cents, in 1894.

The consumption of sugar per capita was 34.3 pounds in 1878, rising to 56.9 pounds in 1886, and falling to 52.8 pounds in 1890, the last year under the tariff law of 1883, and rising to 64.4 pounds in 1894, under the operation of the sugar bounty law and free sugar.

The fall of prices from 9.84 cents in 1881 to 5.66 in 1887 was accompanied by an increase in consumption per capita 8.5 pounds, or, if we may reason that way, and ascribe all the increase in consumption per capita to the fall in prices, the decline of 4.18 cents per lb. induced an increased consumption of 8.5 pounds of sugar per capita.

On the other hand, with the price of sugar at 6 cents in 1890, under the law of 1883, it fell to 4 cents in 1894, under the bounty law, while the consumption per capita rose from 52.8 pounds in 1890 to 66.4 pounds in 1894.

Under the law of 1883, under which the average duty collected on sugar was 2 cents per pound, the consumption per capita increased 8.5 pounds, with a decline in price per pound of 4.8 cents, or an increase in consumption per capita of 2.03 pounds for each cent per pound decline in price.

Under the bounty law of 1890 sugars were free of duty, and the consumption per capita increased 8.5 pounds, in 1894, with a decline in price of 2 cents per pound, or an increase in consumption per capita of 4.25 pounds of sugar for each cent per pound decline in price.—The Louisiana Planter.

AMERICANS AS FRUIT EATERS.

The American people will not eat bananas this year. The fruit importers have discovered this, to their surprise and disgust, and were very much worried at first over the cause. Why have the people given up bananas? they asked, anxiously. New Orleans supplies nearly all the west and south with bananas and other tropical fruit, and is the largest importer in this country. But bananas have sold so badly of late that the importers have cut down the number of vessels running to Central America one half. The American people have not lost their taste for the tropical banana, but the latter has been knocked out by the big apple crop of the west. With apples at 75c. a barrel the banana has no show, for the average man eats about the same amount of fruit each year, and prefers the cheapest. It is apples this year, to suit the hard times, but it may be bananas next season. So, at least the importers hope.—Harper's Weekly.

INTEGRITY OF GROCERS' ADVERTISING.

I READ an article the other day on advertising which I thought was the best thing of the sort I ever saw, writes T. M. R. in Grocery World. It advised anybody who advertised to make no claim whatever he couldn't substantiate. I applied that to my own experience with grocers, who often advertise in a way calculated to destroy people's confidence. I can in my own experience count up several grocers whom I have left because they slipped up on me through an advertisement.

I know one grocer in my own town who makes a specialty of advertising so many articles to be sold at a cut price at a certain hour. For instance, one day he advertised 100 5-cent bottles of blue to be sold at 9 o'clock on Monday morning at 1 cent. I was there at 10 minutes after 9, and there were only a few people in the store. I am certain that he could not have sold all those 100 in that time, but he said the last one had just been sold.

The next time I made up my mind to trap him. He advertised in advance, and I posted a boy where he could see how many people went in the store. The grocer advertised to sell 100 just as the bluing advertisement did. I got to the store at 15 minutes after 9, and, as usual, the goods were gone. I called to my boy and he told me just twenty-six people had gone in the store since 9 o'clock. It was a trick, and I took my trade away on that account.

I know another grocer who always exaggerates in his advertisements so much that I have lost confidence in him. For instance, in one advertisment, he guaranteed every egg he sold to be fresh, and when I found several stale, he backed out of it, and when I asked him why he didn't stand by his advertisement, he had nothing to say. I then took my trade away.

If advertisers only knew how the people who read their advertisements looked at every such point as these, and how speedily they lose confidence if any claim is found not to have been justified, they would be more careful what they say. My advice to all advertisers is: Say nothing whatever that you cannot substantiate.

Now that the Manitoba school question has been settled "let us to our muttons." In other words, let us to our business.

AN UNTENABLE POSITION.

THE WEEKLY SUN, published in Toronto, opposes the building of a railroad through the Crow's Nest Pass on the ground that there is already (1) a road running from Spokane, the state of Washington, to Rossland, in the Kootenay country, and (2) that steps should not be taken to divert trade from its natural market.

A little of the element of cosmopolitanism is a good thing in national life, for it helps to beget that magnanimity which it is so desirous should exist between nations, and especially those whose borders touch each other.

But, while cosmopolitanism is good as an element, it is not advisable that it should predominate. Where nationalism does not obtain there cannot be a nation.

Canada has, within her borders, the possibilities of a great nation, and her citizens would not be worthy of the name of men were they not zealous for the development of these possibilities.

The construction of a railway through the pass in question is rightly conceived to be a step along the line of national building. Railways are steel bands which bind more closely together distant parts of a country as well as carriers of merchandise.

There is a naturalness here quite as much as in the doctrine laid down by our contemporary.

But, dismissing altogether the national aspect of the matter, commercial interests pure and simple warrant the building of the road through the Crow's Nest Pass.

The people of Rossland and the Kootenay country may be quite willing that they should have as free intercourse as is possible and convenient with the inhabitants to the south of them, but with a dozen railroads in operation between Spokane and Rossland, there would be none the less need of a line through the Crow's Nest Pass.

Rich as is Rossland and other parts of the Kootenay country in gold and other metals, their development will be seriously handicapped as long as the present system of securing fuel obtains.

In the Crow's Nest Pass are coal measures of anthracite, bituminous and lignite. But while there is coal enough and to spare, right at the door, as it were, of Rossland, Nelson, and other mining centres, yet most of the fuel used at these places is brought some 20,000 miles from Wales via Cape Horn. And what does not come from Wales is brought across the continent from Pennsylvania.

This coal that is lying unused in the Crow's Nest Pass is what the people of Kootenay want, but, as without a railway they cannot get it, they are compelled to pay 50 to 75 per cent. more for this fuel than they would were the desired line built and in operation.

It is true that the barriers that lie between the gold, silver, iron and other mines in the Kootenay country are natural, but it is not a wise man who is deterred from attaining his object because natural barriers are standing between him and it. He would not be accounted a natural man who would be so deterred. And it would be unnatural if the people of Canada did not build the projected line of railway through the Crow's Nest Pass and go up and possess the trade which is theirs naturally.

Let us be cosmopolitan, but we must be something else if we would avoid being nothing.

It is just as necessary that a merchant should be acquainted with what is going on in the commercial world as it is that the commandant of an army should be kept posted as to the movements of the enemy.

HAS CAUSE TO BE THANKFUL.

CANADA had a great deal to be thankful for Thanksgiving Day. We know of no country who had more to be thankful for.

Her grain crops were good, and the prices obtaining for them better than for years.

Her lumber industry is awakening into fresh activity.

Her mineral industry is attracting the attention of the world, and is booming.

Her dairy industry is expanding.

The earnings of her railroads are increasing compared with previous years.

The monthly returns of the chartered banks and the weekly returns of the clearing houses indicate trade expansion.

The foreign trade of the country, both imports and exports, is growing materially.

What Nature has so bountifully endowed us with it is our duty as Canadians to develop with energy.

A CUSTOMS EVIL.

ONE matter which ought to receive the careful consideration of the Customs Department is that of the ports of entry.

A glance over the Trade and Navigation Returns must convince anyone that a great many places which are now designated ports of entry are little more so than in name, as year after year very little merchandise is passed through them.

In many of these ports of entry the receipts per annum cannot begin to even pay the salaries of the officials stationed there. At a number of these ports the duties collected during the whole year do not aggregate one thousand dollars each, and some, we notice, do not even take in two hundred dollars.

In a country the extent of ours, with the population often greatly scattered, geographical and other conditions may frequently demand the establishment of a port of entry where the revenue-producing capabilities alone would not warrant it. Against this no one can reasonably protest. But these places are the exception and not the rule.

Too often it is not the exigencies of the port that are considered; it is the exigencies of a supporter who is hungry for reward that is the argument which creates the office. Business ethics have seldom anything to do with it.

We are not blaming any one party for this. Both parties are sinners in this respect. A professional politician is a professional politician, whether he be Liberal or Conservative.

The result of the creation of so many sinecure ports of entry is the multiplicity of irregularities in the appraising of similar articles, for comparatively few of the appraisers are competent for the positions which they are in, but which they are not filling. The result of this is no end of annoyance to merchants at different points who are brought into competition with each other. And it is herein that lies the chief evil.

If all the ports of entry cannot be fixed at places at which they will at least "pay for their keep," something practical should at least be done to ensure uniformity in rates of duty, not like it now often is, 25 per cent. on an article at this port and 35 per cent. at another.

THE DOMINION GROCERS' GUILD.

THE Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild met in the Board of Trade, Toronto, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. W. H. Gillard, Hamilton, was in the chair. Montreal was represented by Messrs. Chaput, Laporte, Carter and Childs, and Mr. Irwin, the secretary; Hamilton by Messrs. Balfour, Turner, Lucas, MacPherson, M.P., and Bristol; Toronto by Messrs. Wm. Ince, Sr., Blain, Warren, Sloan, Eckardt, Hay, Kinnear, Wm. Ince, Jr.; Berlin by Mr. Roos.

Mr. Edgar A. Wills acted as secretary. Letters were read from Kingston, Ottawa, London, Brantford, and Sarnia, regretting that they could not arrange to be represented, but expressing strong sympathy with the work.

The president welcomed the delegates and explained his reason for calling the meeting in Toronto instead of Montreal. He said the guild had not accomplished as much as they desired, but they hoped to eventually do more. However, if the guild did no more than bring the members of the trade together once a year, there would be ample reason for its continued existence. When active competitors met each other personally in a social way they became much more friendly, and business ran along much more smoothly. The ill-feeling and bitterness that existed before the organization of the guilds had disappeared. The Dominion Guild had been the means of materially reducing credits, and there was now no dating ahead in the grocery trade.

Mr. Chaput, speaking for Montreal, was disappointed that the meeting had not been held in their city, and humorously remarked that they felt that it was another encroachment on the rights of Quebec. The Montreal Guild was working harmoniously together. He paid a high tribute to the late Mr. George Childs, their first president, and said he was strongly in favor of maintaining the guild if only for its social features.

SHORTER SELLING TERMS.

A number of important matters were then discussed and an agreement arrived at. These agreements are to be transmitted to each local guild for approval before they are finally adopted. In view of the fact that wholesale grocers are now buying nearly all their goods on shorter terms than they are selling them at it was generally agreed that steps should be taken to shorten the selling terms to conform more with the buying. Eastern guilds have already done so recently in dried fruits, and it is more than likely that all will follow their example.

An important discussion took place on the tobacco question. At present an excise revenue is collected on both domestic and imported leaf, and manufacturers are not allowed to blend the two. The guild favors the removal of the excise duty entirely and the imposition of an import Customs duty on foreign leaf. This would encourage the growth of tobacco in Canada; in fact, it would give an immense impetus to a domestic industry.

Tariff matters also came in for considerable attention, and resolutions were submitted regarding several items handled by the grocery trade.

Officers were re-elected as follows:

President—W. H. Gillard, Hamilton.

Vice-president—Charles Chaput, Montreal.

Secretary—Edgar A. Wills, Toronto.

Mr. Chaput insisted that Montreal should have the honor of the next meeting of the guild, and this was unanimously assented to.

THE BANQUET.

In the evening the members from outside Toronto were entertained at the National Club by the Toronto Guild. In addition to the names mentioned above, Mr. J. F. Eby, Fred Sloan and Major J. B. MacLean, managing editor of THE GROCER, were present. The dinner was the first public function in the National's new quarters, which are probably the finest of any club in Canada, a condition which is due almost entirely to the indefatigable efforts of the secretary of the guild, Mr. Wills, who is also secretary of the club. The chef was told that the members of the guild were accustomed to the best of everything, and he laid a dinner which has not often been surpassed in Canada. Mr. Ince presided, while Mr. Blain accepted the vice chair.

It was just the hour of 9.30 when Chairman Ince tapped his plate and remarked: "Gentlemen, as I have at my right a gentleman from Hamilton (Mr. Gillard), who desires, like all good and true home men, to return home to-night, we must now take up the toast list in order to enable him to do so. (Laughter.) I have therefore much pleasure in proposing the toast of 'The Queen.'"

After the toast had been responded to in the customary hearty manner, the next proposed was that of "Our Guests from the East and West."

"We thoroughly appreciate," added the chairman after the applause had subsided, "our friends from the east and from the west. I think it is one of the brightest spots in the lives of the whole of us in Toronto when we meet the bright faces of the people from Hamilton in the west and from Montreal in the east. (Applause.) We do not see so much of them as we formerly did, but I hope that in the future we shall see more of each other than we have in the past." (Hear, hear.)

MR. GILLARD.

Mr. Gillard was the first speaker. He said: "It does not take much to get me to my feet on an occasion like this. It is a great pleasure to meet our friends here. To-night is not the first occasion on which we have enjoyed the hospitality of the Toronto merchants. If anything, they have to night exceeded all previous efforts in their reception of us. I am very much pleased, indeed, that you have drunk the health of 'Our Friends from the East and West.' I must also thank you for again electing me president of your guild. Mr. Ince, let me say, has been a supporter of the guild ever since it was introduced by the merchants of Hamilton. (Laughter). Yes, gentlemen, by Hamilton. The conception originated in Hamilton. This is an historical fact. (Renewed laughter). In Hamilton we are only a small community, but, sirs, we are the leaven that leavens the whole lump. We know one thing, and that is, that we work together as a whole and we look to our friends in Toronto and Montreal as being one with us in promoting the interests of our trade. (Hear, hear). We can afford to differ in small matters, but when it comes down to vital importance to the trade I think we should be one. Mr. Ince has said that these meetings should be held more frequently. I think so too. (Hear, hear). The next annual meeting will be held in Montreal. Now, then, suppose you gentlemen in Toronto hold a reception like this every three months, and discuss questions of the day. Of course, it will come high, but it will pay you. (Laughter.) You see you would be able to hold three meetings between this and the next annual gathering."

MR. CHAPUT.

Mr. Chaput, of Montreal, followed, and he was warmly applauded as he rose to speak. He said: "Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, I only wish more of my confreres from Montreal could have been here to enjoy the great hospitality that is always extended to us when we visit Toronto. Mr. Chairman, it is two years since we met last. I hope it will not be two years before we meet again. After all the trouble you have had in organizing this guild, I think it would not be generous on the part of us young men not to——"

Mr. Wills: "Young men!"

Mr. Chaput: "Yes, young men. I say it would be ungenerous if we did not recognize your efforts. As the president has said, we believe that it was in the general interests of the trade that this meeting should have been held in Toronto. But we acquiesced on the condition that the next meeting be held in Montreal. I thank you most cordially for your hospitality and hope that next year we shall have an opportunity of showing you that we too have hospitality in the province of Quebec." (Applause.)

"I rise," said Mr. Gillard, when the applause had spent itself, "to a question of privilege, Mr. Ince remarked a short time ago that I was anxious to get home to night. This is not correct. Let me tell you that I suggested to my confreres from Hamilton that if you would go back with us we would remain over till to-morrow. This is true. I don't want to go home." (Laughter.)

MR. LAPORTE.

Loud and prolonged applause greeted Mr. Laporte when he arose to speak to the toast. "I should think," he facetiously began, "that you had had enough of my broken English and would have wanted me to keep silence." (Laughter and "No, no.") Continuing, he said: "I feel it is my duty to thank you for the hospitality you have shown, and I do so from the bottom of my heart. It is a royal reception you have accorded us. I certainly feel proud of being a member of this organization. A few years ago when this guild was formed we looked for great results, but if you consider the difficulties which have been in the way we must feel satisfied that the organization has been a great help to the grocery trade of Canada. I think our firm is the youngest in the guild, we having started into business thirty years ago. Nevertheless, I consider it my duty to do my share of work in getting this guild together. (Applause.) When as many of my friends in Montreal as I would have liked to have come up found it impossible to do so, I felt it was my duty to accompany my leader (Mr. Chaput) here, in spite of sickness in my family. (Applause.) I have done my share of the discussion during the day, and while I have differed from some of you, the very fact that Mr. Blain has allowed me to sit at his left is evidence to me that I have made no enemies. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Chairman, I hope that, notwithstanding the number of western merchants which we have with us to-day, we shall have a still larger representation of them at the next annual meeting in Montreal. We have in the Montreal Guild a membership of about fifteen; and if you consider the number you have in Toronto, I am sure we will have, at least, as large a gathering as you have here to-day. I am not, however, so sure that we shall be able to receive you in the royal way you have us to-day. But what is done will be done with the best intention of paying you back for what you have doneto-day." (Loud and long applause.)

MR. MACPHERSON.

In response to repeated demands, Mr. MacPherson spoke next. He said: "Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen: I do not feel that I can say anything. The kindness you have shown me has almost deprived me of speech. (Laughter.) Although of late I have not been very closely connected with the grocery trade, my interest in the guild is as great as it ever was. I feel that whether or not we have agreed on questions relating to the tariff changes and other matters, we have agreed on one thing, and that is, good fellowship. We have come to the conclusion that we must keep together as closely as possible, and particularly in the respect that Mr. Hay spoke of to-day, namely, profits. (Laughter.) Whether the members come from Toronto, Montreal or Hamilton, they are fully agreed in the matter of profits. (Hear, hear.) Whatever the resolutions may be that we have passed to-day it must be distinctly understood that we bear no ill-will to any fraternity or community, whether it be manufacturer or otherwise. We are doing primarily what we consider to be our duty as merchants. And if we do this, and at the same time no harm to manufacturers or any other class, we are doing good work. We must look after ourselves. The manufacturers will look after themselves. (Hear, hear.) The protection that has been accorded us has been of the smallest kind, and therefore I do not think we should have any hesitancy in speaking freely, remembering that we are here to propagate the views of ourselves. We are here to try and make a little money. (Laughter.) We have not in the past been even doing this. While we want a little change, we do not want to injure any community. By getting our heads together we may succeed in getting the new Government to look into affairs and bring about reforms that will be advantageous to all. We want to do the best we can for the community at large. Equal justice to all, and particularly equal justice to the merchants who are represented by the grocery trade." (Laughter.)

Before taking his seat Mr. MacPherson proposed the health of "Toronto and Montreal," and as the toast was being drunk he facetiously added, "We, in Hamilton, always like to take advantage of other people. While we are drinking this toast you are all compelled to keep your seats and enjoy a magnificent thirst."

It is almost needless to say that this sally created much merriment, for none but Hamilton men were on their feet.

MR. WM. INCE.

Mr. W. Ince, sr., was the first to respond. He said that although it was a red-letter day in the history of the trade he could not forget that there was one vacant place. "I refer," he continued, "to our old friend Mr. Childs. (Hear, hear.) We all know the pleasure it was for him to meet with us. His genial manner is greatly missed. It has pleased Providence to take him from a long and useful life, and I trust that he is now enjoying even a better and brighter life than he did down here. We also miss another friend. This is the first time we have met without having Mr. Hebert. We know the interest he takes in the guild, and the heartiness with which he enjoyed the festivities which followed the business meetings. I am very much pleased to know that he is now enjoying better health than he did some time ago, and hope that in the course of time, if he does not return to active business life, that he will be again restored to his friends. I hope that when we go to Montreal we shall see him. It is now twelve years, gentlemen, since the Dominion Guild was organized. On that occasion you did me the high honor of electing me your president. I felt proud of the distinction bestowed upon me, and I have since felt how great a privilege it was to meet with the members of the guild from the east and from the west, and to share in the kindly sympathy and good fellowship which is extended at these meetings towards each other by those who participate in them. I thank you for the great kindness you have shown towards me personally. The seven years during which I occupied the presidency I look back upon as being of the brightest description. We meet here principally for business and I feel assured that good results will follow from our deliberations to-day. The different questions we have discussed will engage our attention for some time. We have with us to-night our esteemed friend from Hamilton who is now one of the representatives of that city in Parliament. (Applause.) I suppose he will be there an exponent of the rights of the grocers. He is not yet a member of the Government, but if his ability is appreciated as it should be, it is only a question of time before he will be. And, if he is not put into the premiership, he should be put pretty high up." (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Chaput: "They will appreciate him in Quebec."

Mr. Ince: "We are sure Mr. MacPherson will see that the grocers get fair play." In closing, Mr. Ince expressed the hope that the present members of the guild would be spared for many years to come to enjoy each other's company, and that those who followed would strive to protect the interests of the grocery trade generally.

MR. BLAIN.

Mr. Blain also responded. He said: "Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: I always like to speak after my friend Mr. Ince, because he covers the ground so thoroughly that nothing remains for me to say. I thoroughly endorse, sir, what you have said in acknowledging the honor that has been paid to us by the grocers of Hamilton and Montreal. I think no trade can prosper unless there is some sort of sympathetic understanding that they shall do their business on certain lines. I say this guild has been a great benefit to the grocery trade of this country in assisting to increase the standard of business morality, and in inaugurating better business methods. No matter how talented a man may be, he cannot, unaided, do all he would. It is only by associated effort, when combined with individual effort, that we are able to carry out, in their fullest and best sense, those business principles which should guide a great mercantile community such as ours. And in that sense the Grocers' Guild has been of substantial advantage to the business interests of this country. (Loud applause.) We have fixed our terms and have corrected many abuses, irregularities and anomalies that existed in the trade, so that in addition to the benefits that you, sir, have so ably stated, we have established better principles for conducting our business concerns than heretofore existed. I am one of those revolutionists in the grocery trade that believe in striking out boldly and independently of other organizations, yet I am safe in saying that we are never inconsiderate or unmindful of those general business principles which should cover trade and commerce at large. Now we have to perform a very important duty as custodians of the grocery trade of Canada, and as men who are supposed to understand commercial questions, we are naturally looked up to by the people of this country. Consequently we should be able to give deliverances upon those great questions that is impossible to people generally. It is our duty to see that the business interests of Canada are properly protected, and that consumers, manufacturers and distributors are brought closer into harmonious connection with each other, as the condition of the country would warrant. I don't think we should be selfish. We ought to make recommendations to the Government in regard to the tariff, such as would be fair, not only in the estimation of the wholesale grocers of Canada, but also in that of the consuming public on the one hand and the producing on the other. It is in this respect that our organization will be a benefit chiefly. If we have arrived at that position where we believe that one class has been favored beyond what are the interests of the great body of our people, if we are fair in our conception of what is right between the favored and the consuming public, then I say the great object of our organization has been realized." (Hear, hear.)

By the time Mr. Blain had concluded it was twenty-three minutes past ten, and, as the Hamilton train was due to depart at 10.30 there was a a sudden exodus of the delegates from the "Ambitious City." But Mr. Gillard was not among the number.

For the next hour impromptu speeches were in order. Mr. John Sloan said he had been present at every meeting of the guild, except that held in London. He expressed pleasure at seeing the gentlemen from Montreal and Hamilton present, and hoped that the sentiment then in evidence would continue.

After demands made again and again, Mr. Eby quietly arose and laconically remarked: "My partner has done so much talking here to-night that it is not fair I should take up your time. I want to hear Mr. Eckardt."

Mr. Eckardt was compelled ultimately to comply. "I think," he said, "that we are sometimes in the habit of imagining our competitors to be animals ready to eat us up, but I do not think, in looking at the kind and pleasant faces around me, that they are capable of doing such things. We hear a great deal sometimes about what other people are doing in the way of cutting ⅛c., but, fortunately, I have got a certain amount of common sense, and I do not believe all these things."

Mr. Kinnear followed. "I have always," he said, "been an advocate of meeting together often. We are behind the times in our local guild. I was glad to hear by the testimony of the Montreal men that they were wise and we were foolish, they having arranged to get a little better profit on their goods. We have heard a great deal to-day about making money. Well, the fact is, that if we meet and look at each other we shall go back to business better satisfied, feeling that what we sometimes hear from travelers and others is not exactly true."

The closing toast was that of "The Secretaries," which was responded to by Messrs. Wills and Irving.

PATNA RICE UP THREE SHILLINGS.

THERE is strong possibility of an appreciation in the price of rice owing to the great strength abroad. Reference was made a fortnight ago to sales of Patna rice in Montreal at an advance. This has been duplicated. A Montreal wholesale house cabled Liverpool on Monday for a quotation on Patna for a grade which cost them 11s. 3d. some time ago. They were asked 14s. 3d., a rise of 3s. It is considered inevitable, if this strength abroad is maintained, that Canadian prices will have to go up. They are now 25c. higher than they were, but are hardly on a parity with this increased cost abroad.

AN APPLE PROBLEM.

ONCE upon a time there were two old men who sat in the market early every morning and sold apples. Each one had thirty apples, and one of the old men sold two for a cent, and the other old man sold three for a cent. In that way the first old man got 15c. for his basket of apples, while the second old man received 10c.; so that together they made 25c. each day. But one day the old apple-man who sold three for a cent was too sick to go to the market, and he asked his neighbor to take his apples and sell them for him. This the other old man very kindly consented to do, and when he got to the market with the two baskets of apples, he said to himself, "I will put all the apples into one basket, for it will be easier than picking them out of two baskets." So he put the sixty apples into one basket, and he said to himself, "Now, if I sell two apples for 1c., and my old friend sells three for 1c., that is the same thing as selling five apples for 2c. Therefore I will sell five for 2c." When he had sold the sixty apples he found he had only 24c., which was right; because there are twelve fives in sixty, and twice twelve are twenty-four. But if the other old man had been there, and each one had sold his apples separately, they would have received 25c. Now, how is that explained?—St. Nicholas for November.

THE DANGER OF THE "SURE THING."

Every intelligent merchant should, and doubtless does, find encouragement as well as pleasure in the fact that the "sure thing" is losing its power to draw money out of the legitimate channels of trade, remarks Inter-State Grocer. The "sure thing" is bad enough when money is plenty and business is rushing, but it is almost fatal when every effort and dollar is required to make trade ventures safe.

The "sure thing"—and this is its most dangerous attribute—appears in multitudinous shapes and guises. Sometimes it may be the share in a new railway, at another the stock is a new mine, at another the shares in a new insurance company, and so on. As the business man is supposed to have the most ready money, he is the most urgently solicited, and he is ready to take the chances frequently, as the records show. It would be neither possible nor wise to estimate the sums that have been taken out of trade to invest in outside and speculative ventures, but they are far from insignificant.

It is not the actual drain that the "sure thing" makes upon the capital of the tradesman that hurts as much as the weakening effect it has upon his methods and energy. He ceases to be so attentive to business because he has buoyed himself up to believe that his "sure thing" will render his attention to business unnecessary very soon. It is needless to mention results. They are before us constantly. Still the "sure thing" will always exist, and the speculative merchant will scorch his fingers if not burn his business in days to come as in days past. The speculative merchant is losing his hold, however, and therefore the "sure thing" may lose some of its power.

THE SUGAR BOUNTIES.

The extent to which British sugar refiners are handicapped by foreign bounties, and particularly by the French system, is known in a vague sort of way, but some figures that have just been supplied illustrate the point to a degree which, we should think, will astonish the English consumer. Ten years ago the bounty rose to £7 10s. a ton. It subsequently declined to the present £3 10s., and now French makers are appealing to the sympathetic ears of M. Meline for an additional grant of 25 francs per ton, on the ground that they cannot hold their own against the producers of other countries. During the ten years it appears that France has disbursed no less than £21,592,500 in sugar bounties; a pretty present to the purchasers of French sugars in other lands, but a prodigious haul out of the pockets of French tax-payers. And yet French refiners, like Oliver Twist, are still asking for more.—Grocers' Journal, London.

SULTANA RAISINS IN NEW YORK.

From the beginning of the season to date the importations of Sultanas have amounted to 131,000 boxes, which is said to be the bulk, if not all, of the stock we shall receive this year, there being nothing afloat or loading for this market at present, as far as is known here. Last year the receipts from the commencement of the season to Nov. 18th were 155,000 boxes, the crop being an unusually large one, but for the corresponding period in 1894 the imports were only 90,000 boxes. For the whole of last season the receipts amounted to 290,000 boxes, and in the season of 1894-95 we imported about 240,000 boxes, so that at present it looks as though the supply this season would fall very much below the average for the three years. The reported shortage in the Valencia raisin output is also expected to help the market for Sultanas.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

A merchant should aim to possess the goodwill of his competitors as well as that of his customers.

HE CUTS BUSINESS.

I DON'T believe any large advertiser ever cut off his advertising without finding that he cut off his business at the same time, says Charles Austin Bates. If he is spending money foolishly, he may cut down his appropriation 25, or even in some cases 50 per cent., and still do the same amount of business.

I have known businesses where the advertising appropriation was cut down 50 per cent. and the business increased. I think there are a great many opportunities for just this sort of thing in America to-day. There is a great deal of money foolishly spent in advertising.

Money is spent injudiciously. Men go into the wrong papers. Sometimes they go into the right papers the wrong way. Sometimes they spend too little in one paper and too much in another. There are all sorts of ways of making mistakes in doing advertising, and it is not to be expected that a man who is harassed and worried by a thousand other details of the business will be able to go on forever without making mistakes.

The chances are against the business man's being able to do his advertising without spending a good deal of money for which he gets no adequate return. He gives people advertisements to get rid of them, or to keep them from "roasting" his business. He goes into programmes because the canvasser is a customer of the house. He does all sorts of things that are not advertising, and charges them to the advertising account.

A "POME."

JUST a little dollar, on its mission sent, makes a lot of people glad each time the coin is spent. You pay it to the butcher, for meat to give you strength ; he takes it to the grocer man from whom it goes at length, some pretty bit of cloth or lace his better half to buy, or helps to get a winter hat to make her rival sigh. The dry goods man sends on the coin to pay his market bill, and though the coin is often spent, it stays a dollar still ; and every time 'tis spent at home, some act of good is done in "booming" local industries, ere setting of the sun.

But if you take that shining coin and break the local chain, the chances are that from afar 'twill not return again. If once it passes out of town, the butcher and the baker, the grocer and the dry goods man, the cook, the undertaker, the carpenter, the carriage-wright, the blacksmith, everyone, will lose the chance to touch that coin ere setting of the sun.

Just keep that little coin at home, just keep it moving well, and every time it changes hands somebody's goods t'will sell. That single little dollar hath thus a wondrous power to make somebody better a dozen times an hour. It pays the bill and wards off ill, and ne'er its power relaxes to soothe the doctor and buy coal and pay for clothes and taxes.—New England Grocer.

"A LITTLE NONSENSE NOW AND THEN—"

A GROCER named Sam Smith, from a country place, according to an exchange, visited a large wholesale house and ordered a quantity of goods. He was politely received, and one of the principals showed him over the establishment. On reaching the fourth floor the customer saw a speaking-tube on the wall—the first he had ever seen.

"What is that?" he asked.

"Oh, that is a speaking-tube ; it is a great convenience. We can talk with it to the clerks on the first floor without taking the trouble of going downstairs."

"Can they hear anything that you say through it?"

"Yes, and they can reply."

"You don't say so ! May I talk through it?"

"Certainly."

The visitor put his mouth to the tube and asked :

"Are Sam Smith's goods packed yet?"

The people in the office supposed it was the salesman who had asked the question, and in a moment the distinct reply came back :

"No ; we have not packed them yet. We are awaiting a telegram from his town. He looks like a slippery customer."

FIRST NEW NUTS.

The first receipts of new crop nuts are now on the way to Montreal houses. Rose & Laflamme have advices of a shipment of Grenoble walnuts, shelled walnuts, Marbots and Cornes of the 1896 crop. This is the earliest shipment of new nuts, being made by A. Dufour & Co., Bordeaux, and they are expected to arrive between the 10th and 15th December.

WESTERN APPLES TO SIBERIA.

A shipment of American apples was made recently from Tacoma, Wash., to Siberia. The shipment comprised 31 cases of apples, the pioneer shipment of this fruit from Washington State to Siberia. They were put up in small kegs about the size of a nail keg and in tubs, all of which were perfectly air-tight.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Smellie, of Brown, Smellie & Co., general merchants, Binscarth, Man., was in Toronto this week. He reports that there was about two feet of snow on the ground when he left home. Crops, he said, north of Binscarth and in the vicinity of Russell were heavy.

ADDITIONAL HINTS TO BUYERS.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., have received a shipment of Batger's peels and "Nonpareil" jellies.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report a shipment of Bendorp's Royal Dutch cocoa.

Another shipment of "Orient" tea is just to hand at the Eby, Blain Co.'s, Ltd.

The F. F. Dalley Co. say that the sale of "Gem" stove paste is continually on the increase. They have not reached carload lots to any customer yet, but they are selling a good many gross lots just the same, which they find is better for the merchant when he buys it in lots suitable to the consumption. Their stove paste, they say, is not affected by the frost.

T. B. Escott & Co., London, are giving a magnificent framed reproduction of a famous oil painting of a scene in "Othello and Desdemona," with every case of "Grand Mogul" tea.

AN EXPLANATION.

Editor GROCER :

SIR,—In the issue of your valuable journal received to-day, you say "J. E. Hills, grocer, Halifax, has transferred business to M. E. Hills." While this is true in substance, yet the manner in which it is stated is misleading, and is liable to be miscontrued. The fact, is that on the death of Mr. R. J. Sweet, wholesale grocer, (which was noted in your issue of 9th Octocer), I formed a partnership with his bookkeeper, Mr. G. Foster, and we are continuing the business under the firm name of R. J. Sweet & Co. I then disposed of my retail business to M. E. Hills as stated, but the two items should appear together in order to avoid any wrong inference which might be drawn.

In conclusion, let me express my hearty appreciation of your excellent paper.

Yours truly,

JOHN E. HILLS.

IODINE FROM SEAWEED.

It is well known that enormous quantities of seaweed containing iodine are gathered along the coasts of Japan, says The Chemist and Druggist, and were it not for the fact that the manufacture of iodine from kelp is scarcely profitable, in view of the competition of the Chilian product, Japan would, no doubt, be one of the principal iodine producing countries. In fact, even under the present circumstances, Japanese iodine and iodides find a market locally, and have even been seen in Europe in commercial quantities. A proposal has now been made to the Japanese Government by certain native chemists that the Customs duty on iodine and iodides in Japan should be increased to such an extent as to enable the Japanese industry to be self-supporting.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THERE is a fair volume of business doing, but the easier feeling which characterises the outside sugar market has had a somewhat depressing effect upon the local sugar market, causing a falling off in the demand, although not affecting quotations. Canned goods remain in much about the same position as a week ago, the demand being light. Coffees are in good demand. A fair trade is reported in syrups and molasses. The position of the tea market continues strong, but taking it all round the volume of business has not been large during the past few days. Foreign dried fruits are in good demand, and, generally speaking, firm in price. A good demand is to be noted for nuts. Oranges are scarce and higher. Payments are just fair.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the situation. The demand for canned vegetables is merely moderate. Prices, particularly of tomatoes, are still being firmly held by the packers. The situation, as far as cohoe salmon is concerned, is, if anything, firmer, there having been a further cancellation of orders by the packers. A shortage is now confidently looked for. We quote best brands: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.75 to $2.85; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Locally the demand is good. The market, which has been a little easier, is now steadier again, particularly on Maracaibo and Santos kinds. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Some unusually nice values are being offered by the refineries in good medium syrups, but they are not attracting many buyers. Wholesalers report a fair demand. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The demand is fair. The primary markets are steady and higher prices are looked for. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The outside markets have again declined. Raws are ¼c. lower in New York, and so are yellows, but in granulated the drop is only ⅛c. Locally there has been no change. The demand is light, but it is anticipated that as soon as the shipments which were made in order to secure the advantages of the summer rates of freight have been used up a revival in business will come. The lowest price quoted by the refineries for yellows is 3¼c., but notwithstanding this, some wholesale houses are selling this kind lower, as our quotations show. We quote: Granulated, $4 to $4.10, and yellows at $3.20 to $3.75.

SPICES.

The spice men report a fair trade in seasonable spices, with prices steady and unchanged. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, ETC.

Trade in this line is quiet and devoid of special feature. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¾ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

The demand is good for all kinds of nuts and particularly Grenobles. Brazil nuts are firm. The second shipment of Estrine & Co.'s brand of Grenoble walnuts has arrived. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 25 to 26c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 8 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; chestnuts, $3.30 to $4 per bushel; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

TEAS.

The tea market generally rules strong. A further advance of 3c. in Young Hysons was cabled from China at the close of last week, and locally there are practically no teas of this description in first hands. Japan teas of low and medium grades are sought after, but holders' views are above those of the buyers, and, consequently, there are not many transactions. Both Indian and Ceylon teas are reported firmer in London. On the local market Ceylon teas are being the most sought after, and particularly good liquoring teas of about 8d. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The currant market has remained steady since the recent decline, bids by Toronto importers that it was thought would find acceptance having been refused by shippers in Denia. The demand locally continues active, and a feature of the market is the good business that is being experienced in cleaned fruit. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

There is no change in the position which Valencia raisins have occupied during the past few weeks. All kinds are scarce, and the little fruit that is still in the primary market is being held at figures above the parity of those at which the retailers are now buying from the wholesalers. We quote: Off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins on the Coast are still in active demand, and shippers are disinclined to quote for the Canadian market. Agents in Toronto have, however, consummated a few sales during the past week at full prices. The first shipment of loose muscatel raisins which arrived on the local market this season are pretty well cleaned up, but the second shipment is due here about the end of the present week. We still quote 7½ to 8½c. for 3 and 4-crown respectively.

A few transactions in California prunes have been made during the past week. Figures obtained on the large sizes are about 1c. higher than last year, on the medium sizes a trifle higher, and on the smaller sizes the price is a little lower than a year ago. This apparent anomaly is explained by the fact that the fruit this season is running smaller than last year. The quantity of the crop, however, is fully as large as that of a year ago.

Malaga raisins are in good demand, with stocks locally light. We quote: London layers, $1.60 to $1.85; black baskets, $2.20 to $2.65; blue baskets, $2.25 to $2.50; choice clusters, $2.25 to $2.75; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

In figs there has been a good demand on the spot. Some of the arrivals are rather inferior in quality and would not be safe to hold over. Wholesale quotations are: 14 oz., 9 to 10c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7¼c. in boxes.

The first shipment of new season's Persian dates arrived on the Toronto market Thursday, and a good many of them were sold to arrive. There was a carload in the shipment which only left Southampton on the 14th inst. They are being quoted, net figures, at 6¼ to 6½c. for Sairs and 7¼ to 7½c. for Hallowees.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are scarcer and dearer. On account of the unsatisfactory results as to price received in Canada and the United States, packers of Jamaica oranges have decided for the time being to send no more shipments. Valencia oranges are, however, expected to arrive shortly, when lower prices than those now quoted will rule. Lemons, too, are scarce and higher. Bananas are higher and in good demand. Pineapples are still arriving on the market. Cranberries are a little firmer for good dry, hard stock, while soft kinds are easier. Apples are a little firmer in the English market, but there is no improvement to be noted on the local market. Quinces are about done. We quote as follows: Oranges—Jamaicas and Mexicans, $4 to $4.25 per box. Lemons—Messinas, $5.50 to $6 per box; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2 to $2.25 per bbl.; apples, $1.10 to $1.40 for good repacked Greenings, Baldwins, Spies and Russets; onions, 65 to 70c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; Cape Cod cranberries, $6.50 to $7 for fancy dark, and $3.50 to $4 for soft; Canadian cranberries, $5 to $6 per bbl.; quinces, 20 to 30c. per basket, and $2.75 to $5.50 per barrel; pineapples, 10 to 30c. each; bananas, $1.40 to $1.75 per bunch.; Almeria grapes, $6 to $7 per keg.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is no change. There is not much good butter coming forward, and that is the only kind for which there is a demand. We quote as follows: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c.; 1-lb., blocks, 18 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—There is a little unsettled feeling, owing largely to the culls, etc., which are being pushed on the local market. Early makes of good quality, which are about cleaned out, are quoted at 10 to 10½c., and September at 10½ to 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS— We hear of transactions at 65c. delivered in Toronto for good stock. The jobbing price for good hand-picked beans is from 75 to 85c.

DRIED APPLES—A little is being done in a jobbing way at 2¾c. per lb.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Jobbers are holding at 3¾ to 4c., but there is practically nothing doing.

EGGS—Demand is fair, supplies light, and prices a little stiffer. We quote: Fresh gathered, 17 to 18c.; limed, 14c.; cold stored and held, 15 to 16c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Strained, 7 to 8c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8 to 9c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

MAPLE SYRUP—The demand continues fair at 80 to 85c. per gallon.

POTATOES — Dull and unchanged with sales at 30c. per bag in carload lots on track, and 37½ to 40c. out of store delivered.

POULTRY—Receipts moderate for this time of the year, and offerings have been pretty well cleaned up. We quote: Chickens, 20 to 40c. per pair.; turkeys are 6 to 8c. per lb.; geese, 4½ to 5½c. per lb., and ducks, 40 to 55c. per pair.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

The demand continues good for smoked meats and long clear bacon, although the supply of fresh meats now tends to interfere with the sale of the former. Dressed hogs have been offering freely, and prices are lower. Farmers' loads are quoted at $4 to

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish market is still quiet and oysters have experienced another decline. We quote: Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, 50 to 75c. per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 to $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

SALT.

Trade is good and prices unchanged. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Deliveries on the local market are light, and quotations are lower than a week ago. We quote: White wheat, 86 to 87c.; red, 85 to 86c.; goose, 65 to 65½c.; oats, 21 to 23c.; peas, 45 to 46c.

FLOUR—Market is dull, buyers holding off. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.25; straight roller, $4.50, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand continues fairly good. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.70 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50. Further advances are looked for in rolled wheat.

BALED HAY—Offerings are liberal and prices weaker. We quote: $10.50 for No. 1.

SEEDS.

The market is dull. Alsike is quoted at 6 to 9c. per lb., according to quality. Red clover, $5 to $5.50 per bushel, and timothy $1.25 to $1.50.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 8 to 8¼c. Dealers pay 7½c. for No. 1, 6½c. for No. 2, and 5½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6 to 7c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 70 to 80c.

WOOL—The market is unchanged. Dealers are paying 20 to 21c. for combing fleece, but offerings are limited. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras, at 22 to 22½c.

PETROLEUM.

The demand continues active; prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Bananas are dearer.

Glucose is a little lower.

Sugar is weaker in New York.

Another advance has taken place in oranges.

Good, dry, hard cranberries are scarce and dearer.

New season's Persian dates reached the Toronto market on Thursday.

A further advance in Young Hysons of equal to 3c. per lb. has been cabled from China.

P. L. Mason & Co. are advised of the arrival of the second shipment of Estrine & Co.'s Grenoble walnuts.

The new size in Kolacafe (5-oz. bottle) is proving a popular 15c. line, say Robert Greig & Co.

Mackay's new essence of coffee and chicory, in 5-oz. and 10-oz. bottles, is a good seller.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 26, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market exhibits a fair degree of activity. This is the case in refined sugar, though the price of the staple is unchanged in spite of the fact that stocks are light. Syrups are quiet, and round lots of molasses have been shaded, but the jobbing range is unaltered. Spices and rice continue firm outside, and the spot prices are apt to hold strong for this reason. Coffees are dull and heavy, but the tea market is in a very firm position. Dried fruit is in the same position, and stocks in wholesale grocers' hands here are not as well assorted as usual. Only a few new nuts are on hand. The first shipment will be here about the first of December.

SUGAR.

There is a good demand for this staple, but the fact has not affected spot values, though it helps to maintain the recent firmness in values at the refineries here. In fact, the enquiry is above the average for the season of the year and stocks are not allowed to accumulate in first hands. The scarcity of yellows continues, there being both active demand for current wants and orders for future delivery. Prices on the latter are firm at 3¼ to 3¾c., as to quality, while jobbers have ceased to shade on granulated, asking this week 4 1-16c. on 10-bbl. lots and 4⅛c. in smaller quantities.

SYRUPS.

Business in syrups continues quiet, demand being confined to small quantities, while prices are steady. We quote 1¾c. per lb., and 22 to 35c. per gallon, as to grade.

MOLASSES.

With ample stocks, the easy feeling in molasses continues, and round lots have been offered this week at ¼ to ½c. per gallon cut, some 50 puncheons of Barbadoes selling at 27c., and similar lots of Porto Rico at 27½c. In a small way prices are unchanged at 30 to 31c.

RICE.

The advancing tendency of rice outside continues, but though local prices have been advanced somewhat, there is still margin for appreciation. We now quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

The demand for spices continues good, and with the colder weather it is apt to be maintained. Outside advices continue firm, but spot values are unchanged. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

Demand continues slow for coffee, but there is no further change in prices. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 19c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

The tea market has been quiet this week, more from the fact that stocks are firmly held than lack of demand. The feeling among holders is as firm as ever. Both commission men and wholesale agree that all the tea here will be wanted before the receipt of any of next season's crop, and at full prices. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 14 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

With no supplies of Valencia raisins in first hands here, and wholesale grocers' stocks far from well assorted, prices are held firm all round, positively no supplies being obtainable under the prices given below, and all grades are scarce. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

The strength in California raisins is as marked as ever and wholesale houses here are experiencing some difficulty in getting their orders filled. In fact, only a few carloads have been booked lately, and it would cost at the least 6¼c. to lay down any 2-crown fruit on this market. Accordingly jobbers are not filling orders for this grade under 6½c. this week and the higher grades are correspondingly firm. We quote: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are firm and unchanged at 8 to 12c. as to grade.

The same remarks apply to Malaga stock, which range from $1.50 to $4, according to quality.

The firm feeling in currants is unchanged while demand is fair. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes are firm with a fair demand. French were received this week and sell up to 15c. We quote: French 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 5¾ to 7c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c.

New figs are steady at 9½ to 15c., and dates, 5 to 7c., as to grade.

NUTS.

There is no change in these. The only crop on the market are the shelled Valencia almonds referred to last week. We quote: New Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 20c.; filberts, 8 to 9c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 8 to 10c.; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 15c.; shelled walnuts, 20 to 22c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a fair demand for canned goods this week, and prices in all lines of vegetables are held steady. In fact, some offers of tomatoes made this week call for an advance on previous rates, and jobbers are asking higher prices for these fruit this week. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been a rather firmer feeling in Jamaica oranges, about 50c. per bbl. advance being asked. Lemons remain unchanged, while offerings of cranberries have been largely increased. Bananas are quiet and Spanish onions are held firm. We quote: Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6; lemons, $3 to $4 per box, and $7 per chest; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; cranberries $5 to $6 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 70 to 75c. per crate, and new Almeria grapes $5 to $7.50 per keg.

APPLES.

The apple market is without change locally, but demand is very dull. We quote $1 to $1.50 per bbl.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The egg market is firm and unchanged at 14 to 14½c. for candled, and 20 to 22c. for new laid.

BEANS—An advance of 10c. has been established in beans, which are now quoted at 80 to 85c.

HONEY—Rules dull and rather easy at 10c. in the comb and 8 to 8½c. for extracted.

POTATOES—The range on these is unaltered at 35 to 40c., as to grade.

DRIED APPLES—Receipts of evaporated apples have been considerable this week, and prices have declined in consequence to 4 to 4½c. per pound, while dried are unchanged at 3 to 3½c.

ONIONS — Canadian red onions sell at $1.25 per bbl., and yellows, $1.30 to $1.35 per bbl.

BALED HAY — Without change. We quote: No. 1, $10.50 to $11, and No. 2, $9 to $9.50.

DRESSED HOGS—Receipts of these are light, and prices range from $4.75 to $5 per 100 pounds.

PROVISIONS.

This market continues quiet and without any important change to note. The demand for all lines is limited and trade is of a jobbing character. We quote: Canadian pork, new, $11 to $12; Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 7 to 7½c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5¼ to 5½c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The flour market continues firm and quite a fair movement was noted on export account for the last steamers from this port. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.90 to $5.10; spring wheat, patents, $5.20 to $5.30; straight roller, $4.40 to $4.65; straight roller, bags, $2.10 to $2.25; extra bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50 to $5.

The tone of the oatmeal market is stronger and prices have advanced 20c. per barrel, owing to the small offerings. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.50 to $3.60; granulated, bbls., $3.60 to $3.70, rolled oats, bbls., $3.50 to $3.60; rolled oats, per bag, $1.75 to $1.80.

The demand for feed was fair and the market rules moderately active and steady. We quote: Bran, $9.50 to $10.50; shorts, $11 to $12; moullie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues dull. The tail end of the fall make in the province of Quebec is being cleaned up at 9 to 9¼c., and finest grades are held purely nominal.

Creamery butter is dull with a distinctly lower tendency at 18¾ to 19c., which is a decline of ½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

The price of oatmeal has advanced 20c. per bbl. this week.

The first large shipments of new nuts are expected here about the 10th of December.

The inside jobbing price for granulated sugar this week is 4⅛c., nothing under a 10-barrel lot being available for less money.

There are no more Young Hyson teas available on this market at 12c., the best price now for ordinary jobbing lots being 13c.

Some fresh samples of California prunes were received by a commission man here this week. They were of the smaller sizes, and the equivalent of 5 to 5½c. was asked for them.

Last quotations from Denia on Valencia raisins via New York were 17s. 6d. for off-stalk, 19s. 6d. for fine off-stalk, 23s. 6d. for selected, and 25s. 6d. for layers.

OUR STANDPOINT

In pushing our biscuits we admit there are already excellent brands on the market. We nevertheless have solid practical reasons for considering that are better, and this view is being convincingly confirmed by daily extensive and extending demands — the true touchstone of merit.

THE MANUFACTURER - R. E. JAMIESON, OTTAWA

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE cold weather has stimulated trade in many lines, and the week has witnessed quite an active movement. P. E. Island produce is much in evidence. On Saturday last nearly a dozen vessels arrived, and the market is well supplied. A large quantity is going into warehouse, while sales from vessels remain brisk at 28 to 30c. for potatoes and 30 to 32c. for oats.

The market is well supplied with poultry of all kinds, and prices are low, turkeys retailing at 12c. per lb., chickens and fowls at 40 to 45c. per pair, and geese from 60 to 75c. each.

Dressed hogs are coming in freely, and sell at 4½ to 5c. The price on P. E. Island is 3½ to 4½c.

Eggs are scarce, and bring all the way from 14 to 20c. per dozen.

Good creamery butter is in demand at 19 to 21c. per bbl.

Cheese is quoted at 9⅜ to 10c. for September.

The flour market is steady, but a fair volume of trade. Ogilvie's Hungarian patent is quoted at $5.75; Ontario 70 p.c. patents at $4.85; Ontario, 90 p.c. patents at $4.70; Ontario patent straight at $4.60, and extras at $4.25. A. O. Hastings, representing the Lake of the Woods Milling Co., who was here this week, reports a splendid trade in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The refinery reports a fair movement in sugars. Yellows are steady at 3¼ to 3⅜c., and jobbers are asking 4⅛c. for granulated. A decline is looked for in sympathy with New York.

The fish market remains active. Some large cargoes of dry cod have been received from St. Pierre and Cape Breton ports. Three cargoes were received this week from Gaspe coast. Hard cod is unchanged, but the tendency is upward. Salmon remain scarce. Mackerel are not in heavy demand.

Green fruit is in good supply, large consignments having been received from Boston on Sunday night's boat. Apples have stiffened somewhat in price, recent sales on this market being from $1.10 to $2.25.

Molasses is in fair demand for shore trade. Quotations are about: Fancy Demerara, 33c.; fancy Porto Rico, 33c.; choice Porto Rico, 31c. Low grades run as low as 24c.

Dried fruits are in good demand at previous quotations.

P. E. Island mess pork is quoted at $13, but this is an outside figure.

Bent, Brightly & Page is the name of a new commission firm which has opened here, having taken the extensive premises formerly occupied by Seeton & Mitchell. They handle all kinds of produce.

"Crown" brand flavoring extracts are maintaining their position with the trade. Robert Greig & Co. report largely increased sales over former seasons.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.
ST. JOHN, N.B., Nov. 26, 1896.

THE week has shown little of particular interest. Merchants are busy shipping their fall orders. The manufacturers of sausages have been having a war here, and the price has been driven down as low as 5c. per lb. Hops, which for some time past have been so very low, have taken a big jump, being now quoted one hundred per cent. higher than the lowest price at which they were bought here. Quite large stocks are held here considering demand is not heavy, one house holding a car load. Already notices of goods in large quantities for export are being received. It is a matter of the greatest disappointment that the improved accommodations will not be ready through unforeseen circumstances for this winter's business. However, we will be in a better position than last year.

OIL—There is no change in prices, though movement is large. Value of empty barrels is about 5c. lower than for some time. Movement in lubricating oil is light, but this is one of the largest weeks in burning oil as contracts are made for shipment between first of August and last of November, between which dates buyers are protected against decline. We quote: Best American, 21c.; best Canadian, 19¾c.; prime, 15¼c.

SALT—There is now a fair stock of salt to hand, and with direct Liverpool steamers coming weekly there is no danger of further shortage. Very low freights are sometimes quoted on salt, as vessels like to get it for ballast. One merchant, speaking to THE GROCER, said he had once been paid a bonus per ton by a steamer bringing a quantity to Boston. The sale of fine this season has been smaller than usual. We quote; Coarse, 48 to 50c., factory-filled, 90c. to $1: 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—The general tone is firmer. Those who bought corn at the lowest price are making a good profit, much better than usual on corn, peas and tomatoes at this season. Corned beef is firm, and sliced beef has also been advanced, but the sale at this season is almost nothing. Salmon is not held as firm as earlier, but stocks are not large; there are still one or two cars to arrive. We quote: Corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 65 to 70c.; tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT.—Raisins are held firm owing to light stocks, as well as that prices from first hands are higher. California 3-crown loose muscatel raisins would cost 1½c. more to land than when the bulk of those here were bought. Sackage cleaned currants are rather higher; demand is very large. Stock of currants not large, and dealers cannot replace except at higher figures. Prunes move slow. New dates not yet to hand. There is some enquiry for evaporated apples, while price is very low; sellers west will not shade and the feeling is rather in favor of some advance. Dried are not salable. Onions are still sold low. We quote: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; London layers, $1.60 to $2.05; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 3c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5½c.; Canadian onions, $2; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; citron peel, 16 to 17c.; orange and lemon, 12 to 13c.; Valencia layers, 6½ to 7c.; California 4-crown L.M. raisins, 7¾ to 8c.; Imperial cabinets, $2; Dehesas, $2.50 to $3.25.

GREEN FRUIT—The sale is rather better, owing to holiday demand beginning. In apples there is no improvement. Prices are very low. Owing to large quantities brought from Ontario to the northern part of our province, our shippers here have noted a much smaller demand from there than usual. Valencia oranges will be here next week. Prices will be quite firm and high. The market is still well supplied with West Indies. Cape Cod berries show a quiet demand owing to the large quantities of native berries. Grapes are high and quite firm. Bananas have no sale. We quote: Lemons, $4.50 to $5; oranges, $5 to $6; apples, $1 to $1.75 per bbl.; keg grapes, $6 to $6.50; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Butter is coming in freely and moves slow owing to quality. When good, that is extra, a good price can be procured, but the quality of poor prevents high prices. Creameries should be much more careful of the butter they send to market if they expect outside prices. Of late the grocer has heard a number of complaints and took pains to find out if they were well founded. In a number of cases the butter was far from choice. Eggs keep tending upward and show good demand. Cheese shows little change, but feeling is firm and stock light. We quote: Dairy butter, 17 to 20c.; new creamery, prints, 22c.; do., tubs, 20 to 21c. Cheese, 10 to 10½c. Eggs 18 to 19c.

SUGAR—The feeling is a rather uncertain one. While some refineries have made a slight advance, the feeling here is not more than steady. There is quite a stock now here. Sales have been quite large. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3⅛ to 3½c.; Paris lump, 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—The feeling in West India goods is rather firmer and large quantities have been moving this week. Late buyers are getting their winter stocks. In New Orleans the feeling is rather easier and qualities of samples offered rather better. A car was placed here this week. These goods continue to gain ground. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH — While demand has been quite active it is now much quieter. Prices have held very firm and in pickled fish have had upward tendency, supply appearing ample and demand easing off. There is a rather easier feeling. While the supply of the largest herring has been small, the cheaper qualities have turned out rather better than usual. Smoked continue to hold their value. Shad are also firm, stock being light. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.85 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.40 to $1.50 per half-bbl.; smoked, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Yarmouth, 4c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington herring, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; mackerel, $18 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—Sales have been quite active. Pork shows no improvement in price. Some clear pork is now being put up by our local porkmen as well as mess. One of our packers has, during the season, imported from the west quite a large number of live hogs. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—There has at last been a stop in the advance in flour by local dealers, but feeling is firm. Demand is hardly as active. In oatmeal there is another slight advance; holders have made a large profit and feeling is very firm. Oats seem rather easier, as stocks have been pretty well bought. Cornmeal is still a large sale, having a very marked effect on the sale of feed. Beans are rather easier this week; a car was reported bought within ten cents of the lowest price. Stocks of barley are light. Western grey buckwheat is being sold lower this season than usual, but still much higher than the native, which is almost all yellow. The grey is much preferred. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.75 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do., do., $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1.10; prime, $1; oats, 34c.; hay, $12 to $13; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Steamer Campania on her last trip from P. E. Island to Montreal, took 1,100 bbls. oysters, together with other freight.

Nova Scotia shippers are taking up space promptly in the direct Liverpool steamers for the shipment of large quantities of apples; also in direct steamers to London and Glasgow.

James Hamm, of Hamm's grocery, is in trouble, having suspended payment. He did a large business in oats and feed. He has made an offer of 20 per cent.

There is a case in our courts this week in which our grocers are quite interested, one large wholesale house claiming that another interfered with their rights in regard to a private brand of tea. Damage is claimed of $5,000.

Large shipments of potatoes are going forward to the West Indies, not only by regular steamer, but by sailing vessel. A schooner is taking 5,000 bushels from Moncton, and a Digby firm have engaged to ship 1,000 bushels to Havana.

Mr. John Ransford and Mr. Coleman, of the Canada Salt Association, were introduced to the trade here this week by the representative of the association here, Mr. J. Hunter White. They were much pleased with their visit. Arrangements were made which, they expect, will very much increase their trade.

The estate of H. G. Babcock, Campobello, has paid its last dividend, which made the amount received by the creditors 100 cents on the dollar. Liabilities were $840. Expenses of closing, $41. The assignee was H. Jackson, also of Campobello. The assets were not eaten up by costs and expenses, as is so often the case.

A goodly number of the merchants of Three Rivers are beginning to wake up to the promiscuous mixing up of the various lines of business, and some are asking that a tax be imposed on each line of commerce. For instance, so much on furs, so much on dry goods, on groceries, on tobacco, cigars and pipes. They hope that by this means better supplies will be on hand and less cutting in prices.

It is said that President Dillon, of the Travelers' Association, will drop out this year, having served two terms. Prospective candidates are hardly talked about yet, but there will probably be a contest. The nominations take place early next month.—Advertiser, London.

Japan has long been sending agents to different parts of European Russia to establish trade relations with Japan. Arrangements are now being made for the establishment of a direct line of steamers between Japan and the Black Sea.

Mr. Suter, commercial traveler for Christie, Brown & Co., Toronto, had a narrow escape from instant death at the Grand Trunk Railway station, Welland, a few days ago. Mr. Suter, who was alighting from the train, missed his footing and was thrown against the platform, having his head cut badly and bruising his body. He is now at the Dexter House under the doctor's care and will, no doubt, be all right in a few days.

During the first six months of this year the exports of frozen meat from New Zealand were 78,702,167 pounds, or at the rate of about 157,000,000 pounds per annum. Compared with the preceding year's (128,039,522 pounds) and with those of earlier years, this is a considerable advance. Of beef there was exported 1,817,801 pounds for the half year, which is an increase of something like 750,000 pounds on the preceding half year's output.

T. A. Rowat & Co., grocers, who have been doing business at 228 Dundas street, London, for several years, have moved to 234 Dundas street, just three doors east of their old premises. The new place has been furnished in an up-to-date manner, and will present a handsome appearance when everything in stock has its regular location. Rowat & Co. have always carried as fine a stock of groceries, teas, etc., as can be found in any store in Western Ontario, and have the credit of keeping nothing but what is of the most reliable character and quality.

FEATURES IN RAISINS.

THE imports of Malaga raisins from the beginning of the season to date are larger than in any year with one exception since California became a factor in the market, the increase in market being more than 100 per cent. compared with 1895 and four hundred per cent. greater than in 1894. The largest importation during the past decade was in the year marking its beginning, when the receipts for the season were 270,000 boxes. From that time until 1893 there was a steady decrease each year in the arrivals, as will be seen by the following table:

	Boxes		Boxes.
1887	270,000	1892	32,000
1888	96,000	1893	52,000
1889	98,000	1894	10,000
1890	55,000	1895	23,000
1891	32,000	1896	47,000

It may be interesting, as showing the effect of the introduction of California raisins upon the trade in Malagas, that for the two years preceding 1887 the imports of the latter were 551,000 and 468,000 boxes respectively. The increased receipts this year are due chiefly to the expectations of shippers in Malaga that a most favorable market would be offered in this country because of the reported failure of the California crop. As has been shown, that crop was not as short as the early reports indicated, but was small enough to allow of a larger outlet for Malagas than had been offered in several years. The quality of the Malaga raisins this year is said to be exceptionally fine as compared with that of several seasons past, which was a decided improvement, it is said, on the average quality of the stock received before buyers began to give preference to the California fruit. Prices this year are comparatively low.

The demand for California raisins, which has been very active this fall, particularly from country buyers, who have understood for some time that there were to be no general consignments of current crop, has subsided. Distributors everywhere seem to be pretty well supplied, and while orders for 50 and 100-box lots are still coming from buyers, who have found as the holiday season approaches they have underestimated their requirements, there are no calls for carloads. However, the firm tone of the market has been maintained, and as stocks have been pretty well moved out from the Coast, no decline in prices is looked for until after the holidays at least.—N.Y. Journal of Com merce.

IS NOW A WHOLESALER.

Mr. G. G. Steele, grocer, St. Thomas, has disposed of his business there and has purchased the wholesale fruit business of J. R. Shuttleworth, London. THE SLIME ON FISHES.

A FISH just taken from the water, if handled, is found to be slippery and coated with slime. All fishes, the meanest and the noblest, killifish and shark, shad, salmon and trout, wear this slime, says The New York Sun. They could not exist without it.

The slime is secreted usually in a continuous series of ducts with numerous openings, arranged in a line extending along the side of the fish. Some fishes have one line on a side, some have five or six. The lines may be plainly visible, and in some cases appear to be a marking on the fish. More often they are not observable at all. Some fishes store this secretion in pores distributed over the whole surface of the body, the larger number, however, in pores in lateral lines. There are also pores for the secretion of mucus, or slime, in the fish's head.

The slime is exuded through the divisions between the scales to the outward part of the body over which it spreads, forming a sort of outer skin or covering, transparent, and having elasticity and tenacity, and often considerable body. It would not be remarkable for a fair-sized fish, say a fish of two pounds weight, to have a coating of slime a thirty-second of an inch in thickness. Fishes vary greatly in the amount of slime which they secrete; the eel will suggest itself as one that is very slimy.

The fish's slimy coating reduces its friction when in motion and helps to increase its speed. It aids in protecting the scales from injury, being of sufficient substance to serve in some measure as a cushion. The slimy covering makes the fish hard to hold. and so enables it the more readily to escape from its enemies. It is sometimes repugnant to other fishes, which are repelled by its odor. It is the slime from the fishes handled that makes the angler "smell fishy," as the expression goes.

A most important function of the fish's slimy coating is to protect it from the attacks of fungus, a form of plant life found in all waters, salt and fresh, including the purest. The slime covers the entire exterior surface of the fish, including the fins. Fungus does not attach to the slime, but if the fish were to be injured so that there was upon it some spot uncovered by the slime, upon that spot some minute fragment of fungus, so small as to be scarcely more than visible, would be likely to lodge. Once lodged, the fungus is reproduced very fast.

Fish sometimes recover from attacks of fungus, but much more often they do not. The fungus displaces the skin, inflammation is set up, and the place attacked becomes practically a sore. With its continued growth the fungus may cover the side of the fish and extend over the gills and finally kill it.

The post-office, known as Sutherland's Corners, has been changed to Cairo.

A NOVEL ADVERTISEMENT.

A splendid monument of Pierre Cabochard, grocer, stands in a conspicuous position in the cemetery of Pere la Chaise. It bears a pathetic inscription ending:

"His inconsolable widow dedicates this monument to his memory, and continues the same business at the old place, 162 Rue Mouffetard."

A gentleman had the curiosity to call at the address given, says Tit-Bits.

"I came to see the widow Cabochard," said the caller.

"Well, sir, here she is," said the man.

"I beg pardon," said the gentleman, "but I wish to see the lady herself."

"Sir," was the answer, "I am the widow Cabochard."

"I don't exactly understand," quoth the visitor. "I allude to the relict of the late Pierre Cabochard, whose monument I saw yesterday at Pere la Chaise."

"I see, I see," was the smiling rejoinder. "Allow mé to inform you that Pierre Cabochard is a myth, and therefore never had a wife. The tomb you admired cost me a good deal of money; and, though no one was buried there, it proves a first-rate advertisement, and I have had no cause to regret the expense. What can I sell you in the way of groceries?"

GET IN YOUR RIGHT PLACE.

WHEN we try to do that for which we are unfitted we are not working along the line of our strength, but our weakness; our will-power and enthusiasm becomes demoralized; we do half work, botched work, lose confidence in ourselves, and conclude that we are dunces because we cannot accomplish what others do; the whole tone of life is demoralized and lowered because we are out of place.

How it shortens the road to success to make early a wise choice of one's occupation, to be started on the road of a proper career while young, full of hope, while the animal spirits are high, and enthusiasm is vigorous; to feel that every step we take, that every day's work we do, that every blow we strike helps to broaden, deepen and enrich life!

Those who fail are, as a rule, those who are out of their places. A man out of his place is but half a man; his very nature is perverted. He is working against his nature, rowing against the current, and it is only a question of time when he will fail. When his strength is exhausted he will float down the stream. A man cannot succeed when his whole nature is entering its perpetual protest against his occupation. To succeed, his vocation must have the consent of all his faculties; they must be in harmony with his purpose.

After once choosing your occupation, however, never look backward; stick to it with all the tenacity you can muster. Let nothing tempt you or swerve you a hair's breadth from your aim, and you will win. Do not let the thorns which appear in every vocation, or temporary despondency or disappointment, shake your purpose. You will never succeed while smarting under the drudgery of your occupation, if you are constantly haunted with the idea that you could succeed better in something else. Great tenacity of purpose is the only thing that will carry you over the hard places, which appear in every career, to ultimate triumph. This determination, or fixity of purpose, has a great moral bearing upon our success, for it leads others to feel confidence in us, and this is everything. It gives credit and moral support in a thousand ways. People always believe in a man with a fixed purpose, and will help him twice as quickly as one who is loosely or indifferently attached to his vocation and liable at any time to make a change, or to fail. Everybody knows that determined men are not likely to fail. They carry in their very pluck, grit and determination the conviction and assurance of success.

The world does not dictate what you shall do, but it does demand that you do something, and that you shall be king in your line. There is no grander sight than that of a young man or woman in the right place struggling with might and main to make the most of the stuff at command, determined that not a faculty or power shall run to waste. Not money, not position, but power is what we want; and character is greater than any occupation or profession.

"Do not, I beseech you," said Garfield, "be content to enter on any business that does not require and compel constant intellectual growth." Choose an occupation that is refining and elevating; an occupation that you will be proud of; an occupation that will give you time for self-culture and self-preservation; an occupation that will enlarge and expand your manhood and make you a better citizen, a better man.

Power and constant growth toward a higher life are the great end of human existence. Your calling should be the great school of life, the great man-developer, character-builder, that which should broaden, deepen and round out into symmetry, harmony and beauty, all the God-given faculties within you.

But, whatever you do, be greater than your calling; let your manhood overtop your position, your wealth, your occupation, your title. A man must work hard and study hard to counteract the narrowing, hardening tendency of his occupation. Said Goldsmith:

> Burke, born for the universe, narrowed his mind,
> And to party gave up what was meant for mankind.
>
> —Architects of Fate.

FLORIDA VS. JAMAICA ORANGES.

The people of Jamaica will probably have some oranges for sale hereafter. We see no reason why they should not, but without change of bulk it is impossible to get oranges from Jamaica to New York in less than six days. By express they can go from Florida in 30 hours. There is an area in South Florida that has never been hurt by a freeze that is double the extent of Jamaica, and that can produce more oranges than the people of the United States will ever consume. This section of the state is being settled, and even if in Northern Florida freeze follows freeze as year follows year, this state will have practically a monopoly of the orange crop in the markets of the United States. Florida oranges are the best, and they are nearest to the markets. The people of Jamaica ought to be able to make a little money on their oranges during the next two or three years. Then their season will be ended unless they hitch a tug to the island and tie it up to the Florida coast so as to be nearer the markets.—Florida Times-Union.

Our Cans Have no Solder . .

On the inside. The seam of the can is in the shape of two flat hooks dove-tailed together. These hooks are dove-tailed in such a way that the solder has to be placed on the outside of the can. It is absolutely impossible for the tomatoes to become lead-poisoned through contact with the solder.

It is worth something to you to be able to guarantee each can of tomatoes. Not only that, but customers who have not bought canned tomatoes before, on account of the solder scare, will be induced to try "Kent" brand.

There is no doubt about the quality of the Kent tomatoes; all those who handle them speak very highly of that. If you are not already a handler of our tomatoes, will you not try a few cases? They will be sure to please your best trade.

CHRISTMAS TRADE HINTS.

WHILE in the grocery store of Mr. Richard A. Donald on Monday last, I dropped into conversation with the proprietor in regard to the holiday trade.

"Fruits this year are very nice, except Valencia raisins," remarked Mr. Donald, in reply to a query, "which seem to be getting poorer every year." Then Mr. Donald became reminiscent. "There used to be," he said, "but one grade of Valencia raisins. They were off-stalk, and were good fruit. Now they have got into four grades; and it really seems that the whole output is poorer each year. There is more style but less quatity. Currants, on the other hand, are a great deal better than they used to be, being greater in variety and more satisfactory in style."

Just then our conversation was interrupted by an outbreak of hostilities between the two store cats, in which feline cuss-words as well as hair flew about fast and furious. When one of the animals sought refuge on the apex of a pyramid of boxes, Mr. Donald turned to me with the remark: "O. it's just one said he liked yesterday's sermon and the other said he didn't."

"Prunes," continued Mr. Donald, "are coming along in a variety of styles and sizes which were unknown to us a few years ago. The old-time hogshead of prunes seldom makes its appearance now. Prunes which came in hogsheads were of all sizes. Here you would come across a whopper, while cuddled along-side of it would be a little, insignificant thing. Now, prunes are assorted into six or eight different sizes. Valencia layer raisins are also all now in the retailers' hands, and they are probably the finest ever imported. Nuts, too, are very fine this year. I never saw better Grenoble walnuts; and filberts and almonds are fully up to the standard. Novelties for the grocers continue to multiply. The number added this year is marked."

"Have you any suggestions to make regarding the Christmas trade?" I ventured.

"Well, I will tell you this: I think the storekeeper should make a decided effort to induce his customers to buy in stated packages. For instance, foreign dried fruits should be put up in quarter-dollar packages. On these a little advantage to the customer over the price per pound should be given. These packages could be put up during the spare moments of the merchant and his clerks. The same method may also be adopted in regard to table fruit. These should be put up in layers in a box. In this way the goods will not only be in more attractive shape, but the tendency will be to increase their consumption."

"What about window displays?

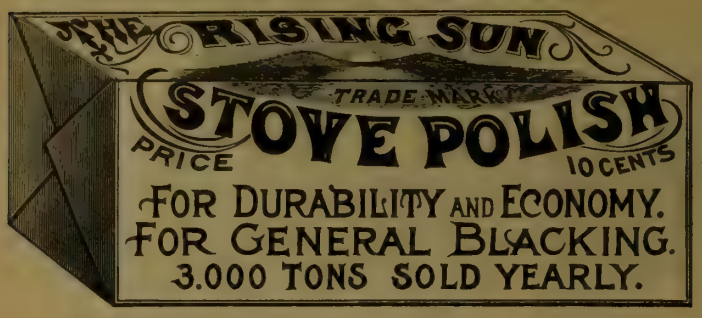
"I am greatly in favor of attractive window displays. I would say, never put more than two articles in one window; and every effort should be made to put the goods in such a way and in such quantities as will ensure marked attention from passers-by. If possible, only one line should be displayed in the window. As to cards, I would say only place one in the window. And happy is the man who has sufficient artistic instinct to write his own cards or tickets, for by doing them himself he can make them doubly attractive. The price, I would say, should always be put upon the display in the window."

"What are your views regarding advertising?"

"A judicious amount of advertising is a good thing," rejoined Mr. Donald, as he hurried away to attend the customers who were lining up outside one of the counters.

BICYCLES FOR CLERKS.

C. B. Knox, Johnstown, N.Y., manufacturer of fancy groceries suitable for the holiday trade, is making a great effort to introduce them in Canada. He has arranged a scheme that looks popular by which every clerk in a retail store may secure without money and without extra work a Columbia bicycle. In the most of these premium plans the clerk in the big store in the big town has the advantage, but in this case Mr. Knox says the young man in the store at the country cross road has as good a chance. Any reader interested can get full particulars by writing Mr. Knox or his Canadian agent, A. E. Richards, Hamilton.



SUPPORT HOME INDUSTRIES.

Editor GROCER:

When Canadian manufactured goods are equal in price and quality to the imported, the home manufacturers should receive the preference over foreign manufacturers. The home manufacturer pays out a large amonnt of money to his employes every month, who in turn spend their money among the various people in their respective communities, where all get the benefit of their labors and the enterprise of the manufacturer, whereas the foreign manufacturer pays out large sums of money to his employes, who spend their money among their own respective communities, which is no benefit at all to our people or our country. Now, it is in the interest of the storekeeper and consumer to encourage our own manufacturers and assist them to help build up their industries. Do not feel jealous and want to hurt your own neighbors because you think they are making a little money; because, if they succeed you are sure to get some of the benefits that they reap, and it is in the interest of us all to help one another and to strive to build up our own country instead of trying to belittle it by assisting foreign manufacturers, who care nothing more than to get our money. Our country cannot prosper unless we are loyal to one another. The writer, when traveling through the United States, found the people there very loyal to one another. They would not buy or look at anything when there was anything of like quality among their own manufactures. Every dollar's worth of goods expended on home manufactures is just so much paid towards helping to build up our own fair Dominion.

Yours, etc., E. A. D.

GROCERS AT BLACK LEAD WORKS.

THE New England Grocer gives an interesting account of a visit paid by the Boston Grocers' Association to Congressman Morse and the Rising Sun Black Lead Works, Canton, Mass. It is written in a happy, humorous style, and only lack of space prevents us republishing it in full. They were received by the genial Massachusetts Congressman, Hon. E. A. Morse, who conducted them over the works, inspecting building after building, and department after department. First they saw the great 200-horse-power steam engine, with its ponderous piston and mighty flywheel, and then the boiler rooms with the battery of great steam boilers. Then they repaired to the storehouse, where tons of stove polish awaited shipment abroad. Here Congressman Morse mounted a pile of cases of polish and made a pleasant speech to the visiting grocers. He said :

I feel greatly honored by the presence of so many Boston merchants at my establishment. Anson Burlingame once said on the floor of the National House of Representatives, in defending Massachusetts, "I throw down her glove to the whole band of her assailants." I will make a similar statement about the merchants of New England and Boston ; I have done business with them for forty years, and as honorable, successful and enterprising merchants and business men I throw down their glove to the world. (Applause.)

It may interest these merchants to know something of the beginnings of this business. It had very humble beginnings. The father of Morse Brothers was a clergyman ; his wordly possessions were very small. He wanted his sons to be clergymen, but they had an ambition to have a few more stamps than the old gentleman seeemed to have, and didn't seem to take to the ministry, which meant to shake the table cloth and make soup out of the crumbs. (Laughter.) I was only 15 years old when myself and my brother Abner began the manufacture of stove polish from a receipt given us by the learned and celebrated Dr. Jackson, a chemist of Boston. The first product was made in a little hand mold and dried on a stove, and was peddled from house to house in a carpet bag. My first horse cost $10, and he couldn't trot down hill. (Laughter.) My first factory was a building 12 x 15 feet. I worked half the night many nights, and slept in a little attic overhead the balance of the night. That factory has grown into the establishment which you, gentlemen, see here to-day, which contains 4,000,000 bricks, consumes from 5 to 7 tons of coal per day ; covers, as you see, four acres of ground, and is the largest establishment of its kind in the world. The products of this establishment, the Rising Sun stove polish and the Sun Paste stove polish, are sold in every civilized country on the face of the earth. The factory is capable of turning out 10 tons of stove polish per day of 10 hours. We are over five carloads behind our orders at this time, and are running nights to meet the tremendous demand for the Rising Sun and Sun Paste stove polish.

Gentlemen, we have some croakers in our country who go up and down the country seeking to array class against class, the poor against the rich, the manufacturer against his workmen ; the man who does that, no matter what his purpose, is an enemy of his country and his kind. (Applause.) These sentiments have recently got a tremendous black eye in this country. (Applause.) In England they have classes; the House of Lords represents the classes, and the House of Commons the masses. We have no such division in this country. The man who eats his dinner out of a pail to-day may be a manufacturer or a business man to-morrow. The success of this great business from its small beginnings, which you see, demonstrates as no words of mine can that in this favored land of ours "There is no royal road to learning, and honor and shame from no condition rise," that in this favored land of ours temperance, industry, perseverance and ability carry in their hand the sure prestige of victory and success. (Long continued applause.)

Gentlemen, I congratulate you upon the business prospect which is ahead. We are to have sound money to do business with, we are to have protection to American manufactures and American labor from disastrous foreign competition, and I predict, gentlemen, that the country will here and now enter upon a career of success, development, national glory and business prosperity unprecedented in our history as a nation among the nations of the earth. (Cheers and applause.)

The Congressman stated that the basis of their product was Ceylon plumbago ; he said this commodity was known by various names besides plumbago, graphite, carbonate of iron and black lead. It was undoubtedly of volcanic origin and was found purer in Ceylon than any other country. They had for many years imported about 3,000 tons of plumbago from that far-off island. It formerly came around the Cape of Good Hope, but since its construction it came through the Suez Canal and Mediterranean Sea. Morse Brothers expend about $100,000 a year in advertising their product, and the man who advertises can sell better and cheaper goods than the man who does not, owing to the enormously increased sale of the same. The employes of this establishment have never seen any hard times, there has been no reduction of the pay of the employes and the factory has run without being idle a day during the last four years, except a short vacation yearly in August. Congressman Morse also escorted the company to Memorial Hall, a building used for town purposes, built in honor of the Canton soldiers who fell during the war of the rebellion. It is proper to say here that the land on which the hall was built, the bronze soldier in front of the hall and the memorial tablets in the hall, costing $3,600, were presented to the town of Canton by Congressman Morse.

At the close of his remarks Mr. Morse was given three hearty cheers, after which the inspection of the works was continued. The packing room was seen, where the cases are prepared for shipment ; next the department where the plumbago or black lead is pulverized ; then the room where scores of girls were engaged in wrapping, with deft fingers and a paste brush, the cakes of polish. Next came the department where the Sun Paste is put into boxes ; then another engine room with 100-horse power engine ; and so on through all the many departments, occupying the score of substantial brick buildings.

Before returning the guests were entertained at an acceptable collation, which was very much enjoyed.

The volume of business from the Western States over the G.T.R. via Sarnia Tunnel, Toronto and Montreal, to the Atlantic sea board, has more than doubled under the present management.

USE OF CARBONIC ACID.

THE following is an abstract of a report furnished by a United States consul upon the condition of the carbonic acid industry in Germany. The industrial uses may be summed up under three heads —(1) for aerating mineral waters, beer, wines and other effervescent beverages ; (2) for making various carbonates and other products (as salicylic acid) in chemical manufactures ; (3) for the manufacture of artificial ice and the cooling of refrigerators and cold-storage chambers. Complete statistics of the consumption during the last two years are not available, but in 1891 the output from twenty-three firms exceeded six-and-a-half million pounds of liquid carbonic acid ; in the following year over two million pounds were exported, and the output is steadily increasing. Carbonic acid, produced artificially, unless the source is magnesite, is usually impure, while that occurring naturally in springs is of great purity, so that for most purposes the latter source is preferable. These springs exist abundantly in the lower Rhine-region, but it is only of late years that their value has been fully realised. Where the gas is in sufficient quantity the spring is securely closed in, and the surplus gas is collected and condensed to liquid form, or passed direct into natural mineral waters which are deficient in effervescing quality. When the supply from natural springs became insufficient for the growing industry, recourse was had to artificial borings. The first artesian well for this purpose was sunk at Burgbrohl, near Coblenz, in 1883, and was only five-and-a-half inches in diameter. At a depth of 171 feet a stream was reached which, for a period of eight years, yielded 108 gallons of water and 375 gallons of dry carbonic acid gas per minute, no less than 1,394,800 lbs. of liquid carbonic acid being obtained during this period. This yield was somewhat diminished when a second boring was made which tapped the same source.

Quite recently a remarkable well has been opened at Herste, in the northeast of Westphalia. Boring was begun in a spot where the gas had been observed to escape from the ground, and at a depth of 25 feet the escape of gas became so great that the workmen were in danger of suffocation. This outflow was diverted and the boring continued. At 438 feet there was an explosion, dust and pebbles being blown out to a height of 70 feet, accompanied by a stream of gas so powerful that its roar could be heard at a considerable distance. Water was reached when the boring had been continued another 47 feet, and rushed out as fine spray to a height of nearly 100 feet.

The present market price of liquid carbonic acid obtained from natural sources is 11 cents per kilo., equal to 5 cents per American pound. This, with the maximum discount given to the largest buyers (i.e., those who purchase over five tons of liquid per year) is reduced to about 7 cents per kilo.

Carbonic acid gas is of great value for raising beer from cellars. Sufficient gas is introduced into the casks to maintain a pressure of two atmospheres, and the gas itself not only cools the beer by its expansion, but improves its quality by adding to the sparkling and effervescent characters. For fortifying natural mineral waters which are poor in gas, the natural gas is employed without previous condensation. For the preparation of artificial drinking water from distilled water, this natural gas has one drawback, namely, the presence of a small quantity of air. The effect of this is to cause the gas to escape too readily when the bottles are opened. For this reason, the principal makers of such waters in Frankfort employ carbonic acid gas made by acting on magnesite with pure sulphuric acid.

HOW TO GET A PROFIT.

Subjoined is an extract from a speech of Mr. Herman Rohrs, president of the N.Y. Retail Grocers' Union, delivered at a meeting of the Central Association of the Retail Grocers of New York. His subject was : "How to Retain a Legitimate Profit upon the Sale of Groceries, and What is a Legitimate Profit." He said :

To explain how to retain a legitimate profit on the sales of groceries at a time when almost everyone is trying to bring about the reverse is beyond my power to do to-night. I will, however, endeavor to explain some of the causes through which we have lost some of our legitimate profits, to which we are justly entitled. The business men of New York may be divided into three classes : First, the speculative class ; second, the fake and scheming class ; and third, the class who do business on a legitimate percentage basis. The first class will tell us that they live by manipulation, with the assistance of the laws of nature ; the second class, by deceiving the public into the belief that they sell below cost ; and the third say : "We try to exist on a fair compensation for the labor performed."

The first class depends upon the law of supply and demand ; the second, upon the weakness of mankind ; the third, upon hard work and a thorough knowledge of the goods which they handle.

Now, to which class do the retail grocers belong ? To be frank, some of us belong to all three classes, but the majority, I am glad to say, belong to the third. No one will deny that the retail grocer is a hard-working man.

What, then, is a legitimate profit ? I would say that it is a fair compensation for labor performed and a fair and legitimate profit upon his sales. I use the word legitimate as it is commonly understood by men who observe business principles and not exorbitant profits on the one hand or the selling of goods at cost or below cost for the sake of meeting deception and fake competition on the other.

If we are striving to retain legitimate profit there must be some reasons for the danger of losing them. We have either been robbed of such profits, or by our own acts have given them away. My claim is that we are suffering from both causes. The first class of business men just referred to, by their manipulations of the raw product and the manufactured goods, often rob us by so advancing prices that in many instaces the grocer is left without profit. The second class, by their deceptive advertisements, rob us more than the first. It is not infrequent that the necessities of life are used as a bait to attract customers for the purpose of selling other lines of goods on which profits are more extensive than the retail grocer ever dreamed of. The retail grocer himself has often been too anxious to follow in the footsteps of such cutters, in spite of the fact that the latter will make a special sale of such goods for only one day and then only in limited quantities. The retail grocer also gives such goods too prominent a display.

Now, as to how the retail grocer can retain a legitimate profit : He should not handle the goods on which cuts are made more than is necessary. As far as the wholesale grocer is concerned, I think he should not aid those who use his goods as a football in order to attract trade. The retail grocer should not boycott, however, but should make special efforts to push the sale of other goods of those who are friendly to his interests.

WINDOW DRESSING HINTS.

By J. N. Merrett, Carberry, Man.

HAVING read different articles in your journal on the art of window dressing and received benefit therefrom, I thought it might not be amiss should I try for the first time to contribute some on the same line.

Two of the hardest ups and downs in life are to keep up appearances and to keep down expense; this applies to window dressing as well as numberless other things.

Never crowd your window. Do not give it the appearance that you have all your stock in the window and may have some in the store. The majority of window dressers make this mistake. The more you crowd your window the worse it becomes. No doubt there are exceptions, but they are few and far between. By not crowding the window you keep down expenses and keep up appearances.

It is an easy matter for you to know when your shelves or tables or counters are overloaded. You should also know when your window is overcrowded. Don't, whatever you do, overload or overstock your window. There is no call for it whatever.

A good method to follow is to have a centre-piece. By that I don't mean a statuette or anything like it, but something you want to bring before the public more prominently than anything else. Supposing you had some particular article you wished to display, how would you go about it? Perhaps you would know much better were it not to go in the window. What you should aim to do is to so dress the window that the centre-piece will be kept well in the public eye. Take, for instance, a lamp window. There are plenty of standing lamps that have iron rods running through the bottom part. Suppose you place a small table in centre of window. Run a rod or anything else that will hold the lamp on the very edge of the table in such a manner that it would fall off but for the concealed fastening. Then have a card to read something like this: "A great crash about to take place in prices on lamps."

Now, a nicely cleaned window and a centre-piece like I have just spoken of, with a pretty card, would in itself attract attention; but a few more lamps nicely displayed here and there to fill up space is all you need to draw the public attention if properly done, and there would be nothing in the window worth speaking of.

The more difficult the manner in which you place goods in the window and conceal to the public all trace of how it is done, the more success you will have and the more you will attract the attention of the public.

Specimen Christmas Window, with Design.

The last window I dressed was of gentlemen's neckties. I first covered the back of window completely with black cloth; any kind will do if plain, and the cheaper the better. Next I secured two long iron rods and bent them into the shape of two fans. These I covered with four-in-hand neckties and hung them on either side of window, about three feet apart. Between these was a card, which, in good, large letters, read: "Cursed be the social ties that sin against the strength of youth. Cursed be the social ties that wrap us from the living truth." Below this large card were white shirts with stand-up collars and ties fastened on them. Next, on the remaining uncovered space on the background, I placed here and there white bow ties. That completed the back of the window. I next covered the bottom of window with about three inches of sawdust, upon which I placed about six railroad ties. On the latter I laid two steel rails, each twelve feet long. Of course the longer the window the longer the rails. Upon the wood ties I here and there placed some "brownies." They were about six inches in length. In the centre of the window, and sitting on the wood ties, was a good-sized girl doll, nicely dressed, while a good-sized sign read: "A young lady's contemplations on the ties of life." At the end of the window was a large wood frame with a card with diagram showing how to tie the new Paris tie, and all around this card, fastened to a wooden frame were colored shirts with this new tie fastened to each one. I also put a piece of pink tissue in the neck of each shirt. At the other end of the window was a large card on an easel standing on the wooden ties. On this easel was a free-hand sketch of a series of pictures of a Chinaman riding a bicycle, with his long pigtail hanging down his back. In the first sketch he exclaims: "Belly good!" In the second sketch the long pig-tail comes in contact with the cogs of the hind wheel, pulling the rider backwards, as he cries: "Whoop! No likee." In the third sketch the pigtail is winding around and around the hind wheel, drawing him head over heels backwards, breaking off his pigtail, causing a general collapse, as the Chinaman yells: "Hully gee! Hurtee muchee; too muchee fasta. bleeda some."

If you offend the cook, ten chances to one she will "cook" your prospects for doing business with her mistress.

WINDOW DRESSING.

DISPLAYS SUITED TO THE SEASON.

THIS is a time when a well arranged display of dried fruit may be made an attractive feature of the store. In illustration No. 1 an idea is given of how it may be done. To prepare it a large box must be placed as a foundation on each side of the window. On top of each put a column, which together support an arch. The framework should be entirely covered with green cloth. Dried fruit like apples, peaches and apricots, as also cranberries, may be strung on fine wire so as to entwine the columns. Fill in the border round the arch with dried apples, making the name out of prunes. The pyramids on the floor are covered with dried fruit, and between these you can place boxes of raisins, figs, citron, currants, etc., etc. The entire arch may be covered with dried currants by glueing them on.

No. 1—Display of Dried Fruit.

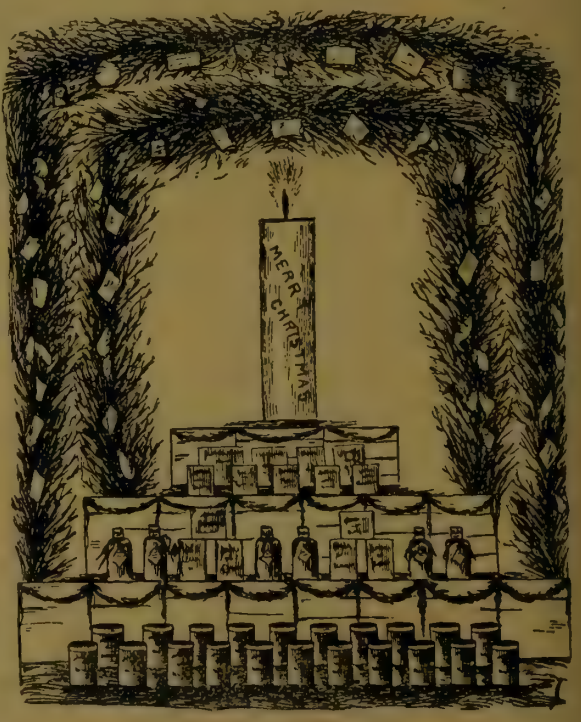
A CHRISTMAS WINDOW.

One can hardly imagine a live store without some kind of window trim for Christmas trade. The illustration herewith indicates how trade in specialties may be pushed, and the whole businesss of the store benefitted. If you have a gas jet in the window better remove it for this trim. Cover the ceiling with cloth and the sides with pine trees, decorating the branches with white cotton batting (to imitate snow), tinsel, cranberries (strung on wires or strings), bottled goods, etc. Let a carpenter make an immense candle and paint it white, and on the side "A Merry Christmas." The floor may be filled in with boxes built up to represent steps, which are covered with white manilla paper. In front of each step arrange rope evergreens, as shown in the illustration. Build up the steps with the choice goods you think will sell. Around the necks of bottles tie bows of white ribbon with streamers.



PRESERVING MEAT BY ELECTRICITY.

From The Electrical Review.

There are some people who imagine that electricity is a sort of universal panacea, by means of which all the common difficulties of life will be over-ridden, and who consider that whenever any stress of circumstances occurs they have only to call in the aid of electricity and they will find that every difficulty vanishes. We sympathize with such people, inasmuch as we know that they are on the wrong tack. The functions of electricity are limited, just as much as are the functions of any other natural force with which we are acquainted. Among the people to whom we may extend our sympathies is one, A. B. Pinto, of Rio de Janeiro, who has essayed to preserve meat by means of electricity. The following is an account of his process: The meat to be preserved is immersed in a 30 per cent. solution of common salt, and a continuous current of electricity is passed through the solution. In from ten to twenty hours the salting is complete, and the meat is taken out and hung up to dry. In working a bath of 3,000 litres of brine in which 1,000 kilos of meat may be immersed, the current may be of 100 amperes, with an E.M.F. of eight volts. The electrodes must be of platinum, since if other metals, such as zinc and iron, were used salts of these metals would be formed, and would be injurious. We sincerely wish Mr. Pinto every success in exploiting his new process for preserving meat. We maintain perfectly open minds as to the success of his venture, but if he can succeed in persuading the world at large that by means of his process he can arrest the progress of putrefaction in a substance like meat we wish him well, and if he really does succeed he will have the satisfaction of knowing that he has succeeded in extending in a new direction the application of electricity.

FRENCH PRUNES ADVANCE THREE CENTS.

THERE has been an advance of from 10 to 12s. in the larger sizes of French plums at primary markets. This is equivalent to a jump of from 2½ to 3c. per pound on all sizes from 95's up to 36's, and leading importers state that a rise of this character is practically prohibitive of further importations in these sizes. The advance in freights and the fact that the crop of French plums has not turned out as well as at first anticipated are the reasons given for this sharp jump. Owing to this development and the influence it will have, the supply of the larger sizes of French goods will be extremely light this season. The nearest approach in size to 36's that are spoken of are 45's to 50's, and the supply is light, while even from 95's up to 50's the importations have not been as heavy as last year. Last season also there were heavy consignments of the medium and smaller sizes of California prunes. This fall there have been none and none are expected owing to the situation on the Coast. The scarcity of large prunes, therefore, will be felt owing to a variety of reasons which affect the different sources of supply. Austrian stocks also, within the last week, are acting in sympathy with French cables to Montreal agents on Tuesday asking an advance of 2s. per cwt. or ½c. per lb. On the whole, the situation in prunes during the coming season promises to be as strong as in either Valencia or California raisins.

A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE.

THERE was a time when the sugar industry of the British West India Islands was a thriving one; but that time has long since passed.

The retrogression began with the removal of the preferential conditions which the sugar from these islands enjoyed in the English market up to 1846, the year free trade went into operation. And the injury which the inauguration of this policy on the part of the Motherland wrought to the West India Islands has been accentuated by the bounties with which the sugar industries of Germany, France and Austria have been fed.

Time and again the sugar producers in the West Indies have appealed to the Home Government to do something for them, and since the advent of the Salisbury regime a deputation has crossed the Atlantic to make their wants and wishes known to the Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Although in the past nothing has been done by the Motherland to relieve their necessities, they now have the satisfaction of knowing that by their importunity they have so far stirred up the Colonial Office as to induce it, in the words of a recent cable, to "definitely decide to send a commission to the British West Indies to examine into the critical position of the sugar industry."

The commission, it is said, will be composed of men of such position and authority as will command the confidence of the colonists and of those at home.

The outcome of this new departure on the part of the British Government will be watched with interest.

DEVELOPING OUR EXPORTS.

THE Montreal Board of Trade, at a meeting held on Wednesday of last week, considered a draft of suggestions reported by its special committee who were appointed to consider the best means of extending Canadian trade in foreign markets. The committee were: John McKerrow, chairman; Chas. Chaput, Jas. Crathern, David McFarlane, W. M. McNally, Henry Miles and Wm. Nivin.

The queries to which the Minister of Trade and Commerce asked answers were:

1. Whether you have to report any material alterations within the past year in the quantities and values of the principal articles now exported from your section of the Dominion to other countries.

2. Whether in your opinion the traffic in any of these articles could readily be increased, and if so, in which classes and to what countries.

3. Whether there are any other articles which you consider might be exported to advantage, and if so, which and to what markets.

The committee sent out this circular to a number of members, obtained many replies, and submitted the following suggestions as a result of their investigations:

1. The deepening of our canals to a uniform depth of 14 feet.

2. The broadening and deepening of the channel between Montreal and Quebec to enable steamers of the largest and most modern type to come up to Montreal with safety.

3. The improvement of the railway service to the wharves, thus lessening the cost of handling between railways and steamers.

4. A complete and comprehensive system of refrigeration on land and sea, which we believe will vastly increase the exports of all kinds of produce, such as butter, cheese, apples and other kinds of fruits, eggs, meats, etc.

5. Our merchants feel the necessity of greater knowledge of the wants and requirements of other countries, and believe if this could be furnished exports would follow in many quarters not now touched by our people, and we suggest that consular reports be obtained, such as the British and United States Governments now obtain from their consuls.

6. To enable our manufacturers to export their products, a rebate equal to 90 per cent. of the duties paid be refunded on all such exports.

7. The fact is indisputable, that to manufacture goods at the lowest cost they must be made in large quantities, our manufacturing industries therefore while competing for the trade of this country would undoubtedly be strengthened if outlets could be found outside of Canada, thus enabling them to increase their output, and give employment to a large number of our people. Italy seems to afford an outlet for dried fish, lumber, etc., while with improved facilities to the West Indies, South America, etc., a large field would be opened up for many of our manufactured products, such as boots, shoes, paints, varnish, lumber; also many agricultural products.

The whole respectfully submitted,

JOHN MCKERGOW, Chairman.

NEW OUTLET FOR TRADE.

THE Canadian Government has been notified through the Colonial Office of a modification in the Guatemalan tariff.

Next year that country is to hold an exhibition, and the Government has decided to admit free from February 1 to June 30 certain commodities and manufactured goods.

Among the goods which are to receive favorable treatment are canned, salted, dried and smoked fish; all classes of cereals, pickles, confectionery, condensed milk, biscuits, salted or smoked meats, dried fruits, bacon, butter, brushes, brooms, matches, kitchen ranges, and other manufactnres of iron.

At present Canada practically does nothing with Guatemala. Our Trade and Navigation Returns do not even mention the word, while our sum total of exports to the Central American States, of which Guatemala is one, last year only amounted to $64,211 worth. Of this $383 were products of the mine, $15 agricultural products, and $63,813 manufactured articles.

Of the amount of manufactured goods exported by Canada to the Central American States $39,300 were in agricultural implements, $13,452 in whisky and one ship valued at $7,000. Our imports from that part of the world last year appear to have been nil.

In some of the lines enumerated as being subject to free entry into Guatemala, Canada should be able to do something. At any rate, we do not know what we can do until we try. And our merchants and manufacturers should assuredly try. Our agricultural implements and whiskies have evidently obtained an introduction; and if these, why not other lines?

ADVANCE IN FILBERTS.

Owing to strong advices from abroad and the advance to the holidays, a brisk sorting demand for filbert nuts has been a feature of the week. Last week they were offering in Montreal at 8c., but to-day none are obtainable under 9c., an advance of 1c. per pound. The fact has also been developed in the East, at any rate, that stocks, both in jobbers' and retailers' hands are light. As no new stock can be laid down in Montreal before the 15th December, jobbers who have stocks on hand are accepting orders very cautiously.

WHOLESALERS AND PRICE-CUTTING.

THE speech made in Toronto at the banquet of the Dominion Grocers' Guild by Mr. Irwin, assistant secretary of the Montreal Board of Trade, was eloquent and logical, but of all the sensible things he said, nothing was more so than when he urged the wholesale grocers of Canada to embrace ways and means of ceasing the senseless practice of cutting prices, even should three or four merchants persist in continuing the evil.

No merchant, whether he be wholesaler or retailer, should be condoned in the practice of cutting prices. It is conceived in selfishness and nurtured by methods the very antithisis of business-like.

For several months we have witnessed the spectacle, in every wholesale centre in Canada, of wholesalers cutting the price of staples to a more than usually alarming extent in order that the sale might not go the way of a competitor. This has been particularly true of such lines as canned vegetables and sugar. Instances are not wanting where on sugar as much as 75c. per barrel was being lost, while a loss of 10c. per barrel was common.

There is nothing, probably, that acts so much as a demoralizer of business as the persistent selling of goods at a price which does not afford a legitimate margin of profit. And THE CANADIAN GROCER will always hail with pleasure any and every legitimate movement which tends to diminish or discontinue the practice.

Knowing that it was impossible for any firm to sell at 20c. and make money, two firms in Montreal secured samples from different jobbers of the goods which were quoted at such low figures. They were submitted to different analysts. The result explained the low prices. They were found to contain only about 60 to 70 per cent. of pure cream of tartar, the remainder being starch and a small percentage of salts. At the same time an analysis was made of what the regular houses were selling as pure cream of tartar, and the article was found to contain 98 per cent. of cream of tartar and 2 per cent. of salts.

We are not aware of who the guilty manufacturers are. It rests with their competitors to bring the matter to the attention of the authorities or deal with them as they see fit. It is our duty to warn the trade that certain firms are selling that which they call pure cream of tartar, which—with the accent on the pure—contains 30 per cent. of adulteration. In this way they undersell, by a small amount, reputable manufacturers, get the trade and make enormous profits. From what THE GROCER can gather, many of the jobbing houses and hundreds of retailers have been loaded up with this adulterated mixture. We do not say that all goods sold at the cut price are adulterated to this extent. Some of them certainly are. The only way to decide is to analyze an average sample of their stock.

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

THE Tariff Commission resumed its hearings, at Hamilton, on Tuesday of this week, the Ministers present including Messrs. Fielding, Cartwright, Mowat and Paterson.

The fruit growers, represented by Messrs. E. D. Smith, Winona, and D. J. McKinnon, Grimsby, said the fruit duties generally were satisfactory. In regard to plums and pears, they asked that the ad valorem duties of 25 and 20 per cent. respectively be changed to a specific duty of one cent a pound; that a duty of ½c. a pound be put on bananas, and 2c. a pound on dried peaches.

Mr. Edward Morris, representing Morris, Stone & Wellington, of the Fonthill nurseries, asked that the present duties on fruit trees should be maintained.

Mr. R. C. Brown, representing Brown Bros., of Rochester, N.Y., and Ridgeville, Ont., asked that the 20 per cent. duty on small stock—grape vines, raspberries, blackberries, etc.—be raised.

Messrs. Sanford and Calder discussed the question of ready-made clothing. Senator Sanford asked for the maintenance of the present duty.

THE SOAP INDUSTRY.

On behalf of soap manufacturers Mr. W. H. Judd, of W. H. Judd & Co., said that when he first went into the business yellow soap was sold at $4.20 a box, whereas now an article of equal merit was sold at $1.50 a box. At $1.50 manufacturers lost money, while at $4.20 they made a profit. This reduction in price had been produced largely by the tremendous domestic competition that had sprung up. The factories of Canada were making four or five times the amount of the consumption. The result of the competition was favorable to the Canadian public. They were supplied at the least possible price, and any lowering of the price meant extinction of the industry. The prices, he said, were lower in Canada than in the United States. He said that if the duty were lowered and the American manufacturers were to make a slaughter market of Canada it would drive half of the Canadian makers out of business.

Mr. J. I. McLaren, of the Hamilton Coffee and Spice Co, suggested that a specific duty of not less than 2c. a pound be imposed on ground spice in addition to whatever ad valorem the Government might decide to put on unground goods, instead of an extra ad valorem duty as at present.

A deputation of the journeymen brushmakers, with Mr. John Black as spokesman, protested against foreign competition.

WHOLESALE GROCERS' GUILD.

The deputation of the Hamilton Wholesale Grocers' Guild consisted of Messrs. Alex. Turner, of James Turner & Co.; H. N. Kittson, of W. H. Gillard & Co.; St. Clair Balfour, of Balfour & Co.; T. H. Macpherson, M.P., of Macpherson, Glassco & Co.; G. E. Bristol, of Lucas, Steele & Bristol, and A. F. Wood, M.P., of Wood, Vallance & Co. Mr. Bristol presented the case, alluding first to the rice duty, rice being an article largely consumed in Canada. There were, he said, only two cleaning mills in Canada, one in Montreal and another in Vancouver, controlled by the same people. Grocers could get rice in England laid down in Hamilton for 11s. 9d. per hundredweight, which was equal to 2.56c. per pound. Taking the duty on uncleaned rice, which was 30c. a hundred, that would make the figure 2.86c. a pound. A similar rice in Montreal would cost 4.50c. a pound, which made a difference in favor of the English price, allowing for the duty, of 68 per cent. While the mill men were of the opinion that they were entitled to a certain protection, the grocers thought this was too much. The present duty is 1 1-4c. a pound on cleaned rice and on uncleaned rice of 3-10ths of a cent.

Mr. Turner said that this firm had imported some "B" rice, for which the Montreal price was 2⅞c. a pound, at a figure below that amount. Little of this cheaper grade of rice was imported because of the high duty.

Mr. Bristol mentioned the case of syrups next. He said that since the present duty had been imposed on syrups the wholesale grocers had not been able to supply their customers. There was only one refinery in Canada making syrups—the Acadia—and it had been offering only bright syrup until lately. Latterly it had turned out a dark syrup. On a common syrup, selling in New York for 10c. a wine gallon, the duty would be equal to 90 per cent. On another grade of syrup, worth in New York 16c. a wine gallon, or 19.20c. an imperial gallon, the duty would be 9.90c. Not only had the refiners enjoyed this high protection but the grocers had not been able to get the syrup from them. It was only lately that they had been able to get any dark syrup in Canada. The high duty had done the refiner no good and it had been an injury to the consumers. Because of high prices and the absence of syrup from the market many farmers were boiling down sugar and making their own syrup. The grocers thought the protection on syrup was excessive. They asked that the duty be reduced, that they might have access to other markets. Then Mr. Bristol spoke of the molasses duty. At present, he said, it was largely one of test. A grocer now had to send samples of molasses to Ottawa to have it tested. The duty was 1¾c. a gallon when testing by polariscope 40 degrees or over, and for every degree less than that 1c. a gallon in addition. On behalf of the grocers he urged that the test, which occasioned trouble and expense, be done away with, and that a uniform duty be imposed. The next article mentioned was sugar. Mr. Bristol said that the grocers were of the opinion that the protection given to the refiners was too great. Their granulated sugar was always good and plentiful, but their other sugars were sometimes the reverse. He claimed that the grocers had not been able to get from the refiners the sugars that were desired by the trade. Yellow sugar was at this time in demand in many households and there was only one refinery making it. Ten days ago merchants could not even get that sugar. Considering that there were four hundred million pounds of sugar imported into the country in 1895, they were of the opinion that the protection of 64-100 of a cent should be reduced in the interest of the people. The refiners had not only a monopoly of manufacturing, but of speculating in sugar as well. They had control of the whole market, and the grocers had to take what they gave them, whether they felt like it or not. Mr. Bristol suggested that the duty on show cards which foreign manufacturers used to send into Canada be reduced.

Mr. Balfour informed the Ministers that at present there is a specific duty on raisins and currants, and an ad valorem duty on dates and figs. He asked that a specific instead of an ad valorem duty be imposed on dates and figs and like articles of food. He pointed out that where there were two or three concerns in the Dominion making a line of goods the result was that one or two brands were turned out which the grocers had to handle at no profit at all. They wanted to be able to buy where they chose. They desired to carry on business as merchants, and not merely as agents.

Mr. Bristol stated that at a meeting of the wholesale grocers of the Dominion, held in Toronto some days ago, a resolution was passed declaring that the protective duty on sugar was too high, and appealing to the Government to reduce it. The meeting was unanimous, with the exception of four gentlemen from Montreal, who were opposed to it.

MR. BALLANTYNE'S VIEWS.

Mr. Adam Ballantyne, retail grocer, appeared before the commission as a representative of the consumer. He said that Canadian coal oil in barrels was delivered at 15 cents a gallon. There was a rebate on the barrel of 60 cents. He asked that the duty be reduced from six cents a gallon to three cents, and that the inspection fee of ten cents a barrel be set aside. If that were done American oil would be laid down in Hamilton at fourteen cents a gallon. It now costs twenty cents a gallon in Hamilton in barrels, duty included. In Buffalo American oil costs, wholesale, six cents a gallon and retailed from eight to ten cents. Canadian oil retails in Hamilton at sixteen cents a gallon and American at twenty-two cents. He produced evidence to show that the manufacturers and a few wholesalers had cornered the market in gem jars, with the result that last fall the price for pints was 90c. a dozen here and 46c. in the United States; quarts, $1 here and 48c. in the United States; gallons, $1.25 here and 65c. in the United States. He thought that 15 per cent. would he ample protection on fruit jars. He asked that the duties be reduced on these articles: Wax candles, 4c. a pound to 2c.; axle-grease, from 25 per cent.; rice, from three-tenths of a cent on the raw material and 1¼c.; biscuits, from 25 and 27½ per cent.; sugar, molasses and syrups. He said that one of the strongest combines in the country existed among the biscuit manufacturers. Mr. Ballantyne expressed the opinion that there was no article in the grocery line that would bear a revenue better than tea. Anything from 5 to 10c. a pound would give about a million dollars in revenue.

FRAUDS ON GROCERS.

WE have an Inland Revenue Department in Canada which professes to prosecute people for selling adulterated food and for neglect to obey Departmental orders and rulings. This Department in the past has done several most extraordinary things. Their trouble with the retail grocers in Toronto a few years ago on the tobacco question is an example. The officials of the Department acted in such a childish and senseless manner that when they brought their case into court they were laughed at. The same senselessness is displayed in the way in which they have been enforcing the law against adulteration. Lately they have neglected their duties altogether. In consequence manufacturers have been taking advantage of their laxness. Increasing quantities of adulterated goods are being put on the market every day.

Manufacturers in Montreal and other places have, during the last few months, lost a considerable amount of trade. All through the district east of Toronto they have had difficulty in placing goods with jobbing houses. Everywhere they have been met with lower quotations than they could possibly ever accept. For a time they thought that some other firms had been able to buy the raw material at a specially low rate. In the article of cream of tartar, however, they came to the conclusion that something must be wrong. The selling price of pure cream of tartar has been about 25 to 28 cents in jobbing lots. One Montreal house, having purchased a round lot at a very close figure, used it as a leader to direct attention to other goods, and quoted the remarkably low price of 23c. In the face of this other firms sold at 20c., delivered, less 3 per cent. This was extraordinary. It was utterly impossible to lay down the crystals at less than 19½c. To this must be added the cost of manufacture, and, say, one cent for the box, which would bring the actual cost close to 23c.

FRENCH SUGAR BOUNTIES.

THE French Government has issued its bill for the alteration of the sugar duties and bounties so as to meet the German and Austrian competition. The proposal is (1) to put on a protective duty, to prevent the import of foreign sugar, of 4s. per cwt.; (2) to raise the duty for home consumption 1s. per cwt.; (3) to allow a direct bounty of 1s. per cwt. on all French refined sugars and raw sugars of not less than 98° of strength, and of 8½d. on sugars between 65° and 98°, with proportionate allowances to French colonial sugars; (4) to allow a special drawback to beet sugar shipped by French coasting vessels to outport refiners at Nantes, Marseilles, etc. The result of these changes will be (1) to give British refiners considerably larger cheap supplies of cheap Egyptian and Java sugars; (2) to further cripple the absurdly small French consumption, and, instead of giving the production a further natural opening at home, (3) to force off more sugar on this already glutted market, with a corresponding depreciation in prices here. The change is proposed for the 1st December, after which buyers may expect cheap supplies of No. 3 crystals, which have evidently been kept back for this occasion. As the crystals must be sold, buyers will no doubt reduce their offers 1s. per cwt., or perhaps more, to allow for the congestion of supplies. The French bounty will now be about 4s. per cwt., and the new grant is noticeably in favor of refined sugars, which may thus be confidently looked for cheaply. The French Government is evidently not satisfied with its own sugar being between twice and three times as dear in Paris as it is in London. Even if it were four times dearer than here, it is difficult to see what the change can reasonably be expected to lead to, in the way of curing the ills of the French producer: which are over-production, caused by the forcible absence of home demand, coupled with the equally forcible exportation, to the over-supplied English market, of what is sadly wanted at home.—Produce Markets' Review, London.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

TRADE does not exhibit any particularly striking features compared with that of a week ago. Dulness is the characteristic of the sugar market, although the refineries refuse to shade prices. Canned vegetables are in fairly good demand for this time of year. The same may be said of salmon. Syrups are in moderate request and the demand is steady. Spices are selling fairly well, and the tendency of prices is still upward. There is the usual seasonable, active demand for foreign dried fruits and raisins. Peas are receiving fair attention and the firmness in price still obtains.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for canned vegetables is fair for the season. The demand for salmon is active for this time of the year, the reason being that people did not stock up the early part of the season as they usually do. Canned fruits are practically receiving no attention. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.75 to $2.85; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

There is not a great deal doing. Fine grades of green coffee are still scarce. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 16c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

Syrups are in moderate demand. Bright table syrups are the kinds most wanted. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The demand is steady. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The demand for sugar appears to have improved a little during the last few days. but still merchants, both wholesale and retail, are only buying from hand to mouth, and business cannot be termed anything other than dull. In New York the refiners are said to be willing to take all the raws they can get at 3¼c., but very few are obtainable at that figure, and buyers and sellers are indifferent. In Canada prices remain as before. Yellows are still scarce, although not so much so as they were a week ago. We quote: Granulated, $4 to $4.10, and yellows, $3.20 to $3.75.

SPICES.

The demand for spices is fair, and is mostly for pepper, which is firm at the recent advance. There is a fair demand for cloves. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Rice is quiet. There is a fair demand for tapioca, prices of which are stiffening. Advices received this week state that prices are again up about 6d., and that they are likely to appreciate still further. We quote: Standard "B," 3½ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

The demand is good and prices unchanged. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Sicily

TEAS.

Young Hysons have been coming to hand a little more freely and there has been a good business in consequence. Prices are still high. Holders are indifferent about selling except they obtain equal to the full advance in China. Japans are quiet, although some lots have gone to the United States from the local market at better prices than could have been obtained here. There is practically nothing doing in China black teas. Indian and Ceylon teas are fairly active on the local market and low and medium grades of good cup quality have sold freely. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

The market appears to be a little stronger. Some business offered by local wholesalers at last week's prices have been "turned down" in the primary market, and 6d. more was named as the lowest price acceptable. The retail demand is active. We quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

A cablegram from Arguimbau & Co. to their agents here instructs them to the effect that they have no more selected raisins to ship. The local demand continues good. We quote: Off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

California loose muscatel raisins continue strong. Last mail advices are to the effect that raisins are being offered sparingly and all offers at last week's prices are declined. We still quote 7½ to 8½c. for 3 and 4-crown respectively.

A few California "Ruby" prunes were offered last week for the first time, and they were readily taken by buyers.

Malaga raisins are in moderate request. We quote: London layers, $1.60 to $1.85; black baskets, $2.20 to $2.65; blue baskets, $2.25 to $2.50; choice clusters, $2.25 to $2.75; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

Figs are in active demand. Wholesale quotations are: 14 oz., 9 to 10c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7¼c. in boxes.

Dates are only in light supply, and those coming forward are meeting with an active demand. We quote 6¼ to 6½c. for Sairs and 7¼ to 7½c. for Hallowees.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are not in good supply and the demand is good. The first carloads of Valencia oranges are due here as we go to press. They will sell at $5.50 to $6 per case. Further shipments are arriving this week. Lemons are in good demand, but there is rather an easier feeling as regards prices. Bananas are in good demand. Cranberries are in fair request. The quantity of Almeria grapes on the market this season is not large and the demand is good. Stocks of onions are in small compass. A few pineapples are still coming forward. Shipments of apples on export account are going out all the time, but locally the demand is poor. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, $3.75 to $4 per box; Valencias, $5.50 to $6 per case. Lemons—Mesinas, $5 to $5.50 per box for fancy, and $4 to $5 for choice per box; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2 to $2.25 per bbl.; apples, $1.10 to $1.40 for good repacked Greenings, Baldwins, Spies and Russets; onions, 75c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; cranberries, $7 to $7.50 per bbl. for Jerseys; $6 for Nova Scotias; $5.50 to $6 for Canadian; quinces, 20 to 30c. per basket, and $2.75 to $5.50 per barrel; pineapples, 12 to 30c. each; bananas, $1.40 to $1.75 per bunch.; Almeria grapes, $6 to $7 per keg.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—Deliveries are probably not as heavy as they were, but the demand is poor. Fresh winter creamery is now coming on the market pretty freely. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c.; 1-lb., blocks, 18 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—There is the usual local demand to be noted, but the export trade is dull. Factory men are willing to accept lower prices, but buyers are holding off. We quote 10¾ to 11c. as the jobbing price.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—Dull and easier, at 75 to 85c. for prime.

DRIED APPLES—A little is being done in an export way, but locally trade is quiet. Choice are quoted at 2½c. per lb. f.o.b.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Dull and weaker, in sympathy with the American market.

EGGS—The demand is a little better than it was. Receipts of new laid are scarce, being scarcely enough for requirements. We quote: New laid, 18 to 20c.; cold storage and held fresh, 15 to 16c.; pickled, 14 to 14½c.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Strained, 7 to 8c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8 to 9c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

MAPLE SYRUP—The demand continues fair at 80 to 85c. per gallon.

POTATOES—Quiet and steadier in price. We quote: 33 to 35c. per bag in carload lots on track, and 40 to 45c. out of store delivered.

POULTRY—The market was badly glutted at the end of last week, but the cooler weather this week has induced a better feeling. We quote: Chickens, 20 to 40c. per pair.; turkeys are 6 to 7c. per lb.; geese, 4½ to 5c. per lb., and ducks, 40 to 55c. per pair.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

There is a fair trade doing in provisions, and especially in long clear and barrel pork, but smoked meats are quieter. Quantities of dressed hogs offering are large, and prices are about the same as last week, namely, $4.75 for light weights, and $4 to $4.25 for heavier weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 11c.; small hams, 11 to 11½c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

SALT

Trade is not as brisk as it was on packers' account. Otherwise business is fair. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are increasing. We quote: White wheat, 88 to 89c.; red, 87 to 88c.; goose, 65 to 67c.; oats, 22 to 23c.; peas, 44 to 45c.

FLOUR—Quiet, sales being light. The millers are asking $4.25 for straight rollers, middle freights west, but it is said sales are betng made at less figures.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The demand continues fairly good. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.60 in bags and $3.70 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.60 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50. Further advances are looked for in rolled wheat.

PETROLEUM.

The demand continues active; prices unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Tapioca has advanced 6d. per lb.

"Sphinx" prunes are due in New York this week.

Valencia oranges are arriving on the market this week.

"Sphinx" prunes for this market are on the ss. Pocahontas, due this week in New York.

Cream of tartar, which has been declining lately, is equal to 2c. higher in the primary market.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, DEC. 3, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE week has witnessed a fair degree of activity in seasonable lines of groceries, and as supplies of the goods most wanted at this season of the year are light, values are strong, with a higher tendency. This is especially the case in dried fruits and nuts of all kinds, which point higher, as many jobbers express the fear that they will not have enough to go round, while fresh supplies are exceedingly difficult to obtain. Valencia and California raisins are striking examples in this respect; also filberts, which have advanced 1c. per pound. Cables on French prunes are higher, and the same is to report on Austrian. As no consignments of California are looked for this season, holders, in view of the condition of affairs, are disposed to ask higher prices. Sugar, tea and the heavier staples are also firm as to value.

SUGAR.

The sugar market has been quieter but firm during the past week, and less new business has been transacted, though a good deal of stock is still going forward on orders booked some time ago. Granulated is held steady in jobbing hands at the prices noted last week, viz., 4 1-16 to 4⅛c., and yellows continue scarce at 3¼ to 3¾c., as to grade, the demand running to the brighter descriptions.

SYRUPS.

The syrup market exhibits no change of moment, orders being for small lots, while prices hold steady at 22 to 35c. per gal. as to grade.

MOLASSES.

The molasses market has shown a better feeling this week, as it has been suddenly discovered that the stocks are not quite as excessive as many estimated them to be, so that values have a steadier tendency. We quote: Barbadoes and Porto Rico, 30 to 31c. in a jobbing way.

RICE.

The firm tendency noted all along in rice continues, and prices are pointing higher. Sales of imported Patna have been made at $4.50 to $5, and ditto Seeta at $4.75 to $5.25. We quote values firm accordingly: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

Demand for spices is good in a local sorting-up way. In fact, the volume of trade on this account is in excess of last season, and the firm tendency of values tends to induce enquiry. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 15 to 22c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market was quiet and unchanged this week. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 16½ to 19c.; Java, 23 to 26c., and Mocha, 23 to 25c.

TEAS.

The strength in the tea market noted for some time is as marked as ever. Indeed it is more marked, from the fact that outside demand for green tea has been experienced, and samples have been sent to Chicago and New York by request. The supply of these, in fact all descriptions, is light, so that a few good export orders would sensibly curtail them. No low-grade teas are now available on this market under 11½ to 14c., and sellers are very firm at these prices. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 14 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The strength in Valencia raisins continues firm with the holiday demand opening out, with indications of increased volume this year. Wholesale grocers whose stocks are light are husbanding them very carefully. As a result prices all round are firm and it is not at all improbable that higher prices will be asked, as stocks in retailers' hands are admitted to be lighter than last year. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

The same strength characterizes California fruit. Indeed it is more marked in their case, owing, as noted last week, to the difficulty experienced by wholesale grocers in having their orders for supplies filled. In fact, one or two orders were refused this week because the agents could not guarantee delivery in the time specified. Prices are very firmly held as a result of this condition of affairs. We quote: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

There is no change in Sultanas, but the firmness in California fruit is naturally benefitting them. We quote 8 to 12c.

The demand for Malaga table raisins is also good and they are held steady at $1.50 to $4.

Currants are firm and unchanged. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

The prune market is stronger, for the cable quotes advances in both French and Austrian, and the fact that no consignments of California stock are expected this fall stiffens sellers' views materially. Advices, in fact, give practically prohibitory advances on the larger sizes of French plums, as noted specially elsewhere, and Austrian are up 2s. per cwt. Spot prices are not quotably changed, but are firmly held. We quote as follows: French 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 5¾ to 7c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

Figs continue steady at 9½ to 11c., and dates at 5 to 7c. as to grade.

NUTS.

A feature this week in nuts has been the demand for old filberts on spot, prices advancing 1c. per pound. No new stock will be available until the 15th December, and in the meantime retailers are actively enquiring for the nuts. First supplies of new Tarragona almonds came to hand this week, and have been selling at 9½ to 10c., which is considered pretty cheap. We quote: New Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 20c.; new Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 10c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 8 to 10c.; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 15c.; shelled walnuts, 20 to 22c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

There have been no further changes in canned goods this week, but the firm feeling in tomatoes is fully maintained. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $8.25 to $9 per case.

FISH.

No radical change is to be noted in the fish market. Pickled fish generally are steady, green cod being firmly held at $5.25 for No. 1 large, and $4.50 to $4.75 for No. 1, and $3 50 for No. 2. No. 1 green haddock sold at $3.50 to $3.75. Liberal offerings of pickled herrings have contributed to an easier feeling, and No. 1 N.S., have sold at $2.40 to $2.50 for half bbls. Small Labrador salmon are selling at $17.50 per tce. and $12 to $12.50 per bbl. The market is overstocked with dried cod fish and prices are easy at $4.

GREEN FRUIT.

There has been little change in green fruit during the week. Lemons rule steady, and Jamaica oranges are steady at $5.50 to $6, while the first new Florida oranges have been selling here this week at $5 to $5.50 per box. Cranberries are in increasing demand, and the first receipts of pineapples came to hand Tuesday. We quote: Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6 per bbl.; lemons, $3 to $4 per box, and $7 per chest; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; cranberries $5 to $6 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 70 to 75c. per crate, and new Almeria grapes $5 to $7.50 per keg.

APPLES.

The apple market continues quiet at $1 to $1.50, as to quality.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Receipts of western held fresh eggs have been heavy this week. This has checked the demand for limed, but no quotable change to report. New laid sell at 20 to 22c.; limed, 14 to 14½c., and held western, fresh, 12 to 12½c.

BEANS — There is no change in beans, which range from 80 to 85c.

HONEY—Without feature, at 8 to 8½c.

POTATOES — Continue quiet and unchanged at 35 to 40c.

DRIED APPLES—There is a fair demand for dried at 3 to 3½c., and evaporated at 4 to 4½c.

ONIONS — Red onions sell at $1.25 and yellows, $1.30 to $1.35.

BALED HAY — Continues steady at $10.50 to $11 for No. 1, and $9 to $9.50 for No. 2.

DRESSED HOGS—Receipts are not heavy, but prices are 10c. easier at $4.65 to $4.85.

PROVISIONS.

The demand for pork and lard continues very slow and trade in these lines is dull, while in smoked meats the movement is fair and prices show no material change. We quote: Canadian pork, new, $11 to $12; Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 7 to 7½c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5¼ to 5½c.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

The local demand for flour is fair, with quite an extensive movement of Manitoba grades, some 8,000 bbls. or so having been contracted for future export shipment. Despite the demand, however, and the strength of the wheat market, salesmen for Ontario mills have shaded prices on both winter patents and straight rollers 10 to 15c. during the week. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.75 to $5; spring wheat, patents, $5.20 to $5.30; straight roller, $4.25 to $4.50; straight roller, bags, $2.10 to $2.25; extra bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50 to $5.

A fair trade was done in oatmeal, but it is reported that prices are being shaded some. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.65 to $3.75; granulated, bbls., $3.70 to $3.80, rolled oats, bbls., $3.65 to $3.75; rolled oats, per bag, $1.82 to $1.87.

In feed the demand was principally for bran, and a number of cars of Manitoba were placed at $10.40 per ton, including sacks. We quote: Bran, $9.50 to $10.50; shorts, $11 to $12; moullie, $15 to $16.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The cheese market is without feature and no improvement is looked for now until the turn of the year. Practically, all the low grade fall tail ends are cleared up at 9 to 9½c., and now finest fall makes are nominal at 10 to 10¼c.

Butter continues dull and holders are urging sales at a decline of ½ to ¾c. per lb. from what they asked a week ago at 18¼ to 18½c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

First receipts of new Messina lemons are expected here before the end of the present week.

Cables on Austrian prunes note an advance of 2s. per cwt., which is equivalent to ½c. per pound.

New Florida oranges were offered for the first time in Montreal on Tuesday. They sold at $5 to $5.50 per box.

The larger sizes of French prunes have advanced so sharply at primary markets that the figures are prohibitive of future importations to Canada.

Tarragona almonds are the second new crop nuts to arrive on this market. A shipment of them was distributed among the wholesale grocers here this week.

The supplies of old filberts are almost exhausted on this market, and sellers are asking an advance of 1c. per pound. No new crop can arrive here before the 15th December.

Samples of Pingsuey teas have been sent from here to Chicago and New York. It is estimated that a few good export orders would clean up all of this kind of tea there is here.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.
ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 3, 1896.

BUSINESS in wholesale lines is more quiet, and will be for some time to come. Merchants are, however, well pleased with the holiday business. It has been large and has shown a good profit. Money is, however, scarce, and payments incline to be slow. The first of the year may see more trouble. We have had more failures in the past two months than for a long time before. In markets there is little change. Oatmeal and oats are rather lower; in other lines the market is well sustained. The first of the winter port steamers are here, one from Liverpool, one from London and onefrom Glasgow; also the regular West India steamer is here. All with good cargoes out and in, particularly the former. The weather during the week has been very open. Cream of tartar has been bought lower during the week. Spices, as a rule, tend higher, the demand at this season being active.

OIL—The heavy season in shipping is over. Quite large shipments have been made this week, being chiefly the last ends of contract lots of burning oil. Merchants are well satisfied with the season's business. Prices show no change. We quote: American burning oil, 20 to 21c.; best Canadian, 19 to 19½c.; prime, 17c.; no charge for barrels.

SALT—Trade during the week has been brisk. Two cargoes are to hand, some eight thousand bags, about one thousand of which were fine. There is quite a difference in the quality of the fine salt being received here, that is, the English salt. There has been a good demand for some time, but stocks have been light. From this out, during the winter, the market will be supplied by the direct weekly steamer from Liverpool. Freight is higher this way than by sailer. The demand for cheese salt is now over for this year. English bottle salt, which at one time was very largely sold here, now has but small demand, Canadian salt being principally used for table use. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz; Canadian fine, $1.

lighter. The feeling in vegetables, particularly tomatoes, is firm. In salmon, some Cohoes were offered here this week. While price was much lower than the regular grades the quality is not suited to this market; price will, however, always catch some, and a few were sold. A car of the regular quality, one of the best for the season, to hand this week. Fruits, except peaches, have small sale. Lobsters the same, owing to high prices. We quote as follows: Corn, 70 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 75c.; tomatoes, 70 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

GREEN FRUIT—The soft weather is good for this line, and dealers have been hurrying out their orders. Apples still arrive in quantities, but sale is quiet, even at the very low prices. Many are being stored, which will keep prices low even after the schooners stop bringing them. So far, over seven thousand have been sold at auction this season. As a rule only the poorer quality of apples and such as will not keep are sold in this way. Oranges are of but fair quality, some Valencias were received this week, Messina lemons also to hand and very nice. Malaga grapes, though little change has been made here, are higher. Pineapples from Florida have been received, but the sale is limited. Bananas also very light demand. Cranberries sell slowly; Cape Cods give splendid satisfaction; there are, however, different qualities. We quote: Lemons, $7 to $7.50; Messina lemons, $4.50 to $5; oranges, Valencia, $5 to $6; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; keg grapes, $6.50; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5; pineapples, $1.50 to $1.75 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Sale is large, and the growing demand for nuts is one more sign that Christmas is near. Raisins are held firm. Stock of loose muscatels is limited and held by a few; not being able to replace at anything like cost, sales are not pushed. There is a fair stock of Valencias and Valencia layers, but some even of the layers very poor for best quality; full prices are asked. Malagas are in proportion to other grades low, and quality good. Currants find large sale; dealers find it hard to keep up to the demand for cleaned goods. Some California prunes are to hand, but sale is not active; in fact, all kinds of prunes are slow. Peels show no change in price; there is a large sale, with stocks about equal to demand. Evaporated apples have better movement, but show no improvement in price. Holders of dried cannot move them. Quite a quantity of cocoanuts were landed from the last West India steamer. We quote: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2.25; currants, cases, 4½ to 5c.; bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 3 to 4c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5½c.; Canadian onions, $1.90 to $2; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron peel, 16 to 17c.; orange and lemon, 12 to 13c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7½c.; 4-crown L. M. raisins, 7¾ to 8c.

SUGAR—Sales not so large this week, country trade having been well supplied. Receipts have been quite large. In granulated a fine-grained sugar is preferred here, and wisely. Price shows no change, but on the whole the feeling favors higher prices. Powdered and Paris lump are more active, particularly the former. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅜c.; Paris lump, 5½ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—Another car of New Orleans received this week. This molasses now has a regular sale here and while the flavor is different from the West India molasses it gives good satisfaction. Some Porto Rico came in from Yarmouth this week. In West India goods the demand has been rather better lately; prices still low. Quite a large stock is held in Fredericton. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

DAIRY PRODUCE—Receipts in eggs have been rather larger and the demand hardly as good, retailers having bought quite largely. Though price is no lower it is hardly as firm as last week. Butter dull and quality inclined to be poor; it is that which affects the market largely. Stocks are also large. Cheese firm, but tend lower here than at other points. We quote: Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; new creamery, prints, 20 to 22c.; do., tubs, 20c. Cheese, 10 to 10½c. Eggs, 17 to 18c.

FISH—There is less movement, but prices show no change, except that bay and Grand Manan are rather easier. Quite a large quantity of pickled herring arriving here have not passed the inspection. This, however, is not necessary, and they often find buyers; if not here, they are taken to outside ports. Pickled fish are inclined to be unsatisfactory goods to handle. Dry are firm. In pickled shad stock is light. There is still no large pickled herring. Some Shelburne are quoted this week. Kippers and bloaters are still in good demand. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.55 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—There continues to be a fairly active movement, but the bulk of the trade is over. Beef is firmer and tends upward. There is a better demand for smoked meat, but sale is still small. The city retail business is done by local concerns who get extra price. There is no doubt these goods are better than the imported. The city lard trade is largely done the same way, but not to such an extent. Pork is still low. We quote: Clear pork, $13.75 to $14.50; mess, $13 to $14; plate beef, $12.00 to $14.00; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 8 to 8½c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—Flour is about as reported last week; prices are well maintained; feeling rather favors a further upward movement. In feed the sale is light. Millers are not offering freely, but no doubt lots could be got if there was a demand. Oatmeal is offered lower, but stocks here are such that no takers are found. Oats are quite a little lower and move more freely. Ontarios are the favorites. While a car of beans was sold here rather below late prices, there is no change in the quotation, and on the whole feeling is firm. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.75 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.70 to $3.75; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $15 to $16; bran, do do, $14 to $15; hand-picked beans, $1.10; prime, $1; oats, 32 to

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Business men will be glad to know the Prince Rupert is again on the Bay route. She makes four trips a week, returning the same day, Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Smelt fishing, which is such a source of profit, particularly in the northern part of the province, has commenced. The season is early this year. Quite a quantity have been received here, but owing to the soft weather there is little demand. Later the bulk caught will go west.

The following is a sample of the kind of cargoes that are shipped from P. E. Island to the West Indies: Schr. Huntly cleared from Summerside to Demerara with 2,460 sacks oats, 500 fowls, 130 crates and 40 bags potatoes, 54 sheep, 24 pigs, 18 horses, 3 cattle, 5 cases lobsters and 3 boxes cheese.

Mr. James McGaffigan, the well-known tea merchant here, is suing the Pulman Car Co. for $20,000 damages, the result of a cold caught while travelling in one of their cars. The result will be a matter of much interest to all who travel, particularly commercial travelers, who have to spend so much of their time on the railways.

Keen's mustard, which was sold here quite largely some years ago, but which for some time has been about out of this market owing to not being pushed, is again being taken up by the trade. Such retail houses as W. A. Porter, Puddington & Merritt and Armstrong Bros. are handling it. J. Hunter White is the local representative.

Our candy manufacturers report business very active. They are working overtime, and even then are unable to keep up with their orders. Some wholesale grocers carry samples and have the goods packed by the manufacturer. This is a great help to the grocer, as he does not have to keep a large stock of penny goods, many of which he would have to carry over. He also has the advantage of having the goods packed for him.

Some months ago the Windsor Salt Co. offered for competition among P. E. Island cheese makers a gold medal for the best cheese, in which Windsor salt was used, shown at the Charlottetown Provincial Exhibition in October. THE GROCER was shown the medal a few days ago by Messrs. Smith & Tilton, the company's agents, who had just received it for presentation. The fortunate winner was James Bristow, of Emerald, P.E.I., who may well be proud of so handsome a trophy of his skill. The medal is a beautiful one, of exceedingly tasteful design, and reflects credit on the enterprise and business push of the Windsor Salt Co.

MUSTARDS.

This country is now growing a larger part of the mustard put up in England as well as this country, and California is raising the larger part of it. The mustard crop recently harvested in California probably will run up to 16,000,000 pounds, or 1,000,000 pounds more than the crop of 1895. The seed is kept six months before being ground. The brown seed has the greatest pungency, while the yellow produces the most oil. The English mustard packers have made the yellow most fashionable, and, as a result, there are ten pounds of yellow produced for every pound of the brown. Probably one-half of the English mustard that is used in this country grew in England. French mustard is the same as other mustard, the seed being soaked in vinegar, properly spiced, for twenty-four hours before it is ground —Chicago Grocer.

The Main Question

Is quality. Especially is this true of canned goods. To induce your customers to use canned tomatoes they must be of highest quality. If you are in a position to say, "I know these are good and will please you," your sales will increase in this line. If you handle "Kent" tomatoes you may assure your customers that every can is good. Every can is filled exactly the same—filled with ripe tomatoes carefully selected.

and all other Christmas fruits. The large sales have somewhat depleted stocks, but still they have sufficient for all their friends and at the lowest prices.

Twenty-three millions of packages of stove polish in a single year is a a large record, but such is the yearly output of the Rising Sun stove polish factory. The Sun Paste polish has already become an important part of the business at this factory, and Morse Bros. use the same trade-mark on the Sun Paste, which has become as familiar to the trade and housekeepers as the mark on the Rising Sun stove polish.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE Acadia Sugar Refinery has not had a very profitable year. The report of the directors, just issued, shows a loss of $24,790.07. This is attributed to the decline in the value of sugars during the last half of the financial year and the close competition in the home market. A balance at the credit of profit and loss of $51,822.45 was brought down from last year, two dividends amounting to $95,386.62 were paid during the year, and the sum of $68,354.24 at the debit of profit and loss is carried forward. The directors say that during the first part of the financial year the business warranted them in declaring an interim dividend of 4 per cent., but the losses were made during the last six months. The efficiency of the refineries has been maintained and new plant added.

The local flour markets are somewhat irregular. Independent of the city, millers' agents report a good market. City merchants are well stocked, to a greater extent, perhaps, than when prices were low. Quotations are: Ogilvie's Hungarian patent, $5.75; Goldie's "People's," $5; "Kent," "Sunbeam" and "Beaver," 75 p. c. patents, $4.90; 90 p. c. patents, $4 75; straight goods, $4.65. Manitoba patents are worth $5.70 by the carload. This is an advance of $1.40 over this time last year.

There has been one arrival of molasses since last week H. R. Silver having received 310 puncheons, 28 tcs. and 47 bbls. from Porto Rico. Stocks on hand are large, so much so that one house sent two schooner loads to Boston last week looking for a market. A prominent dealer told THE GROCER to-day that a grade of molasses which he sold at 37½c. in the spring could not bring more than 30c. to-day, Porto Rico is being offered at 27c. for good. The movement of the past week, however, has been encouraging to dealers.

The sugar market is quiet, jobbers complaining of the small demand. Refinery prices are unchanged. Granulated is quoted at 4c., extra circle C at 3⅞c., and circle C at 3¼c.

Chicago mess pork has declined in this market to $13.25, duty paid. P. E. Island new mess sells at $13 in 5-barrel lots, and old at $12. Those prices will hold for the single barrel. Canadian plate beef is quoted at $12 to $13. Home cured pork, which is as good as imported, sells at from $9 to $12. Dressed pork has been very low during the past week, selling as low as 3c. Hams are worth 10 to 12½c., and bacon, 10 to 13c. Generally, the provision trade is dull. This is attributable in a measure to the wet weather, and in general to the offering at auction of cheap stocks which take the place of first-class goods. Canadian dressed beef is again on the market, and from now till spring native stocks will not be in demand. Park, Blackwell & Co.'s agent was here last week taking orders, and J. A. Leaman & Co. have already received four carloads. Dressed beef is worth 6 to 8c. per lb. by the body; mutton, 5 to 7c., and lamb, 7 to 8c.

The market was glutted with poultry for Thanksgiving and prices ruled low. On Thanksgiving morning turkeys were being peddled from door to door and sold at 10½c. The price has since gone down to 10c. and less. Most of the stocks were received from Stewiacke and Newport and were very good. Geese were also low, selling at 40 to 60c. each. Ducks sold at 7 to 8c. per lb. and chickens 6 to 9c.

Some small consignments of dried fruits have been received from California. Muscatels, 2 and 3-crown, are being sold at 7½ to 8c. respectively. London layers are worth $2; black baskets, $2.50; bunch Dehesas, $3.75; figs, 12c.; French prunes, 6½c.

The Thanksgiving trade in green fruits was not brisk and only a fair trade is being done. Apples are showing some life and slaughter prices on the market have ceased. Canadian red grapes (Rogers') in baskets are bringing from 40 to 45c. Almerias are quoted at $6 to $6.25 per keg.

New almonds are selling at 12½c. Butter nuts and Brazils are worth 12c.

The local butter market is dull, and prices are easier. New dairy rolls are selling at 16c.; best creamery, in tubs, at 20c., and prints, at 21c. P.E.I. creameries are asking 20½c. f.o.b. The Island article is always in demand, and local dealers say they can always sell it in preference to Nova Scotia.

The cheese market shows no change. Sales are being made on a basis of 11c. cash.

Eggs came in quite freely during the past few days and quotations came down somewhat. P. E. Island stocks are quoted at 17c. and native at 18c.

Island produce is much in evidence. There is quite a large fleet of vessels in port, and the demand is small. Potatoes are selling at 28c., and oats at 30 to 32c. Turnips range from 15 to 20c.

The amount of fish stuffs now being shipped is quite large, in fact larger than dealers would like to see, as it eventually means overstocked foreign markets and consequent loss to shippers. The demand is good ex vessel for hard cured cod and large, soft grocery cod. Mackerel continue weak and hard to place. Salmon are very scarce. Alewives are firm and advancing.

The Secretary of Agriculture for Nova Scotia sums up the year's harvest in the following words: "It may be said generally that this is a most fruitful year, and the result of the harvest is of a most satisfactory character, if we except the potato crop, caused by the excessive rains of the latter part of the season."

BEING UP-TO-DATE.

ONE lesson the departmental stores teach merchants generally is the value of system, enterprise and knowledge of attracting trade. There is no hidden mystery about the success of a large store.

By practising the latest methods and by employing the best men who have the best ideas, large stores make a reputation.

The same policy, on a smaller scale, is open to any merchant. No matter how contracted the field is, the results, in proportion, are the same.

One must be up-to-date in knowing what is going on in the trade. The trade paper exists for that purpose. One must be striving to win and hold the confidence of his customers by straight-forward methods and good salesmanship. One's stock must be well displayed. If it's a question of prices, buy and sell for cash and your local customers cannot be drawn away to the cities.

The local merchant has a right to the local trade. He is there as a convenience to the neighborhood, and it is a downright shame if he does not get his fair share of its custom.

But he should deserve the local trade by that care and attention to every detail that have been put in force by his departmental competitors. There are city stores whose customers would no more think of leaving them than of climbing the nearest telegraph pole and jumping off. All the wild advertisements about slaughter prices don't move them. If they were offered tea for nothing, or cheese for the trouble of carrying it away (and a chromo thrown in), they wouldn't be affected. They would stick to their own dealer; because he has taught them to have confidence in his methods. He advises them honestly. His profit is not extortionate. His advice is relied on.

The average consumer is very ignorant (though it isn't well to tell him so), and an intelligent merchant gets to have great influence with these people. He knows their tastes and prejudices, and will not, in order to make a sale, tell them something which isn't so.

In most cases, the merchant's fate is in his own hands. Assuming that he is qualified to conduct a business, we have no doubt he is equal to all the emergencies of modern competition. If he is wearing his grandfather's hat, and carrying his great-grandfather's ideas under it, we fear his chances are not good.

"Reference has already been made in The Miner to the opening up of two or three good showings on the St. Paul by the graders on the Columbia & Red Mountain railroad. In some places where the railroad cuts through the base of the hill on which the St. Paul is situated, very strong iron stain was observed and it was evident there were one or two mineral bodies close at hand.

Mr. Moynahan, in charge of the development on the St. Paul, put some men to work several days ago on these showings along the railroad grade. Excavations were made at three places within a distance of 500 feet. The one furthest down the grade was commenced Thursday morning, and immediately a body of almost solid ore fully two feet wide was exposed.

It was a sight to rejoice the heart of any good miner. There was a clear division of the ore from the country rock on either side, the vein widening as it came down from the surface. When a representative of The Miner saw it, the face of the hill had been cut down and squared up so that there was a full exposure of the ore body. Some of the ore was brought up to the office of Moynahan & Campbell, and attracted much attention."—Miner.

"The main vein is a strong one, and I think it is the great vein of the Le Roi, which passes through the Black Bear. We have proved this vein across the Black Bear by diamond drill, and found it strong, continuous and of an average width of twenty-eight feet. We are now opening it up by means of a tunnel to connect with the main working levels of the Le Roi, and are erecting our new and extensive plant on the Black Bear ground. —JOHN MOYNAHAN, Late Superintendent Le Roi mine."

ESSENTIAL OILS IN SICILY.

THIS is a very important industry in Sicily where the abundance of raw material naturally renders the manufacture of the so-called oil of lemon, orange, etc., a very profitable undertaking, says Imperial Institute Journal. The quantity of these essential oils shipped to all countries during the year 1895 was 83,622 lbs., valued at £23,524, and the large proportion of 70,550 lbs. out of this quantity was taken by Great Britain, the value of the same being £19,000. The figures for 1894 were: Total 115,538 lbs., worth £29,356; and to Great Britain, 100,560 lbs., valued at £25,550. However, it should be mentioned that in this instance at least the Customs house valuation is apparently greatly in excess of the actual market value of these essences. A few words may not be out of place regarding the manufacture of the essence, "oil" of lemon, otherwise "essence" of lemon. The same process is followed in the preparation of "orange" and "bergamot." The "essence" is simply the essential oil contained in the yellow rind of the fruit of the lemon tree (citrus medica) and is obtained by pressure, either manual or mechanical, the former being the usual and preferable method. It is asserted that the oil is more aromatic when expressed by hand, and the essence thus prepared is generally quoted at a higher price than the machine-pressed article. In Palermo the essence is all pressed at night. The workmen receive a supply of rinds which are not peeled off in strips; the pulp of the lemon is simply cut out, leaving the rind nearly entire. These are equally distributed among gangs, with a foreman to each. The operator holds two sponges between the fingers of the left hand, and presses out the oil into the sponges with his right hand. The liquid thus collected is expressed into one of two earthenware receivers with which each man is provided. A considerable proportion of the product thus obtained consists of lemon juice left adhering to the rind, together with more or less of the pulp; these being heavier than the oil, collect in the lower part of the receptacle. As the first of the receivers becomes full the workman blows the floating oil into the second jar, through a species of channel formed in the side of the first, and when no more of the essential oil is transferrable by blowing, the remainder is carefully absorbed with a sponge and thence squeezed into the second receptacle which contains an almost pure product. The essential oil still remaining in the rinds is, by some manufacturers, extracted by distillation, and forms a second quality of "essence"; by others it is expressed by subjecting the "feccie" (as the exhausted rinds are called) to mechanical pressure in bags. To ascertain, however, if the oil has been thoroughly squeezed out by the original hand process, the rinds are tested by the foreman, who presses the supposed exhausted peel into the flame of a candle, when, if any combustion is visible, it shows that the pressers have not done their work thoroughly. The oil obtained by the foregoing process, after careful filtration through paper, is ready for shipment in the usual copper vessels holding 100, 50, 25, 12, 5 and 2 lbs. each. Oil of lemon is a fluid of a beautiful yellow color, having a specfic gravity of 0.8517. When distilled with water till three-fifths of the oil have passed over it is obtained in a colorless state, and having a delicious odor of the fruit, which is decidedly injured by distillation.

A NEW STORE.

Fred Kinsman, of Fonthill, general merchant, is now settled in his new store, which is well-known on the Niagara Peninsula as "The Hub." The original business was started by the late Danson Kinsman about 35 years ago. The new store is one of the finest and most modern between Hamilton and the Niagara River, and occupies the most prominent business corner of the town, and consists of the main store, occupied by the dry goods, grocery and hardware departments, while the shoe department occupies a separate store adjoining it. The second floor is occupied as a show room for ready-made clothing, wall papers and crockery. The lower floors are handsomely fitted and finished in natural wood, with plate glass show windows and counters.

The World's Best Biscuit

The approval with which Carr & Co.'s fancy biscuits are received in all parts of the world is perfectly in keeping with their quality—the best. The custom which these biscuits win for many grocers is lost to those who do not keep them. They gained the favor of Her Majesty Queen Victoria about fifty years ago, and their steady high quality has retained it against the increasing competition of this last half century. Send us a trial order for "Cafe Noir"; they are special favorites with many.

have taken the advantage where you should have been fair, have been unjust where you should have been just, impatient where you should have been patient, cross where you should have been cheerful, so indicate by your marks. You will find this a great aid to character building.

That man has conquered his tongue who can allow the ribald jest or scurrilous word to die unspoken on his lips, and maintain an indignant silence amid reproaches and accusations and sneers and scoffs. "He is a fool who cannot be angry," says English, "but he is a wise man who will not."

Did you ever see a man receive a flagrant insult, and only grow a little pale, bite his quivering lip, and then reply quietly? Did you ever see a man in anguish stand as if carved out of solid rock, mastering himself? Have you not seen one bearing a hopeless daily trial remain silent and never tell the world what cankered his home

Who does not enjoy a quiet game of cards these long winter evenings; and few despise a nice glass of Scotch whisky as an accompaniment. J. M. Douglas & Co. supply the trade with the latter in the well-known Jno. Dewar & Sons' blend. As cards should go with the whisky, they are presenting their friends, as in former seasons, with handsome decks of playing cards as a complement to the liquid refreshment which they supply. Many readers of THE CANADIAN GROCER come under the category of friends of the firm. If they care to address them, the Board of Trade, Montreal, and mention this paper, they will receive tangible evidence of the fact in the shape of one of these decks.

AN UNDESIRABLE SALESMAN.

There is one shopman, says a writer in To-Day, whom I would gladly change for an automaton. You come across him everywhere. The last time I had the misfortune was in a west-end cutler's, into which I had stepped for a few small steel rings.

"I want some small split rings. Do you keep them?"

He seemed to know exactly what I required, and presently returned with a pleased expression and what at first sight looked like a set of quoits.

"Oh, they're much too large," I said. "Let me see the smallest you keep."

"Perhaps if you would tell me what you require them for ——?" he suggested, with a hurt look at my want of confidence.

"Never mind that, let me see the smallest you have," I said.

"We haven't any," he said, doggedly.

"About the size used by jewelers to fasten things on to watch chains," I explained.

He relented. "If you had said at first that you required them for that purpose sir,——" and he got out the identical things.

"But I don't," I said, incautiously.

He immediately prepared to take them away again, and at the end I believe he regarded the transaction as unprofessional on his part.

Burning Brand in one-inch letters for excise requirement. Send to THE HAMILTON STAMP & STENCIL WORKS, HAMILTON, for these; also Stencil Brands, Steel Stamps, Bung Tins, etc.

THE "DIAMOND"

OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK

Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It has been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

ENGLISH MINCE MEAT

We are supplying the finest mince meat made, and are putting it up in a shape to suit the most fastidious. Many housewives do not like to buy an article of this kind from bulk stock, and for them we put up 1 and 2-lb. round cans. For larger consumers we put up 5, 10, 20 and 25-lb. fancy wooden pails, while for bulk stock we put up tubs and barrels. All our pails, tubs and barrels are specially prepared, and the goods will not taste of the wood.

WE GUARANTEE THE QUALITY AND OUR GUARANTEE IS GOOD.

CAMBRIDGE SAUSAGES

PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS TRADE.

BY W. L. E.

CHRISTMAS is the season when the merchant should reap the best harvest of the year. Christmas is synonymous with good cheer, and good cheer is in turn a synonymous term for feasting. Christmas is the time when

> Portly and curious viands are prepared
> To please all kinds of appetites.

Every man, woman and child makes an effort to lay in an extra store of delicacies, as well as staples, for the season. The lion's share of the demand thus created naturally has to be satisfied by the grocer. Merchants in nearly all other lines of trade benefit to some extent from the holiday trade. But the grocer is what the foundation stone is to the superstructure—the essential. Christmas without the wares of the grocer would be like the play of "Hamlet" with Hamlet left out.

Opportunities, however, are of little use unless they are appropriated. The worm does not come to the bird. It is the bird that goes to the worm. People with money to spend for Christmas groceries may be as thick as leaves in Vallambrosa, but only a few will come into the store unless ways and means are devised for bringing them in. The man who expects that by merely keeping his store-door open people are going to drift into it is displaying about as much wisdom as the man who fishes for mackerel with a bare hook. Men and women, like moths, only go where they are attracted. And the greater the attraction the quicker will they go towards it.

Most retail grocers in the country have purchased, at least, their staples for the holiday trade. It is to be hoped they have all made an effort to get good goods. A moth may return to the light that has singed its wings, but customers bitten by goods which are not what they seem to be, seldom further experiment at the same store. It, therefore, behooves every merchant to have in stock for the Christmas or any other trade only such things as will stand investigation. It is better to lose the sale of an article than lose a customer.

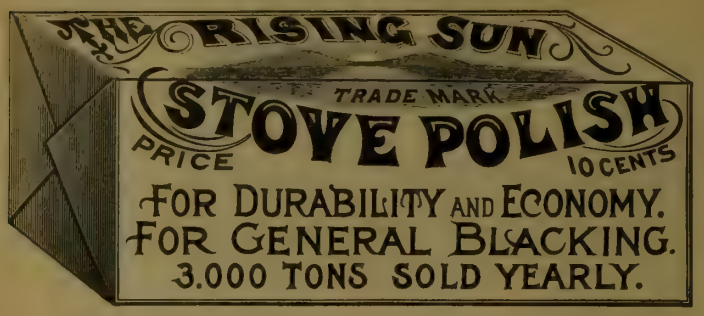
At no time in the history of storekeeping was it probably more necessary than it now is that the grocer should grasp every opportunity for making an honest dollar. Unless he is alive, up-to-date, pushing, and a man of ideas, his chances of success are few indeed.

The Christmas holiday trade is as much noted for its novelties as for its staples, and there are novelties for the eye as well as for the palate. The former is not as much in the grocer's line as the latter is. But there are a great many of them which are appropriate to it. And he is a foolish grocer whose sense of the fitness of things is so keen that it will not permit him to put into stock lines which do not come under the category of groceries pure and simple.

The department store suffers no qualms of conscience in this respect. It will sell whatever there is a dollar in, whether it be peas or poison, dry goods or wet goods, meals or medicine.

There are any amount of novelties which will be quite apropos in the grocery store, and particularly at Christmas time. With a few dollars in his pocket a merchant ought to be able in a few minutes to make a selection of goods of this kind in almost any wholesale novelty house.

In addition to their value as profit-earners, well-selected novelties lend attraction to the store. And of course the more attractive the store the more customers will it naturally draw.



Christmas without window-dressing would be like summer without the sun. Therefore every grocer or general merchant throughout the country who intends to at all cater for the ensuing holiday trade should be especially solicitous regarding his window display. If there is any season during the year when people look for window displays it is at Christmas. And the merchant who has not made some effort to make his window display in keeping with the spirit of the season will be accounted a back number. And ancient merchants, like ancient eggs, do not find favor with the public.

It is infinitely better to have a window dressed badly than not at all; but a window that is badly dressed is necessarily inefficient. The window display must attract or it is not fulfilling its office. And it must sell goods or it is only partially fulfilling its office. Ideas are as necessary in window dressing as in any other part of the machinery of business. And, while suggestions are good, the best results are obtained, not by following, but by leading.

Ideas are the offspring of thinking. At this, the holiday season, there is opportunity unlimited for making window displays both timely and attractive.

The Christmas trade without advertising will not amount to much. There are a multitude of ways in which advertising can be done. But there are two ways in which it must be done in order to be effective. The one is by making bright announcements in the local papers; the other is tasty window cards, some containing seasonable mottoes, and others denoting prices. Too many of them, however, like too many articles in the window, induce confusion.

The measure of success which will accrue to each grocer in the country during the holiday trade will depend largely upon the measure of his push, methods and energy.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

THE TORONTO MEETING.

A GENERAL meeting of the Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada was held at their offices, 51 Yonge street, Toronto, on Saturday evening. Mr. Robt. H. Gray, president, occupied the chair, and the attendance was very large.

The reports read by the secretary, Mr. Jas. Sargant, were entirely satisfactory, and were unanimously adopted.

The nominations of officers and directors to the Board of Management resulted as follows: For president, Mr. R. J. Orr and Mr. Alfred Ainsley. Mr. C. E. Kyle was elected first vice-president by acclamation. For second vice-president, Mr. Jos. H. Devaney and Mr. M. C. Ellis. For directors of Toronto Board, Messrs. H. Bedlington, T. M. Bayne, C. O. Bernard, Westley Bingham, Wm. Caldwell, H. Goodman, P. M. Goff, G. A. Henderson, A. F. Hatch, Richard Ivens, Robert Keyes, Jos. McKay, John Muldrew, E. E. Starr, R. J. Salisbury, Jos. Taylor, C. J. Tuttle, J. T. Webb, Geo. West, S. R. Wickett, G. M. White. Nine to be elected.

Hamilton Board — First vice-president, Mr. John Hooper; 2nd vice-president, Mr. W. E. LaChance, both elected by acclamation. For directors: Messrs. Wm. Brebner, H. C. Wright, J. H. Herring, W. G. Reid, Fred. Johnson, E. E. W. Moore, C. H. Ross, John Madill, T. P. Steedman, John Hooper, R. Coleman, Fred. Smye, T. M. Davis, J. P. Allan. Six to be elected.

The boards for Guelph, Brantford, Montreal, Kingston, Berlin, Winnipeg, and Victoria were all re-elected by acclamation.

Messrs. M. R. Winn, John Everett and Thos. Caven were appointed scrutineers of the ballot.

Short addresses were made by ex-Presidents Patterson, Blain, Black, Allan and W. Allworth.

Ballot papers will be sent out to the members, who will make their choice for the contested offices. The result of the elections will be made known at the annual meeting of the association, to be held in Shaftesbury Hall on the 20th inst. As this is the first occasion since 1881 that there has been any contest for the presidency, the fight promises to be a hot, though a good-natured, one.

THE LONDON MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Western Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association was held in London on Saturday afternoon. The officers for the ensuing year were elected by acclamation, as follows: President Mr. Wm. Gray; 1st vice-president, Mr. Chas. E. Perry; 2nd vice-president, Mr. H. G. Collamore; 3rd vice-president, Mr. A. W. Robertson, Hamilton (re-elected); treasurer, Mr. Sam. Munro (re-elected. Directors: For London, Messrs. H. Pine, F. H. Crabb, H. S. Wilcox, J. M. Logan, John T. Green, Jas. Granger and J. C. Hazard; for Toronto, Messrs. F. W. Heath, R. H. Greene and H. Horsman; Hamilton, Messrs. R. K. Hope and John Booker; Stratford, Mr. Jas. Dow; Brantford, Mr. Geo. Watt, jr.; St. Mary's, Mr. Jas. Maxwell; Galt, Mr. John Wardlaw; Ayr, Mr. John G. Watson; Oshawa, Mr. E. O. Fell; Waterloo, Mr. S. Snider; St. Thomas, Mr. B. F. Honsinger; Woodstock, Mr. F. J. Richards; Windsor, Mr. Jas. F. Smyth; Chatham, Mr. Chas. Hadley; Ingersoll, Mr. R. H. Cotter; Sarnia, Mr. Wm. Storey; New Hamburg, Mr. J. Ratz; Winnipeg, Mr. T. Harry Slater; Aylmer, Mr. R. G. B. Moore.

The retiring president, Mr. John M. Dillon, read the annual report, which was very satisfactory. After paying death and accident benefits to the amount of $6,500, the sum of $3,442.36 had been added to the reserve fund, which now totalled $43,171.98. The receipts for the past year had been $43,010.13, and a balance of $6,071.71 had been carried over. The assets were $45,167.11, and the liabilities only $1,995.13.

EUROPEAN BEET SUGAR CROPS.

The following is Mr. Licht's report giving estimate of the European beet sugar production of the 1895-96 campaign as compared with preceding campaigns:

ADULTERATION OF FOOD.

The reports of the Commissioner of Inland Revenue and the Official Analyst were issued on Saturday. The period covered is the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896. The following is a summary statement of the whole number of samples analyzed:

Articles.	No.	Genuine.	Adulterated.	Doubtful.
Cheese	117	108	2	7
Milk	261	216	18	27
Canned goods	130	116	12	2
Confectionery	186	174	10	2
Jams and jellies	155	123	25	4
Lard	98	80	14	4
Maple syrup	96	72	8	4
Fertilizers	48	47	1	0
Paris green	174	152	15	7

Out of 1,265 samples analyzed only 105, barely 9 per cent., were found to be adulterated. An improvement is noticed in most articles. Maple syrup, analyzed for the first time, was found in many cases adulterated with glucose.

BALFOUR & CO., HAMILTON

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

THE Tariff Commission closed its labors in Hamilton on Wednesday of last week.

Among the gentlemen who on that day gave evidence before the Commission were R. W. Campbell, of Hamilton; S. F. Glass, London, and Fred Chalcraft, Brantford—a deputation wishing to have the present duty on fire brick, tile, crockery, stoneware, etc., retained.

W. G. Dunn asked that the duty on American mustard be increased to equal the duty on English mustards—6 per cent. The American mustards came in at 1 per cent., and cheap American stuff is palmed off on the dealers, it being sold in Canada with Canadian wrappers on the boxes. He thought the Adulteration Act should be enforced on goods brought in from the States. He wanted a specific duty on mustard.

Mr. Dunn said he understood that the American manufacturers were trying to induce the Government to reduce the duty, but he hoped this would not be done.

Mr. Fielding bristled up and asked him his ground for such a statement.

Mr. Dunn said he had heard it rumored, but he finally stated that it was understood the idea was that the newspapers were to get some advertising if the thing were accomplished.

"Oh, just fooling the newspapers," remarked Mr. Fielding, resuming his ordinary good nature.

IN BRANTFORD.

On Thursday the Commission began its enquiry in Brantford.

The first deputation was composed of Messrs. W. K. Hallarn and H. B. Gardner. They asked that the $6 excise duty on tobacco be reduced to $3, and that the duty on Havana cigars be raised. This, Mr. Gardner said, would give the Government as much revenue as it now collected, and skilled cigarmakers will be given employment in the manufacture of 10c. goods. Another reason advanced by Mr. Gardner was that the Cuban makers had subscribed $50,000 for the Spanish Government, in return for which the Spanish Government had prohibited the exportation of all tobaccos. The imposition of a higher duty on Havana cigars would compel the Cubans to send their unmanufactured tobacco here, as they would not be liable to send in any but their best lines of cigars. Mr. Hallarn, who is a dealer as well as a manufacturer, advocated a change in the system of licensing cigar manufacturers. At present all factories, great and small, are charged $75. He claimed that this system imposed a heavy burden on the small factory, while it occasioned no particular inconvenience to the large one. He suggested that the fee be graded according to the size of the factory, upon the principle that the maltsters are now dealt with, and that licenses ranging in price from $50 to $200 be issued. He suggested that a duty of $4.50 be imposed on cigars, and that the departmental regulation requiring the destruction of cigar boxes after they are empty be rescinded.

Messrs. George Foster, D. Lowrey, A. Robertson, A. Murray, Brantford Starch Co.; George F. Benson, J. D. Reid, M. P., Edwardsburg Starch Co.; A. Hutcheson and J. Gray, St. Lawrence Starch Co., Port Credit, represented the starch manufacturers. Mr. Foster made a statement in behalf of the delegation, requesting that the Government would give the starch manufacturers no less a degree of protection than was granted at present. The duty had been reduced to such an extent that it would not allow of any further reduction if the manufacturers were to continue to operate their factories. Previous to 1879 the duty on starch was 2c. a pound, with corn on the free list. From 1879 until 1894 the duty on starch was 2c. a pound, with corn taxed at the rate of 7½c. a bushel. In 1894 the duty on starch was reduced to 1½c. a pound, and corn was allowed to remain at 7½c. a bushel. The duty on a starch selling at 4½c. a pound equals 33 per cent.

Mr. R. M. Fullerton, of the Snowdrift Baking Powder and Spice Manufacturing Co., asked for more protection on spices. The duty on raw ginger, cloves and articles of this kind was 12½ per cent., and on the finished product it was 25 per cent. There was apparently a protection of 12½ per cent., but it was more apparent than real. The protection, he claimed, should amount to 20 or 25 per cent. He pointed out the expense the firm was put to in purchasing 650 proof alcohol at $4.10 a gallon, used in the preparations.

The Ontario wine-growing interest was represented by Messrs. E. Girardot, Sandwich; J. S. Hamilton, Pelee Island Wine Co.; R. L. Haskins, of the Haskins Wine Co., Hamilton; and George Barnes, St. Catharines. They have a grievance with respect to the use of spirits in the fortification of wines. French wines entering Canada under treaty are fortified up to 26 deg. overproof, while the native Canadian wines are only fortified up to 16 deg. Owing to the high price of spirits for fortifying, the wine-growers in this country cannot use them advantageously in order to come up to the standard. Several suggestions were therefore made to local growers to meet foreign competition. It was suggested that the provisions of the French treaty, in so far as the importation of wine is concerned, be rescinded, or that the domestic growers be permitted to fortify sweet wines up to 26 deg. The deputation stated the impression was that they enjoyed a protection of 25c. a gallon. In reality the protection was only 9c., by reason of the high price paid for spirits.

IN LONDON.

The Commissioners began their duties in London on Friday.

Mr. Thomas Bryan requested that his raw materials, bristles, hairs and fibres, be continued on the free list and that the present import duty of 25 per cent. on brushes be maintained. Mr. Bryan said that the effect of the increase of the duty in 1879 from 17½ per cent. was the investment of a large amount of capital in brush factories, many of which had closed. Eighty per cent. of the capital had been lost. He said that tooth brushes with wooden handles were sent in here from Japan at 30c. a dozen and paid a profit to the importer.

The London and Petrolea Barrel Co., represented by Mr. John Forrestal, asked that the present duty of 25 per cent. be maintained. The native makers now control the market in eastern Canada, but in the west the Americans have invaded the market. Mr. Forrestal stated that convict-made barrels came into Canada filled with mess pork from Chicago, and he also told the Commissioners that English ale hogsheads sent from Great Britain to the West Indies were when empty brought to Halifax and sold to brewers and others at prices very much below their actual value.

Messrs. J. H. McMechan, of London, and Fred. Richards, of Woodstock, soap manufacturers, asked for cheaper raw materials. They pay a cent a pound on tallow, 10 per cent. on perfumes, 10 per cent on packages and 25 per cent. on cotton seed oil. The protection on laundry soap is one cent a pound and on toilet soap 35 per cent. He asked that tallow and cotton seed oil be admitted free, and that the duty on toilet soap be advanced to 5c. a pound and 10 per cent., equal to 60 per cent. on a castile soap selling at 10c. a pound. He complained of the severe competition occasioned by the admission of toilet soaps under the French treaty.

Mr. A. Keenleyside, of Keenleyside & Co., makers of lard oil, told the Commissioners that they brought their grease from the other side in barrels. The grease was free, and he did not complain of that, but he wanted the barrels placed on the free list. Mr. Fielding remarked that a gentleman had just gone out who wanted the duty kept on the barrels.

turers, composed of Messrs. O. E. Brener, B. Macdonald, W. Ward and H. McKay, expressed themselves as content with the present excise duty of $6 on cigars and declared that they could not afford to pay more. They desired to have raw leaf tobacco continued on the free list and the duty on Havana cigars advanced from $4 to $5 a thousand. They expressed their opposition to the idea of graduated license fees, advanced by the Brantford delegation the previous day. Nor did they agree with the proposition that cigar makers should be allowed to use cigar boxes more than once.

Grain, flour, seeds and meals made up the subject of an interview which Messrs. J. S. Pearce, of J. S. Pearce & Co.; John Hunt, of Hunt Bros.; John Taunton, of John Taunton & Sons, and A. M. Hamilton, of A. M. Hamilton & Son, had with the Ministers. They asked that no change be made in the duties on wheat and flour, oatmeal, timothy, all kinds of clover, millet and Hungarian grass, and that the duty on packages containing these goods be the same as it is on the contents.

At a meeting of the millers and grain men, Mr. Pritchard, one of the gentlemen present, requested that a limit of time be imposed on all grain imported in bond for milling. By that he meant that when grain was imported at a certain date there should be a specification of the date at which the flour should be exported.

Mr. Pearce did not think this was called for. It was recommended that whatever change be mane by the McKinley Government on meal the same be made by the Canadian Government. The deputation asked that the duty on corn, buckwheat, peas, oats, barley, rye and other coarse grains be the same whether for seed, feed or manufacturing purposes. Ensilage corn now comes in free, and they thought it would be wiser that the duties should be taken off all classes of corn or put on all corn without distinction.

Mr. Hunt told the Commissioners that flour was 50c. a barrel cheaper in Canada than in the United States. With free wheat and free flour he did not think that the Canadian mills could hold their own at all. The 300-barrel mill in Canada would be swept out of existence by the 12,000-barrel mill of Minneapolis. The London millers, he pointed out, had to contend with the freight rate discrimination of the C.P.R. This road gave a rate of 30c. a cwt. on flour export from Winnipeg to St. John. Much of this flour, though shipped for export, was distributed among Bay of Fundy ports. The rate between Winnipeg and London was 47c.

Mr. John Campbell, of St. Thomas, flour and cornmeal miller, added to Mr. Hunt's statement regarding discrimination in freight rates. He said that while the C.P.R. had granted a 30c. rate from Winnipeg to Carleton for export, the rate from Winnipeg to London and St. Thomas was 47½c. a cwt. on grain, but the rate from St. Thomas to Carleton was 17½c. additional. Mr Campbell was of the opinion that the duties on flour and meal had better be left as they are unless a reciprocity treaty was effected between Canada and the United States. He expressed himself as being strongly in favor of reciprocity in meal and flour. He did not agree with Mr. Hunt that Canadian millers would be swamped by American competitors. On the other hand, it would mean the building up of the milling industry in this province.

Mr. W. G. Coles, representing the Sterling Cocoanut Co., asked for a reduction of duty on cocoanuts from ½c. a nut, equal to 25 per cent., to 10 per cent. The duty on the finished product is 5c. a pound, or over 50 per cent.

The wholesale grocers of London were represented by Messrs. M. Masuret, of M. Masuret & Co., John Marr and C. H. Elliott, of Elliott, Marr & Co., A. M. Smith, of A. M. Smith & Co., and J. E. Hazard, of T. B. Escott & Co. Mr. Masuret, speaking for the deputation, said that they thought a reduction might be made in refined sugar. With the present duty on syrups it was impossible to import from the United States. The molasses duty, he said, was very low. If the Government required revenue they might increase it and do away with the test. He suggested reductions on rice, pickles and sauces, canned fruits and vegetables, candied peel and fruit, toilet soap, marmalades, jams and jellies. Mr. Masuret said that if the Government required revenue he knew that a duty on tea would be popular with the trade. He did not know whether the consumer would agree with that suggestion. A small revenue duty might also be imposed on coffee. Speaking of Canadian-made toilet soap, Mr. Masuret classed it as miserable trash that he would not use.

Mr. J. R. Shuttleworth, dealer in green fruit, advocated a change from specific duties on green fruits to ad valorem duties. He pointed out that the present specific rates amounted to as much as 100 per cent.

The Commission concluded its labors in London on Saturday.

Ritchie & Rowland, of Shelburne, whose store was burglarized early part of the month, have recovered the goods and also succeeded in having the thieves arrested. They proved to be two parties living near the town.

SMITH & CO., 117 MAIN STREET.
Three minutes north of Post Office.

The above is a fac simile of an advertisement written by a prominent, and presumably successful, expert at advertising, and one of the editors of a most excellent journal of advertising. It was made up as a sample of effective shoe advertising, and was calculated to present the blind style of advertisement writing, which is so much used at the present time. The heading is general, and could apply to any line of business. The reader will not know what it means unless he reads the entire advertisement. The whole burden of the advertisement is in the heading and in the beginning of the descriptive matter. I take emphatic exception to this style of advertisement. I believe that the heading should either tell what the goods are, or else give information regarding the goods, or make some statement which directly pertains to the line of goods advertised. I am aware that cheap patent medicine dealers claim that the blind style of advertising is successful, and perhaps it is if one depends entirely upon ignorant buyers for his trade. I believe that the majority of buyers, and especially buyers of necessities like shoes, are more likely to be impressed with a straight out-and-out advertisement, ungarnished by frills and general argument. The one selling point of this advertisement is, "They Are Warranted," and that is very inconspicuous. I object to any expression like, "Why Not Try 'Em" for such words are superfluous, and are space-wasters. Appended is a shoe advertisement with a strong point in it, and that point prominent.

A FLOWING WELL.

By Harry Harman.

THE sketch here presented will make a novel window. First cover the floor with green cloth, to imitate grass, or use excelsior, dyed green. The wall may be made from canned goods, built up solid, as illustrated. To give it a more realistic effect, trailing vines and sod should be scattered between the cans. The sweep is made from a sapling, with the branches cut off. At the end of the sweep is a bucket, which should be filled with canned and bottled goods. Around, on the floor, goods may be strewn, and a sign might be conspicuously displayed, to read, "Our Eatables Draw Well." A blue cloth, with a few trees, placed in the back of the window, will add to this display.

A Flowing Well.

TO PREVENT WINDOWS FROM FROSTING.

If the moisture in the store-room is not too great the frosting can be avoided by painting the glass with a solution of glycerine in 63 per cent. alcohol, says an exchange. Glycerine, like chloride of lime, has the property of absorbing water, and this action overcomes the difficulty. For small show windows sulphuric acid may be employed, as is done in Russia. This, however, is only efficacious where the windows are double. The cracks between the two window frames and around the edge are kept tightly sealed and several small vessels half filled with concentrated sulphuric acid are left in the space between the plates of glass, but the simplest and best cure of all for frosting windows is to have a small electric fan playing near it continuously. The air is thus kept in motion, and there is no chance for the frost to settle on the glass.

THE FRENCH DUTY ON CURRANTS

In a circular just received in New York, Cremidi Bros., of Patras, Greece, say, regarding currants: "Our market has been declining these past few days owing to the Tourels bill under discussion at that time by the French Chamber, and by which the manufacturing of wine from currants is nearly prohibited. Last Friday (Nov. 13), however, telegrams from Paris announced the vote on the bill, making it law. The law will go into effect six months later, though some say September, 1897. This law must now be confirmed by the French Senate. By the said law the 'Epicerie,' viz., the domestic consumption of currants, is charged with higher duty of 6 francs per 100 kilos, and with some other formalities. Immediately on arrival of the above information speculators in Greece took courage and effected some purchases at higher prices, trusting to the 'Epicerie' consumption of France, the manufacturing of large quantities of wine from currants by wine makers there during the delay of, say, six months, until the putting into effect of the aforesaid law, and the Russian purchases of currants, in order to import a sufficient quantity before January 1, 1897, when in all probability a very heavy tax on currants will commence to operate there, and in the somewhat reduced stocks of currants still remaining in Greece, by taking into consideration the future necessities of the chief consuming markets until the next crop. The vote of the French Senate in favor of the above-mentioned law is considered to be inevitable and sure."

MEADOW SWEET CHEESE.

In another part of our to-day's issue will be found the advertisement of the Meadow Sweet Cheese Co. of Montreal. This brand of cheese is having a large sale in the United States and England, and it is now being introduced in Canada. We have much pleasure in testifying to the quality of the cheese and consider it delicious. The prices at which it can be bought will allow the grocer 25 to 30 per cent. profit, and it should merit as good a sale in Canada as it is having in the United States and England. The packages are tastefully gotten up; in fact, they are exceedingly handsome. A. W. Grant, Montreal, who controls its sale in Canada, will be happy to supply any information in regard to it.

URGES FREQUENT WINDOW DRESSING.

Editor GROCER: Whatever is useful to the grocers I know you desire to publish. I therefore submit the following on window dressing:

Some weeks ago I noticed a young man dressing a window. By actual count he had thirty-seven articles in the window, and was not finished at that. I said to him, "Pretty hard work?" "Yes," he replied, "I dislike the job, because when I change it it takes so long to clean and put back into stock all the goods from the window." I advised him to try dressing the window twice a week, using only one kind of merchandise at a time. He did so, and found he could make his display both "catchy" and profitable. One day he dressed the window with bags of salt, another time with canned corn, and another with brooms and whisks, all artistically arranged with a few large, nicely lettered cards. He told me that each time he did this the sale of each line was tremendous, and that he intended following this rule to the end. The cards are an important factor. In the case of brooms and whisks he had a card like this:

YOUR HOUSE AND CLOTHING WILL BE IMPROVED IF YOU
BUY A BROOM AND WHISK.
Brooms, 20c. Whisks, 15c.

A little practice will soon develop a taste for this kind of window dressing, and besides it is not nearly so injurious to the goods as the old way, is more attractive to passers-by, and the constant change shows to the public that the man within has some "go in him." If there are several clerks employed a good idea is to let each one try his hand; by this means different ideas are introduced and the windows show originality.

Yours truly, H.C.F.

THE GOVERNMENT MUST CONTROL.

THE question as to the control of the proposed railway through the Crow's Nest Pass is scarcely secondary in importance to the building of the railway itself.

Whether the building of the railway be undertaken as a Government work or not the people of the Dominion have a financial interest in the concern, for, if in not a more direct way, money will come out of the Dominion Treasury in the shape of subsidies. This is beyond all peradventure. And where there is financial interest there ought to be co-operation of control.

The need of the railway is recognized by every business man in Canada; for the absence of the road means to him an absence of the trade he might do with the mining communities in the Kootenay. The railway is needed by the miners of the Kootenay; for with its advent would come cheaper coal and more rapid development of the rich mineral resources of the country. The farmers of Manitoba and the Territories need it; for they want to get their products into the thriving mining settlements.

But badly as we want the railway and necessary as it is that it should be constructed quickly, yet haste that would endanger the maturing of ways and means for guarding the interests of the people of the country is to be deprecated.

The people of Canada cannot afford to run any risks whatsoever in this matter. There must be no discrimination against any class of people or against any locality. The merchants of Victoria should not be denied privileges that may be accorded their confreres in Montreal, or those in Winnipeg such as may be enjoyed by the shippers in Toronto.

Discriminating freight rates are the chief blemish upon the character of the otherwise excellent railway systems of the Dominion, and ways and means must be devised to prevent the possibility of their being practised on the proposed new route through the Rockies.

There is not a railway in Canada to-day toward the construction of which public money has not been contributed, and yet the public have practically no part or parcel in the controlling of them.

Just as certain as it is that a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass is needed just as imperative is it that there shall be Government control, and control not nominal but real.

GRADING DRIED APPLES.

BUYING a pig in a poke is not a commendable way of doing business.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has already urged dealers in dried apples to be careful as to the quality of the fruit they exported to the European markets. How necessary this warning was is evident from the large quantity of poor goods that were coming on the market, but it is made doubly more evident from the fact that a great deal of the fruit exported is now lying rejected on the other side of the Atlantic.

This has largely come of buying a pig in the poke. A sample of dried apples taken from a barrel cannot be relied upon as being indicative of the quality of the whole of the barrel's contents. It may be better; it may be worse.

Dried apples, like wheat, should be bought on grade. There would then be little difficulty, instead of much, as at present.

We know of at least one exporter in Toronto who has been compelled to adopt a system of grading in order to obviate the risk of having shipments rejected.

Briefly, he has four grades, "A," "B," "C," "D," and the difference in the price of the various grades is ¼c. per pound; "B," for instance, being quarter of a cent per pound cheaper than "A," and so on. Anything below "D" is termed "rejects." As to whether a shipment is of either of the grades enumerated is ascertained by points, so many points being allowed for color and so many for size of cut.

It is said that the system is working admirably.

It is most desirable that every means should be taken to preserve the reputation of our dried apples in the consuming markets of the world, but unless there is united action on the part of all concerned it will be practically impossible to do so.

Country merchants can help materially by paying the farmers according to a standard grade, and also by putting the different qualities into the barrels in layers, instead of mixing them up. It will in the long run be better for both themselves and the export trade of the country.

Honesty in business is most commendable, but it is foolishness for a man to try and travel upon it.

FAVORED BY BUSINESS MEN.

BUSINESS men in the principal commercial centres of the United States seem to be generally favorable to the adoption of the Dingley tariff bill, if the resolutions being passed by their respective organizations can be taken as a criterion.

The object sought by the promoters of this bill is an augmentation of the revenue, which is now short of the expenditure to an alarming extent. And even for revenue producing purposes it is only of a temporary character. In the words of the bill's preamble, it is a measure "to temporarily increase revenue to meet the expenses of government and provide against deficiency." Its operation is to cease August 1, 1898.

In the construction of the bill, recourse for material has largely been had to the McKinley tariff of 1890. For instance, all raw wools in classes one and two of the McKinley tariff it is proposed to subject to a duty of 60 per cent. of that instrument. It is proposed to do the same thing in regard to carpet wool and manufactures of wool generally. Lumber, too, it is designed to tax within 60 per cent. of the McKinley aw. Pulp wood is, however, still to be exempt from duty, provided that the country from which it comes does not impose an export duty upon pine, spruce, elm or other logs. On the articles included in the other tariff schedules, the Dingley bill calls for a duty "equivalent to 15 per cent. of the duty imposed on each of said articles by existing law, in addition to the duty provided by said Act of August 27, 1894."

The Dingley bill received the approval of the House of Representatives during the last session, and the document is on the calendar for the consideration of the Senate now in session at Washington.

It is claimed by the author of the bill that it will create $40,000,000 of additional revenue, but a great many people are sceptical regarding its ability to do this. Under the McKinley tariff, for instance, the rate of duty on manufactures of wool was 98½ per cent. The Wilson bill reduced it to 47 per cent. But according to the Bureau of Statistics the Dingley law would raise it to 75¾ per cent. And it is thought that an increase of 28¾ per cent. to the present rate of duty will lead to such a decreased importation of these goods that the calculations of the framers of the bill will scarcely be realized as to the amount of revenue that will accrue. The same law also naturally applies to the other articles upon which it is proposed to increase the duty.

The particular reason why the business men favor the Dingley bill appears to be born of the desire to have the tariff question settled as speedily as possible, thus obviating a repetition of the year's agony experienced during the revision of the tariff of 1894.

Ideas enter into a man through the eye and ear. It is well, therefore, to keep these organs always open.

SHARP DECLINE IN LEMONS.

A FEATURE of the foreign green fruit trade of the past week is a decline in the price of lemons of something like $1 to $1.50 per box on the Toronto market.

The cause locally is large arrivals, while good-sized shipments are on the way.

In New York the market is also weaker. It was believed that shipments to the United States would not be so liberal this season, but these anticipations have not been realized. According to The N. Y. Journal of Commerce, there is reported to be now on the way to the United States, chiefly to New York, about 150,000 boxes of lemons, with more loading and about to be shipped. "California," adds that paper, "seems to be more of a competitor than in former years, though as heretofore she has given her attention chiefly to supplying the markets of the west and middle west. As the visible supply of Mediterranean fruit is held to be greater than the eastern and tributary markets will absorb, it is intimated that the surplus may be sent west, probably on commission, and coming into competition with California lemons will cause very low prices in that section. As the California growers are stretching out for new markets for their constantly growing crop, it is believed that they will not be forced out of the field, no matter what prices may be made by their opponents. While the stock of Mediterranean fruit afloat is said to be larger than that on the way to this country at the same time last year, the arrivals from September 1st to to-day are considerably smaller than a year ago. Statistics furnished by reliable, unbiased people give the arrivals at this port as 302,000 boxes from September 1st to December 7th, as compared with 345,000 for the same period in 1895. This includes both Sicily and Malaga lemons."

A large dealer in Toronto is authority for the statement that the shippers of lemons are losing money at the figures now obtaining.

A WINTER CARNIVAL.

SOME Montreal people want a winter carnival. Happily there is no long felt want to be filled. The demand is limited to hotel proprietors and dealers in goods that are likely to be bought by American tourists. Retail jewelers, for instance, who have a few souvenir spoons to dispose of, are among the leaders in the movement.

THE GROCER for years has written against any kind of winter celebration in Canada in which ice palaces, skating, tobogganing and similar novelties were the chief features of the advertising to draw visitors. We know from actual experience that this kind of publicity injures the country.

Six years ago we sent one of our staff to represent us in Great Britatn. He is continually visiting every centre of trade in England, Ireland and Scotland. He meets many leading men who know nothing of Canada but what they read in the newspapers. He has found that many—very many—of them have an idea that we wear furs from January to December; that during six months in the year we are frozen up like the bear; that consequently we are too poor to buy British goods. In fact they take no interest in the country as a place to visit or to do business with.

It is only a few years ago, as we mentioned at the time, that Canada was represented in the Lord-Mayor's procession by an iceberg, drawn on a wagon. For a native Canadian they had a mongrel Greenlander in his furs, with his bow and arrow. Our representative, hearing what they proposed doing a few days before, called on the authorities to protest. They positively refused to believe that not one Canadian in ten thousand had ever seen an eberg or wore furs, or carried his bow when he went out. Only in June last, at the military tournament in London, the Canadian militia was represented by a detachment of soldiers in furs with snowshoes on their backs. They were seen by thousands, and, worse still, the illustrated papers reproduced them with comments and placed this erroneous idea of the country before hundreds of thousands of others. Some of them actually explained that this costume was worn all the year round. The writer has been over 20 years in the Canadian militia and has never yet seen a soldier on snowshoes. There is not a corps to-day that even possesses a supply of fur caps.

Mr. McNicoll, general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, spoke very strongly against a carnival, and was supported by Mr. Davis, of the Grand Trunk. The interests represented by these gentlemen would make money directly out of an affair of this kind. They took a much broader view. They saw that such an advertisement would help to maintain the false impression prevailing in the States and Europe.

It is the duty of business men to sit most emphatically upon the proposal to hold a carnival in Montreal or anywhere else in Canada. If approached for contributions they should positively refuse to give a cent.

LOBSTERS ONE DOLLAR DEARER.

A MOST interesting feature to jobbers who are in the want of supplies of all leading lines of canned fish is their exceeding firmness. In the case of canned lobsters this possibility was pointed out by THE CANADIAN GROCER over two months ago when prices jumped sharply.

The other day an effort was made to place an order in Montreal, but it was refused, as there was no stock to be had at primary points, practically all of it being wanted on English account.

With very light stocks on hand, therefore, and little or no fresh supplies available, jobbers in Montreal this week advanced their quotations on lobsters 75c. to $1 per case, and are now firm holders at $9 to $10 per case.

French sardines are equally strong, for the same reason, and they also have been advanced 75c. to $1 to $10.25 to $11 per case.

Canned mackerel are not plentiful either, and prices are being firmly held at $1.25 per dozen.

Sellers talk very firm on canned salmon, though no quotable change can be cited in its case. Their reason for doing so is the great scarcity of stock on the Coast, Montreal wholesalers who placed their orders some time ago not having them filled yet.

Altogether, traders who have fair supplies of canned fish at present consider themselves lucky.

The Swiss Government having sanctioned the manufacture and use of weights made of glass, people should have no difficulty in seeing through the weight of a thing.

COHOE SALMON.

A peculiar feature of the canned salmon situation is the sale of a great many Cohoes this season for shipment to England.

As pointed out in previous issues, the pack of Cohoes is undoubtedly a short one, and this purchase on English account will naturally decrease the stock available for consumption on this side of the Atlantic.

There have been some transactions on the Toronto market this week at $3.50 f.o.b., and at this figure prices appear to be firm.

ADULTERATED BAKING POWDER.

LAST week we reported that certain manufacturers were sending out cream of tartar labeled pure, but of which 30 per cent was starch. Reputable firms now complain that their competitors are adulterating ginger or are selling an inferior quality.

Aerated water manufacturers use considerable quantities of ginger. They absorb nearly all the strength, but there is still some left. The article resembles ordinary ground ginger and has both the taste and flavor of the good article. It is said that some Canadian manufacturers have been importing this, laying it down at 2¼ to 2¾c. a pound and are selling it as pure ginger at 10 to 15 and even 20c. a pound. The enormous profits thus made can easily be figured.

Pure ground Jamaica ginger is worth say 30 to 33c. a pound delivered. Cochin and other growths may be had from 21 to 25c.

It is time that the Inland Revenue Department took the matter in hand. Let the Comptroller confer with the leading manufacturers and dealers and arrange some sensible and business-like plan whereby adulteration and fraud in the sale of food-products may be stopped and the offenders severely punished.

Some years ago the canned goods packers found their business suffering because some dishonest packers soaked peas, corn and beans, put them in tins, and sold them as freshly packed goods. Through the efforts of a sensible business man, Wellington Boulter, president of the Canned Goods Association, a law was passed making it a misdemeanor for anyone to sell goods in this way as fresh vegetables unless the words "Soaked," in letters three-quarters of an inch high, were printed across the can. Several men accustomed to the careless way in which the Inland Revenue Department enforced its regulations proceeded to soak goods and sell them.

The association took the matter in hand, and one of the worst offenders suddenly found himself called on to pay a fine amounting to about $4,000. He was dealt leniently with. He was let go on the payment of a few hundred dollars. Since then no complaints have been received.

Laws can be made to apply as effectively to other goods. But they must be prepared by experienced business men. We object to such pure food laws as Civil Service officials and theorists might suggest. Some of the states of the Union have had an experience of such. We want none of them in Canada.

SALES HAVE DOUBLED.

Mr. W. Mackenzie, who the Ceylon Government has delegated to visit the United States in the interest of the tea industry of that country, was in Toronto a few days ago. He is succeeding admirably in this mission. Since 1894 the demand for Ceylon teas in the United States and Canada has doubled.

Mr. Mackenzie's territory is confined to the United States, but he has a soft place in his heart for Canada, and so when Mr. P. C. Larkin, of the Salada Tea Co., ran against him in Buffalo the other day and invited him to visit Toronto as his guest, he readily complied.

DUTY ON TEA.

Editor GROCER: If space in your valuable journal allow it, I should like to offer for publication a few remarks regarding the duty on tea, and do so in the hope of getting the expression of the best possible opinion from the trade. When before the Tariff Commissioners in Hamilton, I suggested a specific duty of from 5 to 10c. per lb. on tea. I would now say 10c. I am rather opposed to a specific duty where an ad valorem can be effectually imposed. But as tea is one of those articles on which it is so difficult to place its correct value, thus leading to the temptation of false invoicing, which might make it difficult to pass the several Customs appraisers, I would in this case recommend a specific duty. Our last trade returns show an import of 20,000,000 lbs. of tea, upon which a duty for revenue of 10c. per lb. would amount to $2,000,000.

Further, as many of the trade are well aware, a large quantity of very inferior low grade tea now comes into our market. This is surely not at all desired, and I believe that by instituting a specific duty, it could be prevented. The loss both to consumer and to merchant would, I think, be very small.

But on coffee I would not recommend any duty. At the present time coffee is at a very high market value, so that a duty that would provide any revenue worth considering would almost exclude it from our market. Moreover, I think that the value of coffee for consumptive purposes is, at present, more than 50 per cent. higher than that of tea.

Now, I quite expect that the old accusation of "the poor man's tea being taxed as heavily as the rich man's," will be hurled at this suggestion. To meet the poor man's case, I would ask to have molasses placed on the free list and to have such a duty on syrup as would be the equivalent of only the revenue duty on sugar. I think that this change would be compensation to the working-classes for the difference made by imposing the specific duty on tea.

Thanking you heartily for your insertion, I beg to remain

Yours, etc.,

ADAM BALLENTINE,

Hamilton, Dec. 7, 1896. Per A. B. B.

CANADIAN SUGARS.

Editor GROCER: You have, no doubt, read the remarks recently made by Mr. Bristol before the Tariff Commissioners at Hamilton, which were unfair and misleading and calculated to create a false impression amongst the public.

Mr. Bristol said: That there was often a scarcity of yellows; that at the present time there was only one refinery making yellows; that ten days ago the grocers were not able to get yellows of any sort; that at the present moment there were many householders wanting yellows; that the quality of Canadian yellows was sometimes poor, and the grocers were not able to get the yellows desired for their trade; that the refiners had a monopoly of not only manufacturing, but of speculating in sugar, and that the grocers had to take whatever the refiners liked to give them.

With the exception of the remark, where he said that yellows were sometimes poor, he was wrong in every one of these statements, and even when he said that yellows were sometimes good, sometimes poor, he was still giving a false impression, or trying to give a false impression, of the state of things to the Tariff Commissioners. You will probably be quite well aware that the quality of Canadian yellows is as a whole superior to the yellows of any other country. I have made it my business to interview most of the leading retail grocers of this city, and am in a position to tell you that they all entirely disagree with Mr. Bristol's remarks as stated above. I should like you very much to make some mention of this in your this week's issue, and can assure you, if you have not time to find out for yourself, that it will be entirely in accord with the sentiments of the retail trade, who, Liberals and Conservatives alike, are very well satisfied with the quality of Canadian yellows and granulated.

Yours, etc.,

NEMO.

A man may as well sit down and expect a pretty girl to come and marry him as for a merchant to expect business unless he goes after it.

SWEETS OF EXISTENCE.

Every grocer and general merchant in the country is probably putting his stock of candies into condition for the holiday trade. In his purchases he should not overlook the "Sweets of Existence," which the Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co. is putting on the market. The candies which have been thus titled are put up in a handsomely decorated, chocolate-colored paper box, and the contents of the box are even more attractive than the package.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

THE volume of business is fairly satisfactory, and, if anything, rather larger than a week ago. The dull, damp weather has naturally, however, had a depressing influence on trade. The chief attention is, of course, being given to foreign dried fruits, which are in good demand and generally firm in price. Shipments of Bosnia prunes reached the Toronto market on Tuesday. Sultana raisins are scarce on the spot. Canned goods are not receiving much attention, although the firmness in tomatoes and peas is rather more pronounced, some of the wholesale houses having advanced their figures 2½c. per dozen. Spices are in fair demand and firm. A good demand is being experienced for teas, the market for which still rules strong. Syrups and molasses are in moderate request only.

CANNED GOODS.

The feeling in regard to tomatoes is rather firmer than it was. We hear of one factory this week selling one thousand cases, the last it had in stock, at 65c.. and we hear of another instance where a bid of 60c. was turned down. We know of at least one wholesale house which has, during the past week, advanced its figures 2½c. per dozen on tomatoes, and peas by an equal amount. There have been some transactions in Cohoe canned salmon during the week at equal to $3.50 per case f.o.b. on the Coast. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.75 to $2.85; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Rio and Santos growths are easier in New York. Stocks held here are of moderate proportions and the demand is good. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is not much doing. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The situation is much about the same as a week ago. We quote as follows: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The sugar market is dull and unsettled. The raw markets advanced ⅛c. in New York the latter part of last week, and large purchases were made by the Trust at the advance. On Friday they bought all in sight, amongst others three cargoes centrifugals at the ⅛c. up. Yellows in New York also advanced ⅛c. at the end of last week. The market there, however, exhibits little or no life, and advices to hand at the time of writing state that the price of refined declined ⅛c. on Tuesday. On the Canadian market prices are steady and unchanged. Wholesalers are quoting granulated at 4 to 4.10c. and yellows at 3¼ to 3¾.

SPICES.

A fair trade is being done in spices, and the firmness in prices previously noted is being well maintained. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

The demand continues fair for tapioca and quiet for rice. We quote: Standard

NUTS.

The demand for nuts continues reasonably good. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 22 to 25c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13½c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 11 to 12c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 9c.; Sicily filberts, 9 to 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; chestnuts, $3.30 to $4 per bushel; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 bushel. per

TEAS.

A cable received in Toronto on Monday from China states that the market there has been cleaned out of all grades of green teas. Local wholesalers are buying all the green teas of this description they can pick up. Indian and Ceylon teas at a price are finding a fair sale. It is said that all China black teas held in first hands locally have been cleaned out. Japan teas are quiet and firm at unchanged prices. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Currants continue in good demand with prices firm. We quote as follows: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do., half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are going out freely. Selected are getting scarce. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

California loose muscatels are steady and unchanged. There is no business of importance to advise. We still quote 7½ to 8½c. for 3 and 4-crown respectively.

The first shipment of "Sphinx" brand Bosnia prunes reached the Toronto market Tuesday. The market for Bosnia prunes is strong and sales have been made during the week at figures about 1½c. per lb. above those ruling early in the season.

Sultana raisins are very scarce on the spot. We quote all the way from 7 to 10c. per lb.

Stocks of Malaga raisins are getting pretty well reduced. This is particularly true of London layers, which are practically sold out. We quote: London layers, $1.60 to $1.85; black baskets, $2.20 to $2.65; blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; choice clusters, $2.25 to $2.75; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

There is still a good demand for figs. Wholesale quotations are: 14 oz., 9 to 10c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Shipments of Persian dates were received by nearly, if not all, the houses this week, and they are meeting with a fair share of attention. We quote 7 to 7¼c. per lb. for Hallowee dates.

GREEN FRUIT.

The cables announce a decline in the price of Valencia oranges on the Liverpool market, but the decline comes too late to be of any value to dealers here, as oranges for the Christmas trade have been bought, while purchases made now will not arrive till after January 1st. Locally, the demand for oranges is good. Lemons are easier, while the quality is improving. Some of the lemons on the market this week are of very fine quality. The cause of the weakness in price is large arrivals, while more are on the way. Apples are quiet locally, and the condition of the English market is not satisfactory. Cranberries are experiencing a good demand. Bananas of good quality are scarce on the local market this week. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, $3.50 to $4 per box; Valencias, $5 to $6 per case; Mexicans, $4 to $4.50 per box; Floridas, $4.50 per box; Bahamas, $3.50 to $4 per box. Lemons—Messinas, $4 to $4.50 per box for fancy, and $3 to $3.75 for choice per box; Palermos, $4; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2 to $2.25 per bbl.; apples, $1.50 for red table fruit and $1 for ordinary; onions, 75c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; cranberries, $7 per bbl. for Jerseys; $6.50 to $7 for Cape Cods; $5.50 to $6 for Nova Scotias; $5.50 to $6 for Canadian in barrels and 65 to 75c. in baskets; bananas, $1.40 to $1.75 per bunch; Almeria grapes, $6 to $7 per keg.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—A great deal of winter creamery is coming in this week, and prices in consequence are a little easier. The quality of the dairy butter coming forward in tubs is not satisfactory, and it is difficult to effect sales. Dairy large rolls are in good supply, and prices remain as before. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 9c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 14 to 15c. Creamery—Tubs, 17 to 18c.; 1-lb., blocks, 19 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—There is practically nothing doing. Lower prices would be accepted if it would induce business, but as the demand is light people are still quoting firmer prices. We quote 10½ to 11c. for late makes, and 10 to 10½c. for early makes.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The market is dull and prices vary a great deal. Ordinary are quoted at 70 to 75c., and prime hand-picked at 75 to 80c per bushel.

DRIED APPLES—A few transactions are reported on export account. Some of the exporters are reported to have this season lost a great deal of money, largely on account of the unsatisfactory quality of much of the fruit shipped. Choice stock is worth about 2½c. per lb. f.o.b. at outside points, and local jobbers are quoting all the way from 2 to 3c.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is nothing doing and prices are nominally 3 to 3½c. f.o.b.

EGGS—The demand has been good, but little or no new laid eggs are coming forward. Business is largely confined to cold storage and held stock, which are firm at 15 to 16c.; limed are quoted at 14 to 14½c.

POTATOES—Still dull. We quote : 30c. per bag in carload lots on track, and 40c. out of store delivered.

HONEY—Quiet. We quote: Strained, 7 to 8c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8 to 9c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

MAPLE SYRUP—The demand continues fair at 80 to 85c. per gallon.

POULTRY—Supplies have been liberal, while the demand is light and the weather unfavorable. We quote nominally : Chickens, 20 to 40c. per pair.; turkeys are 6 to 7c. per lb.; geese, 4½ to 5c. per lb., and ducks, 40 to 55c. per pair.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade during the past week has been light in all kinds of provisions, and as the packers are busy stocks are accumulating. Dressed hogs are coming forward freely in farmers' wagons and offerings of carload lots are liberal. Heavy hogs are quoted at $4.25 per 100 lbs. and select weights at $4.75.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5¼c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots ; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c. ; small hams, 11c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50 ; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Business, as far as volume is concerned, remains much as before. There has been a marked advance in the price of ciscoes. We quote : Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb. ; Labrador herring, $5.75 to $6 per bbl. and $2.50 to $2.75 per half-bbl. ; boneless cod, 4c. per lb. ; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1 to $1.10 per 100 ; haddock, 5c. per lb. ; steak cod, 6c. per lb. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 to $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain continue large. Prices are a little easier on wheat. We quote : White wheat, 88 to 88½c. ; red, 87 to 87½c.; goose, 65 to 66c. ; oats, 23 to 24c.; peas, 44 to 45c.

FLOUR—Is dull and easy. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto : Manitoba patents, $5.30 ; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90 ; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.25 ; straight roller, $4.50, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Oatmeal is about 20c. per bbl. cheaper owing to the easier feeling in oats. Business is moderate. We quote : Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.40 in bags and $3.50 in bbls ; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50 ; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SEEDS.

There is nothing doing in alsike and dealers are not anxious to increase their stocks until they see what turn the market will take. The idea as to price is $3 to $5 per bushel f.o.b. A few lots of red clover are offering. There is this season a wider range in the quality of this article than usual. As a rule 50c. per bushel covers the margin, but at the moment there is a difference of $1 to $1.50. The ruling quotation is $3.50 to $5. Only an occasional sample of timothy is being shown, and it is worth $1.10 to $1.40 per bushel f.o.b.

SALT.

Trade is keeping up fairly well. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c. ; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Are unchanged, with cured quoted at 7¾ to 8c. Dealers pay 7c. for No. 1, 6c. for No. 2, and 5c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6 to 7c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheep and lambskins, 70 to 80c.

WOOL—The market is steady. Dealers are paying 20½ to 21½c. for combing fleece, but offerings are limited. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c., and extras at 22 to 23c.

PETROLEUM.

Business continues brisk. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto : Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Glucose is a little lower.

Oatmeal is about 20c. per bbl. cheaper.

Lemons are $1 to $1.50 per box cheaper.

"Sphinx" prunes are in dealers' hands this week.

Malaga raisins are getting scarce on the local market.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, DEC. 10, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE grocery market generally has exhibited a fair degree of activity for the season. In the heavier staples sugar has been asked for to a fair extent and rules steady. Coffee is scarce, and in consequence rather firmer. Tea still shows an upward tendency, jobbers being asked an advance on Japans this week by commission men. Dried fruit is in good seasonable enquiry and rules firm, cables being strong on all lines. Spices are pointing higher, especially white pepper and ginger, and in canned fish, as will be noted elsewhere, radical advances have already been asked in the spot prices.

SUGAR.

There is a fair jobbing demand for refined sugar, otherwise the market is without feature. Yellows are no longer as scarce as they were, as refiners have caught up to their orders, which are now pretty well filled, but the general tendency of values is steady despite unsettled reports from outside markets. Granulated, in round lots at the refineries, has sold at 3⅞ to 4c., according to quantity, and yellows range from 3⅛ to 3¾c., as to quality. In a jobbing way we quote granulated 4 1-16 to 4⅛c., and yellows 3¼ to 3¾c., as to grade.

SYRUPS.

There is a moderate jobbing enquiry for these, but though demand is quiet prices are steady at the refineries. A few small orders are noted on the basis of 1½ to 2¾c. as to grade, and we quote in a jobbing way 22 to 35c. per gallon. The brighter grades are more enquired for at present than the dark.

MOLASSES.

More enquiry has been noted for molasses during the week in a wholesale way, which is interpreted as a sign that stocks in jobbers' hands are not nearly as heavy as anticipated. Round lots of Barbadoes have brought 28½c., and mixed, 27c. In a jobbing way prices are firmly held at 30 to 31c. on both Barbadoes and Porto Rico.

RICE.

There is no change in the situation of the rice market. Advices from abroad continue firm and values are well maintained. We quote values firm accordingly: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

There has been quite a fair trade in spices from first to second hands, jobbers asking for white pepper, ginger and nutmegs, etc., and the demand from retailers has also continued active during the past week. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

A scarcity of Maracaibo and a good enquiry for the same has been practically the sole feature of the market, and straight invoice lots have sold as high as 17½c., and orders were unfilled owing to difficulty in securing stock in time. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 15½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 17½ to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The firm feeling in teas continues, the fact being fully demonstrated last Friday when sellers refused to duplicate an order for a round lot of Japans except at an advance of 1 to 1½c. per pound. Indians and Ceylons also are enquired for, and far from plentiful. Altogether, the tea situation seems to be a very strong one. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 11½ to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 14 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The firm feeling in Valencia raisins, as in all other dried fruit, is fully maintained. Demand is fully up to the average for the season, and stocks are light, accordingly prices point higher. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

Jobbers' stocks of California raisins are extremely limited, and as they cannot be replaced with any degree of promptitude or certainty from the Coast, prices are firm. We quote: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are firm and unchanged at 8 to 12c.

There is a good demand for table fruit, the sorting demand being very brisk for Malaga clusters during the week. Prices are rather firmer also at $1.50 to $4.50 per box as to grade.

There is no change in currants, which rule firm as last quoted, while demand is fairly active. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

Prunes are all firmly held, while demand is good. French are cabled steady and an advance of 1s. 3d. in Bosnia is noted this week. As a result of these strong advices spot prices are very firm. We quote as follows: French 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

Figs continue steady at 9½ to 11c., and dates, 5 to 7c. First receipts of the new crop of the latter are expected here next week. They are offering at the above prices.

NUTS.

The demand continues for nuts, and stocks are being steadily worked down. Filberts are firm at the advance noted last week, while others are steady. New crop nuts will be on the market by the end of next week, but they will have little influence on ruling values, as their cost was pretty high. We quote: New Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 20c.; new Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 10c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 8 to 10c.; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 15c.; shelled walnuts, 20 to 22c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a fair jobbing business in canned goods. A leading feature is a firmer feeling in lobsters and French sardines, which have advanced sharply. Salmon also show a disposition to advance. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.25 to $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.15 to $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.15 to $1.20; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $9 to $10 per case.

FISH.

The weather has led to a better demand for fish during the past week, the chief enquiry being for fresh and smoked fish. Sales of pickled and dried have been very slow, and both pickled herrings and green cod show an easier feeling, prices being shaded 25c. per bbl. No. 1 N. S. herring has sold at $3.75 to $4 per bbl.; No. 1, large green cod, $5 to $5.25; No. 1, $4.50; No. 2, $3.50, and No. 1, green haddock,

HUDON, HEBERT & CIE.

MONTREAL

$3.50. A few lots of Labrador herrings were offering at $5 per bbl. Small Labrador salmon are steady at $12 to $12.50; No. 2 mackerel, $12; No. 1, halibut, $8 to $8.50.

There have been considerable arrivals of fresh frozen herrings, haddock and codfish; in all six cars were offered during the past few days, which met with a ready sale at low prices. Haddock and cod are easier at 3¼ to 3½c. per lb., and herrings have sold at $1.35 to $1.40 per 100 for large, and at 50 to 60c. for small. Frozen B.C. and N.B. salmon have ruled steady at 11 to 12c. per lb., and halibut at 8 to 9c. There are considerable Manitoba pickerel, white fish, trout and pike in transit, and sales have been made to arrive at 6½c. for white fish, trout and pickerel, and at 4½ to 5c. per lb. for pike.

Owing to the continued large arrivals of smoked fish the market for haddies is easier, the outside price now being 6½c. per lb. Other lines are steady. Yarmouth and bay bloaters, 90c. per box; kippered herrings, $1.35 per box; ciscoes, 75c. to $1 per basket of 100 fish, and medium new smoked herring, 11c. per box.

The demand for all lines of dried fish is of a very limited character and sales are slow at steady prices. Cod, $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.90 to $2 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $4.50 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish 3c. per lb.

In shell oysters trade is principally of a small jobbing nature, the demand being for small lots at the following prices: Malpeques, $5 to $5.50 per bbl.; Buctouche, $4.50 to $5; Miramichi, $3 to $3.50, and ordinary, $2.50 per bbl.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market has been very quiet during the past week. Lemons are easier. New Valencia oranges are offering this week at $5.50 to $5.75 per box. Malaga grapes are in fair demand. We quote: Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6 per bbl.; Valencia oranges, $5.50 to $7.50 per box; lemons, $2.75 to $3 per box, and $7 per chest; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; cranberries $5 to $6 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 70 to 75c. per crate, and new Malaga grapes $5 to $7.50 per keg.

APPLES.

The apple market is almost at a standstill as far as business goes in a jobbing way, and prices are easier at 90c. to $1.50 for No. 1, and 50 to 85c. for No. 2.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There has been a fair amount of business in eggs. New laid sell at 20 to 22c.; choice candled and Montreal limed, 14 to 14½c.; western limed, 13 to 14c., and held western fresh, 12 to 12½c. per doz.

BEANS—Beans are in slow demand, 80 to 85c. in car lots and 90 to 95c. in a jobbing way.

HONEY—Quiet, at 8 to 8½c.

POTATOES—Potatoes are firmer under light receipts and car lots are now held 5c. higher at 40c. per bag, with small lots 10c. up at 45 to 50c.

DRIED APPLES—Fair demand at 3 to 3½c., with evaporated, 4c.

ONIONS—Red onions are unchanged at $1.25 per bbl. and white $1.30 to $1.35.

POULTRY—Receipts of dressed poultry have been fair and prices rule low. We quote: Turkeys, 7c.; chickens, 6 to 6¼c.; ducks, 7 to 7½c., and geese, 5 to 5½c.

DRESSED HOGS—There is no change in these, prices ruling at $4.65 to $4.85 in a jobbing way.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market continues to rule very quiet owing to the fact that buyers generally are only taking sufficient stock to fill actual wants. Trade in consequence is of a jobbing character and values show no alteration. We quote: Canadian pork, new, $11 to $12; Canadian short cut, clear, $10 to $10.25; Canadian short cut, mess, $10.25 to $10.50; hams, city cured, per lb., 9 to 10c.; lard, Canadian, in pails, 7 to 7½c.; bacon, per lb., 8½ to 9½c.; lard, com., refined, per lb., 5¼ to 5½c.

tinued fair, and the market rules steady. We quote: Winter wheat, $4.75 to $5; spring wheat, patents, $5.20 to $5.30; straight roller, $4.25 to $4.50; straight roller, bags, $2.10 to $2.25; extra bags, $1.75 to $1.85; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.50 to $5.

Oatmeal rules easier and prices have been shaded as much as 10c. per barrel on rolled oats. Other goods are quotably unchanged. We quote: Standard, bbls., $3.65 to $3.75; granulated, bbls., $3.70 to $3.80, rolled oats, bbls., $3.65 to $3.75; rolled oats, per bag, $1.82 to $1.87.

There is no change in feed, the market being moderately active and steady. We quote: Bran, $9.50 to $10.50; shorts, $11 to $12; moullie, $15 to $16.

There continues to be a good enquiry for choice baled hay, of which the offerings are still small and prices rule firm. No. 1 has sold at $10.50 to $11 and No. 2 at $9 to $9.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese continues quiet. Enquiry over the cable continued to-day, but nothing important resulted from it. Bids in every case were too low to work except in cheaper goods around 9¾ to 10c., and there are none here, practically all being cleaned up. Finest is too firmly held to be influenced by these, and, for this reason, a quiet market is looked for until the turn of the year.

The butter market was steady at the decline, and there was some disposition to trade at the lower figures asked. We heard of trade in strictly finest, in boxes, at 18½c., but this was an exception, the bulk of trade ranging from 17½ to 18¼c., according to quality.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Canned sardines, salmon, mackerel and lobsters, are all showing a distinct upward tendency.

First arrivals of new dates are expected on the market next week. They are offering at 5 to 7½c.

The strength in tea continues. Jobbers who tried to duplicate orders for round lots of Japans this week were asked an advance of 1c. per pound.

An advance of 1½c. per pound has been asked for Maracaibo coffee, of which there is little or none here.

New crop Grenoble walnuts and other nuts will be distributed among the wholesale trade next week.

Commission men are asking 3¾d., cost, freight and insurance in Montreal, to lay down fresh supplies of white pepper.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 10, 1896.

IN wholesale lines, perhaps, the fruit business is now the most active, and some open weather which we have had has been very much to the advantage of the fruit merchant. In other wholesale lines the demand is well maintained, though quite a difference is now noticed. The retail grocery stores, of which St. John has a large number—many of which she may well be proud of—are now active. In markets there is little of interest. Cream of tartar continues weak. Our market is well supplied with goods bought at higher prices than now rule. Collections are slow, and it is feared the New Year will not bring any immediate change for the better. Carleton, or what is now known as the west side, is very active with export business, and the retail grocery trade, perhaps more than any other branch of business, feels the good results.

OIL—The big business is over in burning oil for this season. There is, however, a good demand yet. Values show no change. In lubricating oil the dull season is here, and it might almost be said nothing is doing. We quote: Best American, 21c.; best Canadian, 19¾c.; prime, 15¼c.

SALT—The direct Liverpool steamer brought quite a quantity of coarse salt, and with the cargoes that have lately arrived the market is much better supplied than for some time. The fall demand has now been met, and business is now rather quiet. We quote; Coarse, 48 to 50c., factory-filled, 90c. to $1: 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—The active demand for dried fruit and other holiday lines has somewhat put this branch of the trade in the background. Holders, while stocks are large, feel very well satisfied with the state of the market, feeling that some lines, particularly tomatoes, will be higher. There are few, if any, changes to report. Lobsters are scarce and high. Salmon at least shows no upward feeling. Oysters are easy. Peaches, peas and strawberries are firm. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 70 to 75c.; tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT.—Demand, as stated, is very active. Valencias are not as high as might be expected, as they could not be replaced at the price, and stocks are not large, but owing to quality dealers are not anxious to hold. At best now California fruit is looked upon as the goods to hold, as they keep so well. Very few 2-crown goods are imported here. This is a market that wants good goods or none, and poor goods cannot be sold even at a price. California prunes show rather better demand, particularly larger sizes. The prune market is very firm, but sales cannot be called active. New dates are to hand, and first arrivals are bringing rather better prices than those to arrive next week. Market is firm. Currants are moving in large quantities at full prices—particularly cleaned. Evaporated apples, while low, are thought by some good stock, and higher prices are not unexpected. Nuts have large sales. Quantity of figs received this season here has been large and quality good, better than was expected. There is good demand. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 6¾ to 7c.; London layers, $1.60 to $2.00; currants, cases, 4¾ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 4½ to 6c.; dates, 4½ to 5½c.; dried apples, 3c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5½c.; Canadian onions, $2; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7 to 7½c.; citron peel, 16 to 17c.; orange and lemon, 12 to 13c.; Valencia layers, 6½ to 7c.; California 4-crown L.M. raisins, 7¾ to 8c.; Imperial cabinets, $2; Dehesas, $2.50 to $3.25.

GREEN FRUIT.—This is an active branch of trade and will be from now till Christmas, when the long quiet season will begin. Large quantities of Valencia oranges were received this week by direct Liverpool steamer, the first received this season. Market tends lower, and after the holiday demand prices will rule lower. Large quantities of grapes, Malagas, also to hand by same steamer; in this line there has been an advance and prices are marked higher. Lemons to hand are in some cases but fair quality. There is quite a stock of good West India oranges here. Pineapples slow sale, also demand for cranberries is quiet. Apples keep very low, good apples being offered freely at $1; best grades of hard fruit run as high as $1.75, but are slow at $1.50. The Nova Scotia packers have made a great mistake in sending a quantity of poor apples here. They have had a bad effect on what was a bad market. Bananas have no sale. We quote: Lemons, $4 to $4.50; oranges, West India, per bbl., $5 to $6; Valencia oranges, $5 to $5.50 per case; apples, $1 to $1.75 per bbl.; keg grapes, $6.50 to $7; cranberries, Cape Cod, $6 to $6.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4 to $5; pines, $1.50 per doz.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Eggs, which at the first of the week were rather easier, are now rather firmer again and scarce; prices will likely go higher. Good butter is hard to get, but stock of butter is large and very dull. Cheese shows no change. Quite a quantity of fancy cheese are sold here and a new brand, called "Pepsin" cream cheese, in about ½-lb. packages, has taken quite a hold on the market. The stock of cheese here is not large. We quote: Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; creamery, tubs, 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c. Cheese, 10½c. Eggs, 18 to 18½c.

SUGAR—This does not show as much strength as was expected after the slight advance from lowest point. The demand is rather quieter. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There is a firmer feeling, but no change in price. Some shipments west have relieved the market here. There is still a quantity of Porto Rico here; quality fine in some cases, and as it costs quite high, holders will try for best figures. There has been a good demand for New Orleans during the week. The larger number of dealers now keep this grade, and have steady demand, particularly those who are not direct importers of West India goods. Some very fine samples are shown. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to FISH—Market is not so active. Smelt, the first frozen fish to arrive, have found a very low market owing to soft weather. Already some business has been attempted in frozen herring, but not successfully. Other fresh fish are scarce. Large cod rather easy; pollock very dull. Bay herring are now all well to hand, and stock not large; though demand is rather quieter, prices hold. Of largest herring there are none. Smoked continue firm. The quantity of these now handled here is much smaller than in former years. Stock of shad very light; bloaters show hardly as good demand. Stock of Shelburne is light. We quote as follows: Large cod, $3.00 to $3.25; medium, $2.85 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.40 to $1.50 per half-bbl.; smoked, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; Yarmouth, 4c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, 90 to $1 per box; Barrington herring, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; mackerel, $18 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—There is rather less movement. Beef continues firm at the advance, but pork shows no change. In pure lard some low prices have been quoted by western houses. There is a fair demand for smoked meats. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 5½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7¾ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — While flour is not quoted higher, the market is very firm, and higher prices are expected. The movement has been rather better during the week. The sales of feed continues light. The close of navigation has about closed Prince Edward Island oats out of this market. Ontario are quoted lower, and a fair trade is being done. Oatmeal shows no change here, but the feeling is lower. Beans are steady, and light movement. The lower price of western grey buckwheat is helping the sale. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.70 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do., do., $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1.10; prime, $1; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

A St. John mill received an order this week for nail keg staves from Ontario.

The Bank of New Brunswick has declared a dividend of 6 per cent. for the half year.

C. & E. Macmichael, wholesale grocers here, have been appointed agents for Knox's gelatine.

Mr. J. D. Roberts, of the Pure Gold Co., did the round of the city merchants with their local representative, Mr. Robert Jardine, this week. They do a large trade here and through the Provinces. From here Mr. Roberts went to Moncton.

The Canada Milk Condensing Co., of Antigonish, have applied for incorporation; capital, $20,000.

Mr. McGaffigan, whose suit against the Pulman Car Co. was spoken of last week, failed to get a verdict.

One shipper, Mr. S. H. Jones, shipped from P. E. Island in six weeks 9,242 sheep and lambs, 5,500 geese and 5,000 pelts, representing $23,500.

A. L. Goodwin received this week 100 boxes new dates, the first to arrive, 50 bags each of almonds and walnuts, 300 kegs of Almeria grapes and 100 cases Valencia oranges.

This week the grocers are much interested in a suit brought by the makers of Union Blend teas, sold here by George S. de Forest & Son, against Dearborn & Co., it being claimed that the latter house sold a tea not the same, but represented to be the same as the above blend.

The catch of smelt so far has been large. At or near Chatham 400 tons were taken in a few days, one man getting $150 for two nights' catch. On the Buctouche and Cocagne rivers the catch is also large, that of the first two days being 81 tons. Prices run from 2 to 3c. per lb. Shipments go as far west as Chicago.

Ontario apples have this fall been sold in Yarmouth, N.S., in spite of the low price of Nova Scotia apples. Packers there should note this, as it is the poor fruit and poor packing that is to blame.

The Government guarantee on Union and Commercial bank notes of Newfoundland of 80 per cent and 20 per cent respectively, will expire on the 31st of this month. Holders should forward notes to any bank now doing business in St. Johns, Newfoundland.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

TRADE in Halifax shows no improvement. The fall has closed bad, and winter is setting in bad. All lines are dull and lifeless.

Consignments of fresh pork are being received, but nobody is asking for it even at the low price of 4 and 4½c. by the body.

A cargo of Ontario beef from Park, Blackwell & Co. is daily expected. J. A. Leaman & Co. are receiving large quantities every week from Guelph, which they are now quoting at about 5c.

Ontario poultry sent here for Thanksgiving did not sell well, and was worked off this week at less than 8c. at retail. Native turkeys are retailing at 10c. Geese and chickens are correspondingly low.

Produce has been a little stiffer, and good P. E. Island potatoes sell at 28c.

Flour dealers report nothing doing.

The prospects for Christmas trade are not encouraging. There is no snow, and continued thaws make travel in country districts impossible. Green and dried fruit merchants report very few orders so far.

Eggs are jobbing at 18c.

Creamery butter has advanced. Prints are selling at 22c. and finest tub at 21c. Dairy sells all the way from 14 to 18c. September cheese is quoted at 11c. and early at 10½c.

SWEET POTATOES.

The average yield is 70.8 bushels per cre, while it was 79 bushels in 1895 and 92.4 in 1894. In the more important states the yield is as follows: Virginia, 103; North Carolina, 80; South Carolina, 63; Georgia, 59; Alabama, 66; Mississippi, 65; Texas, 45. The quality of the crop in the principal states ranges from 76 to 103. Drought did much damage in Georgia. — American Grocer.

The Salada Tea Co. was compelled to keep its employes working till 11 o'clock three nights last week, and the operation has been repeated this week.

CANNED GOODS IN THE STATES.

THE situation in the canned goods market at the present time is at variance with the conditions usually existing at this time of the year. While it is understood that the last season's pack was one of the lightest recorded for many years past, there has been no speculative demand or anything approaching it. This is held to be the more remarkable in view of the fact that old stocks have been closely cleaned up and that the 1896 pack of most varieties came on a practically bare market. The indifference of buyers is attributed entirely to the uncertainty felt concerning the action that may be taken at the coming session of Congress on the revenue and currency questions, the outcome of which is awaited with some anxiety by all branches of trade.

In spite of the dull state of trade in the consuming branch there has been of late an active demand for the cheaper grades of peas, string and lima, an unusual circumstance for this time of the year, when, as a rule, most distributors have about all of the stock they need to carry them until spring. The fact that the buyers did not purchase as much as ordinarily during the coming season or immediately thereafter leaves them at the present time with comparatively small supplies, and now that the primary markets are beginning to show an upward tendency it appears that they feel the need of replenishing their stocks, though they are reluctant to pay the higher prices asked.

There has of late been more demand for State corn. According to report, the stock in the hands of packers has been closely cleaned up, those who have anything left being, it is said, in a position to hold it for the higher prices which they confidently expect to obtain after the turn of the year. The crop of State corn, it is stated, was much smaller than for many years past, and the supply in the hands of packers at this date is reported to be less than for several years at this season. While the demand has been smaller than usual so far this season prices for State corn are 15 to 20 per cent. above the quotations of a year ago at this time of the year, which is to be attributed solely to the short pack. At this date last year the stock of peas in second hands was reported as fully 50 per cent. more than the quantity estimated to be held now. Yet prices are lower on the average, owing to the failure of a number of the packers and the forced sales of their stock at sheriff auction. So the market has taken an upward turn under the increasing demand.

The market for tomatoes has been unsettled for some time past, owing to a pressure to sell on the part of some of the packers who needed ready money and could obtain it only by sacrificing a portion of their stock. These cheap goods are pretty well closed out, it is understood, but as there are still some low priced goods seeking an outlet the feeling is rather easy. There are, however, no sellers of more than one or two carload lots at the present, the bulk of the remaining pack being held for higher prices, which packers feel confident they can obtain next spring, if not sooner, in view of reports that the stocks in distributers' hands are much smaller than usual at this season.— N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

INNOCENT BUT FINED.

With reference to the convicton of the old and respected firm of Taylor & Williamson, for selling adulterated pepper, an explanation is given, on their authority, in The Market Guide. The white pepper in question was ordered from a leading Canadian spice mill as white pepper, meaning, of course, "pure pepper." Taylor & Williamson assumed it to be pure and sold it as such. From the spice miller's explanation, it is evident that the mistake arose from one of their servants filling T. & W's. boxes from a bin of "compound" pepper which lay close to the "pure" bin. T. & W. could not detect the mistake by the eye, as there are various shades in "white" pepper. Neither was there anything, by smell or taste, to indicate adulteration. In fact, without expensive laboratory appliances, microscopes and expert chemical experience, no retailer could detect such adulteraton.— Banner, Chatham.

"We are offering mat figs at close figures," the Davidson & Hay, Ltd., report.

If you want A1 bulk cocoa to retail at 15c. see samples with Lucas, Steele & Bristol's travelers.

H. P. Gould & Co. report largely increased trade. There is a scarcity of fresh eggs and good butter.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol distributed their first lot of dates last week and have more arriving in ten days, much cheaper. They are showing a large assortment of California prunes, including "Harvest" brand in 25-lb. boxes.

A direct shipment ex ss. Biela, of green Rio coffee arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are showing a fine sample of choice Vostizza currants due to arrive this week.

A consignment of Griffin & Skelley's 3 and 4-crown Muscatel raisins arrived for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., have arriving this week direct shipments of Assams, Ceylons and low-grade Young Hysons.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of Batger's dry drained citron and orange peel in kegs 224 pounds net.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have a fine assortment of figs of various grades and qualities, and are quoting close figures to the trade.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., report that they have a complete assortment of Malaga table raisins, suitable for the Christmas trade.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's coffee is put up in air-tight cans, 25 and 50 lbs. each, ground or whole; 2-lb. cans of same are also put up by Lucas, Steele & Bristol.

The demand for Worcester sauce at a reasonable price is fully met by that made by Lorimier & Co., of London, for whom Robert Greig & Co. are agents. This sauce, although introduced only a few months ago, has had a good sale, and the demand is growing.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., are in receipt of a shipment of Marbot walnuts, which are particularly fine this year.

Hugh Walker & Son, Guelph, have just passed into stock a car of fancy Washington navel oranges, also a car of Valencias ex ss. Numidian.

T. A. Lytle & Co. report unusually large sales of mince meat. The sale of marmalade, jams, jellies and pickles they find in excess of previous years.

Dawson & Co. have in stock one carload each of Mexican oranges and Messina lemons. They also have arriving this week one car of Valencia oranges and another of the same next week.

Imperial cabinets and Connoisseur clusters, in boxes and quarters, are still in stock with Lucas, Steele & Bristol. They also have some fancy 2-lb. and 5½-lb. cartoons Malaga fruit left.

"We find our ½-lb. package of 25c. 'Kurma' a great seller in the city and large towns where there is a trade for cheap package tea," say the Davidson & Hay, Ltd., wholesale agents for this tea.

It is three years since W. H. Gillard & Co. completed arrangements with a prominent Grecian currant buyer to supply them with a special brand of Paradise currants.

The "Rising Sun" stove polish factory at Canton, Mass., takes the entire product of a large box factory located near the works. Eight hundred cords of lumber were made into "Rising Sun" stove polish boxes last year.

Mack's double starch is a standard necessity to the English housekeeper. Robert Greig & Co., the agents, say that the need for a starch that, like this, combines every requisite for laundry day, is being fully met here also by this line.

The material used in the manufacture of the "Rising Sun" and the "Sun Paste" stove polish is imported from Ceylon, India, and goes through a peculiar manipulation at the factory in Canton, Mass. The durable qualities of the stove polish are due to the high quality of the materials used.

W. H. Gillard & Co. desire to direct the attention of the trade to their fine range of Young Hyson teas suitable for selling at 25c. retail. The sharp advance in these teas recently, and the fact that this firm purchased their supplies before the advances, enable them to offer at exceptionally low figures.

A KNOWING MERCHANT.

RUSH STRONG, one of the big merchants of Tennessee, with money to burn, got his start in life by a neat trick that advertised his business all over the south, says an exchange. The county was about to hold a fair, and each merchant offered a prize for the best of something in his line. A offered $10 for the finest pound of butter; B offered $10 for the finest dozen of eggs, etc. When it came Strong's turn he said he wanted all night to think it over, as he felt very poor. The next morning he sent to the committee this proposition:

"Rush Strong will give half the entire stock in his store to the man or woman who is contented with his or her lot in life."

It was published in the pamphlet of the Fair Association and caused a laugh all over the state. One day the president said to Strong: "Look here, Strong, we've been fooling about this thing long enough, and now its getting serious. You had better stop this right now and tell everybody you were only joking, because there's a chap down here in Blount County who is goin' to take you up, and he's got a half dozen neighbors ready to swear that he is absolutely contented with his lot in life."

Strong vowed that he meant business, and would leave the decision in the committee's hands; the stock was ready to be divided. Pleading was in vain. The man appeared with his witnesses, declaring that he was to get the prize. He made out a good case, and the committee were about to decide in his favor, when Strong arose and asked quietly:

"Gentlemen, if this man is contented with his lot in life, what on earth does he want with half of my stock?"

THE BIG TEA PLANT NOT SOLD.

In a morning newspaper was published recently a London letter signed by Ballard Smith, which contained a statement to the effect that the plant of Lipton, the tea planter of Ceylon, had been purchased by a syndicate, headed by Ernest Terrah Hooley, of Nottingham.

The publication created surprise in tea trade circles in this country, and the manager of the New York branch cabled to London. The answer was as follows:

"Statement absolutely false. Contradict. Not one word truth any shape or form."

As a matter of fact, to meet the increasing demand the plant is being enlarged, and an enormous new warehouse has been purchased in London, which may have given rise to the false rumor.—New York Press.

COMMERCIAL MORALITY IN JAPAN.

AN important contribution to the discussion of the competition to be expected from Japan in the markets of the world is made by Mr. Robert Young to the November number of The Nineteenth Century. As the editor of The Kobe Chronicle, Japan, the writer speaks with some authority, and he gives cogent reasons for believing that the Mikado's subjects are likely to lose the foreign customers they have already gained, unless their code of commercial morals is materially and rapidly improved.

To account for the low standard of commercial morality in Japan, one must bear in mind how recently the overthrow of the feudal system took place in that country. The resultant social changes have been vast, but there has scarcely been time to revolutionize the traditional opinions which were the outgrowth of centuries. No doubt, the dislocation of the old feudal structure has been more favorable to the mercantile class than to any other. The territorial noble or clan leader, who formerly enjoyed almost complete local independence, suddenly found himself a cipher, unless he chose to embrace politics. The samourai, or man-at-arms, who used to be regarded by the common people as a hero, but who was possessed of but little education except in the art of war, has been forced during the last thirty years to labor with hands or brain to save himself from starvation. On the other hand, the merchants who had hitherto occupied the lowest rung on the social ladder, being deemed inferior to the tillers of the soil, and but little above the eta or pariah class, have discovered that trade, erstwhile despised, is now a passport to social position, and that wealth confers honor and power. It seemed, however, that, although trade has now become a recognized and reputable vocation in Japan, but little change has as yet occurred in the methods which characterized it during the long period of military supremacy, when trader was but another name for trickster, and the pursuit of commerce was held to argue lack of integrity. Mr. Young is undoubtedly right in saying that to impute habitually a low ideal to a particular class, and to speak and act as if in the circumstances no higher ideal could exist, is to originate and encourage a defective standard which no sudden change of environment can immediately alter. That the standard has not been altered is pronounced undeniable. It is, we are told, the unanimous verdict of those in a position to judge, that Japanese morality is of a defective type, when compared even with the standard prevailing in China, where trade has never been branded as degrading, or with the standard of the western nations, which, notwithstanding all the trickery immemorially associated with trade, have yet kept before them a certain ideal of integrity in business, as in other walks of life. According to Mr. Young, it is a common belief among those who have investigated at first hand the conditions of trade in Japan, that commercial morality there stands almost on the lowest plane possible to civilized people; and that, with few exceptions, even those Japanese who prove estimable and high-minded in all other matters are not to be trusted in business transactions. In Japan, the man who fails to take advantage of his neighbor in a bargain is looked upon as a fool.

Several striking examples of Japanese commercial morality are cited in the article before us. In one case a firm of British merchants had imported a hundred bales of yarn to the order of a rich Japanese trader. By the time the goods arrived, however, the market had declined, and the transaction promised to result in a loss to the Japanese buyer. Thereupon the latter fell back upon a course which is said to be commonly adopted in such cases, and refused to receive the goods. The British firm brought an action against him in the Japanese court, but while the suit was still pending a deputation from the yarn guild waited upon them and informed them that, unless they accepted a compromise and stopped legal proceedings, they would be placed under a boycott, and none of the Japanese yarn merchants would have any dealings with them in future. Refusing to be intimidated, the British firm instructed their counsel to inform the court of the attempt to interfere by menace with the administration of justice. He did so, but without effect ; for the judges, while giving a decision for the plaintiffs, refused to take any notice of the contempt of court which had been committed by the defendants. Under the circumstances, the British firm foresaw that the boycott would be enforced with ruinous effect, and they accordingly submitted to the so-called compromise by which they lost a large sum of money. It is significant that in the public discussion of this incident, not a single Japanese newspaper expressed any condemnation of the methods pursued by the defendant and the yarn guild ; on the contrary, many went so far as to justify them. The case is said to be only one of many which vindicate the standing complaint among foreign merchants in Japan that the native trader will not fulfil his engagements, if by so doing he is likely to suffer loss.

Mr. Young does not confine his strictures to the business methods of ordinary tradesmen in Japan. He does not hesitate to assert that where commercial as distinguished from political and diplomatic morality is concerned, even the principles and acts of the Government leave much to be desired. For instance, it might have been supposed that the promoters of last year's Industrial Exhibition at Kiota, held under the patronage of the Government, and associated with the name of the Mikado, would have aimed at setting a good example to merchants in general. This was scarcely the case. A visitor who saw some articles at the Exhibition which took his fancy, but which were marked "sold," went to the shop of the exhibitor and attempted to purchase similar goods. A price was demanded just 50 per cent. above that marked on the samples in the Exhibition. It was explained that, had the articles forwarded by the firm to the Exhibition been marked at their actual retail price, they would have been refused by the committee, which insisted on the manufactured articles being all marked at low figures ; consequently, the exhibitors had to fix a fictitious price on their goods, and then to send agents on the first day of the Exhibition and purchase them back. Mr. Young also shows that, in the teeth of treaties, the Japanese Government for some ten years secretly discriminated against foreigners and in favor of native importers. It seems that all duties are payable in boos, and the rate of exchange for foreigners was 311 boos per $100 ; while for natives the rate was 317.44 to $100. This difference in the rate of exchange was carefully concealed from every legation and consulate, and the only foreign employe in the Customs was kept in ignorance of it. Since the discrimination was detected it has been abandoned ; but there is no doubt that for some ten years the Japanese Government was knowingly concerned in a trick to "best" the foreigner.

Mr. Young's conclusion is that things cannot very long go on as they now are, without Japanese traders and all interested in commerce being forced to look at business methods from a higher point of view. Already Japanese consuls have reported that the country's foreign trade is seriously injured by merchants who send abroad matches that will not strike, rice that is not up to sample, and stuffs whose only merit is cheapness. It appears that within the last few years guilds have been formed to introduce better methods of business into certain branches of trade ; but they have not yet wrought much improvement, and there can be no radical change so long as there is no public opinion to support the application of morality to business.

SALE OF LIQUOR BY GROCERS.

THE sale of liquors took up the entire discussion at the meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association last Thursday evening. The proposition was made to the chairman, President S. D. Vallieres, that an amendment be drafted to the Quebec liquor law to permit licensed grocers to sell half-pints of spirituous and fermented liquors in sealed bottles, instead of, as at present, bottles containing not less than one-twelfth of a gallon. This somewhat radical proposal caused a lot of discussion.

A. D. Fraser, of Fraser, Viger & Co., strongly opposed the proposition. He pointed out the danger of the innovation resulting in unpleasant after-developments. It was entrenching on the trade of the saloon and restaurant-keeper. Why did not the petition "go the whole hog," and ask that grocers be allowed to sell by the glass? The presenting of such a petition would have the effect of antagonizing the saloon-keepers and restaurant-keepers against the licensed grocers; the temperance people would also be up in arms, and the result would probably be that the grocery and the liquor departments would have to be conducted separately.

The other members present differed from Mr. Fraser, but the draft petition was amended in one or two respects, and was finally adopted, in effect, as follows: That by the License Act actually in force in this province, grocers cannot sell spirituous and fermented liquors, whether imported or bottled here by distillers and brewers, containing less than one-twelfth of a gallon, but there are actually on the market a great number of different spirituous liquors in bottles, imported as well as bottled here, containing less than one-twelfth of a gallon, and in order to conform to the existing law they cannot be sold singly, resulting in great inconvenience to the public and great loss to those grocers paying licenses; it would be in the interests of trade and commerce and of the general public that all grocers paying licenses should be allowed to sell spirituous and fermented liquors of any kind in bottles containing not less than one-twenty-fourth of a gallon, and known to the trade as quarter bottles, on the following conditions: (1) That the said spirituous and fermented liquors be sold only in sealed bottles; (2) that the said spirituous and fermented liquors be imported in bottles or bottled here.

The following were appointed a delegation to proceed to Quebec and lay the petition before the Legislature: Messrs. S. D. Vallieres, John Scanlan, J. P. Dixon, J. O. Levesque, T. Poupart, S. Demers, N. Lapointe, O. Richard and V. Raby.

The matter of departmental stores again came up, and Messrs. S. D. Vallieres, V. Raby, A. D. Fraser, John Scanlan, S. Demers, N. Lapointe and Ald. Turner and Connaughton were appointed a committee to wait upon the merchants who are opposed to such stores, and see what could be done in the matter.

LIMBURGER CHEESE ON THE WANE.

There is some indication that limburger cheese will, before many years, drop practically out of consumption. Dealers state that the consumption is decreasing year after year, with the exception of the foreign classes, which use it altogether. As a result of the depression in limburger, the price is at present lower than it has ever been before.

The retail grocer now pays about 8½c. per pound for limburger cheese. This is under the price of the ordinary New York cheese, which is very unusual. A fair price for limburger is about 10 to 10½c., which is an average of 1c. per pound over the ordinary cheese.

There are large stocks of this cheese on the market at present, and holders are anxious to unload, realizing the depression which has overtaken the business. This has depressed the price greatly, although it is scarcely likely that the figure will decline any further.

The decline in the consumption of limburger cheese is assigned to the same cause which is proving a Nemesis to so many of these foreign highly-flavored food products.

The rising generation seems to prefer other products whose sweetness is not so palpably open to question. The consumption of sauer kraut seems to be decreasing for the same reason.—Grocery World.

SHIPMENTS OF GRECIAN CURRANTS.

The shipments of currants from Greece to all parts from the beginning of the season to date were 82,507 tons, against 81,103 tons for the same period last year. The United States got 10,025 tons in 1896 and 5,844 tons in 1895. The crop of 1896 amounted to about 155,000 tons, which, added to the 12,000 tons carried over from last year, gave a total available supply of 167,000 tons; of this 21,000 tons were taken from the stock under the Retention Act, leaving 146,000 tons for distribution. Deducting shipments to last mail advices, the available stock remaining in Greece was about 63,413 tons.

What's the use

Of Starch that has no stiffening power? Who will use Starch that stiffens but at the same time imparts a muddy tint to the linen?

Edwardsburg Starch is remarkable for its immaculate purity and the perfectly white gloss it gives. Careful laundresses want reliable starch and find it in "Edwardsburg."

Vol. X. (Published Weekly) MONTREAL AND TORONTO, DECEMBER 18, 1896 ($2.00 per Year) No. 51

A CONSUMER'S VIEW OF CHRISTMAS TRADE.

BY A. REDUNDANT.

I AM not a grocer. Nor do I ever expect to be one. But I am a consumer, and a fairly good one at that, to say nothing of the capabilities in this respect of a large family of small children. Although I never sold groceries I have bought a great many for consumption. And in the buying of them I have learned (or at any rate, fancied I have learned) a great many things I would not do and a great many things I would do if I were a grocer. With these few words by way of explanation I dip my pen afresh in the ink for the purpose of inditing a few things anent the Christmas trade that the spirit has moved me to indite.

The Christmas season always fires me with enthusiasm. And the enthusiasm does not come of spirits either. Spirits and I are not on friendly terms. Enthusiasm begets in me energy and energy ambition. If I were a grocer I do not think I would be anything different at Christmas. That is, I would not be one whit less enthusiastic, energetic or ambitious. Therefore, when Christmas comes around I would be ambitious, not only to do a big business, but to make my store as pretty and attractive as my means would allow and my imagination could devise.

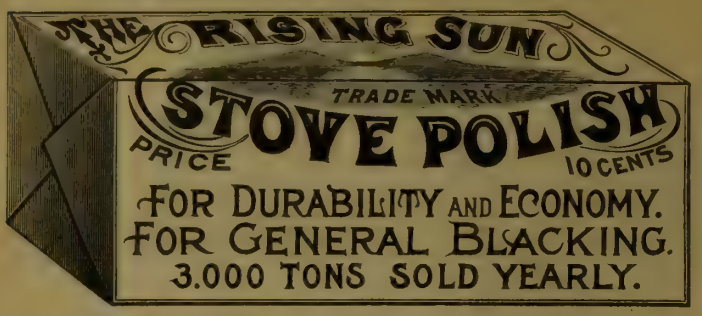
I would first of all get in good goods, and a suitable variety of them. Furthermore, I would make a tour of one or more novelty or fancy goods houses, and judiciously purchase such lines as would be likely to suit the tastes and pocket of all sorts and conditions of people. I wouldn't put a big profit on them either. As long as they paid me fairly well I would be satisfied.

My store I would have as "spick and span" as elbow grease and ingenuity could make it. Cleanliness I would court above all things, although I think I would make love to decorations just as ardently. My first thought in this direction would be the window: I would make it as Christmas-like as possible. But I wouldn't make a variety show of my window, like some people do. I would make it just as attractive as I could, but I would try and avoid making the attractive properties of the display overshadow its selling properties. I would essay to make the window create desires for my wares in passers-by, as well as entertain them. And I would try to avoid an overloaded window much more religiously than I would an overloaded stomach. I don't know whether every merchant will agree with me or not, but I confess I like to see a little artistic work, emblematical of the holiday season, on the window pane. There is a picture, for instance, painted on Michie's window in King street, Toronto, which suits my taste. It represents, in large figures, a chariot and three horses in full racing order, with Santa Claus standing in the vehicle and scattering bon-bons as he speeds along.

A book with nothing but a handsome cover is not much use. Neither is a store which is inviting outside and uninviting inside. Therefore I would make an effort to have the interior of the store in such a condition that it would act as an auxillary to the attractive properties of the window. The goods on the shelves and the goods on the counter and floor I would arrange in as unique and tempting manner as I possibly could. And this I would supplement with festoons of evergreens, bunting, etc. A flag here and there would also assist in the premises.

Of course, I would advertise. In the window I would stick, and about the store I would suspend, price and motto cards. And, what is more, I would place bright and catchy advertisements in the best local advertising mediums. It isn't everyone, by a "long shot," that sees the window display, but nearly everyone sees the local paper. Those who do not read the local paper are not much good as customers, anyhow.

As to Christmas presents, I would be careful about them. I would only give them where my heart could go out with them. But perhaps I had better amend that: I would only give presents either where my heart went with them or where it was judicious to do so. The little children I would always remember. The cook I would always (or nearly always) remember, for she is a friend that it is good to have in the time of trouble and a bad enemy to have in the time of peace.



UNSALTED BUTTER.

A large New York manufacturer of butter is said to have commenced the manufacture of unsalted butter on a large scale, and is said to intend to make a vigorous campaign to get these goods introduced everywhere in competition with the regular salted goods. This manufacturerer is said to be already producing about 300 tubs per week.

Unsalted butter is sold to some extent in Philadelphia, and in other large markets as well. It is consumed largely by the Hebrew population, however, and no effort has ever been made to get it before American consumers. It costs the same as the ordinary salted variety, the only difference between them being the fact that one contains salt and the other does not.

The leading jobbers do not expect the unsalted butter to amount to very much in Philadelphia. They hold that the regular salted product has every advantage on its side. The salt it contains enables it to be kept much longer, and the slightly saline flavor is very pleasant to the average consumer, who would be apt to look upon the butter as lacking something if it had a sweet flavor.

NOVA SCOTIA TRAVELERS.

THE annual meeting of the Maritime Commercial Travelers' Association was held on Wednesday evening, 9th inst., at the Board of Trade rooms, Bedford row, Halifax.

The report of the directors was read as follows :

The president and directors in submitting their fifteenth annual report, are gratified to be able to announce a continued prosperity, both with regard to the membership of the association and its financial condition.

We have passed through another year without a death among our members, and consequently there have been no claims on our mortuary fund.

Accident indemnity claims, aggregating $127.06, were made by seven members, and these claims were settled promptly by the Canada Accident Assurance Co.

The financial statement of the treasurer shows an increase in our funds for the year of $2,144.63, and that our total resources now amount to $14,529.19.

In March last a meeting of representatives of all the commercial travelers' associations in Canada was held in Montreal with the object of obtaining from the railway companies certain desired concessions and changes in their regulations. Your executive considered it expedient that the maritime association should be represented at this meeting, and the president and secretary were appointed delegates to it. A conference with the representatives of the railways was secured, which resulted in a fair measure of success for the claims made on behalf of the associations, and although the benefits obtained have but limited application within our territory the convention served to awaken esprit de corps and concentrate sentiment in favor of concerted action at all times for the promotion of the common interests of the association.

The railway officials are reported to be exercising their rights in requiring members to show their certificates more frequently than in past years, owing to the fact that travelers who are not members of the association have endeavored, with more or less success, to beat their way under our privileged rates. It is obviously as much in the interests of the associations as of the transportation companies that such abuses should be stopped, and members should not regard it as any hardship to comply with the rules of the railways.

In accordance with notice duly given, certain amendments to the bylaws have been proposed, and the executive recommend them to your favorable consideration.

Officers were elected for 1897 as follows :

President—G. A. Woodill, of Kenny & Co.

Vice-presidents for Nova Scotia—Thomas Douglas, W. L. Kane, Andrew Mackinlay and Fred. J. Ward.

Vice-presidents for New Brunswick—G. F. A. Anderson, F. W. Brock, A. R. Melrose and Wm. J. Robertson.

Directors—R. F. Merlin, F. W. Moore, F. J. Cragg, W. A. Emmerson, F. P. Hayden, Frank C. Simson.

NORTHWEST TRAVELERS.

THE annual general meeting of the Northwest Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada was held in Winnipeg on Saturday, 5th inst., in the Board of Trade room, Grain Exchange. The president, A. S. Binns, occupied the chair. There were also present: Vice-President A. L. Johnston, Treasurer L. C. Macintyre, Secretary J. M. O'Loughlin, Directors J. T. Persse, F. Drewry, J. Lindsay, and about 20 active travelers. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved, and the chairman then called for nominations for officers and Board of Directors. The following were received.

President—A. L. Johnston, acclamation.

Vice-President—J. Mundie, acclamation.

Treasurer—L. C. Macintyre, acclamation.

Directors—F. Drewry, J. Lindsay, E. L. Thomas, J. T Persse, W. Hargreaves, S. S. Cummings, H. W. Lethbridge, M. W. Rublee, K. McKenzie, C. R. Steele, A. P. Jefferys, F. Couse, F. J. C. Cox. Seven of the foregoing will comprise the board. The result of the balloting will be known on Saturday evening, December 19.

Auditors—S. S. Cummings, F. J. C. Cox.

On motion of L. C. Macintyre, seconded by F. J. C. Cox, the president was instructed to appoint three secretaries to meet Saturday afternoon, Dec. 19, and count the ballots, and report to the annual meeting to be held that evening the result of the voting for directors.

The president appointed A. Strang, J. M. Lamb and T. H. Middleton as secretaries. In former years the ballot papers were counted after the meeting was called to order, and it always caused a delay, waiting until the secretaries were finished with the work.

A. L. Johnston, chairman of the Committee on Bylaws, reported that they had revised the bylaws, as requested, and that a copy of the same had been mailed to each member, and will come up for discussion at the annual meeting.

After considerable discussion in regard to the annual entertainment, it was moved by E. L. Thomas, seconded by J. M. Lamb, and carried, that the annual celebration be the same as last year, viz., a conversazione and ball, to be held on Monday evening, December 28.

The following committee was appointed : E. L. Thomas, J. M. Lamb, J. Maw, F. M. Morgan, S. S. Cummings, F. Agnew, E. W. Low, F. J. C. Cox, A. P. Jeffreys, J. Y. Griffin, T. Black, A. Strang, A. McAllister, and the officers and Board of Directors of this year.

The meeting then adjourned.

Immediately after the general meeting adjourned, the Celebration Committee met, with F. J. C. Cox in the chair. The several sub-committees were appointed, and other preliminary action taken to get the arrangements under way. Every effort will be made to make the entertainment this year even more successful than former years.

DON'T WANT BRANDING.

THE Minister of Agriculture's bill proposing the compulsory branding of butter and cheese came up before a special meeting of the Montreal Butter and Cheese Association Monday. The bill in question provides for the branding, stamping or marking, in a legible and indelible manner, upon the box or package containing butter or cheese, of the word Canadian, Canadien or Canada, together with the registration number of the factory and the date on which the butter or cheese was made, the figures being not less than ⅜ inch high and ¼ inch wide. Penalties for infraction of the law are provided, the minimum fine being $5 and the maximum $20, with costs, and in default of payment, imprisonment for a term not exceeding three months, with or without hard labor.

The president said that whilst the association was committed to branding, it had never committed itself to having the day of the month when the product was made put upon the box or package, but only the month. It seemed to him that to brand the month and the day upon the cheese would be apt to prejudice the goods in the foreign market, since cheese that was a few months old, no matter what its condition, would be slighted; very little would be offered for it, and at a forced sale it would realize a very small sum. No other country in the world branded cheese, and the first request that this be done came from English merchants. He thought that there was an unfairness about this; he had never seen any report of a desire that English cheese should be branded. About 15 or 18 years ago the United States branded cheese, but the system was eventually dropped. It was questionable whether it would be in the best interests of Canada to brand cheese.

Mr. George Hodge said that when he was in England during the present year he asked several persons connected with the cheese trade what was their opinion about the branding of Canadian cheese, and their idea seemed to be that they did not care whether it was branded or not, so long as they got good cheese. He mentioned to them that Canadians had been requested from England that cheese be branded, whereupon they remarked that it was all humbug, for if a man, looking at a quantity of cheese in a warehouse, could not tell whether it was June, July, August or September, it was time that he was out of the business.

Mr. P. W. McLagan moved, seconded by Mr. George Hodge: "That a committee be formed to correspond with the different dairying associations of Canada, with a view to arriving at a common ground of procedure with them with regard to the proposed Federal legislation to compel the dating of cheese and butter, and with the further view to a joint deputation interviewing the Government, if a common ground of action is attained; also that the Department of Agriculture be strongly recommended to submit its bill to the different provision trade associations of Great Britain, and obtain their opinion of the same before proceeding to legislation."

Mr. A. Hodgson thought that as few words as possible should be put on the sides of boxes or packages, and moved: "That this association is strongly of opinion that, inasmuch as it is of the utmost importance that as few words as possible should be branded on the sides of butter and cheese, and that, inasmuch as the English importers have only petitioned that the date and month should be branded on the side of butter and cheese,

"Resolved, that this association would strongly recommend that only the month and date should be branded on the sides of butter and cheese; that as all packages containing goods manufactured in Canada have to be branded with the words 'Canadian produce,' it is superfluous and unnecessary that the words 'Canadian, Canadien or Canada' should be printed on the sides of cheese and butter."

This was seconded by Mr. A. C. Wieland, and, on being put to the vote, it was carried.

On the motion of Mr. McLagan, seconded by Mr. Wieland, it was decided that the Department of Agriculture be strongly recommended to submit copies of the proposed bill to the different provision trade associations in Great Britain, and obtain their opinion thereupon before proceeding to legislation.

A letter was read from the Dairy Commissioner, Prof. Robertson, stating that he was directed by the Minister of Agriculture to acknowledge a copy of the resolution adopted at a general meeting of the association relative to the exportation of dairy products to the British market by the Government. He was instructed to say that the only shipments of butter or cheese which had been made to Great Britain since the beginning of the summer of 1896 were shipments from the dairy stations managed by the Government in the Northwest Territories. It was not the intention of the Government to continue to manage these or any other dairy stations beyond the time for which they were introduced; but they might be carried on afterwards by the farmers. The object of the Department of Agriculture in relation to this whole matter was to give the assistance which seemed to be needed from the Government towards improving the quality of Canadian creamery butter, and improving its reputation in the markets of Great Britain. With a better reputation than it had hitherto had it would undoubtedly fetch a better price than it had done, in proportion to that from France and Denmark.

In the course of a brief discussion which took place, the general feeling seemed to be that merchants should have the opportunity of examining and bidding for this dairy produce. If the price bid was not considered high enough then the Government could send the goods to the English market.

On the motion of Mr. P. W. McLagan, seconded by Mr. A. Hodgson, it was decided: "That this communication be referred back to the Executive Committee, with instructions to lay the matter before the Council of the Board of Trade, and ask its assistance in having the matter placed before the Government, particularly emphasizing the circumstance that Canadian merchants have not the opportunity of examining or bidding on this produce."

The meeting was presided over by Mr. A. W. Grant, and the others in attendance were Messrs. A. Hodgson, James Dalrymple, E. A. Brice, James Oliver, P. W. McLagan, James Alexander, George Hodge, J. J. Kirkpatrick, Wm. Ware, J. A. Vaillancourt, W. J. Farrell, A. C. Wieland, and George S. Wait.

PROGRESSIVE MIDLAND MERCHANTS.

Playfair & Preston, Midland, Ont., general merchants and lumber manufacturers, carry on a successful business in that prosperous town. Midland, with its magnificent harbor, is well situated for manufacturing and shipping lumber. Playfair & Preston have taken advantage of this and employ a large number of men in their mill and in their timber limits. Mr. Preston is the manager of their mercantile establishment. Before joining the present firm he conducted a business for himself in Midland, and is thoroughly conversant with the trade and wants of the surrounding country.

Mr. H. Horrell has been one of Midland's general merchants for years. His store is well stocked with seasonable goods, and to accommodate his numerous customers in the district he has a branch establishment under the management of his son, at Victoria Harbor.

THE CANADIAN GROCER, in a recent trip to Midland, noticed a general improvement in the business establishments of the town.

Morse Bros. received orders one day last week for immediate shipments of "Rising Sun" stove polish and "Sun Paste" stove polish amounting to eleven carloads of fifteen tons each. At this season of the year such a day's sale of stove polish is phenomenal.

THE LOBSTER FISHERIES.

THE industry of lobster fishing in these provinces has been referred to upon several occasions in these columns. The conditions under which the fisheries are conducted are such, that a great deal of difficulty is apt to arise when we take up the question of how and to what extent the laws and regulations should be carried out in order that the most beneficial results may be had, both as regards the fisherman as well as the future of this branch of the fisheries. It is alleged, and there is not the slightest room for doubt of the correctness of the statement, that wherever poor seasons have been experienced during the past eight or ten years, they have been largely due to the amount of illegal fishing which has been practised, in spite of all regulations to the contrary. At a recent meeting of lobster packers held in Charlottetown, P.E.I., a paper was read by Mr. W. F. Tidmarsh, which throws considerable light upon the conditions and present aspects of the lobster fishery. Mr. Tidmarsh states that the value of the island pack is not less than $600,000 per annum. He says that a sample of what has occurred, as to the decrease in size and number of fish caught, may be seen in the statistical record of one factory.

"During a period of six seasons at that factory, the average number of 1-lb. cans to each trap fished was, in 1891, 25 (nearly); in 1892 it was 16¾; in 1893, 13⅓; in 1894 it was 12½; in 1895 it was 7¾, and in 1896 it was 5½. It may here be stated, that prior to 1891 in this particular section illegal fishing had been carried on and the fisheries were in a somewhat depleted condition. In contradistinction to this I will give statistics from a factory situated in a section where, prior to 1891 and up to 1894, the law was very well observed. These also cover a period of six seasons. In 1891 the average number of 1-lb. cans to each trap fished was 30¾; in 1892 it was 12¾; in 1893 it was 13½; in 1894 it was 14½; in 1895 it was 15⅛, and in 1896 it was 12¼.

"The alarming decrease from 1891 to 1892 was due to over-fishing. That year the space between each lath on the traps was by regulation 1½ inches, and 15 days were taken off the season, making the close season begin on July 1st instead of the 15th; and another cause was that the high price paid for canned lobsters in 1891 induced a number of persons to go into the business, resulting in there being more traps fished on that ground in 1892 than there ever was before or since that date. Since 1892, as the number of traps fished decreased, the average number of cans to the trap increased, proving to my mind that the lobsters in that section had received sufficient protection. It is a well-known fact that the demand for extensions of the fishing season and sectional differences of season comes, and invariably comes, from those portions of the country where illegal fishing has been carried on."

Mr. Tidmarsh gives it as his opinion that during the shelling period, that is, between July 10 and August 20, the lobster is unfit to be used as human food. After the 1st of September the quality improves greatly. In all sections of the country, where illegal fishing has been practised to any great extent, it is found that the succeeding season is marked by an abnormal decrease in the number of fish taken.

At Cape Traverse, it is stated, lobsters are always obtainable in their season and no scarcity has ever been reported. As a proof of the contention with regard to the results of illegal fishing, it is pointed out that the present laws have always been observed and respected in that locality, and the fisherman have reason to be proud that their action has been the means of keeping their fishing grounds in such good condition. In speaking of the undesirability of having different seasons for different sections of the provinces, Mr. Tidmarsh points out that the results of an arrangement of this kind would be bad, inasmuch as it would permit the fishermen of one district, when their close season had arrived, going into the fishing grounds of their neighbors whose season might be later, and the outcome of which would be to leave the district in an over-fished condition, which would be visible only too plainly in the succeeding season's work.

The chief argument in favor of fall fishing worthy of serious consideration is that lobsters spawn in the spring and do not spawn in the fall. If this is the case, to allow the spawn to mature and develop by the natural process would be much better than propagating it artificially. We know that lobsters spawn in the spring in very large numbers. We have been told by fishermen in Nova Scotia and Maine, where winter fishing is carried on, that they spawn at all seasons of the year.—Maritime Merchant.

CANADIAN SUGARS.

Editor GROCER,—In your issue of to-day I see a letter signed "Nemo," criticising Mr. Bristol's remarks to the Tariff Commission. It strikes me very forcibly that "Nemo," must be connected directly or indirectly with the sugar refineries, and his investigations have been confined to a very limited sphere!

Mr. Bristol's remarks were substantially correct, and if "Nemo" will take pains to go outside of Toronto I can produce 25 or 30 retail grocers who have been demanding a grade of sugar that the refiners simply won't produce. The sugars now made by the refiners in Montreal are called yellow, but are certainly not yellow except to the color-blind.

The refiners call nearly all sugars below granulated, yellow, only distinguishing them by addition of a letter or the word "bright," when really they are nearer to white. Mr. Bristol's remarks are endorsed by nearly all the grocers I have seen. The refiners have "pulled our legs" too long and have had too much "pap." Let them have a plainer diet in shape of less protection. "Nemo's" statement that the trade is being perfectly satisfied with the sugars (yellow!) may be correct as regards Toronto, but then, with all due deference, Toronto is not Ontario, and generally there is lots of "kicking" and lots of reason for it.

Yours, etc.,

COMMERCIAL TRAVELER.

P.S.—If "Nemo" will give his name for publication he can have mine; it would perhaps be instructive to both of us, if not amusing! C.T.

Hamilton, Dec. 11, 1896.

MR. BRISTOL REPLIES.

Editor GROCER: My attention has been called to a letter in your issue of 11th December, signed "Nemo." If the gentleman who wrote the letter will do so over his own signature, I shall be very glad to endeavor to convince him that the statements that I "actually" made before the Tariff Commission were all correct. I must decline to reply to any anonymous letters.

Yours, etc.,

GEO. E. BRISTOL.

ENDORSES MR. BRISTOL.

Editor GROCER: If "Nemo" will take the trouble to visit Hamilton and interview the leading retail grocers, I think he will find they endorse Mr. Bristol's statements, and there certainly was no uncertain sound about the tone of the wholesale grocers, Liberal and Conservative. For weeks past, and at the present moment it is impossible to procure any dark sugars, for which there is a large demand at this season. Cheap syrups have only made their appearance since the Tariff Commissioners commenced work. Previous to this consumers were compelled to do without them.

Yours, etc.,

POINTS FOR CLERKS.

A RICH mind and noble spirit will cast a radiance of beauty over the humblest home, which the upholsterer and decorator can never approach. Who would not prefer to be a millionaire of character, of contentment, rather than possess nothing but the vulgar coins of a Crœsus? Whoever uplifts civilization is rich though he die penniless, and future generations will erect his monument.

Are we tender, loving, self-denying, and honest, trying to fashion our frail life after the model man of Nazareth? Then, though our pockets are often empty, we have an inheritance which is as overwhelmingly precious as it is eternally incorruptible.

An Asiatic traveler tells us that one day he found the bodies of two men laid upon the deserts and beside the carcass of a camel. They had evidently died from thirst, and yet around the waist of each was a large store of jewels of different kinds, which they had doubtless been crossing the desert to sell in the markets of Persia.

Diogenes was captured by pirates and sold as a slave. His purchaser released him, and gave him charge of his household and of the education of his children. He despised wealth and affectation, and lived in a tub. "Do you want anything?" asked Alexander the Great, forcibly impressed by the abounding cheerfulness of the philosopher under such circumstances. "Yes," replied Diogenes, "I want you to stand out of my sunshine and not to take from me what you cannot give." "Were I not Alexander," exclaimed the great conqueror, "I would be Diogenes."

Brave and honest men do not work for gold. They work for love, for honor, for character. When Socrates suffered death rather than abandon his views of right morality, when Las Casas endeavored to mitigate the tortures of the Poor Indians, they had no thought of money or country. They worked for the elevation of all that thought and for the relief of all that suffered.

The man who has no money is poor, but one who has nothing but money is poorer than he. He only is rich who can enjoy without owning, he who is covetous is poor though he have millions. There are riches of intellect, and no man with an intellectual taste can be called poor. He who has so little knowledge of human nature as to seek happiness by changing anything but his own disposition will waste his life in fruitless efforts, and multiply the griefs which he purposes to remove. He is rich as well as brave who can face poverty and misfortune with cheerfulness and courage.

We can so educate the will power that it will focus the thoughts upon the bright side of things and upon objects which elevate the soul, thus forming a habit of happiness and goodness which will make us rich. The habit of making the best of everything and of always looking on the bright side of everything is a fortune in itself.

He is rich who values a good name above gold. Among the ancient Greeks and Romans honor was more sought after than wealth. Rome was Imperial Rome no more when the imperial purple became an article of traffic.

This is the evil of trade, as well as of partisan politics. As Emerson remarks, it would put everything into market—talent, beauty, virtue, and man himself.

"I don't want such things," said Epictetus to the rich Roman orator who was making light of his contempt for money-wealth; "and besides," said the stoic, "you are poorer than I am after all. You have silver vessels, but earthenware reasons, principles, appetites. My mind to me a kingdom is, and it furnishes me with abundant and happy occupation in lieu of your restless idleness. All your possessions seem small to you; mine seem great to me. Your desire is insatiate, mine is satisfied."

"Do you know, sir," said a devotee of Mammon to John Bright, "that I am worth a million sterling?" "Yes," said the irritated but calm-spirited respondent, "I do; and I know that it is all you are worth."

Don't start out in life with a false standard; a truly great man makes official position and money and houses and estates look so tawdry, so mean and poor, that we feel like sinking out of sight with our cheap laurels and gold. Millions look trifling beside character.

A friend of Professor Agassiz, an eminent practical man, once expressed his wonder that a man of such abilities should remain contented with such a moderate income as he received. "I have enough," was Agassiz's reply. "I have no time to waste in making money. Life is not sufficiently long to enable a man to get rich and do his duty to his fellow-men at the same time."—Architects of Fate.

VALENCIA RAISINS FOR THE STATES.

The Cydonia, which is expected here about the end of the month, has, according to reliable informants, the only lot of Valencia raisins afloat for this country. It consists of about 23,000 boxes. Cables from Denia state that the crop is practically finished. Notwithstanding this gives promise of a better market after the end of this year, some holders here seem to be anxious to close out their stocks.—N.Y. Journal of Commerce.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

Mats and taps figs at close figures with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Laporte, Martin & Cie. are offering bargains during this month in Malaga raisins, figs, nuts, etc.

T. Kinnear & Co. report the arrival of "Golden" and "Sair" Persian dates; also Bordeaux walnuts.

Boxes and ¼-boxes of choice Malaga fruit at close figures this week with the Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

This has been the best season's trade in mince meat Lytle's have ever had, which speaks well for the quality of it.

Extra values in Indian teas, at 15 to 18c., are offered by Lucas, Steele & Bristol. Samples will be sent on application.

A fine line of natural figs in bags is being sold by W. H. Gillard & Co. at a very low figure. It will pay the trade to investigate.

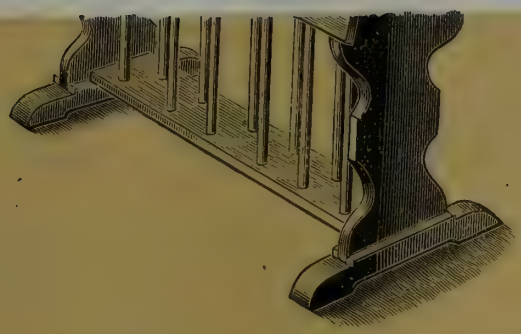
Lucas, Steele & Bristol, guarantee their "L. P. & Co." spices to be of a superior quality. "L. S. & B." coffee is composed of selected stock.

Some very fine lines of prunes have been received by W. H. Gillard & Co., which add to their grand showing of fruits for the holiday trade.

"Yes," say Lucas, Steele & Bristol, "we are offering exceptional values in syrups in half-barrels. Our extra clarified was never so cheap."

Gunn Bros. & Co. are making a special cure of their smoked meats, particularly hams and breakfast bacon, for the Christmas trade. They report an active demand for "Maple Leaf" lard.

The Eby, Blain Co. Ltd., report the sales of their Kalamos, Morea and Royal Vonitsa cleaned currants for November and December to be the largest they have ever had.



Laporte, Martin & Cie. write: "We wish our P. Richard's brandy would be tried by all connoisseurs, as it is superior to any other brands offered at the same price.

The Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co. report enormous sales of their "Bull's Head" brand of mince meat, put up in one and two pound tins, and in 7, 13, and 27 pound pails.

The Montreal office of the Salada Tea Co. reports a large increase in the output of "Salada" during the last few months, last week showing an increase of 400 per cent. on the same week of last year.

It is not alone the judicious advertising that has made the "Rising Sun" stove polish and the "Sun Paste" stove polish so successful. The superior quality of the goods is largely responsible for the enormous demand. It may be interesting to the trade to learn that about twenty carloads are distributed annually through St. Louis alone.

PARLIAMENT'S DELICATE TASK.

PARLIAMENT will find when it comes to adjudicate upon the evidence that has been collected by the Commission regarding the tariff that its task will be a delicate one. Anyone who has carefully read the newspaper reports of the investigation can come to no other conclusion.

Nearly everyone who has been before the Commission has demonstrated one thing: His plea was for a tariff that would suit his own peculiar condition. This was as patent in the evidence of the consumer as it was in that of the producer; in the free-trader as in the protectionist. All were trying to grind their own little axes.

We are not blaming them for it. It is characteristic of human nature that they should do so. We merely refer to these peculiarities to emphasize the previously stated contention regarding the delicacy of the task which Parliament has before it.

It would be infinitely better if we could all unite with an eye single to the advancement of the Dominion. But this is not to be expected. We have not yet arrived at the millennium. Until we have, Parliamentary or other bodies will have to do the best they can in legislating for the whole.

It would have simplified matters in the present instance if the Government had seen fit to accept the suggestion of this paper and selected the Tariff Commission from half a dozen or more of the best businees men in the country, irrespective of the color of their political faith.

Whether the members thereof would or would not have been more efficient than the honorable gentlemen who are now gathering data we would not for a moment contend. On the contrary, we believe the present Commission to be as able as any that has hitherto been sent out on a similar mission. But were the Commission composed of the best business men procurable and representatives of the working classes, it naturally follows that, while the data would have been gathered just as efficiently, greater confidence would have been had in the court.

It is true that the present Government is but following in the footsteps of its predecessors in office, but that does not alter the fact that there is a deep-seated feeling of aversion in the human breast to being tried by one's accusers no matter how justified the accusations may be.

Parliament will require to keep a level and unprejudiced head on its shoulders when dealing with the tariff.

A large department store in Milwaukee has been seized by the sheriff. It would be a good thing for the business world were disintegration to seize the department stores everywhere, box, dice and all.

DUTY ON TEA.

WHATEVER may be the ultimate outcome of it, there is evidently in this country a strong feeling among the grocery trade in favor of a duty on tea. He who runs among the trade can read this.

The idea finds favor aside altogether from the revenue-producing features of such a duty.

In spite of legislative attempts to keep it out, it is a well-known fact that large quantities of tea which are either spurious or trashy finds its way into Canada. It is from this class of teas that the pedlar and the gift store largely draw their sustenance.

But aside from the unequal competition which these classes of tea dealers wage against the legitimate merchants, the results from the quality of the goods they sell are injurious in a two-fold sense: They are injurious to the health of those who drink them and injurious to the tea trade itself, for the poorness of an article always tends to diminish its consumption.

A specific duty of five or ten cents per pound would practically make prohibitory the importation of a great deal of the spurious or trashy low-grade teas that now find their way into this country. Hence many of the pedlars or gift tea men would either have to go out of business or sell a better tea. And a better tea would mean the dissipation of 100 per cent. profits.

Merchants who ignore commercial travellers are paving for their competitors pathways to success.

WHY THE DEPARTMENT STORE IS AN EVIL.

IT is not the size of the department store which constitutes it an evil. It is its modus operandi of doing business.

Every man has both a moral and a legal right to do business in a building of whatsoever size and magnitude he chooses as long as local ordinances are complied with as to manner of construction and public safety. But every man has not a moral, although he may have a legal, right to carry on business in the way the modern department store does.

A straight line can only be made by passing the pencil or whatever it may be from one point to another by the nearest course. You can go from one point to another by describing a half circle or by a zig-zag course, but it is not a straight line. Goods can be sold by unbusiness-like methods; by fake methods; by deceptive methods. But it is not business-like.

The very essence of business is honesty. The word business may, in fact, be almost termed a synonym for honesty.

A great many people believe that devergence from the straight line in commercial transactions is quite business-like, if not quite honest. But they are mistaken. Business is honesty, just as honesty is doing what is right.

Now the methods of the department stores are not honest. We have no sympathy with the broad charge that the department store does not sell what it advertises. In exceptional cases it may not. As a rule, however, it does. The department store is too wise to do otherwise no matter how tempted it may be to do it.

The chief of the department store's unpardonable sins is in that it studies to induce customers to enter its portals by practising deception.

The department store to live must earn profits just as certainly as that a man must eat to live. Now, everybody is aware, who is at all conversant with the matter, that ordinary business profits have, by the keenness of competition, been cut down to a point where they can scarcely be called living. But yet these department stores, by hanging out goods at prices frequently below the cost of production, aim to delude the public into the belief that theirs is the place where not only all things are cheap but that theirs is the place where all things are cheaper than in the ordinary stores.

It is all very well to bait a trap to catch a rat. But it is another thing when it comes to catching customers by deceptive methods.

Morally the department stores have no right to continue setting at naught the laws of business; legally they have. And it all comes of the fact that the moral and the legal code frequently do not run parallel with each other. Perhaps in time they will. And then the department store will have to mend its ways or be mended.

Clerks who spend their time giggling will have a pretty hard time of it wriggling through this world.

NEW MARKETS FOR HALIFAX FISH

IT is a well-known fact that fish comprises one of the principal articles of diet in all warm countries. In China and Japan the inhabitants subsist almost wholly on rice and fish. In the catch and cure of this latter article tens of thousands are employed all the year round. It would surprise the average reader to know that the small island of Jamaica, with a population of about 360,000, consumes yearly about 50,000 barrels herrings, alewives, mackerel, salmon, etc., and fully 125,000 quintals dry fish, while the Leeward and Windward Islands of the West Indies, with Demerara, use an enormous quantity, a steamer of 6,000 to 7,000 barrels capacity leaving Halifax every week for these places, carrying fully nine tenths of her cargo in fishstuffs, besides sailing vessels every week or so.

The firm of N. & M. Smith, the largest firm of fish dealers in Halifax, have great faith in the possibilities of trade connected with this, Nova Scotia's staple export, and are pushing trade in other new fields and are meeting with considerable encouragement in their ventures. Australia is the latest ground they are looking to for new business, and with good prospects of success. Scottish "Ling," neatly packed in tin lined drums and cases, is the only foreign article imported there, and Messrs. Smith's latest advices say that properly cured cod, put up in suitable packages, can compete successfully with the Scottish article.

In South Africa they also anticipate working up a good trade, having introduced several lines of fishstuffs there and lately received very encouraging duplicate orders. Africa within the next ten years should be one of the best fish-consuming countries, and the demand will come as soon as the interior is opened up by railways and a population of white people have settled there.

A. G. Jones & Co., another Halifax firm, have lately despatched a cargo of fish to Portugal, and there is no reason why this venture should not result profitably. Halifax prices ex vessel are usually below what St. John's, Nfld., dealers pay, and this is said to be their best market.

BRANDING OUR CHEESE.

A REPORT of a meeting of the Montreal Butter and Cheese Association will be found in another column. This meeting dealt with the questions of branding cheese and the method of selling the output of the Federal Government's experimental butter stations. All of the best known houses in the trade were represented at the meeting, and the gentlemen who spoke did not seem to recognize the advantage to be gained from branding cheese.

With all due respect to their opinion, THE CANADIAN GROCER firmly believes that the name "Canadian" should be branded on our cheese and butter. It may not have any great influence in assisting its sale in the English market—though we believe it will—but it will certainly act as a check in preventing the palming off of inferior United States and other products as Canadian. In fact, it is difficult to understand why the importers should object to the word "Canadian" being stamped on our cheese and butter. The goods are Canadian, and why should they not be advertised as such in the English market?

With regard to the sale of the experimental dairy stations' output, the exporters in Montreal and elsewhere have some ground for complaint. If they are prepared to pay as much for it as buyers in Great Britain, perhaps they might be given a chance. It is not believed, however, that the Ottawa authorities have any idea of discriminating against the exporters in Canada.

These experimental stations were started with the express object of developing a better grade of creamery butter in Canada and establishing its reputation in Great Britain. This result may be more certain by the sale of the butter direct from the stations. At any rate, it cannot be denied that the standing and reputation of Canadian creamery has been materially improved in England during the past two seasons.

The efforts of the Government have gone a long way to secure this result, and as the trade as a whole have been benefitted, they should not be too particular.

He that exchanges his ideas with others gets his own back with usury.

SHORTER CREDITS.

It is more than likely that the coming year will see the terms of credit on several lines handled by the grocery trade further shortened. This is a move in the right direction. It is what THE GROCER has constantly advocated.

When a man has to pay cash for his goods he is not as likely to ruin himself and his neighbors by cutting prices. At present the wholesale grocers have to pay cash for nearly all the goods they buy. In Montreal credits have been shortened in several lines on which Maritime Province and western dealers have given three months' credit.

Complaint has been made during the year that some Montreal houses were quoting below the regular market price. The secret of it was that they took advantage of cash discounts in buying, and they sold for spot cash only. They were thus able to quote considerably less than firms who sold on three months' credit.

In this connection we would like to see the local guilds throughout the Dominion working more harmoniously together. Many of them were surprised, when chatting with the members of the Montreal Guild at the recent meeting, to find how little friction existed among the latter. It is all the more creditable because the Montreal Guild is composed of the two nationalities, French and English.

Free silver may not be a dead issue yet, but Better Times threatens to kill it before long.

CANADIAN GOODS FOR KOOTENAY.

SOME time ago it was announced that arrangements had been made to establish a bonded warehouse in Spokane, Washington Territory. At present the extensive mining districts in British Columbia are not conveniently accessible to Canadian merchants and manufacturers excepting through the States.

Merchants in Spokane were doing quite a business with the new district, but they were handicapped by heavy duties on American manufactured goods. The matter was taken up, and the Government decided to establish bonded warehouses in that city. In this way Canadian goods can be shipped to Spokane, held in bond there until they are sold by Spokane merchants, and then shipped back into Canada free of duty.

The Spencer-Clark Co., importers, shipping and commission merchants, Spokane, write us that the authority has not yet been issued for the establishment of this warehouse, but they hope to hear favorably at any time. When it is in operation they expect to do a large business with Canadian manufacturers for the reshipment of the goods into British Columbia. At this time of the year trade is very quiet with the mining camps, due to the poor facilities for getting goods in, and this state of affairs will likely continue until spring opens, when the roads will be in better condition and other facilities improved.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS.

President—J. S Bond.
Vice-president - W. H. Marmion.
Treasurer—Frank Johnson.
Secretary Ed. Hawse.

Executive Committee (together with other officers)—A. White, D. Bell, A. G. Booth, D. W. Clark.

Trustees—A. R. Williamson, F. S Roberts, Robert Mills.

Auditors—B. Panter, W J. McCleary.

THESE are the officers which the members of the Retail Grocers' Association of Toronto elected at the regular meeting of the organization, held on Monday night in St. George's Hall, Elm street. There was a fair attendance of members. President A. White presided, and among those present were the following: Vice-president Bond, Recording Secretary Mills, Treasurer Martin McMillan, W. H. Marmion, W J. McCleary, B. Panter, W. J. Sykes, D. W. Clark, J. Stewart, A. Johnson, Frank Johnson, D. Bell, F. S. Roberts, T. Clark, A. G. Booth, J. Nolan, E. Lutterell.

The Executive Committee recommended, among other things, (1) that the Ontario Legislature be petitioned to give the City Council of Toronto power to levy a tax upon market gardeners and farmers who peddle their wares about the streets, and (2) that the balance remaining over from the last excursion be paid into the ordinary funds of the association.

On motion of D. W. Clark and J. S. Bond these suggestions were concurred in.

At the November meeting of the association, a protracted discussion took place as to whether the auditors held office for the year or whether their duties ended when they had audited the books of the outgoing officers at the beginning of the year. The question was not then settled to the satisfaction of anyone.

On Monday night the subject was again introduced by Mr. A. G. Booth giving notice of motion to so amend the bylaws that the auditors should be elected at the same time as the other officers and should retire at the same time.

Recording Secretary Mills stated that since the last meeting, in searching the minute books of the association, he had discovered that in January, 1893, it had been decreed that the auditors should be a standing committee of the association. "And that is how it stands to-day," added Mr. Mills. "By some means that clause has been overlooked, and for some years we have been working on the supposition that the duties of the auditors were finished when they had audited the books of the previous year."

This settled the matter.

These were appointed a committee to act with the solicitor of the association to request the City Council to apply for the power necessary to tax farmers and market gardeners peddling within the city limits: D. W. Clark, W. J. Sykes, E. Lutterell, F. S. Roberts, Robt. Mills, A. G. Booth and B. Panter.

Upon the suggestion of Mr. Sykes, the secretary was instructed to hereafter notify the solicitor of the regular meetings of the association.

A lengthy discussion arose in regard to the amalgamation of the offices of traveling and recording secretaries. Finally it was resolved so to do, and the remuneration was fixed at $50 per annum and 50 per cent. of the membership fees after the first fifty have paid up.

There were five applicants for the secretaryship, made vacant by the resignation of Mr. J. Muat-Corrie, and Mr. Hawse was the choice on the first ballot.

A resolution declaring against the giving of Christmas presents was carried unanimously.

The association adjourned at 11.20 p.m.

It is quality more than quantity that is to be encouraged in business-building.

BERLIN, ONT., AND THE TARIFF.

A MASS meeting of the business men of Berlin, Ont., was held the other night under the auspices of the Board of Trade to protest against that town being overlooked by the Tariff Commission in its tour of data gathering.

There are, no doubt, many towns and villages throughout the country which consider they are entitled to a visit from the Commissioners, but at which it is not necessary that tariff enquiries should be instituted. Berlin, however, is not one of those places.

The capital of Waterloo County has a population of some 8,000, and as a manufacturing and business centre, for its size, it is probably unsurpassed in the country. It is a veritable hive of industry.

The Government could no doubt fashion a tariff without consulting the business and manufacturing interests of Berlin. So it could without consulting Toronto or any other business centre. But it stands to reason that by ignoring the opinions of the business men of these places the tariff would not be as perfect as it otherwise might be.

The Commissioners are pressed for time and are, no doubt, trying to do their best, but tariff revision is too important an undertaking to be done improperly. If the Commission cannot possibly make time to visit Berlin, the Government should depute one or two more Commissioners to visit, not only the capital of Waterloo county, but any and every other commercial centre where evidence as to the tariff ought to be taken, but where the regular investigators cannot go.

MANITOBA BUSINESS MEN.

A CONVENTION of business men of Manitoba and the Territories is to be held in Winnipeg on February 4th next. The Winnipeg Board of Trade has been interesting itself in the matter for some time, and at a meeting of the council of that body, held a few days ago, it was decided to call a convention for the date given.

Among the subjects likely to come up for discussion are: How best to do a cash business; how best to compete with the department stores; a cheaper means of collecting small debts than now prevails; how to prevent jobbers in the east from selling to consumers in the west; construction of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway; sale of bankrupt stocks; a lien law for grocery bills, as in some of the American states; compromises and extensions, deep waterways, railway rates, etc.

These were appointed a committee to make arrangements: Messrs. F. H. Mathewson, R. J. Whitla, J. H. Ashdown, Wm. Georgeson, D. W. Bole, R. T. Riley, F.W. Thompson, Andrew Strang, J. Y. Griffin, J. T. Gordon, J. B. Somerset, D. S. Johnston, M. Bull, A. Carruthers and J. E. Steen.

THE CANADIAN GROCER wishes the promoters success in their efforts. There is a crying need for such a convention as that proposed. Unbusiness-like methods and anomalous conditions have done a great deal to hinder the progress of one of the richest parts of the Dominion. Many of these can be removed by united action on the part of merchants of Manitoba and the Territories. It is to be hoped that the meeting in February next will be united.

MOLASSES MUCH FIRMER.

WITHIN the past few days the fact has been developed that the stock of both Barbadoes and Porto Rico molasses in jobbers' hands in Montreal is lighter than was estimated earlier in the fall. In fact, it is expected that all will be wanted before next season—that none will be carried over, as was predicted in September.

The fact has led to a much steadier feeling on the staple, and sales of round lots from first hands have been made at higher figures than was possible a fortnight ago. Over 300 puncheons of Barbadoes changed hands at 28c., and 100 Antigua, the figure on the latter being kept private, but it is thought to be around the above. Mixed goods have sold also as high as 27½c.

The only stock now in first hands in Montreal is two small cargoes of Barbadoes, and, outside of them, few round lots are to be had.

GILLARD & CO., London, Eng.

..MAKERS OF..

GILLARD'S NEW PICKLE

Packed 2 doz. in case; single case lots, $3 40; five case lots, $3 30

GILLARD'S NEW SAUCE

Single doz. lots, $1.75; barrels of 12 doz., $1.60

These are by long odds the very finest table relishes put up. Eight gold medals have been awarded the makers at England's great expositions. Over five thousand hotels and restaurants use them exclusively in Great Britain.

Deception

Pays a "Magician"—that's his business. It's the only man it does. It would not pay a merchant to try and deceive a customer by offering her an inferior cheese if she wanted

MacLaren's Imperial Cheese.

Don't be so short-sighted as to attempt it. Nothing will take the place of "MacLaren's Cheese" and you will only lose your customers' confidence by trying to substitute.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

WHILE there is still a fair amount of business doing, signs are not wanting that the holiday trade has nearly petered out. Sugars are quiet, with prices unchanged. Teas are in fair request, and values continue to rule strong. In foreign dried fruits, such as currants, raisins and figs, the demand has been about satisfied, only sorting-up lots now being wanted for the holiday trade. Most of the wholesale houses have Bosnia prunes in stock this week. California evaporated fruits are beginning to arrive on the market, but there does not yet appear to be any demand for them. Coffees are in fair request. Canned goods are in much the same position as a week ago. Some shipments of cheap salmon have arrived on the market during the past week. Wholesalers are buying as little as possible, being on the eve of taking stock. Payments are not satisfactory.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation is much as before, business being quiet and prices generally steady. Some of the local houses are this week in receipt of shipments of cheap salmon. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.15; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.75 to $2.85; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

Fresh shipments of green Rio coffee have been received on the Toronto market this week, and the demand for them is good. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There are a few syrups offering, but few, if any, transactions have taken place. One refinery is offering a dark syrup which it claims to be showing extra good value. We quote: Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market is not attracting much attention. We quote as follows: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The words "dull" and "uninteresting" aptly describe the condition of the sugar market both in Canada and the United States. The local wholesalers are purchasing but lightly in view of the near approach of stock-taking, while retailers are only buying from hand to mouth. Prices, both in Canada and the United States, remain much as before. Yellow sugars are still very scarce. Wholesalers are quoting granulated at 4 to 4.10c. and yellows at 3¼ to 3¾c.

SPICES.

Latest advices note a continuance of the strength which has characterized the spice market for some time, but there has been no further change in value. We quote as follows: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Business generally is quiet and featureless. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

walnuts arrived on the Toronto market this week. A fair sorting-up trade is being done. We quote as follows: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Sicily shelled almonds, 22 to 25c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; chestnuts, $3.30 to $4 per bushel; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

TEAS.

Mail advices received this week in Toronto from Shanghai state that the green tea market has closed, and that everything has practically been cleaned up. According to this same authority, prices since the opening of the market have appreciated 20 to 25 per cent. owing to a shortage of 30 per cent. in the crop and the active demand that has been experienced on United States account. Locally during the past week there has been a small business doing, chiefly in Indian and Ceylon teas for price and medium grade Ceylons of fine liquoring quality. More enquiry has been experienced for China blacks, the trade evidently beginning to appreciate that they are showing good value. The better supply of China green teas has led to more business in this line. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Shippers' agents report that the wholesalers have been buying more freely during the past week. "Buyers," said one agent, "are coming to the conclusion that prices are right, and are not likely to be more favorable than they now are." Retailers have been fair buyers. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are still in a strong position. The retail demand is about satisfied for the holiday trade. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

Shippers of California raisins advise that they are experiencing difficulty in securing sufficient fruit of good quality for the Canadian market, and several large orders for prompt shipment of loose muscatels to this country have been declined on that account. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Quotations on Bosnia prunes received this week in Toronto are 4s. per cwt. higher than those ruling a month ago. The first shipment of new season's California prunes, the Griffin, Skelly Co.'s brand, arrived on the Toronto market this week. There is not much demand for prunes at the moment. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California,, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 30 to 40's, 11½c.

Sultana raisins firm and in moderate request at 7 to 10c., according to quality.

In Malaga raisins stocks of London layers, black baskets and choice clusters are practically out of this market. We quote: Blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

Figs are in much about the same condition as a week ago. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb.,

11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

Dates are in fair demand with prices lower, further shipments having arrived. We quote 6½ to 6¾c. per lb. for Hallowee.

A few lots of new season's California evaporated fruits are on the market. We quote: Choice peaches, 25-lb. boxes, 10½c.; Royal apricots (fancy), 15c,; fancy egg plums, 10c.; fancy silver prunes, 13c.

GREEN FRUIT.

Oranges are in plentiful supply, with the demand good and prices steady. Lemons are unusually cheap for this time of the year, and the demand for them is good. Receipts, which have been large, are now falling off, and a firmer market is anticipated. Cranberries are going out well. Bananas are in moderate demand. A good trade is being experienced in Almeria grapes. Apples are quiet locally. Cables report the English markets as being poor, with only the finest fruit wanted. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, $3.75 to $4 per box; Valencias, 420's, $5 to $5.75 per case; 714's, $5.75 to $6; large, 420's, $6.25 to $6.50; Mexicans, $3.75 to $4.20 per box; Floridas, $4.50 per box; Bahamas, $3.75 to $4 per box. Lemons—Messinas, $3 to $3.50 per box for fancy, and $2.50 to $3 for choice per box; cocoanuts, $3.75 a sack and 60c. per doz.; Jersey sweet potatoes, $2 to $2.25 per bbl.; apples, $1.50 for red table fruit and $1 for ordinary; onions, 75c. per 80 lb. bag for Danvers and $1 per crate for Spanish; cranberries, $7 per bbl. for Jerseys; $6.50 to $7 for Cape Cods; $5 to $6 for Nova Scotias; $5 to $6 for Canadian in barrels and 65 to 75c. in baskets; bananas, $1.50 to $1.75 per bunch; Almeria grapes, $5 to $7 per keg.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is still a great deal of butter coming forward, but a small proportion of it only can be termed first-class. Choice butter is wanted, but as there is so little of it to be had the volume of business is small. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb., blocks, 18 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The market is dull. There is no demand for export. The factory men are willing to make concessions, but dealers, having no export orders, are slow buyers.

Trade locally is slow. We quote late makes at 10½c., and early makes at 10c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The market is dull and weak. Jobbers are quoting 70 to 75c. for hand-picked and 50 to 60c. for ordinary.

DRIED APPLES—Trade is still slow, and 2 to 2½c. per lb. is about all jobbers can obtain for selected fruit.

EVAPORATED APPLES—Dull and unchanged at 3 to 3½c. f.o.b.

EGGS—The demand is probably not as good as it was. Offerings are more liberal than they were a short time ago. We quote: Strictly new-laid, 20 to 21c.; fresh gathered and cold stored, 15 to 16c.; limed, 14 to 14½c.

POTATOES—Still dull at 30c. in carloads on track, and 40c. out of store.

POULTRY—Good poultry is scarce, and prices are much about the same as a week ago. We quote: Chickens, 20 to 40c. per pair.; turkeys are 6 to 7c. per lb.; geese, 4½ to 5c. per lb., and ducks, 40 to 60c. per pair.

HONEY—The season has been a poor one for honey, and no improvement is yet to be noted. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

Trade is fairly active in provisions, and especially for heavy mess and long clear bacon. Orders for smoked meats are small. Offerings of dressed hogs are liberal, and ruling prices are $4.25 to $4.40 for heavy hogs, and $4.85 to $5 for light.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c.; small hams, 11c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Trade is a little more active this week in both fish and oysters, and fresh fish of some kinds are now arriving on the market. We quote: White fish 7½c.; trout, 7c.; Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5 to $5.50 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.10 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 7c.; sea herring, $1.50 to $1.75 per 100. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 to $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—The market is generally firm, although deliveries on the street are liberal. We quote: White wheat, 88c.; red, 87c.; goose, 65 to 66c.; oats, 23½ to 24½c.; peas, 44 to 45c.

FLOUR—Quiet and unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.25; straight roller, $4.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is rather quiet. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.40 in bags and $3.50 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3.25 to $3.50; pot barley, $3.25 to $3.50.

SEEDS.

The market generally is quiet and no improvement is looked for until the New Year. Offerings of alsike are not large, and jobbers are paying all the way from $3 to $5 per bushel f.o.b. Red clover is being bought at $4 to $4.75 per bushel for good to choice, but there are a good many samples of inferior lots offering, for which values range all the way from $3 to $4 per bushel. Timothy ranges from $1.20 to $1.40 per bushel, and while extra choice flail threshed is worth more, there are some inferior samples worth less than those quoted.

SALT.

Business is improving. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Quiet and easier. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½c. for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Dull at 6 to 7c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheep skins, 70 to 75c.

WOOL—Fleece steady at 20 to 21c.

PETROLEUM.

A good trade is still to be noted. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Dates are cheaper locally.

Bosnia prunes are cabled 4s. dearer than a month ago.

The close season having terminated, fresh white fish and trout are again on the local market.

A few lines of California evaporated peaches and apricots are in stock with local wholesalers.

There has been a further decline in glucose during the past week, and this article is now being offered at an unusually low figure.

WHOLESALE IMPORTING AND MANUFACTURING GROCERS

TORONTO - CANADA

OUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, DEC. 17, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THE week has furnished a better trade than last in a distributing sense, owing to the colder weather. Buyers as a rule, however, have placed their orders and the quantity of new business is small. The movement naturally has been confined to a sorting trade in dried fruit, nuts and seasonable specialties. In the way of general features the week has not been without interest. Sugar has been easier outside, but the spot range has not been influenced. Refiners have shown some disposition to induce demand for syrups by concession in prices. Tea has ruled strong, though demand is quiet, while the scarcity of Maracaibo coffee is not dispelled. Canned lobster, salmon, mackerel and sardines continue upward in their disposition; in fact, very little of the first named are available at any price. Spices are in fair enquiry and steady.

SUGAR.

There was no new feature in the sugar market this week, and the easier feeling noted recently in raws outside had no influence. Locally trading is confined strictly to small lots, with values steady. At the refineries prices are well maintained at 3⅞ to 4c. for granulated f.o.b., and 3⅛ to 3¾c. for yellows. In a jobbing way we quote: Granulated, 4 1-16 to 4⅛c., and yellows, 3¼ to 3¾c. as to grade.

SYRUPS.

There have been indications of weakness in syrups and prices have been shaded by refiners in an endeavor to induce business. So far the effort has not been very successful, and the market is dull. Sales of small lots have been made at 1⅜ to 2c. at the factory, but in a jobbing way we quote 22 to 35c. per gallon.

MOLASSES.

The steadier feeling noted in molasses last week continues, holders showing none of the old disposition to shade prices in order to effect sales. Enquiry has been fair, though the actual volume of business transacted has been inconsiderable. Recent sales of round lots have comprised Barbadoes at 28 to 28½c.; mixed, 27c.; Porto Rico, 27½c., and Antigua, 25c. In a jobbing way Barbadoes and Porto Rico are held steady at 30 to 31c.

RICE.

The firm tone of the rice market outside is fully maintained, but no change on spot is noted. Jobbers have laid in enough to get along with for some time, and are indifferent buyers, while the demand from retailers is only moderate. Values rule very firm. Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

The spice market has ruled fairly active, and values are held firm. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

A good demand for Maracaibo is still the feature of the coffee market and the grade is still in light supply. Sales of it have been made up to 18c., and Santos has also changed hands between dealers at 16½c. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The tea situation remains as strong as ever, stocks generally being probably smaller than for years back. Demand, however, for the moment is quiet. Japans have changed hands at 15c. for 300 packages and China blacks at 12c., and these are the inside prices. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

The holiday demand for Valencias has been of a fair sorting character. Stocks are in very small compass and values firmly held. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

A few car lots of California raisins have been distributed to the trade during the week, but they do not by any means place stocks where they should be. We quote: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins rule steady at 8 to 12c.

Table raisins meet a fair sorting demand, Malaga fruit selling at $1.50 to $4.50 in a jobbing way.

Currants were in moderate enquiry and prices are steady. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

There is no change in prunes on spot. Advices from California are of a somewhat easier tenor, but they are not expected to have any influence on spot values in the near future. We quote: French 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

Figs were quiet and steady at 9½ to 11c., and dates at 5 to 7c.

NUTS.

There has been a good seasonable demand for nuts. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 20c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 10c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 8 to 10c.; Grenoble walnuts, 12 to 15c.; shelled walnuts, 20 to 22c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

The firmness noted recently in canned lobsters, salmon and mackerel continues, and it will not surprise traders if prices go even higher. This week the very inside price on lobsters is $10 per case. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

A moderate trade has been doing in all lines of fish. Demand is principally for fresh fish, and the liberal receipts lately have been well cleaned up. Pickled fish, green cod and herrings are selling slowly and only choice stock is salable. Genuine Labrador herrings have sold 25c. lower at $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S. are steady at $3.75 to $4 per bbl., and $2.25 to $2.35 per half-bbl.; No. 1 draft green cod, $5 to $5.25; No. 1 do., $4.50; No. 2, $3.35 to $3.50; No. 1 green haddock, $3.50; No. 1 Lake trout, $3.90 to $4 per keg; No. 1 white fish, $5 per barrel; small Labrador salmon, $12.50 to $13; No. 1 B. C., $6 per half-bbl., and $12 per bbl. to arrive; No. 1 halibut, $7.50 to $8 per bbl.; tongues and sounds, $7.50, and salt eels, 4½ to 5c. per lb. In fresh fish the feature has been the decline in fresh herring of 10 to 15c. per bbl. Tommycods arrived for the first time last Friday, and are selling at $1.50 to $1.75 per bbl. Haddock and cod are steady at 3¼ to 3½c. Frozen salmon fetch 11 to 12c., halibut 8c., and Manitoba pickerel, whitefish and trout 7c. per pound. Smoked fish continues in ample supply. Haddies range from 6½ to 7c., Yarmouth and Bay bloaters 90c. per box, kippered herrings $1.30 to $1.50, ciscoes 75c. per basket of 100 fish, and medium smoked herring 10 to 11c. per pound. Dried fish are quiet and steady as follows: Cod, $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.90 to $2 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $4.50 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb. There is a fair demand for shell oysters in a small way, and prices show no change. Malpeques, $5 to $5.50 per bbl.; Buctouche, $4.50 to $5; Miramachi, $3 to $3.50, and ordinary, $2.50 per bbl.

GREEN FRUIT.

The green fruit market rules much as it was. Lemons continue easy and prices are again lower this week. Jamaica oranges are most enquired for, ruling steady, while very few Florida oranges are selling, as they are held too high. Valencia oranges meet a good demand. Malaga grapes are firm and pineapples have been asked for to a fair extent. We quote: Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6 per bbl.; Valencia oranges, $5.25 to $5.50 per box; lemons, $2.50 to $3 per box, and $6 to $7 per chest; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; cranberries, $4.50 to $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 70 to 75c. per crate, and new Malaga grapes $5 to $7.50 per keg.

MONTREAL

market, demand continuing slow and stocks heavy. We quote; 90c. to $1.40 for No. 1, and 40 to 85c. for No. 2.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is no change in the egg market, business ruling quiet. We quote: New laid sold at 20 to 22c.; choice candled and Montreal limed, 14 to 14½c.; western limed, 13 to 14c., and western held fresh, 12 to 12½c. per doz.

BEANS—Beans continue quiet and steady at 80 to 85c. in car lots and 90 to 95c. in a small way.

HONEY—There is no change in honey, which ranges from 8 to 8½c.

POTATOES—Continue quiet but firm at 40c. in car lots and 45 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

POULTRY—Has been in better demand this week. We quote: Turkeys, 7 to 7½c.; chickens, 6 to 6½c.; ducks, 7 to 7½c., and geese, 5 to 5½c. per lb.

DRESSED HOGS—Demand for these has improved with the colder weather, and values have a firmer tendency at $4.65 to $4.85 in car lots, and $4.75 to $5 in a jobbing way per cwt.

DRIED APPLES—Rule dull at 3 to 3½c., with evaporated, 4c.

ONIONS—Quiet, at $1.25 per bbl. for red and $1.30 to $1.35 for white.

PROVISIONS.

The provision market continues quiet and without any new feature. Trade in all lines is slow and of a jobbing character at about steady prices. New packed Canadian pork is offering at $11 to $12, and old is selling in a small way at $10 to $10.50 per bbl. Pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound, refined, at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

There was considerable enquiry reported to-day by millers for Manitoba grades of flour from Lower Port buyers, and some round lots have been put under offer which will likely result in business. There was also a number of cable enquiries received, and a sale of 1,000 sacks was made by the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. on Belfast account for shipment via St. John, N.B. The local demand was slow, but the tone of the market is firm. Winter wheat, patents are selling at $4.75 to $5; Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $5.20 to $5.30; strong bakers', $4.50 to $5; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.50; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.25.

In oatmeal a fair jobbing trade was done and prices rule about steady. We quote: Rolled oats, $3.50 to $3.60 per bbl., and $1.75 to $1.80 per bag; standard, in bbls., $3.65 to $3.75, and granulated, $3.75 to $3.80.

The demand for feed was good and the market is fairly active and steady. Ontario bran sold at $9.25 to $9.50 per ton in bulk, and Manitoba at $10.40, including sacks. Shorts are unchanged at $11 to $12 and moullie at $15 to $16 per ton.

The tone of the hay market was firm under a good demand and No. 1 sold at $10.50 to $11 and No. 2 at $9 to $9.50 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

Cheese rules much the same. Enquiry for under grade goods at a range of 9¼ to 9¾c. continues, but it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain. It is understood in this connection that quite a lot of buying of October and November has been going on west of Toronto at 9¼ to 9⅝c. September makes continue nominal, for although it was reported that business has been done recently in them at 10¼ to 10⅜c., the news could not be confirmed. Besides, the Britishers, while they can get Octobers and and Novembers for ½ to ¾c. less per lb., are not likely to pay attention to the dearer article.

Butter rules dull with a heavy tendency, a depressing feature being the receipts of Western roll butter, which is going begging on the street at 13 to 14c. The range for creamery to-day was 18 to 18¼c.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Strictly sound, good keeping Malaga grapes are a very scarce article on this market.

Refiners have shown a plain disposition to shade prices in syrup this week in order to induce demand.

There are no canned lobsters available on this market under $10 per case this week, and the quantity even at that advance is light.

The price so far asked for Florida oranges on this market, viz., $5 per box, is practically prohibitory, and makes their sale extremely difficult.

The scarcity of Maracaibo coffee is as marked as ever this week, and 18c. was considered an inside price at this writing for straight invoice lots.

The first carload of California oranges came to hand last week. Its quality was excellent, but the price, $4.50 per box, was rather high compared with other fruit.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 17, 1896.

THIS week has been an active one in the wholesale trade. The season's trade has been good, but the country trade has not been hardly as large as usual. Money seems scarce. Markets show but little change, although the quiet season tends to weaken them.

SALT—There is no lack of stock here at present, and demand is quiet. Besides that which is brought here by the Liverpool steamers for the local market, large quantities arrive to go west by rail. The quantity of rock salt now used here is limited. We quote prices as follows: Coarse, 48 to 50c.; factory-filled, 90c. to $1; 5-lb. bags, in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c. each; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1 per bag.

CANNED GOODS.—While prices are firmer, there is little change noted, except, perhaps, in tomatoes, which are rather higher. There is some enquiry for peaches, but it is early in the season. Stocks of fruit here are not large. Baked beans show an improved enquiry, but they have only a limited sale. Domestic sardines in oil and mustard, as well as clams, chowder and scallops, are coming to the front as regular lines. They give good satisfaction. This branch of trade is, on the whole, quiet. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 70 to 75c.; tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $2; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapple, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.35 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20 to $2.25; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Demand has been active, with stocks not large; in fact, a number of lines are about sold out. Citron is enquired for. Prices are higher, any brought from outside points costing much higher than direct importations. Loose muscatels are held firmer, and stocks here will be well cleaned up by Christmas. Some good 2-crown goods have been brought here from New York. In Valencias, while there are not large stocks, the prices are not held as firm as other lines. Cleaned currants are experiencing a large sale, and prices tend higher. The first arrivals of dates are cleaned up. Others are daily expected. A few California prunes continue to come in here, but the demand for all grades of prunes is light. Prices tend higher. Some seeded loose muscatels were shown here this week in cartoons. They are nice fruit but the price is high. Evaporated apples are being bought by dealers on account of the low price, but there is light local demand. Dried were offered as low as 2½c. We quote: Valencias, 5½ to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 7 to 7¼c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2; currants, cases, 4½ to 5c.; bbls., 4½ to 4¾c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5½ to 6c.; dates, 4½c.; dried apples, 3 to 4c.; evaporated apples, 5 to 5½c.; Canadian onions, $1.90 to $2; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 6½ to 7c.; citron peel, 17 to 17½c.; orange and lemon, 12½ to 13c.; Valencias, layers, 6½ to 7½c.; 4-crown L. M. raisins, 8 to 8¼c.

GREEN FRUIT—The open weather has very much favored the green fruit merchants, and sales have been large. Apples show but little improvement. The quantity of poor apples has been large this season. Large quantities of good fruit are being shipped by the steamers to England. Here there is no sale whatever, except for the best grades. The odd lots have to be sold at auction, where price ranges from 50c. to $1. The Valencia oranges to hand are as yet rather sour. Some nice sweet West India oranges are offered. Lemons are lower and some nice Messina stock is here. Keg grapes are the firmest thing in the fruit line, and prices still tend upward. Bananas show better demand. It will be but during the holiday season. We quote: Messina lemons, $3.75 to $4.25; oranges, Valencia, $4.25 to $5; bananas, $1.75 to $2.25; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; keg grapes, $6.50 to $7; cranberries, Cape Cod, $4 to $6 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4.50 to $5; pineapples, $1.50 to $2 per doz.

SUGAR—Holiday demand is well over. The best that can be said of the market is that it is steady. Granulated retails as low as 24 pounds for $1. There is quite a stock of sugar here. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4¼c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3⅜c.; Paris lump, 5¾ to 6c.; powdered, 5½ to 6c.

MOLASSES—There is rather less movement owing to outside dealers being now well supplied. Prices are still low. New Orleans has a fair sale, demand showing no improvement. There is less syrup sold here than last season. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.

FISH—Trade has not been as active during the past week. While smoked herring are not in very large supply, the market is rather easier owing to light demand. Bloaters are coming to hand more freely this week—in some cases hard dried, which are not suited to this market. They will likely be sold under quotation. If weather was cold, good business would be done in frozen fish; it being soft, dealers are not able to make satisfactory returns for smelt received. A few frozen herring were handled here this week, but it is a matter of great risk. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.15 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.50 to $1.55 per half-bbl.; smoked, new, 7 to 8c.; shad, half-bbl, $4.50 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, $1 per box; Barrington, $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—Boston is now offering goods at rather lower quotations than Chicago. Pork is still low. Beef, on the other hand, continues to grow in firmness. Pure lard is rather easier, though some Ontario packers have refused to sell at prices ruling here. Compound is rather high. Lard is in large supply here. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $12 to $14; hams, 11 to 12c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7¾ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7½c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL—While flour at the moment is rather lower west, as quoted by some millers, the local price shows no change, and the feeling in general favors a higher market. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $5.70 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.75 to $3.80; cornmeal, $2 to $2.10; middlings, car lots, in bulk, $14 to $15; bran, do., do., $13 to $14; hand-picked beans, $1.10; prime, $1; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3; round peas, $1.15; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.50; buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.00.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

Cream of tartar, which has been ruling low and weak, is firmer.

L. E. Rolston, is now acting as agent for J. G. Hamilton & Sons, of Pictou.

Cream Pepsin cheese is showing an increased demand here. A shipment was made this week to Moncton.

The tea case spoken of last week has been finished, after being before the court almost a week. It resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for $200 damages. The action was brought by the packers of the "Union" blend, represented here by Geo. S. de Forest & Son, against Dearborn & Co., the claim being that the latter house sold a tea represented to be the same as "Union" blend.

Large shipments of lumber have been made to the South American ports this past season, some 12,000,000 feet going forward. A still better business is expected another year.

At the annual meeting of the St. John Board of Trade, held this week, the following officers were elected: W. S. Fisher, president; D. J. McLaughlin, vice-president; Ira Cornwall, secretary.

The steamer City of Monticello, so well-known as running for a number of years between St. John and Digby, is to go south to run between Nassau and Florida in connection with the Flaglor system of railways.

At a meeting of the lobster packers, held in Moncton, at which Prof. Prince, fishery commisioner, was present, the following resolutions were passed: That the Government extend the fishing season between Chockfish, Kent County, and Tidnish River, N.S., until July 31; that the Government establish two or more hatcheries. The Government stamp was approved of, and an increased fine for illegal fishing was suggested.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie. have now on the way, and due before Christmas, 100 250-lb. bales of finest pure Grenoble walnuts, and also due Bosnia prunes in 55-lb. boxes of the well-known "Ostrich" brand. Prices, etc., in advertising columns.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

AFTER several weeks of dulness, business in general has taken a spurt, which may continue through the holiday season. Compared with other years, however, trade is dull for the season.

The lines which are showing life are those almost entirely identified with the holiday season. Dried fruits, for instance, are a very important factor, and, as stocks are scarce, the price is high. Some dealers have recently received small consignments from Boston. French prunes do not seem to run with the rest, as they have declined in price, while other articles have gone up. There are no new dates to hand, but they are expected this week, and the opening price will be from 5¾ to 6c. Loose muscatel raisins, 2 and 3 crown, are meeting with good demand at 7½ to 8c. respectively. Valencias layers are quoted at 7½c. Fine off-stalk Valencias are worth 6½c. London layers are quoted at $2.25, which is a recent advance of 25c. per box. Black baskets bring $2.60 and bunch Dehesas, $3.75.

Good Gravenstein apples are in small supply and readily bring from $1.75 to $2 per bbl., while inferior grades sell from $1 to $1.50 per bbl.

Molasses is showing considerable life of late, but there is no change in quotations. Fancy Demeraras are worth 33c.; fancy Porto Rico, 33c.; choice do., 31c. Lower grades run from 23 to 28c.

The refinery reports no change in prices, and business in this article is anything but satisfactory. Quotations are : Granulated, 4⅛ to 4¼c.; yellows, 3⅛ to 3¼c.

The market has been well supplied with P. E. Island eggs, which are quoted at 16 to 17c. Good domestic stocks bring from 19 to 20c. The demand is light.

Trade in butter keeps up a fair average. Creamery tubs are quoted at 20c. and prints at 21c. Dairy rolls are worth 16c.

There is very little Ontario poultry on the market, and the demand is being supplied by native stocks. Ontario poultry shipped here for Thanksgiving fared badly on account of the bad weather, and dealers were glad to work it off at a great sacrifice.

Canadian dressed beef is now supplying the market, but prices are irregular on account of competition between a local firm and the Ontario house which is catering to the market. The demand, however, is not heavy and moderate consignments of both beef and mutton are advised. P. E. Island mess pork has dropped to $12 to $12.25 and Chicago to $13, duty paid. Canadian plate beef is steady at $10.50. Hams are quoted at 10½c. and roll bacon at 8½c.

Wm. Moir, Son & Co. have the contract to supply the army and navy with bread, biscuit and flour.

Shore fish have been received in large quantities lately, but considerable of it is badly cured. Most of the buyers of West India fish are stocked up. N. & M. Smith received seven vessel loads from Gaspe coast, most of which has gone into warehouse. Stocks of Bank cure and Labrador are not large, and Lunenburg exporters have not half their usual stocks. Fat mackerel are firmer. Salmon are not obtainable.

The Watchful Care

That we exercise in our factory is what makes "Kent" brand of Tomatoes the best. The fruit is put up the same day that it is picked. It is carefully examined before it goes into the cans. Each can is perfectly filled—no green stuff allowed in. There is no solder on the inside of our cans. These are the "secrets" of our success. Don't you want to sell the best?

MEXICAN AND JAMAICA ORANGES

FLORIDA orange-growers are now realizing that the temporary loss of her prominence as a producer of oranges has afforded a golden opportunity to Jamaica and Mexico to acquire prestige in the orange market, says Grocery World. Previously their careless methods in handling fruit had operated against them and kept them in the background. But they are becoming educated, largely through the efforts of American dealers in oranges, and by the time the Florida orange-growers can again make a good showing in the market they may expect to find other strong competitors elsewhere than in California and the Mediterranean region.

Mexico and Jamaica have a great advantage in immunity from frost, and in most of them there exist conditions favorable to the production of superior oranges at low cost. And what may now be lacking in quality may doubtless be supplied by budding to better varieties and by better culture.

The Mexicans now have good facilities for shipping their products by rail to the Uuited States. Lands and labor are cheap there, and, with our low tariff on oranges, they can afford to grow oranges for the American market for less than would pay the orange growers of California and Florida any profit. The planting of oranges in Mexico has been greatly stimulated, and the product will be largely increased within a few years. California papers express alarm at the prospect of such formidable competition. Agents of the Mexican orange growers have been in the American orange centres familiarizing themselves with our most approved modes of packing, grading, etc.

DELICACY IN THE STORE.

IT has always been astonishing to me that grocers are so indelicate about certain matters in their stores, and since you offer me the use of your pages I will take this opportunity of telling your readers what I think of them in this particular, writes Mrs. H. R. H. in Grocery World. Don't be alarmed, gentlemen; I shan't bite very hard.

I have been in some of the smallest country stores and I have been in some of the largest in the city, and everywhere I find this same lack of delicacy. For instance, not long ago I was in one of the largest retail grocery stores in Philadelphia, buying some dried apples. The apples themselves were very nice and clean, but the clerk who waited on me had unmistakably dirty hands, and he gouged out the apples from the box with them. Now, it is true that those apples were soaked and washed before they were eaten, but that makes no difference. This is what I mean by the lack of delicacy. That clerk could have made a great deal better impression on me had he worn white gloves than he did by using his bare, dirty hands.

It has always been a pet fad of mine that a grocer should be just as particular as a lady is in baking bread. Where he has to handle naked food products he ought to keep his hands from them. In other words, he should wear these white cotton gloves that some of the itinerant candy fakirs wear you see along the Philadelphia streets. Even they know enough to understand that people will be more apt to buy their goods if they don't handle them with their moist, sweaty fingers.

ASK FOR MOTT'S

THE GREATEST OF THESE IS QUALITY.

THE question of price, the question of service and the question of quality—all demand the serious attention of the would-be successful grocer, and the greatest of these is quality, says Merchants' Review.

The country is growing so wealthy that the standard of quality in food products is being constantly raised, and we find that the most successful grocers are those who sell the finest grades of goods, their phenomenal success being possibly due to this circumstance.

Some of the department stores give good service and ask very low prices, but give little attention to the matter of quality, and for this reason, if for no other, we do not apprehend that they will prove dangerous competitors of the grocers.

The study of history is a good preparation for the person who aims to shine as a seer of the future, but it does not follow that because cheap goods were given the preference years ago they will be preferred to better goods to-day. We fear that some members of the trade don't sufficiently recognize that various changes have taken place in the grades of goods handled by grocers during the present generation. They are handling the same grades that they sold in 1880 or earlier, and their more enlightened rivals are the ultimate beneficiaries of their peculiar methods.

We state as a fact that in certain neighborhoods of this city a peddler who sells canned goods, in addition to fruits and vegetables, does a rattling business, simply because the grocers roundabout keep only ordinary canned goods, while the peddler keeps the best. That peddler is aware that the world "do move"—some day the grocers will become aware of it too.

A GROCER'S TALE.

In a certain town, says a San Francisco paper, in California there dwelt a Jew. He was a grocer by occupation and withal a goodly man.

He had a neighbor—a Christian, who likewise followed the occupation of buying and selling groceries.

And it came to pass that the Jew, thinking thereby to attract great custom to his store, did begin to sell his wares and merchandise at prices exceedingly low.

The Christian did then, seeing his custom becoming small, also begin to sell for a lesser price.

And thus for some time did the Jew and the Christian strive with one another to see which could sell for the lower price, and thereby gain the larger trade.

But it came to pass that the Christian, in order to take stock, did keep his store open late into the night. Then the Jew did marvel greatly. He saw his Christian brother working late and early with all his men. At last he called upon him, and asked him how it came to pass that he, having so much less trade than himself, did work so hard and long. "Why," exclaimed the Christian, "I have been taking stock." "Taking stock," said the Jew, "what is that?" "Why," said the Christian, "when I take stock, I find out how much goods is within my store, also how much money is owing unto me, and thereby the amount of my substance."

The Jew then appeared greatly joyed at the advice thus freely offered unto him, and exclaimed, "then even will I go and follow thine example, and will return and tell thee how much my possessions have increased."

Several days did then pass, when at last the Jew did return. Then said he unto the Christian, "Well, brother, how did thy stock-taking result?" "Well," said the Christian, "rather badly, my friend. I lost near unto $600. But how did thine result?" "Grievously," replied the Jew. "I will tell thee the truth, brother," said he, "I have lost nigh unto half of my entire substance."

GERMAN SUGAR FACTORIES.

THE number of sugar factories at work during the campaign which closed on the 31st July was 396 against 405 in the two preceding seasons. The quantity of beets worked up was 11,675,217 metric tons (2,205 lbs.) against 14,521,029 tons in 1893-94. The sugar produced in the three campaigns (in raw sugar value) was :

1895-96.	1894-95.	1893-94.
Tons (2,205 lbs.)	Tons (2,205 lbs.)	Tons (2,205 lbs.)
1,642,360	1,830,500	1,382,591

The yield obtained was 13.19 per cent., against 12.17 per cent. in 1894-95 and 12.36 per cent 1893-94. This is the highest yield obtained up to now, that of 1887-88 having been 13.08.

The exports (still in raw sugar equivalent) were :

1895-96.	1894-95.	1893-94.
Tons.	Tons.	Tons.
957,164	1,044,903	728,322

The inland consumption amounted to :

1895-96.	1894-95.	1893-94.
Tons.	Tons.	Tons.
738,153.	618,688.	574,033

The considerable increase in the figures for 1895-96 is largely to be ascribed to the purchase made immediately before the coming into force of the new legislation of last May.

The consumption per head of population was :

1895-96	1894-95.	1893-94.
Lbs.	Lbs.	Lbs.
30.93	26.26	24.85

A PREMIUM ON SLOWNESS.

IN a grocery store, not very long ago, I chanced to overhear two conversations, which may prove suggestive to more than one of the readers of this journal. I may say, in parentheses, that business kept me there, and that it was impossible not to hear.

"Well," said a man whom I took to be a farmer, as he approached the proprietor, "I've come to pay my bill; how much do I owe?"

A full half-hour spent over the ledger, or in disputes concerning some of the entries made there, resulted in a bill of $28.75.

"I suppose that's all right," commented the farmer, "but you'll have to make it even money."

"Really, now," protested the merchant, "I can't afford it. I've done all that I can already, and these are hard times, you know."

"That's all right," was the rejoinder, "but I've been trading with you for a long while, and you ought to be easy on your old customers. Here's $28; just give me a receipt in full."

"Well, as it is you, I'll do it," and the receipt was given as the money changed hands. Then, as the farmer left, he continued: "Here, let's celebrate. Have a cigar?" and I noticed that the choicest box was produced.

Not two minutes afterward another man came in, and with business directness purchased a bill of goods.

"How much is it?" he asked.

"Eleven dollars and twenty cents."

The check was given, and with a courteous "good-day," the gentleman departed.

Both were regular customers

One man, having bought $28.75 in two or three months, was given seventy-five cents and a cigar for paying his bill, and nothing was said of interest.

The other, who bought $11.20 in one order and paid cash, was permitted to pay. Certainly the former received a handsome premium for running a bill.

Nearly any man would be rather glad to run a bill if such inducements were held out to him.

If I were a cash customer of that store, I would either cease cash payments or go where cash was an object.—Trade Magazine.

W. Goodling's new bakery at Bothwell is nearly finished, and a new confectionery store is being opened up in the old post office stand.

MATCH-MAKING EXTRAORDINARY.

Matches are made in—Hull, Canada, by the E. B. Eddy Co., Ltd.—in fact the company's match-making there has given the place a great name. The mention of Hull, and the fact that we are in Halifax, and the brimstone associated with matches, instinctively suggests that old English alliteration of "h—ll, hull, and halifax," as three undesirable places, although it has been incorrectly applied on this side the Atlantic—the Hull and the Halifax included in the trio were the English towns of those names.

This is a lengthy introduction to noticing the recent receipt of a sample box containing all kinds of matches, through John Peters & Co., the Halifax agents of the Eddy Co. There are the most delicate, as well as the most formidable, from wax to wood; large enough to act as a torch, and small enough to carry a box with 500 in a vest pocket. There are tapers a foot long, and dear little vestas with their red heads and white bodies; there are parlor matches, telephone matches, flaming champions, cigar-lighters, etc., 25 distinct varieties in all, the whole a most interesting collection. We should fancy Messrs. Eddy had brought this business to perfection, and that they were unmatchable match-makers. The packages are of all kinds, wood, card and ornamental oxidized tin.—The Acadian Recorder.

TEN POUNDS OF TOBACCO.

Ten pounds represent the quantity of tobacco grown in England this year. Ten years ago, when the first experiment was made, the year's revenue from this source was £13, rising in the following year to £158, and falling to £49 in 1889. It reached £131 in 1891, but the next year only one sovereign was offered to the Exchequer for tobacco duty, and from that year until 1896 no more tobacco was grown. In 1887 and 1888 Scotland had a try at tobacco-growing, but in the two years only about 13 lbs. of leaf was produced, and after that Scotland abandoned the industry.

AFTER SEEDLESS FRUITS.

ONE of the most important objects scientific fruit-growers are striving for is to produce thornless and seedless fruits, and from the results already obtained it is not unlikely that the end will soon be realized. Seeds are not relished by the consumers of fruits, and many would cheerfully pay a higher price for fruits without them.

The California navel orange represents the best type of fruit grown without seeds. Nature produced this orange as a freak at first, and man has taken advantage of it to propagate fruits of a high order. Half the oranges of California are grafted with the navel, and it is the most important fruit of the Pacific Coast. Nature tried to produce twins in the navel orange, and one survived only as a protuberance in the blossom end, while the other expanded into a well-shaped fruit without seeds. These oranges are occasionally found with small seeds, but, as a rule, they are perfectly seedless.

Several varieties of seedless apples and pears have already been produced, but the quality of the fruit is generally poor and nearly worthless. They are called "bloomless" pears and apples, and are exhibited more as curiosities than as the triumphs of pomological art. Nevertheless, they are the beginning of a new era of apple-growing, and they represent the primary stock of seedless fruits which may produce in time the finest-flavored apples and pears.

The grape industry would be benefited more than any other by the production of new varieties without seeds, and toward this end scores of fruit-growers are working, especially in California. The idea is to produce not only table grapes, but grapes that will make fine raisins. Seedless raisins would prove such a boon to the whole civilized world that any other variety would be quickly run out of the market.

There is a seedless grape of Corinth, which commonly passes as a currant, and the Sultana raisins of southeastern Europe are also seedless. But these fruits are so small that they can never answer the purpose. What the trade wants is a large, seedless grape, with perfect color and flavor, and to get that it is necessary to experiment for years.—Grocery World.

BOTTOM OUT OF BEANS.

The bottom seems to have fallen out of the market altogether. The prices here run from 35 to 40c. for primes, and 50c. for picked, and the dealers say it is impossible to sell at a profit even on these quotations. But one car was shipped all last week, and that went to the Northwest. In Detroit the price is down to 73c. for picked and 40 to 55c. for primes. The duty is 20 per cent. Add barrels, freight and necessary charges, and it will be seen that trading is out of the question.—Banner, Chatham.

THE FUTURE OF LARD.

WE do not look upon the future of lard as a packing house product with equanimity. While we do not believe that in the immediate future the price of this commodity will go as low as it has been recently, there is no denying that lard has lost considerable of its prestige as a food product, and we doubt whether it will ever regain its former popularity and position, much less will it approach the range of high prices which it has commanded for so many years. The causes for this are manifold, and they are not altogether to be ascribed to the increase in the number of fat hogs, and consequently of pure lard. We believe that the consumption of lard in this country has much decreased. Not alone that many bakers (cracker makers excepted), use cotton-seed oil for their purposes, but the general demand on the part of the consuming public has decreased. The reason for this must be sought and can be found in the overproduction of lard compounds of an inferior nature. Too many so-called pure lards have come to market which tasted and smelled more like "pure tallow" than pure leaflard, and many a housewife that used to buy "lard" finds beef fat and other cooking fats preferable. The inhabitants of the Russian steppes, the Kirgises, the Icelanders, the Laplanders and some South Sea Islanders eat pure tallow and drink codliver oil as a refreshment. The Simian people, however, can hardly be educated to the same taste and unless tallow will hereafter go more largely into soap than into lard, we see no chance for the latter commodity to regain its former commanding position. Plenty of good fat hogs are in sight and hence plenty of pure lard will be made. Compounds consisting of cottonseed oil, lard and stearine are devoid of obnoxious odors and taste and will be more popular than all the others, and these should be cultivated if compounds are wanted. Tallow has other channels and can be put to better usage.— National Provisioner.

COUNTING POSTAL CARDS.

Two of the most interesting automata now working within the limits of the United States are, according to The Argosy, those used by the Government for counting and tying postal cards into small bundles. These machines were made in Connecticut, and the two are capable of counting 500,000 cards in 10 hours and wrapping and tying the same in packages of 25 each. In this operation the paper is pulled off a drum by two long "fingers" which come up from below, and another finger dips in a vat of mucilage and applies itself to the wrapping paper in exactly the right spot. Other parts of the machine twine the paper around the pack of cards and then a "thumb" presses over the spot where the mucilage is, and the package is thrown upon a carry belt ready for delivery.

ENGLISH ARMY BLACKING.

The F. F. Dalley Co., of Hamilton, say that when the Commission visited Hamilton, composed of the Hon. Mr. Fielding, Finance Minister; the Hon. Mr. Paterson, Controller of Customs, and Sir Richard Cartwright, Minister of Trade and Commerce, these gentlemen passed a very favorable comment on the English Army blacking box when it was shown them. They stated that they did not think that that blacking required to have any protection, as it appeared to them to be so much superior to others, and there was no reason why it did not control the markets of Canada. Sir Richard stated that he thought the consumer was getting good value from the large size of the box.

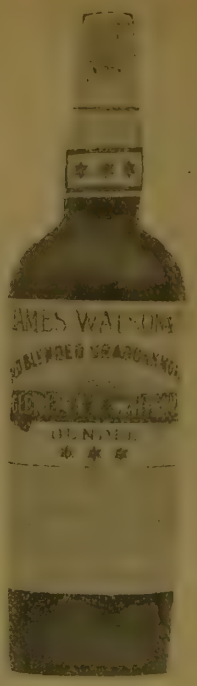
THE "DIAMOND"

OIL BLACKING

TRADE OIL MARK



Is specially prepared for the people, recommending itself. It has been acknowledged for years the best kind, as it preserves and imparts to leather a brilliant jet black polish. It has numerous imitators, but continues to outshine them all. Ask for the original, and see you get it.

A SNOW-BOUND CHRISTMAS.

BY FRANCES COLE BURR.

MOST of the occupants of the small room sat gazing out of the windows into the snow-filled air. There were windows enough to go around, though the room was long and narrow, and contained six or eight persons. All day they had spent together in this one room, each sitting quietly in his place. There had been but little conversation. The tall dark man with the white mustache and tired face had slept much, with his head resting on his folded overcoat. A boy opposite, who showed sullen anger and defiance in every line of his young face, had watched him, and wondered how a man could sleep in the daytime. The boy did not know that those long, nervous white hands, wielding a surgeon's knife, had saved a life the day before, and the tired eyes had watched for many hours following. An earnest, bright-faced young girl near by had observed him, too, while he slept, as she eyed all her neighbors, with keen interest. There was the old lady in the corner, a man with sample-cases piled at his side, the shabby little woman holding a big baby, and a middle-aged man with stolid, joyless countenance, who had read three newspapers through from beginning to end without a change of expression, and since then had sat staring straight before him. The girl in her active mind had tried to combine these various personages into a story, but she gave it up with a little sigh for their commonplaceness.

An ill-assorted company it was. Surely they would have chosen to spend the day before Christmas together for no other reason than, as it happened, they all wished to travel over this branch road, which ran between the northern line from Little Falls and the Grand Central.

The day was nearly over, and the journey should have been; but the snow, which had been falling steadily since morning, grew heavier, the speed of the train perceptibly decreased, and the engine groaned and labored. The engineer watched apprehensively as they drew near a certain cut, narrow and deep, through the hills. It was drifted high; and meeting that soft, still, resistless opposition, the great engine slowed and stopped.

The drifting snow hid the familiar landmarks, and so it happened that, just as the passengers were anxiously questioning one another as to the cause of the stop in that lonely place, Jim Case, the fireman, swinging himself off the engine, slipped over a culvert, and in the fall of only a few feet broke his arm with startling ease and completeness. He was lifted back white and fainting; and, when the brisk conductor hurried into the passenger coach, he responded to the anxious queries with a brief "Snowed up," and then, addressing the dark man, he said:

"I don't suppose you're a doctor, are you?"

"Yes," said the man, with an enquiring glance; "does someone need me?"

The conductor look relieved.

"Now, ain't that lucky!" said he. "Surgeon, too, I guess?" The doctor nodded assent. In a few words the conductor told of the accident amid exclamations of mingled sympathy and dismay from the listeners. And as the doctor picked up his small black bag and followed him into the forward car, the conductor continued:

"Not many of you travel on this road, but I thought that was your trade when I took your ticket. I gave a job to a surgeon once when I was hurt in a wreck. That was a good while ago, but I have never forgot the look or the feel of his hand—so steady and strong and white," he added with an apologetic smile.

"Here we are, Jim!" he called out cheerily; "here is the doctor and the head nurse. You just break your bones and we will do the rest, you know."

The fireman lay stretched upon the floor, his head resting languidly on a pile of waste, and a pretty five-year-old boy sobbing with fright was kneeling close beside him.

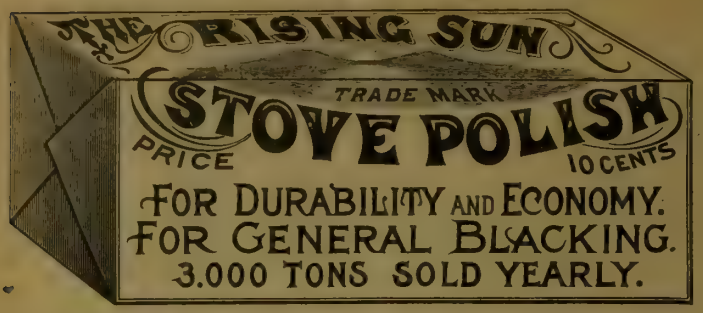
"Who is this little fellow?" asked Dr. Carleton, after the examination was over, and he was skilfully bandaging the injured arm.

"He's mine, poor little chap?" said the fireman, with a tender glance, though his lips were white with pain. The boy, who was a sturdy little fellow just out of dresses, stopped his sobs as he heard his father's voice, and looking up at the doctor asked: "Now will we go to grandma's, and have a Christmas?"

The man winced again, and closed his eyes; and the conductor explained in a kindly aside:

"Little chap's mother is dead; just buried her a week ago. She had him filled up chock-full of Christmas, and seems as if he couldn't give it up. They are going on to Jim's mother's. She's going to take care of Jamie; and I guess the old lady had promised to have a tree."

Jamie was listening eagerly, and broke in, forgetting his shyness:



"Yes; a Christmas tree and candles. For grandma said so."

"Seems as if that is all he thinks of," said the fireman; "his poor mother—she—" and he stopped, and closed his eyes again.

"Shall we go now?" insisted Jamie. "You said that we'd get there the night before Christmas."

"Now, young fellow," broke in the conductor, "you know this is road luck. You are a railroad man, and must learn to keep a stiff upper lip when things go wrong; brace up, and let that tree wait a day or so."

But Jamie's sobs broke out afresh. Fireman Jim's head turned languidly away.

"I should think some of those women might know what to do for the boy," said the conductor. The doctor nodded.

"Take him away, and have him amused if you can," said he. "He troubles his father. He ought to have something to eat,"—the doctor hesitated, and then added, —"though I suppose it does no good to say so. Have you anything—any way of making a cup of tea, or any beef extract? Do you go prepared for these emergencies?"

The conductor shook his head.

"I'm afraid not," he said, "unless some of the passengers might have something left from lunch. We were due at 5.30, you know, and we get our supper in town."

"Well, you might inquire," said the doctor; "he would feel better after having a bit of something."

So the conductor, carrying the crying Jamie, went back to the passenger car. He found the young girl the centre of what seemed almost a social circle.

The good-natured baby, who had been drowsily nodding, was sound asleep in one of the farthest seats, as content as a veteran traveler in a Pullman state-room, while his mother sat shyly on the outskirts of the little company. The traveling man's sample-cases, covered with a napkin, formed an improvised table; and upon this the stock of eatables was being spread.

"Well, anyhow, we sha'n't be starved," the old lady said; "that there basket"—pointing to a huge covered wicker—"is full of fixin's I was taking to John's folks. I expect it won't seem so like Christmas to the children if they don't have them leaf-cookies and the gingerbread animals; and they are good if I do say it that ought'n't; but I'm sure I never thought, when I was bakin' 'em, that they would save our lives."

"We'll hope they need not do quite so much for us," laughed the pretty girl, whose name on the one modest trunk in the rear car was D. M. Marsh; "but we will not touch the children's cookies unless we are starved into such robbery. How glad I am Aunt Mary made me take this great box of luncheon! I hardly made an impression on it this noon." And she brought out an unopened jar of pressed chicken. "This will be our Christmas turkey!" she announced.

"Is n't there some way of melting that down into soup?" asked the conductor, who came in just at this point.

"How is the injured man?" inquired the commercial traveler, while the old lady held out her motherly arms for Jamie, as she said:

"You poor lamb! Is it his pa that's killed?"

"He's all right," said Conductor Brooks; "only his arm is broken, and he is knocked out and faint. The doctor was asking for some soup, or something to brace him a little. If that was chicken broth, now, it would just fit."

"Why, we can make broth in just a few minutes," said Miss Marsh; and in a moment she had brought from her trunk a pretty chafing-dish, and lighted it, the old lady nodding approval.

"Alcohol, too, the girl said, laughing; left over from the last oyster spread at college."

The lamp was quickly adjusted, and into the bright pan went part of the jellied chicken.

"It's a privilege, nowadays, to see a young girl know somethin' about cookin'!" said the old lady, while the stolid-faced man silently proffered a match; and Jamie stopped crying to taste the broth, when an appetizing odor began to diffuse through the car.

During all that had passed the boy had hardly left his dark corner. He did not wish to talk. It was nobody's business where he was going, and some one would be sure to ask. But he looked on, and thought how bright and quick and pleasant the girl was. When the broth was sent to Jim and the doctor returned, the remainder of Aunt Mary's bread and butter and pickles was spread, with various additions from the others' lunch-baskets. Part was reserved for breakfast, and the little group whose common misfortune had thawed all reserve supped together merrily, if not bountifully. The boy declined all but a single sandwich. He was hungry, but the angry, defiant pride which had hardened his face all day melted somewhat, and he felt less like eating.

"And to-morrow is Christmas!" said the traveling man, whose name was Osgood. "I've worked like two men to get through and have the day at home with the wife and babies, and it is hard to be stalled up so near."

"And there's my son John, and Milly and the children. I have'nt missed a Christmas with them since John was married. They all come to me Thanksgivin'," said the old lady; "but we're all alive, and that's a great mercy."

"Never mind," said Miss Marsh; "we'll have the evening at home. But I wish I hadn't stayed with Aunt Mary until the last moment."

"I want a Christmas!" sobbed Jamie, his ready tears bursting forth again. "Mama said I should have a Christmas; an' gramma's got a tree, an' I—want—a—Christmas!"

Again the big conductor told the short, sad little story of the dead mother who had promised a happy day to the boy; and Miss Marsh looked steadily out of the car window a half-minute, while her eye brightened and a resolve formed.

"Jamie boy," said Miss Marsh, "you shall have your Christmas. It's Christmas here just the same as all over the world; and you shall have a real one."

He looked up in joyful trust. "An' a tree?"

"Yes, dear; a real tree," said the girl.

To the Trade

We again beg to thank our friends who have given us all, or such a large share, of their trade for the year now closing.

We feel we have done well for them in every way—bringing all our goods from country of production, and buying everything from first hands. Handling our business economically, we have laid down our goods to our friends on a low basis of cost. Those who favor us with their trade for 1897 can rely on the same fair treatment heretofore extended.

Wishing all our friends a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year,

We are, yours truly,

BALFOUR & CO., = HAMILTON.

The others listened in astonishment. The old lady opened her lips to remonstrate, but shut them again. The traveling man whistled softly and skeptically, and the doctor looked on amused. Only Jamie and the boy gazed at her with implicit confidence.

"When shall I have it?" asked Jamie.

"To-morrow—Christmas morning," said the girl brightly. "Now go to papa and go right to sleep, and in the morning—you'll see!" With tears undried, but with a face beaming with happiness, Jamie let himself be carried away to his makeshift bed by his father's side.

"An' a tree," he said as the sleepy eyes closed; "an' candles, an'——"

* * *

"Well?" said Mr. Osgood, with a quizzical smile of doubt. But before Miss Marsh could reply the boy said briefly:

"I'll get it. I saw 'em before it got dark."

He had already buttoned his coat, and seizing the red-handled axe that hung near the stove, he bravely leaped out into the drifts.

"Those little evergreens, you know," said Miss Marsh; "they are just a few feet away—he can see them by the light from the windows, I think; and we can make it pretty somehow," she continued eagerly; "Jamie's such a little lad, and Christmas means so much to him."

Mr. Osgood nodded.

"But what's goin' to be on the tree?" asked the practical old lady. "It's all foolishness goin' to so much trouble for that one child, and we a-tremblin', you may say, between life and death! But I declare for 't, I hate to have the day go by and do nothin'; and even if we're rescued to-morrow, as that conductor says he thinks probable,—which I don't more 'n half believe—what with gettin' home, and explaining when you do get there, —which please mercy we may!—why, the day's as good as gone. An', anyhow, I've got a pair of red knit mittens for John's Alexander, and I'm going to give 'em to that poor motherless lamb, an' you can hang 'em on the tree for one thing, Miss Marsh."

"Splendid!" said Miss Marsh. "And I have a red skating-cap in my satchel—I believe it will just fit him."

"Is he too small for a knife?" asked Mr. Osgood. "Let's see—about five, isn't he? My wife makes six the knife-line; I guess I'd better not," and he returned it to his pocket.

"Hold on!" said he, with sudden inspiration. "I've some illustrated catalogues here that could pass for picture books—yes, and cards, too—our new ones"; and, diving into his cases, he brought out a pile of brilliant pictures.

"Will Miss Santa Claus accept this?" asked Dr. Carleton, offering a pocket microscope. Just then the door opened, and the boy came in, dragging triumphantly a small evergreen.

Every one laughed excitedly, and it "did begin to seem somethin' like," as the old lady said. Then how they worked? The tree was braced firmly at the end of the aisle, the lumps of ice and snow shaken off and a more durable quality of soft cotton flakes from Dr. Carleton's surgical stores added. Leaf-cookies and astonishing gingerbread animals dangled from the branches, and Alexander's red mittens waved in welcome. Even the man of the immovable visage helped, with something like a softening of his hard features; and when he fastened to a branch a red blank-book and pocket pencil, there was an outburst of laughing applause.

Meanwhile Dr. Carleton talked quietly with the shabby little woman; he had asked about the baby's teething, and she unconsciously gave him much of her simple story. Her husband had lost his place in the little town where they had lived. He had found work in the city, and she was going to meet him. They had no "folks." She worked in a factory before she was married. No; the baby hadn't cut any teeth yet. She hoped that she wouldn't fuss or be sick about it. She didn't know much about babies. The doctor listened with sympathy, and, a little later, wrapping a bright gold piece in a bit of paper, he marked it, "For Baby Burns to cut her teeth on," and it was added to the tree.

The boy looked on with a dull ache in his throat. He hoped it was not going to be sore. How sick he had been with those bad throats, and how good mother always was! Mother was filling the children's stockings at home now. She always managed to have something for them, somehow. Poor mother! She would have it all to bear alone now. How could he leave her? Why didn't he think of her part? "But I won't go back," he said to himself. "I can't go back now. I'll come home rich some day, and give mother everything she wants; but I won't sneak back now." Then he didn't care to think more.

"I can make a top," he whispered to Miss Marsh, "if I have a piece of wood. Shall I?"

"He would like it best of all, I know," said Miss Marsh heartily; and then she added aloud, "Now we must have a star for the top. What can we do about it?"

"Well, I guess it's good enough," said the old lady. "I guess he won't miss the star."

But the girl looked from one to another in perplexed appeal.

"Why must there be a star?" asked the boy shyly.

Miss Marsh hesitated a moment. She did not know much about boys, this brotherless college girl; but she said, almost as shyly as he:

"Don't you think the Christmas star is the most beautiful thing in the world? You know the Christ Child was born beneath a star; and I think it meant, for one thing, that for every new life there is a star set in heaven that will light the life all the way, if once we catch a glimpse of it, and know it is there for us."

The boy listened breathless. He could not have told just what the girl's words meant; but the moral courage that all day had been struggling to live took new strength, and slowly began to shape itself into a resolution. They stood looking at each other, when the traveling man, who was down again in his cases, emerged in triumph, waving some tinfoil.

"Cut out the star from that pasteboard box," he cried; "and here's the glory for it. We can't stop short of perfection in this tree."

"Well, I'm blessed!" said Conductor Brooks, staring at the sight, when he came in a little later. "Where do you folks think you are? At a Sunday school festival?"

"Never you mind where we be!" said the old lady. Her bonnet was awry and her spectacles on her forehead. "You just help h'ist up that star, and then we're all done."

Christmas morning Jamie awoke round-eyed and expectant.

"I want my tree," he said, "and I want my breakfast." And as the waiting holiday-makers were impatient as he, the breakfast was hurried through, and then they all filed in, Jamie in Conductor Brooks' arms, his father, who was doing bravely, coming behind, followed by the engineer. Jamie gazed at the tree as if dazed by his surprise; but after the first moment a smile of radiant, ecstatic joy spread over the round, baby face. Not a word or sound, only that beaming, blissful smile. It was irresistible; and with shouts of laughter the tree was despoiled of its offerings, and Jamie's cup of happiness was full. In the midst of the merriment Miss Marsh glanced at the boy. He was gazing at the star with a curious expression, and she thought of their words the night before. In her bodice was thrust a pin whose head was a tiny golden star—the badge of WHOLESALE GROCERS, - - - TORONTO.

THERE is no reason in the world why you should wait for your customers to ask for Tillson's Roller Process Buckwheat Flour. Your interests are best served by telling them about it yourself. You touch the vanity of the customer, pleasantly, who thinks you have his or her interest at heart. You establish more confidence between you two at once, and more trade follows, naturally.

Roller Process Buckwheat Flour is a pure Buckwheat Flour—not an atom of foreign matter is in it—no spice essences—no low-grade flours mixed with it. It has the rich, strong, natural Buckwheat flavor that consumers want and like so much and yet so seldom get. It costs no more than the kind that drives trade to your competitors.

her class society. She drew it out, and pressing it into one of the leaf-cookies which were being passed about, she handed it to him with a whispered "Merry Christmas!" He saw it, and there was a quick rush of color to his face, and tears to his eyes—and that little star weighed down the balance of decision on the right side, and made a man of him. But the girl never knew.

When the laughing talk had quieted a little, Jamie turned confidently to Miss Marsh.

"Now the story," he said.

"What story, laddie?" she asked.

"The Christmas story. Mama said there is a Christmas story, and she saved it up for Christmas day. It is the nicest story I ever heard, mama said."

Every one was still for a moment. Poor Jim turned away. "She would have made a good man of him," was the thought in his heart. The girl felt her own heart beat quickly. Could she? Before all these strange people? What would they think! No, she couldn't; she would have a chance to talk to Jamie alone before the day was over. That would be much better. But the childish eyes gazed expectantly into hers, and with a swift thought of the dead mother she lifted the little boy gently to her knee, and with softly flushing cheeks, and voice that trembled a little, she began:

"Long ago, in a beautiful country over the sea, there were shepherds in the fields keeping watch over their flocks by night."

The sweet voice grew stronger as the simple words of the wonderful story held the listeners in solemn silence. The little woman's tears dropped on her baby's head as she heard of the mother for whom there was no room in the inn, and a vague, trembling prayer went up from her burdened heart to the Christ who was a child.

The boy's eyes shone with new light as he thought of the star set in heaven for the Christ who was a boy, and with a thrill of newly-awakened love and appreciation he placed his own weary, hard-worked mother on her throne in her boy's heart.

There were eloquent sermons preached in the churches that Christmas day, and wonderful music was sung; but, as truly as in his visible temples, Christ was preached and worshiped about that little tree, whose balsam breath went up as frankincense and myrrh.

A little later in the day, after the relief had come and the train pulled into the city station, the Christmas party stopped a moment for the last handshakings and farewells. Twenty-four hours before they would have parted with scarcely a glance at one another. Now they seemed old friends. The busy doctor hurried away first, followed by a long, grateful look from the baby's mother.

"I'll never forget it of him," she thought.

The boy took a step towards Miss Marsh. One of her hands was tight in Jamie's chubby clasp, the other was held in the old lady's.

He looked a moment, then turned with a resolute face, and walked to the ticket-office.

"Give me a ticket on the first train that goes back to Little Falls," he said.

A NEW FIRM FOR RENFREW.

A NEW firm will open in Renfrew as soon after January 1 as possible. It will be composed of John MacKay, now conducting a general store at Eauclair, and Allan MacKay, of MacKay & Matheson, Renfrew. A very fine three storey building has been erected by Wm. MacKay, the father of the partners, in a good locality. It is on a corner with 24 feet of plate glass front, giving a north light. They will carry a stock of dry goods, groceries, men's furnishings, boots and shoes. Part of the second floor will be fitted up for carpets, lace curtains and drapery goods. W. R. Barnard, late of Carswell & MacKay, will have charge of the dry goods department, and Allan MacKay the grocery, while John MacKay will be the financial manager. The first two spent a couple of weeks in Toronto and Montreal the latter part of the month. As usual with all good firms, they are subscribers to THE CANADIAN GROCER.

CANADIAN DUTIES ON SPIRITS.

The following, over the signature of Max D. Stern, appeared in a recent issue of the N. Y. Journal of Commerce: "At this time, when tariff agitation is permanently before us, I would like to call attention to the duties exacted in Canada on our spirits. Duty on spirits in Canada is $2.25 per gallon and 30 per cent. ad valorem, which 30 per cent. is waived in favor of France, Spain and Germany. It is almost impossible to get a drink of our whiskey or beer in Canada, while immense quantities of Canadian whiskies are sold here. Duty here is indiscriminating and is $1.80 on spirits. In Canada whiskey is bottled in bonded warehouse, and a band, issued by the Government, is placed over the cork, thus guaranteeing the age. Visitors to Canada have been deluded by this, and it has created a demand here, although the whiskies cannot compare either in purity or quality with our fine old Kentucky bourbons or Pennsylvania ryes. It seems to me some prompt and decided action should be taken by our Government to terminate this unfair discrimination, and that the duties on spirits of both countries should be the same."

A DUBIOUS "OLD KRISS."

Us-folks is purty pore—but Ma
She's watin'---two years more---tel Pa
He serves his term out. Our Pa he-
He's in the Penitenchurree!

Now, don't you never tell!---'cause Sis,
The baby, she don't know he is.
'Cause she wuz only four, you know,
He kissed her last an' hat to go!

Pa allus liked Sis best of all
Us children—'Spect it's 'cause she fall
When she 'uz ist a child, one day---
An' make her back look thataway.

Pa---'fore he be a burglar---he's
A locksmiff, an' maked locks and keys,
An' knobs you pull fer bells to ring,
An' he could ist make anything!---

'Cause our Ma say he can!---An' this Here little pair o' crutches Sis
Skips round on—Pa maked them—yes, sir!—
An' silivur-plate-name here fer her!

Pa's out o' work when Chris'mus come
One time, an' stay away from home,
An's drunk an' 'buse our Ma, an' swear
They ain't no "Old Kriss" anywhere!

An' Sis she allus say they wuz
A' "Old Kriss"---an' she allus does,
But ef they is a "Old Kriss" why,
When's Chris'mus, Ma she allus cry?

This Chris'mus now, we live here in
Where Ma's rent's allus due agin---
An' "she ist slaves"—I heerd her say
She did—ist them words thataway!

An' th' other night, when all's so cold
An' stove's most out—our Ma she rolled
Us in th' old featherbed an' said
"To-morry's Chris'mus—go to bed,

An' thank yer blessed stars for this—
We don' 'spect nothin' from 'Old Kriss'!"
An' cried, an' locked the door, an' prayed,
An' turned the lamp down . . An' I laid

There, thinkin' in the dark agin
"Ef wuz 'Old Kriss,' he can't git in,
'Cause ain't no chimbly here at all—
Ist old stovepipe stuck frue the wall!"

I sleeped nen.—An' wuz dreamin' some
When I waked up an' mornin's come—
Fer our Ma she wuz settin' square
Straight up in bed, a-readin' there

Some letter 'at she'd read, an' quit,
An' nen hold like she's huggin' it.—
An' Diamon' ear-rings she don't know
Wuz in her ears tel I say so—

An' wake the rest up. An' the sun
In frue the winder dazzle-un
Them eyes o' Sis's, wiv a sure-
Enough gold chain "Old Kriss" bringed to 'er!

An' all of us git gold things!—Sis,
Though, say "she know it ain't 'Old Kris'—
He kissed her so she waked an' saw Him skite out—an' it wuz her Pa."

EXPORT TRADE DEVELOPMENT.

WHILE the export trade of the Dominion is by no means standing still, yet it does not develop as rapidly as is desirable or as rapidly as the capabilities of the country warrant.

Per head of population our exports are only $23.40. Nearly every one of the British colonies is able to make a better showing than this. The exports of the Australian colonies run all the way from $46 to $105 per head. Even Newfoundland beats us by about six dollars per head.

With her forests, her agricultural resources, her dairy interests, her fisheries, her minerals, her manufactures, Canada ought to be able to do more than she does. That she could do more is obvious enough even to him who runs.

The Federal Government can do a great deal to help secure the desideratum. But even were the Government divine instead of human, the chief onus of getting foreign customers is upon the shoulders of the manufacturers, the business men, the agriculturists, etc., of this country.

The chief duty of the Government is to provide facilities. The great and important duty of getting business reposes with those who have goods to sell.

In the United States there is what is known as the United States Export Association. It was started about a year ago, and already has a membership of over 150, included in which are the leading business houses in all the principal lines of trade. The association has 320 correspondents in foreign countries, from which it is constantly in receipt of valuable information which is at once transmitted to the members in the lines interested. In a recent interview, the president of the association, Mr. F. B. Thurber, of New York, declared the organization had been of great value to its members.

The lesson to Canada is obvious. If an exporters' association is a good thing for the United States surely it is a good thing for Canada. And this country needs one infinitely more than does the United States. That country has its consuls in every city of importance in the world. Canada has but half a dozen agents, including the High Commissioner in London, looking after her commercial interests abroad. If these were supplemented by a hundred or more live correspondents it would, no doubt, help to promote the development of her export trade.

In competing for trade in a foreign country it is evident that the better we are acquainted with the wants and conditions of that country the more easily will it be to transact business with it. Through ignorance in these particulars a good article frequently gets a bad name. Canada has had a little experience in this way.

Correspondents, being on the spot, would be in a position to advise business men in this country as to the kind of goods for which the best market would be found; also as to duty, freight and other incidentals. And then, when a buyer from either of the foreign countries in which agents were located proposed visiting either the United States or Canada the agents of the association could advise it of the fact, when he could be corresponded with or seen in person by the firms interested in the particular goods of which he was a purchaser.

The United States association, it might be mentioned, endeavors to shake, metaphorically or otherwise, the hand of foreign buyers who visit the country.

The ignorance that abounds in nearly every foreign country regarding Canada is as surprising as it is lamentable. In proportion as this decreases will increase the possibilities of doing business with foreigners. An exporters' association could help to dissipate this ignorance and at the same time reap the greater share of the resultant benefits.

Canada may not be able to produce as large an association as can the exporters of the United States, but there is no reason why she should not produce one with as much life.

Our boards of trade ought to take the question up, and that without delay.

The measure of merriment which a man gets out of the Christmas season depends more upon what he is than upon what he has.

TEA DUTY MUST BE SPECIFIC.

AS a rule an ad valorem duty is the fairest. But there are exceptions to this rule. And one of these is in regard to tea.

An ad valorem duty on tea is objectionable for more reasons than one.

Tea is a commodity which only an expert is qualified to put a value upon. And as such an expert could not be placed at every port of entry it is obvious that there would be no end of trouble and a great deal of dishonesty practised.

Tea cannot be valued with the same simplicity that a jack knife can. The palate as well as the eye must be called into requistion to do this. And it is but comparatively few men who have had these two organs trained sufficiently to qualify them for efficiently testing tea. This premise alone is sufficient to condemn the proposition to impose an ad valorem duty.

But the chief of all objections to an ad valorem duty is that it would encourage the importation of cheap and trashy teas. And this is something to be deplored most of all.

In the interest of the consumer, in the interest of the merchant, it is most desirable that the taste for tea should be elevated. An ad valorem duty would tend to bring about conditions just the opposite.

Trashy tea is not a healthy tea, and what is not a healthy tea naturally tends to decrease the popularity of the "cup which cheers, but not inebriates."

Thus, on the one hand, there are the interests of the consumer to guard, and on the other those of the tea dealer.

Let there be a duty, but let it be specific.

MINING SUPPLIES.

JOHN SMITH, of the Hamilton Powder Co., has returned from a visit to twenty of the gold mines in the Seine and Rainy Rivers and Lake of the Woods district. He also met many prospectors, mine owners and others, who all say they are likely to have very extensive development work there during the coming season.

They are all busy now preparing for the spring work. A great number of the locations are in the interior, and are reached in summer by canoes and portaging. Heavy loads cannot be taken in, and ordinary supplies only at very heavy cost. In winter, however, with the lakes and rivers frozen and covered with snow, roads are cut through the woods and supplies of all kinds are brought in at small cost. The entire season's supplies of flour, pork, groceries, dry goods, clothing, boots—in fact, everything to be found in a general store—are brought in during sleighing.

The bulk are bought from Port Arthur, Fort William and Rat Portage merchants, and from the traders at the stations along the line of the Canadian Pacific.

VINEGAR VS. ACETIC ACID.

AS THE CANADIAN GROCER has already noted, a great deal of acetic acid is being used as vinegar, particularly in the putting up of pickles.

To the human system, the effects of this acid are most injurious, but the manufacturers of this article have lately been trying to convince the public to the contrary. Vide their recent evidence before the Tariff Commission.

Vinegar, according to the definition of the Canadian Parliament, "is a liquid obtained by the oxidation of wine, beer, cider, or other alcoholic liquid." Acetic acid, on the other hand, is obtained from the destructive distillation of wood by the use of lime and sulphuric acid or vitriol, yet large quantities of it is sold as vinegar, which is contrary to the law. It was admitted by the deputation which recently appeared before the Tariff Commission that the article was used for preserving pickles.

If the Government does not stop this practice, it should at least do one thing, and that is, at the next session of Parliament pass an Act requiring all pickle manufacturers to state distinctly on their packages whether their products are put up in acetic acid or vinegar. If acetic acid is harmless, as the manufacturers of it claim, there can be no good reason for concealing the fact of its use.

If the acetic acid men are correctly reported, they made a very inconsistent statement during the interview, by saying that to subject them to the same tax as vinegar would close up their factories, and in the next breath saying they would not object to the abolition of the tax on vinegar. It is difficult to see what would be the difference in the effect. No doubt the vinegar manufacturers would be as well satisfied with one plan as the other, so long as they were freed from the present unjust discrimination. Moreover, the vinegar men specially ask that acetic acid for use in the arts should remain free of excise duty.

By the way, what does the Inland Revenue Department intend to do in regard to the samples of vinegar collected some time ago? The public have a right to know upon whom they can depend for obtaining a pure article.

Many a merchant's Christmas would be merrier were his bank account larger, and many a merchant's bank account would be larger were the amount of credit he had given during the year smaller.

CHINA TEA SITUATION.

LATEST mail advices from Shanghai bring interesting news regarding the tea situation there. Settlements of black teas during November were limited, while prices advanced freely half a tael. Teas for price were wanted, but supplies were light and further receipts were expected to be small.

After the excitement and sharp advance in the value of green teas in October, there was naturally a slight reaction, and prices, at the time of writing, were irregular, and on the whole declined 1 to 1½ taels compared with the fancy prices which obtained at the close of the month referred to.

Settlements of green tea up to the 28th ult. aggregated 157,735 half chests, against 235,148 half chests last season.

IRREGULAR TEA FREIGHT RATES.

A PECULIARITY to be noted in the latest tea letters which have arrived from Shanghai is the irregularity of the freight rates obtaining on recent shipments of tea.

For instance, during the month of November five steamers left the port of Shanghai, and their rate was 40s., while one or two others sailing at the same time cut the rate 50 per cent., being satisfied with 20s. This latter figure is within one shilling of the sailing vessel rate. All the rates quoted were to New York.

The discrepancy is due to the fact that the vessels which received the maximum rate were members of a combination, being known as conference steamers, while the low-rate boats were termed non-conference steamers.

The merchant who allowed his window to go undressed this Christmas deserves a "dressing down."

DOMESTIC VS. FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

THE large quantity of dried and evaporated apples that Canada possesses this season, while having no influence upon the price of dried and evaporated fruits in the primary markets, it is evident that they will, to a greater extent than usual, affect the sale of the foreign article and also the figure which buyers are willing to pay.

The sale of prunes, it is a foregone conclusion, will be affected, for while these are this year higher in price than usual, the figures obtaining for dried and evaporated apples are much lower than usual, about 50 per cent. in fact.

The sale of California evaporated fruits, such as peaches, apricots, etc., is also likely to be materially interfered with, and the lower grades of fruit particularly. An advice received in Toronto this week indicates this; shippers on the Coast, according to the advice in question, being able to get ½ to 1c. per pound more for low-grade peaches f.o.b. there than they can secure in Canada.

THE SCARCITY OF TURKEYS.

UP to the time of writing there has this week been on the Toronto market an unusually light supply of turkeys for the Christmas trade. In fact, on Tuesday there was not enough to supply the demand.

The reason assigned for this by poultry dealers is the large quantity of birds which have within the past few weeks been shipped out of the country.

How far this is true we cannot say. But large quantities have no doubt been exported. Shipments to England have been the largest ever known, and during the past two weeks a great many birds have been sent to the United States, the returns from which have so far been satisfactory, although the profits received were not, as a rule, large.

It is the general opinion that had the exporters kept some of their turkeys during the past few days for the home market they would have been in pocket thereby. And this opinion is based upon some reason.

In Buffalo, to which place a good many turkeys were shipped from Canada, the rulng price was 10c. per pound. This, without considering the freight, is equal to 8c. per pound on the home market, the United States' duty on turkeys being 2c. per pound. In Toronto, on the other hand, turkeys of good quality sold on Tuesday at from 9 to 10c. per pound, wholesale.

THIRTY-DAY GOODS.

"Pass me some thirty-day goods" was the humorous remark made by one wholesale grocer to another as he asked for the nuts and raisins at luncheon the other day. Several houses have recently put these on the thirty-day list.

WANTS INFORMATION ABOUT "DEAD BEATS."

Editor GROCER,—The merchants here are forming a mutual protective association for the purpose of being able to tell just how the "dead heads" and "slow-pays" stand in the different stores in town, and knowing the interest you take in any movement looking to the improvement of business methods, they have requested me to write you in my capacity of secretary-treasurer and enquire whether you could get us a copy of the bylaws of any similar association. I wrote the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association some time ago but have not yet received any reply. It you can do as requested you will much oblige,

THE TARIFF ENQUIRY.

THE Tariff Commission sat in Montreal on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday last. Subjoined is a report of the evidence taken appertaining to the grocery and allied trades :

THE SUGAR QUESTION.

The wholesale grocers were represented by Messrs. Charles Chaput, Geo. A. Childs, H. Laporte and S. J. Carter. This was one of the most important deputations that appeared before the Commission and, at the same time, one of the most lively.

Mr. Chaput was the first to address the Commission. He said that they were not there as politicians, nor to represent the interests of any manufacturers, but simply to represent the views of this very important business which contributed so largely to the revenue of the country. They simply asked that no change in the sugar tariff be made so that they would be compelled to import their sugars, as they had not forgotten the many complaints that had existed on account of short weight and inferiority in the goods that had been experienced in the past. It had been reported to them that in the west representation had been made to the Commission that the refineries had not been able to supply the demand. This complaint was entirely unfounded, because during the past five years or more there had been but one exception, and that was in October of this year, when there was a scarcity of one grade, which lasted for a few days only. At a meeting of the wholesale grocers in Toronto last month the trade in Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal were represented, and the following resolution was adopted :

> Resolved, that, in the opinion of this meeting, the present duties on sugars and syrups are higher than necessary, and it recommends to the Government that the protection be enquired into with a view to a reduction if possible.

The Montreal delegation voted against this resolution. Only three cities were represented and six important centres had no representation at all. He mentioned this as a proof that it was not a fair expression of opinion of the wholesale grocers of the Dominion on this important question. Besides, it was expressly understood and agreed upon by those present that any member appearing before the Commission was not to speak in the name of the association or in any way refer to the resolution then adopted. He mentioned this because it had been pointed out that a member of the Dominion Association had appeared before the Commision at Hamilton and took upon himself to speak for the association in violation of this understanding, and as vice-president of the association he wished to enter his protest against this procedure. The position taken by the Montreal delegates was fully endorsed at a meeting of the association held on December 11. They considered that the stand they took was in the interest of the trade, which foots up to millions of dollars a year. They had no complaint to make against the refineries in Canada, and would respectfully request that no alteration be made in the sugar tariff as to interfere with our present trade relations. No member of the wholesale trade represented is directly or indirectly interested in any sugar refinery in Canada. He mentioned that because someone was kind enough to accuse the Montreal delegates as being interested parties. He presented a table of comparisons covering 1895 and 1896 as to values of granulated sugars. From January 1 to May 2, 1895, German manufacture cost, laid down in Montreal, including shipping charges and duty, $3.29 per bag ; English sugar cost $3.76 ; American in barrels, in New York, cost $3.78, while Canadian, in barrels, cost in Montreal, $3.35; all net cost. From May 3 to December 31, German cost $4.10; English, $4.56 ; American, $4.32, and Canadian, $3.80. From January 1 to December 17, 1896, the prices were : German, $4.10 ; English, $4.66 ; American, $4.60, and Canadian, $4.26.

In answer to Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Chaput said that he had not the figures and could not tell exactly what it would cost to lay down German sugar here without duty, but he supposed they would have to deduct a fourteenth. If he made a comparison on that basis they would have to take off the duty paid on the raw material. Continuing, he said that he had brought with him two samples of yellow sugar, one from New York and one bought in Montreal in December last. The American cost $3.65 net and the other from the Canadian refinery $3 net.

Mr. S. J. Carter said that the price referred to by Mr. Chaput, $3.67 in New York, would mean in bond $2. The duty was 40 per cent., which would bring the duty to $2.87. Take the same article in Canada at $2 and put the 65c. on, which would be the loss in refining, this would cost the consumer $2.65 a hundred and the sugar in the United States would cost the consumer $2.87, which would leave 20c. in favor of the Canadian consumer. They were not asking for further protection.

THE RICE DUTY.

Mr. H. Laporte next addressed the Commission on rice. He stated the province of Quebec was the largest consumer of rice, excepting British Columbia. It was estimated that Quebec used two bags of rice against one in Ontario. He then submitted the following statement :

1. The proportion of the various kinds of rice used is estimated as follows : 2 per cent. of Japan rice, 3 per cent. of Patna or other fancy rices, 95 per cent. of either Arrocan or Rangoon, from Burmah.

2. The trade are well satisfied with the present state of things and do not wish to return to importation of rice, the experience of which was most unsatisfactory.

3. I believe it necessary to mention the advantages derived from the present system :

The company here contracts with the wholesale grocers for the period of a season ; such contract is generally made when market is favorable; the price is invoiced on the date of its delivery ; the company delivers the goods to steamers or railway companies to the address of our customers, thus saving the trade the cartage, handling of goods, storage, loss in weight, deterioration or damage by vermin, fire insurance, etc.

4. The mill's price for "B" rice, which represents the 95 per cent. of the quantity used, is $2.87½ per 100 lbs. for quality, which to import today would cost over 3½c. per lb. The company's price must be 15 to 25c. per 100 lbs. below the cost of importation in order to hold the trade, and experience has shown that such is really the case during at least nine years out of ten. The trade secures only a moderate profit, and the consumer does not lose by the present system, for experience has proven that when rice was imported from foreign countries we were receiving, in most cases, a poor article, deteriorated either by having been kept too long in store or damaged in transit, etc., whilst at present we are assured of a uniform quality, with the certainty of having first stock ; in addition to this the mill delivers on demand rice put up in assorted packets as small as 12½ lbs., which are of great accommodation both to trade and consumer. A better and cheaper article cannot be obtained by farmers or workingmen in other country than Canada, if we except Great Britain.

5. The trade here do not consider the example of Japan rice, instanced by a merchant of Hamilton, as at all a fair one, as it only concerns a trifle of the product, i.e., about 2 per cent. Amongst items incorrectly stated I beg to mention the following :

(a). It is stated that the mill's price for Japan rice is 4½c. instead of 3⅞c., which is the price for the finest quality produced in Canada ; so to commence with there is an over statement of 62½c. on the mill's price.

(b). The same merchant calculates the dutie spaid on rice at 30c. per 100 lbs., whilst he should know that duty is 30 per cent. ad valorem on all rice costing 1c. and over. Which means duties of over 60c. per 100 lbs. on this same Japan rice.

(c). He has also omitted to calculate the loss in weight on uncleaned rice after having been milled and cleaned.

In answer to Mr. Paterson, Mr. Laporte said that about 40 per cent. was lost in milling. He took the figures from the last five years. Sixty-six million pounds unclean rice had been imported, and the quantity of clean rice from that was 40,000,000 pounds. The price here was much cheaper than any other country except Great Britain.

Sir Richard Cartwright : Do you think 80 per cent. a reasonable figure on clean rice ?

Mr. Laporte said that when in Toronto resolutions were brought forward asking some changes in the rice duties, but after discussing the advantages to the trade and consumer the resolution was withdrawn. That showed that the trade were satisfied with the state of affairs, and they were positive there were no complaints from the consumer either.

Sir Richard Cartwright asked if he disputed the representations made to them that the clean rice was virtually 80 per cent., and that the unclean came in at an ad valorem duty of 30 per cent.

Mr. Laporte said he was not ready to accept the statement made to the Commission at other points that the duty was 80 per cent.

Sir Richard said he gave the item roughly from the trade returns, and also from the statements made by the wholesale grocers.

Mr. Laporte said that statement was made by figuring on Japan rice.

Sir Richard Cartwright said that the statement he was making was made on the average of all the rice imported in a clean state into the Dominion.

Mr. Laporte said if they figured the same way as they figured Japan rice, he would not be willing to accept their figures. The mills never took advantage of all the production, and there was no mill that could take advantage of it, because if they were charging exactly what they could buy for they would lose their trade. At present rice can be bought for ⅞ of a cent less than it can be imported from England. There were two mills in the Dominion, one in the province of Quebec and the other in British Columbia, and they employed about 40 hands.

Mr. Carter said that they particularly wished to emphasize that there were no complaints to make as regards existing trade relations relating to rice. In fact, they were getting so well supplied, and the grade of rice was so superior to anything they handled in the past, that they would rather see them maintained than have any alteration made.

In answer to Hon. Mr. Tarte, Mr. Laporte said they imported a small quantity of Patna rice. The mills bought in their stock when the market was lowest, and after they had secured their year's supply they came to the wholesaler and quoted so much for the rice for a year's supply. The mill had been established for 15 years, and 95 per cent. of the rice they bought was sold at $2.87½ at the mills.

In answer to Hon. Mr. Fielding, as to whether any change in the rice duties would make rice cheaper, Mr. Laporte said that he did not think it would be worth while to risk any change in the present tariff.

In answer to Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Laporte said that during the past five years they had bought something over 40,000,000 pounds, and of that about 5,000,000 were imported.

Mr. Paterson asked where they got the figures that 26,000,000 pounds out of the 66,000,000 were wasted.

Mr. Laporte: "From The Journal of Commerce." The wasted, he supposed, was sold for feedstuffs, because if the mills were losing it all they would be losing money. Their association covered the provinces of of Ontario and Quebec, but the views expressed by them to-day were the views only of the Montreal wholesale merchants.

Mr. Chaput said, as he had already mentioned, it was understood that anyone appearing before the Commission was to speak in his own individual capacity. He would just like to add a word or two as to the manner in which the rice mills are treating the trade. In the spring they made a contract for rice, and they knew exactly what they could sell it for to the trade. Last year they contracted for rice at 2⅞c. per pound, and for a certain quantity. Sometimes they ran short, as was the case this year, when there was an increased demand on account of breadstuffs going up. One firm in Montreal, whose contract was nearly exhausted, went to the mill here and got 500 bags at contract price, and later on 250 more. To-day this same rice would have cost, if they had had it to import from England, 3½c. per pound.

Mr. Laporte said this relation with the mill would not exist if a change in the duty was made. If they got less protection they would not be able to buy on so large a scale, and they would not make such contracts. The fact that they can buy the rice at 62½c. cheaper than in England was a proof that the consumers would have to pay more for their rice.

Mr. Paterson: "Suppose there was a higher duty, or a higher protection, put on, it would not hurt the mill. If they were to add a little to the uncleaned rice, or take something off the cleaned, would that effect the mill?"

Mr. Laporte said he could not say as to that, nor was he qualified to state what change they could make.

Mr. John Pinder then addressed the Commission. He read the following lengthy statement in support of his claims:

The following figures, taken from the Government Blue Book for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1895, are sufficient to prove that the duty on rice is simply outrageous:

	Lbs.
Cleaned rice...	5,876,856	$ 98,849	1¼c.	$73,466 31
Uncleaned rice	22,772,306	199,620	3-10c.	68,933 41

It will be noticed from the above that the Government collected more duty on 5,876,000 pounds of cleaned rice than they did on 22,772,306 of uncleaned. It will also be seen that the cleaned rice cost originally 1⅝c. per lb. and had to pay a duty of 1¼c. per lb., making the rice cost, duty paid, 2⅞c. per lb. The uncleaned rice cost ⅞c. per lb., and the duty was 3-10c. per lb., or less than one-third of one cent per pound. This would give a protection of one cent per lb,, and on the quantity of uncleaned rice imported would amount to $227,723.06 annually. There is only one rice mill in the Dominion, and it is getting 3c. for rice which costs them under 2c., as the following calculation well shows:

First cost of uncleaned rice	87½c.
Duty	30
Freight, say	25
	$1 43
To this must be added the cost of cleaning, and as the same rice cleaned can be bought in Europe for 1⅝c. per lb., the difference between the latter figure and $1.43 is to be added to the cost	20
Actual cost	$1 63

The rice miller says, however, that it costs more to clean rice here than it does in England or India. We don't believe there is any truth in this, as the cleaning is done by improved machinery, and the process of doing so is very simple, and it is very doubtful if the mill employs twenty hands daily all the year, but suppose, for the sake of argument, that we admit that the cleaning here does cost more, and that we allow ¾c. per lb. to cover this extra cost, this would make the cleaned rice cost 2c. per lb., and still leave the mill a margin of 1c. per lb., which, on their annual importation, would mean a profit of $227,723.06. But it is only necessary to refer to the action of the late Finance Minister, Hon. Mr. Foster, to prove the injustice of this duty. When that gentleman brought down his budget in May, 1894, he increased the duty on uncleaned rice to ½c. per lb., and reduced the tax on cleaned to 1c. per lb. The following is the experience of a Montreal firm at that time:

"Believing that there was a chance of business in this article under the new tariff we imported 1,500 bags of cleaned rice from Europe, but before it got here, some two months later, the Hon. Mr. Foster had changed his mind and we were compelled to pay the old duty of 1¼c. per lb., and the following figures will give a practical and actual illustration of how this transaction stands on our books:

May 1, 1894.

1,500 bags of cleaned rice, 360,452 lbs., at $1.70		$6,127 40
Duty at Montreal, 360,452 at 1¼c.	$4,505 65
Duty on bags, 20 per cent	60 00
Total duty	$4,565 65
Freight to Montreal	544 22
Marine insurance	30 63
		$5,140 50
Actual cost in Montreal		$11,267 90

"Just think of paying," continued Mr. Pinder, "$4,505.65 of duty on an invoice of rice costing $6,127. Mr. Foster, the late Finance Minister, tried to put the duty on a more common sense basis, and if he failed to do so it was because of the pressure that was brought to bear upon him by the milling company, which compelled him to restore it to the old duty. Rice was an article of food which was consumed principally by the poorer classes, and for the Government to impose a duty of 1¼c. per pound in order that one mill may make $227,000 per annum, was simply legalized robbery. If the Government wanted revenue why not impose the same duty on uncleaned rice as on clean, and they would be $200,000 a year richer? If they did not want duty make the duty on cleaned rice the same as uncleaned, and the poor man would get his rice one cent a pound cheaper. The rice mills have had a good time during the past 15 years and it was about time that this state of affairs should end, and the consumer would no longer be called upon to pay 1¼c. duty for rice which can be bought outside of Canada for 1⅝c." He submitted two samples of rice, one of which was from the Canadian mill and the other from his own supply.. They could not deny that rice was sold in Europe for 1⅛c. per pound, and the mill here was getting 2⅞c. per pound for rice which was not so good ; and they were getting $1.50 more than the miller in Europe. He claimed that the wholesale grocers had a combine as regards the province of Quebec.

Mr. Laporte said that they had not a combine. They had an agreement between the members of the Montreal Guild to sell at a certain price. They were selling rice at $3.25 which cost them $2.70.

Mr. Pinder said he was not complaining of the profit, but he held that there was a combine.

Hon. Mr. Fielding : "What is the nature of the agreement?"

Mr. Laporte said that it was just an understanding among themselves. They met and agreed to sell sugar or rice at a certain price. All the wholesale merchants did not agree to this. Continuing, he said that those merchants could sell at any price they liked, but they had no combine and no understanding with the miller.

Mr. Chaput said that Mr. Pinder was a friend of his and they did business with him every day, but he could not agree with him on the combine. Why, it was the wholesale grocers who were the means of getting him 15c. more a hundred for his rice from the mill than what he was offering it to the trade for.

Mr. Chaput, in answer to Mr. Paterson, said there were some who were not in the rice agreement.

Hon. Mr. Paterson : You would have left the impression on our minds that you were empowered to speak for the whole trade of Montreal.

Mr. Chaput : We speak for 7-10ths of the wholesale grocers in Montreal. Some would not join us because they prefer to undersell us. They did not come asking for any change, and they spoke for some outside the association.

Mr. Laporte said that some of the wholesale merchants are satisfied with the present state of affairs and would not join the association.

THE MOLASSES DUTY.

Mr. Geo. Childs, who spoke as to molasses, said that the present duty was satisfactory to the trade, and he submitted the following changes in the mode of collecting the same :

1st. No fraction of a degree to be charged for unless it reaches five-tenths of a degree, when the duty shall be charged as on a full degree more.

2nd. When samples are drawn for the purpose of the test, we would ask that the contents be thoroughly stirred up before such samples are drawn.

3rd. In any case of doubt or dispute as to the correctness of the test, we would ask that a fresh drawing of samples be allowed for the purpose of such revised list.

Mr. Childs, on behalf of his own house, said that the duty collected should be uniform at all points of entry, and that packages for the carrying of goods only, which are destroyed as soon as opened, should be exempt from duty.

THE TEA TRADE.

Mrr S. J. Carter addressed the Commission as representing the tea trade. He said : "The trade wished to say that they are satisfied with the present laws and regulations governing this department of their business. We might mention that there seems to be a universal feeling of uncertainty among the trade as regards the present Government's trade policy for the future, and as we are informed that some western deputations have suggested to your Commission that, in the event of any duty being put upon this article, that an ad valorem and a specific duty be imposed. We do not endorse the suggestion for an ad valorem duty for several reasons, the principal among them being, we believe that on economical grounds the higher or the better grades of teas are more economical to the consumer than the lower grades, and that an ad valorem duty would tend to cultivate or encourage the importation and the use of inferior teas. The Montreal trade does not ask that a duty be placed upon tea, but, in the event of any tariff changes regarding this article, we consider that it would be in the interests of all that a specific duty of so much per pound applying to all grades be enacted. We also consider it very important that the present law governing the trade as regards importations from countries that admit teas free of duty should be maintained, also the clause regulating the importation of adulterated teas."

Mr. Thomas Doherty said that he was in favor of leaving the duty as it was, because a duty would cause smuggling on the border. It would also cause a great deal of trouble with regard to the passing of entries, etc. He would favor having the 10 per cent. duty against the States. Many merchants in Canada prefer to buy from a foreign house, because they think they can do better in cities like New York than in Montreal. They did not undersell them, but the competition was vexatious.

TEAS FROM THE STATES.

Mr. D. L. Lockerby, a tea importer in Canada and in New York, said he was perfectly satisfied with free trade for the people, but he thought that when they had free access to another country that country should also enjoy the same benefits here that we have from them. He thought that in fairness to every market the consumer should have them at the lowest possible price. He claimed that they were just as much entitled to free access of teas from New York as from London or any other market. He did not see why they should discriminate against the Americans. He thought that the many articles in the grocery business which came in from Great Britain in packages should come in free of duty on the packages. They did not object to pay duty on the article, but they did certainly object to pay on the package. He thought the merchants were well treated by the rice mills. The price of rice as sold here showed a margin, but outside of Quebec they sold it at whatever price could be obtained. So far as the sugar was concerned, the trade was not in it to make money. He did not belong to the association, but was then speaking for himself.

In answer to Mr. Paterson, Mr. Lockerby said that the United States did not charge a duty of 10 per cent. on teas. The price for teas in the States was from 5 to 10c. better than in Canada, and he could buy from 5 to 10c. less than he could here.

Mr. D. T. Tees said that he had been asked to speak because of a remark made by Mr. Lockerby on the subject of tea coming from the United States. In Canada the tea trade was almost unanimous in wishing the 10 per cent. to remain on teas from the States. They were working for Canada, and it benefitted the wholesale jobbers in Canada to have the American trade kept out of the market. The trade was also unanimous on the fact that there was a lot of inferior teas brought into the market which would not be allowed by the United States simply because the appraisers had not the power to reject them.

GREEN FRUITS.

The deputation from the Montreal Fruit Auction Co. appeared before the Commission on Friday. Mr. McBride acted as spokesman. They asked that the duty of 1c. a pound on peaches be reduced to ½c. a pound. On a car of California peaches they had to pay $200 duty, and the freight was $500, so that they cost them $700 before they got anything from the consumer. They also asked that the packages be admitted free, as they were worthless after serving their original purpose. The tax of 2c. on blackberries, gooseberries, raspberries, strawberries and grapes rendered it impossible for them to compete with Canadian grown fruit. They asked that the duty be reduced to 1c. a pound, as the California grapes could not be sent in here at 2c. They also asked that the duty on vegetables be reduced, because when they got vegetables from the States there was none to be had in Canada, and immediately the Canadian vegetables started the American stopped. Theo also asked that the duty be reduced on lemons and oranges, so that they would be 40c. a barrel instead of 50c. as now.

Mr. Hart said that the Californian peach could be kept for 10 or 15 days, but that the Canadian peach had to be sold the same day it arrived, although Canadian peaches were superior in flavor to American or foreign ones. They also asked that the duty on cocoanuts be taken off, as 95 per cent. was used for manufacturing purposes.

Mr. George Vipond was against a duty being placed on bananas, as he had noticed that the Government had been asked to impose one. They were a very cheap fruit, and were the poor man's friend. A duty of ½c. a pound would increase the price from 50 to 100 per cent. at the shipping point.

It was stated by one of the members of the delegation that fruit-growers on the Niagara belt did not know how to pack fruit, which drew the remark from Sir Richard Cartwright that as the merchants were so much interested in the question they should get up a missionary society among fruit-growers and teach them the proper way.

FRENCH WINES.

The deputation from La Chambre de Commerce Francaise de Montreal was introduced to the Commission on Wednesday afternoon. The deputation was headed by Messrs. John Herdt and Emile Galibert.

Mr. Herdt asked that the 20 per cent. duty on packages of French wines, brandies and liqueurs be taken off, as they claimed it was a violation of the French-Canadian treaty. An opinion of counsel was submitted, bearing out the claim that the duty at present collected was a violation of the agreement, and they asked that not only should the 20 per cent. be taken off, but that the importers be refunded all excesses of duty which they had paid under protest.

In answer to Mr. Fielding, Mr. Herdt said that they were not acting under the direction of the French Government, but the French consul had taken the matter up.

Mr. Fielding said that if it was a breach of the treaty it would become a matter for the Government, but as the French Government had taken no steps in the matter, it was fair to suppose that there was no breach of the treaty.

PORK AND BEEF PACKERS.

Mr. Robert Bickerdike, president of the Board of Trade, introduced the deputation of pork and beef packers. Mr. P. Laing, who was spokesman, was accompanied by W. Clark, W. Masterman and H. F. Cooke.

In presenting the memoranda, Mr. Laing said that they were engaged in the pork and beef packing industry. There was no association and no combine. They held a meeting, and they arrived at the conclusion that any change in the tariff on packing house products would seriously injure the packing trade here. He submitted for the consideration of the Commission the following points.

1. The great progress the pork packing trade has made in the last few years in Canada, completely changing the business here. Formerly nearly all our requirements were imported from the United States, but now Canada supplies nearly all its wants by Canadian products. In 1886 the imports into Canada amounted to 25,000,000 pounds of meats; last year the imports were reduced to only 4,000,000 pounds. Our exports have increased at a still greater ratio, in 1886 being 9,000,000 pounds, whereas in 1895 the exports were 42,000,000 pounds.

2. The benefit to farmers in having a market at all packing centres considerably over the prices paid in the United States packing points.

3. The bearing it has on the butter and cheese industries, stimulating the raising of hogs in connection with the butter and cheese factories throughout the country. This is especially applicable to the province of Quebec, and we look for a large increase in hog raising in the province on these lines.

4. The bearing the speculative markets in Chicago have on the packing business here, where at times, by reason of a short or long speculative interest, they are enabled to depress or advance values without any relation to its cost or intrinsic value. A packer in Canada would not stock up as should be done in the packing season, as he would be at the mercy of any sudden change in the speculative markets in Chicago.

5. Cost to consumers—We believe that with the large supplies in Canada and the competition amongst Canadian packers, the cost to consumers generally is less than if importing was depended upon; in any case in only two or three articles is cost raised, whereas in the other articles much more generally used the cost is less than in the United States.

6. We would also draw your attention to cotton seed oil. This is imported from the United States and pays a duty of 20 per cent. or ¾c. per pound. It is used to make compound lard to sell against pure lard. It does not seem to the packing trade that this is an equitable rate of duty, and we would suggest that it be changed to at least 30 per cent. on edible cotton seed oil, but not to affect the oil imported for soap makers or other purposes.

Mr. Jas. Allen, representing in Montreal the packing house of Armour & Co., Chicago, followed, and complained of the heavy duties on the goods he handled. He was of the opinion that the necessities of life should be on the free list. By placing a duty on provisions the farmers were benefitted but little, because packers and others purchased as cheap as they could and sold in the best market. He contended it was the packer who was benefitted and not the farmer by an imposition of duties. The consumer also suffered. The comparison of the prices between the Canadian and American markets was often misleading. It was sometimes said that because hogs were higher in Toronto, Montreal and other central points, the farmer was being benefitted by the duties. A fairer and more accurate way would be to compare prices current in New York and Massachusetts, as these places were more in touch with the consuming markets. He submitted a number of quotations showing the difference in prices between the different centres. He said that labor around a packing house was of a very cheap nature, and that one refinery was sufficient to turn out enough lard to supply the whole Dominion. Hog raising was much more expensive in Canada than the States. It was a well-known fact that corn-fed hogs were the best, but he contended that there was only a limited area in Canada that was capable of doing this. It was also much more difficult to raise hogs in a cold climate because they had to be crowded together for warmth, and this very often spread disease. What he had said in reference to pork might also be said of beef. The duty of 25 per cent. ad valorem on canned meats and beef extracts, he thought, was not only a heavy impost but ill advised.

The N. K. Fairbank Co. was represented by its Montreal agent, who said that his company had erected a factory in Canada to retain the Canadian trade, which they had established in Canada previous to the change in tariff. By establishing a factory in Canada they had more than retained their former trade. They manufactured cottolene and refined lard compound at their Montreal factory. Their raw material was seed oil and oleo stearine, and on cotton seed oil the duty is 20 per cent. During the six years that they had been in business in Canada they had paid the Government almost $100,000 of duty on this article alone. About three years ago a Philadelphia firm had established a concern here for the manufacture of oleo oil, oleo stearine and tallow, and since they had bought almost exclusively from this firm. Within the past four years they had spent about $20,000 in newspaper advertising, and they employed a capital of $75,000. They were quite satisfied with the duty on the raw and manufactured article, but they wished to point out that the margin was so small that if the tariff was increased it would be impossible to keep this factory running.

EARTHENWARE MANUFACTURERS.

Mr. Dakin represented the earthenware manufacturers. He read a lengthy statement, from which it would appear that their chief complaint was that the late and present Governments have allowed the Customs on said manufactures to be collected in the various ports of entry in the Dominion without uniformity. They claimed that manufacturers and agents of foreign manufacturers are in the habit of evading the Customs by presenting invoices in which goods are classed as "seconds," "thirds," "jobs," "unselected," "a run of kiln," when in reality they are best goods; but are bought at a discount for cash or at slaughter prices, thus enabling foreign manufacturers to use our market as an overflow for their over-production. They suggested that expert valuators or appraisers be put in charge of two or three of the more important ports of entry, and that they be furnished with price lists of reputable English, French and American manufacturers, with discounts allowed to buyers in their respective countries, and that these expert valuators be charged with the enforcement of the law as to the full value of all ware imported. Two or three expert appraisers of earthenware and glassware would be no extra charge on the Government, as the increased revenue from proper valuation of goods would more than recoup the Government for expense of salaries. They asked that they be treated in the same way in the matter of appraisers as dry goods, groceries, drugs, hardware, etc., receive at the principal ports of entry. They asked that duties on white Rockingham and cane ware be replaced to 35 per cent., as it was before the revision in 1892, and that the duty on all printed, decorated and china ware be advanced to 40 per cent.; these duties to cover packages as well as contents. By the removal of the duty on packages the crate industry in St. John's, Que., has been wiped out. They asked that all raw material used in decorating be admitted free, not being manufactured in this country. In certain lines they were not able to supply the entire demand of the Dominion with goods equally as good in quality to any that are imported. It was a fact that Canadian importers could buy goods cheaper in the States even although the price is 20 per cent. higher than if sold to the American.

BISCUIT MEN AND CONFECTIONERS.

Mr. Jos. Luttrell spoke on behalf of the biscuit manufacturers and asked that the present rate of 25 per cent. on non-sweetened and 27½ on sweetened goods should be maintained. They were handicapped by 75c. per barrel on flour and also on other things entering into the composition of their goods In Chicago they could buy lard at 4c., while the home product is selling at 7c. This gave their American competitors a decided advantage over them in the making of such goods. Mr. Luttrell asked that U. S. wheat be permitted to be ground in bond, on condition that an equal quantity of Canadian flour be exported.

This would not injure the value of Canadian flour, whilst it would give employment to our millers in grinding a certain quantity which they are now forced to buy across the border. He claimed that the law was not properly enforced with regard to the importation of goods, and asked to maintain the present tariff on biscuits unless duties on raw materials be removed.

Mr. Montgomery represented the confectionery trade. He said that with regard to confectionery, the duty, as at present, is quite satisfactory, but it was no more than they were entitled to, as they paid on raw material, such as sugar, chocolate, glucose, starch and nuts, duties ranging from 25 to 150 per cent. At present they paid a duty of 1¼c. per lb. on glucose, equal to about 125 to 150 per cent. on the value, and they would propose that this should be reduced to ½c. per lb. with free corn to the manufacturer of the Canadian article. Starch, which was largely used by confectioners, pays a duty of 1½c. per lb. Four cents per lb. is at present paid on chocolate and cocoa butter. They would propose a duty of 2c. on chocolate for manufacturing, known as coatings, 25 per cent. on chocolate and cocoa for drinking. Shelled fruits, which are principally used by confectioners, at present pay from 2 to 5c. per lb. Packages containing peel in brine should be free, the same as the contents. The packages are necessary to cover the goods, but of no value whatever when emptied.

THE SOAP INDUSTRY.

Mr. John Savage represented the soap manufacturers. He pointed out that the value of soap manufactured in Montreal in the year amounted to $400,000, and the quantity about 5,000 tons. The capital invested was about $3,000,000, and the hands employed about 150. The late Government reduced the tariff on laundry and mill soaps one-third, and 25 per cent. on soap powders. This did not make any difference to the trade, as there was a duty of 20 per cent. on lard oil interests, which was quite ample, and they did not wish any more on that. The nominal protection was 35 per cent., but the actual protection was not more than 20 per cent. on account of the 10 per cent. duty that they paid on essential oils. They paid a duty of 20 cent. on packages, and the Customs Department valued the same at four times their worth. They paid a duty of 20 per cent. on drugs, and 50 per cent. on lithography, etc. The latter item was very much against this industry in Canada, because a million wrappers were not thought of where they had a market of 60,000,000 to dispose of goods in. No Canadian manufacturer would risk more than $100,000 on any line of soap, and this would cost him more than the larger amount would in the States. Twenty per cent. would be an ample protection, but they were met with under valuation, which with their ad valorem duty could not be checked, as it was impossible to determine what amount of essential oils was contained in soap, or its value. There were from 25 to 30 soap manufacturers, some of them not very large.

CHEESE AND BUTTER INTERESTS.

Mr. A. A. Ayer, the well-known cheese and butter exporter, said he was in favor of the abolition of the duty on corn in the interests of dairying. They exported about $14,000,000 worth of cheese annually and $2,000,000 of butter. In Montreal alone 3,000 50-lb. tubs of butter were consumed per week. The farmer had to look to the interests of this production at the smallest possible cost. There was nothing so good for cows in this connection as corn or oatmeal, and large quantities of American corn was brought into this country for feeding purposes, and the duty was so much out of the farmer's pocket. It would be better to bonus two or three counties in Western Ontario where corn is grown than to have all the rest of the farmers suffer.

MOLASSES FERMENTING.

ADVICES from New Orleans under date of 14th to Louis C. Naisawald, concerning molasses, are: "The weather continues warm and fermentation is working mischief with kettle molasses; more than 75 per cent. of it coming in at the present time is fermenting more or less. This kills all chances that had been entertained of getting kettle molasses cheaper this season, and it seems now as though there was not going to be near enough sound kettle to go round, and, under the circumstances, with a scramble to buy goods, such as we had here to-day, the market advanced fully 2c. on the desirable sound lots, while even at the advance there were more buyers than sellers. There is also a better demand for the high-grade centrifugals. All of the molasses now arriving is from windrowed cane, and is consequently more or less touched with frost."

A NEW APRON FOR SALESMEN.

Chase & Sanborn have brought out a supply of clerks' aprons, which they are giving as a Christmas gift to salesmen in every part of Canada. It is made in the new style used by the clerks in retail establishments in Great Britain. Strong black cloth is used instead of the old style white cotton, which soils so easily. Their name is neatly worked in colors on each apron. A number have already been sent out. If any of our readers have not received one a postal card addressed to Chase & Sanborn, Montreal, will bring one with their compliments.

To The Retail Trade:

We take this opportunity of thanking our kind friends of the retail trade for their generous support during the year just closing, and to assure them that we shall in the future make every effort to deserve a continuance of their confidence and patronage.

We cordially wish one and all many happy and prosperous returns of the season.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

ONE need scarcely be told that this is the last week of the Christmas holiday trade: It is in evidence in the wholesale houses. There is an air of "We have done our duty and will now take things easier." At the same time, however, there is a fair trade doing, considering the time of year it is, for there are a great many sorting up orders, by letter and otherwise, arriving. Foreign dried fruits continue in fair demand. This is particularly true of currants, medium grades of which are cabled dearer. Teas are receiving good attention for this time of year. A nice business is being experienced in green Rio coffees, which are rather stronger. Canned tomatoes and peas continue in strong position, and the former particularly. There is a good deal of canned salmon going out. Spices are receiving rather less attention than usual. The demand for nuts continues good. Payments are fair.

CANNED GOODS.

The position of canned tomatoes is stronger rather than otherwise, some of the packers having advanced their prices to 70c. per dozen. At this figure we hear of a Western Ontario packer selling in Montreal. Peas also continue firm. The retail demand for canned vegetables is light. There is practically nothing doing in canned fruits. For this time of the year the demand for salmon is good. This applies particularly to cheap salmon, which wholesales at $1.15 to $1.25. We quote standard brands as follows: Tomatoes, 65 to 75c.; corn, 50 to 75c.; peas, 60 to 75c. for ordinary; sifted select, 80 to 95c.; extra sifted, $1.15 to $1.30; beans, 65 to 95c.; peaches, $2.50 to $3 for 3's, $1.65 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.50 to $1.80; strawberries, $1.65 to $1.95, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.75 to $2.00; cherries, $2 to $2.25; apples, 3's, 70 to 95c.; gallons, $1.65 to $2.25; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.37½ to $1.40; "Maple Leaf," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30 to $1.35, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.10 to $1.25; canned mackerel, $1.20 to $1.30; lobsters, $2.10 to $2.30 for tall tins; flats, $2.75 to $2.85; half tins, $1.50 to $1.55; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.35; 2's, $2.30 to $2.50; 6's, $7.75 to $8.25; 14's, $15 to $16.

COFFEES.

The market is stronger and the local demand for green Rio coffees is good. There is no special demand for any other kind. We quote green in bags: Rio, 15 to 17c., according to grade; East Indian, 27 to 30c.; South American, 21 to 23c.; Santos, 19 to 22½c.; Java, 25 to 35c.; Mocha, 27½ to 35c.; Maracaibo, 21 to 23c.; Jamaica, 21 to 25c.

SYRUPS.

There is not much doing. We quote. Dark, 23 to 25c.; medium, 28 to 35c.; bright, 32 to 42c.; corn syrup, 3 to 3¼c. per lb.

MOLASSES.

The market for New Orleans molasses is stronger. Locally there is not much doing and prices are unchanged. We quote: New Orleans, barrels, 23 to 35c.; ditto, half-barrels, 25 to 37c.; ditto, fancy, 50 to 55c., in barrels and half-barrels; Barbadoes, 31 to 35c.; half-barrels, 33 to 35c.

SUGAR.

The market is in much about the same condition as it was a week ago. In both London and New York business is dull, but prices are being maintained. In the latter city the refiners are said to be simply waiting until they are forced into the market. Locally there has been a little better buying by both wholesalers and retailers during the past week, but the lots wanted by each are only of a hand-to-mouth character. Wholesalers' quotations for granulated are unchanged at 4 to 4.10c. and for yellows 3¼ upwards is the idea.

SPICES.

Trade in spices for the present holiday season has not been as good as usual, but a more active business is looked for with the continuance of more seasonable weather. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10 to 12c.; pure white, 18 to 25c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 23 to 25c.; cloves, 15 to 20c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; do. best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 14 to 18c.; cassia, 12 to 15c. for China and 18 to 20c. for Batavia.

RICE, TAPIOCA, ETC.

Trade in these lines is much as before. We quote: Rice, Standard "B," 3⅜ to 3¾c.; imported Japan, 5¼ to 5¾c.; tapioca, 3¼ to 4½c.; sago, 3½c.

NUTS.

Trade has been fairly good, and during the last few days a good many letter orders for small quantities have been received. We quote: Brazil nuts, 11 to 12½c.; Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 22c.; Tarragona almonds, 9½ to 11c.; peanuts, 10 to 12c. for roasted and 7 to 10c. for green; cocoanuts, $4.50 to $5 per sack; Grenoble walnuts, 12½c.; Marbot walnuts, 9½ to 11c.; Bordeaux walnuts, 8 to 9c.; Sicily filberts, 10c. for sacks and 10½ to 11c. for small lots; Naples filberts, 11c.; pecans, 12 to 12½c.; hickory nuts, $1.50 to $2 per bushel; Canadian walnuts, $1 per bushel.

TEAS.

Despite the holiday season, the tea market has experienced a general awakening, probably owing to the feeling gaining ground that there is a likelihood of a duty being imposed upon this commodity. The improvement appears to have been chiefly in China teas, both blacks and greens, which, owing to the good value they are showing, have commanded more attention, comparatively speaking, than Indian, Ceylon and Japan growths. There has, however, been a steady trade doing in Indian and Ceylon teas. Some fine values in medium Ceylon teas at from 7½ to 8d. are offering from London. There has been less doing in Japan teas than in any other kind, due principally to the high figures at which they are being held. Ruling prices on the Toronto market to retailers are: Young Hyson, 12 to 18c. for low grades, 24 to 27c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 14 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 20c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for high grades.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

A private cable received in Toronto on Monday reported an advance of 3d. in medium grade currants. The local demand for currants is good, and better proportionately than for Valencia raisins. We quote: Provincials, 4⅛ to 4¼c. in bbls.; fine Filiatras, in bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; do, half-bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; Patras, 5 to 5⅛c. in bbls., 5 to 5⅛c. in half-bbls., and 5 to 5½c. in cases; Vostizzas, cases, 7 to 8½c.

Valencia raisins are moving only fairly well, the demand having been largely satisfied. The high prices ruling are also interfering to some extent with the demand. We quote: Off-stalk, 5 to 5¼c.; fine off-stalk, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 7c.; layers, 7¼ to 7½c.

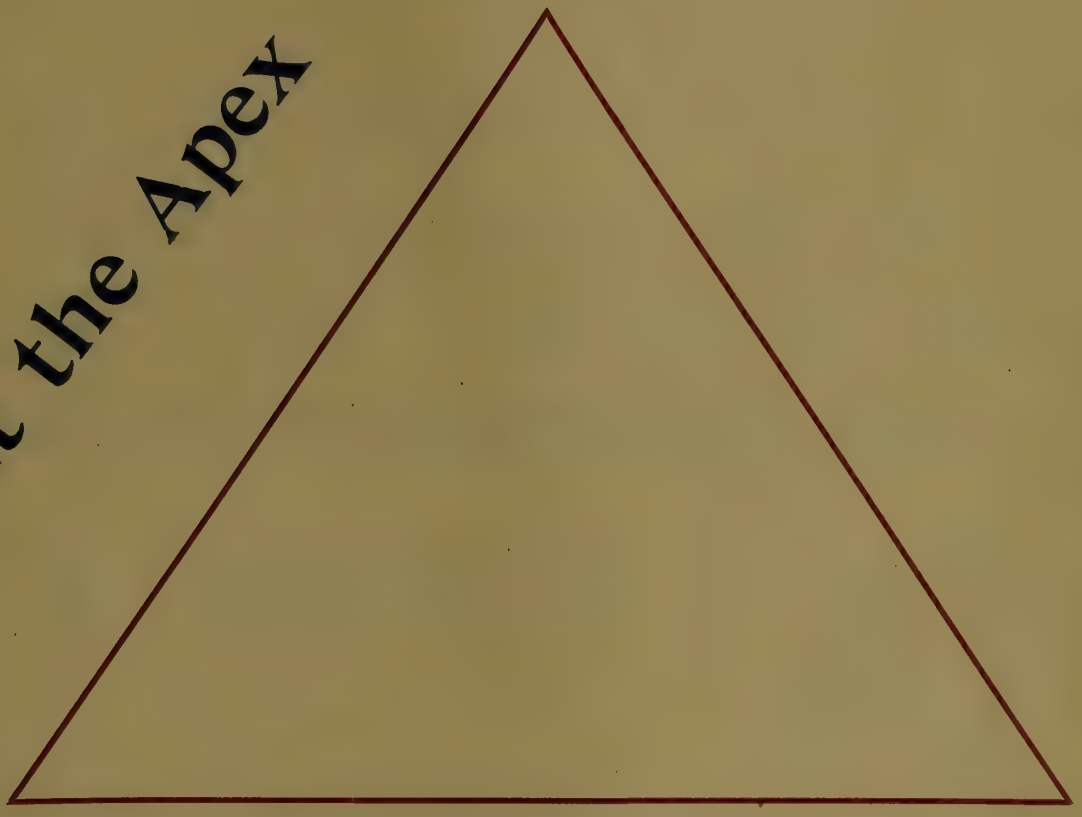
California loose muscatel raisins remain in much about the same position as before. We quote: 3-crown, 7½c.; 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are steady and unchanged at the ruling prices of 7 to 10c., according to quality.

In Malaga raisins there has been a nice sorting-up trade doing during the past few days. We quote: Blue baskets, $2.25 to $3.50; Dehesa clusters, $3.50 to $4; Non Plus Ultra, $6; Imperial bunches, $5.75 to $6; Imperial Russian clusters, $5 to $5.50.

There is a good demand for low-grade figs for cooking purposes. The demand for layer figs does not appear to have been equal to that of previous seasons. Wholesale quotations are: 10 oz., 7½c.; 10 lb., 9 to 12c.; 18 lb., 11 to 13c.; 28 lb., 13 to 16c.; taps, 3¾ to 4½c.; natural, 4½c. in bags, and 7c. in boxes.

A fairly good business is being done in dates, although prices are about 2c. per lb. higher than last year at this time. We quote 7 to 7½c. for Hallowee and 6½ to 6¾c. for cheaper grades.



Prunes are quiet and unchanged. We quote: Bosnias, U's (110 to 113 half kilo), 6 to 6½c.; C's (85 to 90 half kilo), 7 to 7½c. per lb. California,, 90 to 100's, 6½c. per lb.; 30 to 40's, 11½c.

The price of evaporated California fruit remains unchanged. Latest mail advices from the Coast report that for low-grade peaches they are able to get from ½ to 1c. per lb. f.o.b. above the figures ruling in Canada. We quote: Choice peaches, 25-lb. boxes, 10½c.; Royal apricots (fancy), 15c.; fancy egg plums, 10c.; fancy silver prunes, 13c.

GREEN FRUIT.

As usual, the demand for oranges during the past week has been active. Lemons, on the other hand, are not much wanted, although the demand may be termed fair. Bananas are hardly quotable. They are scarce, the demand exceeding the supply, only one car arriving this week for distribution among the several wholesalers. Prices are in consequence higher. Cranberries are experiencing the usual seasonable demand. Apples continue dull, with the English market most unsatisfactory. We quote: Oranges—Jamaicas, $3.50 to $4 per box; ditto, barrels, $7; Valencias, 420's, $4.50 to $5 per case; 714's, $5.75 to $6; large, 420's, $5.50 to $6; Mexicans, $3.50 to $4 per box; Floridas, $4.50 per box; Bahamas, $3.75 to $4 per box. BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The market is still dull, the conditions being rather worse than better. Choice butter is scarce and wanted. There is a great deal of butter coming forward, but the quality of by far the greater part of it is simply abominable. Prices remain much as before. We quote: Dairy butter—Tubs, 12 to 13c. for good to choice; low-grade to medium, 8 to 10c.; pails and crocks, 12 to 13c.; large rolls, 12 to 13c.; pound prints, 13 to 14c. Creamery—Tubs, 18 to 19c.; 1-lb., blocks, 18 to 20c., according to make.

CHEESE—The feeling is easier, and on account thereof there is not much selling, buyers holding off. November cheese, it is expected, will be cheap. We quote in jobbing way: September and October, 10¼ to 10½c.; early makes, 9½ to 10c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

BEANS—The market is without improvement. Wholesalers quote 50 to 60c. for ordinary and 70c. per bushel for hand-picked.

DRIED APPLES—A little more enquiry is reported, but it is alleged to be purely on speculative account, and the prices which buyers of this character are willing to pay range from 2 to 2½c for choice fruit. Jobbers are now asking 2½ to 3c. per lb.

EVAPORATED APPLES—There is nothing doing. Jobbers quote 3½ to 4c. per lb.

EGGS—Are in fair demand, with prices firm. We quote: Limed, 14c.; September held, 15 to 16c.; fresh gathered, 17 to 18c.; new-laid, 22 to 25c.

MAPLE SYRUP—There is quite a little of this selling at from 70 to 80c. per gallon in tins.

POTATOES—Dull and weak. There have been sales at 25c. on track in carload lots, and the very best stock is only worth about 30c.; out of store 35 to 40c. is quoted.

POULTRY—Turkeys have been rather scarce during the past week, with prices higher. We quote: Chickens, 20 to 40c. per pair.; turkeys are 9½ to 10c. for choice hens, and 8 to 8½c. for frozen birds per lb.; geese, 6 to 7c. per lb., and ducks, 50 to 60c. per pair.

HONEY—Dull and unchanged. We quote: Strained, 7c. in 60-lb. tins, and 8c. in 5 and 10-lb. tins; comb, $1.50 to $1.75 per dozen.

PROVISIONS AND DRESSED HOGS.

There has been a fairly good demand for smoked meats during the past week on holiday trade account. In other lines of meats trade has been quiet. Dressed hogs have been coming forward freely, while prices are a little firmer. Prices packers are paying in carload lots delivered in Toronto are $4.35 to $4.40 for heavy weights and $4.90 to $5.10 for light weights.

DRY SALTED MEATS—Long clear bacon, 5½c. for carload lots, and 5¾ to 6c. for small lots; backs, 7 to 7½c.

SMOKED MEATS—Breakfast bacon, 10c.; rolls, 7c.; hams, large, 22 lbs. and over, 9½ to 10c.; medium, 15 to 20 lbs., 10½c.; small hams, 11c.; backs, 9½ to 10c.; picnic hams, 7c.; all meats out of pickle, 1c. less than above.

LARD—Pure Canadian, tierces, 7c.; tubs, 7¼c.; pails, 7½c.

BARREL PORK—Canadian heavy mess, $12 to $12.50; Canadian short-cut, $12.50 to $13; clear shoulder mess, $10 to $10.50.

SALT.

The improvement noted last week has been maintained. We quote at Toronto: In carload lots, $1 per barrel and 60c. per sack; in less than carload lots, $1.05 per barrel and 65c. per sack. At the wells we quote: F.O.B. barrels, 70c.; sacks 50c. for points west of Toronto, and 45c. for Toronto and points east of Toronto.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The fish and oyster trade is not receiving much attention, as is usual at this season. We quote: White fish 7½c.; trout, 7c.; Pickerel, 6c. per lb.; haddies, 6c. per lb.; Labrador herring, $5 to $5.50 per bbl. and $2.25 to $2.50 per half-bbl.; boneless cod, 4c. per lb.; pure cod, 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.; ciscoes, $1.10 per 100; haddock, 5c. per lb.; steak cod, 6c. per lb.; frozen herring, 4c.; frozen white fish and trout, 7c.; sea herring, $1.50 to $1.75 per 100; smelts, 7 to 10c. Oysters are quoted at $1.20 to $1.25 for standards, and $1.65 for New York counts.

GRAIN, FLOUR, BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Receipts of grain are fair. Prices are a little lower than a week ago. We quote: White wheat, 87½c.; red, 87½c.; goose, 64½ to 65½c.; oats, 19 to 22½c.; peas, 43 to 45c.

FLOUR—Still quiet and unchanged. We quote in carloads on track, Toronto: Manitoba patents, $5.30; Manitoba strong bakers', $4.90; Ontario patents, $4.75 to $5.25; straight roller, $4.35, Toronto freights.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Breakfast foods are all lower on account of the decline in the raw material. We quote: Standard oatmeal and rolled oats, $3.20 in bags and $3.30 in bbls.; rolled wheat, $2.70 in 100-lb. bbls.; cornmeal, $2.40 to $2.50; split peas, $3 to $3.25; pot barley, $3 to $3.25.

SEEDS.

The situation is much about the same as a week ago, and no improvement is looked for until the New Year. We quote: Alsike, $3 to $5 per bushel f.o.b.; red clover, $4 to $4.75; timothy, $1.20 to $1.40 per bushel.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Unchanged, with cured quoted at 7½c. Dealers pay 6½c. for No. 1, 5½ c for No. 2, and 4½c. for No. 3.

CALFSKINS—Market is dull at 6 to 7c. for No. 1 and 5c. for No. 2. Sheep and lamb skins, 75 to 80c.

WOOL—The market is steady. Dealers are paying 20½ to 22c. for combing fleece, 17c. for rejections. Pulled supers are 20 to 21c. and extras at 22 to 33c.

PETROLEUM.

The demand is active and increasing, with prices steady and unchanged. We quote in 1 to 10 bbl. lots, imperial gallon, Toronto: Canadian, 15½c.; carbon, safety, 17c.; Canadian water white, 17c.; American water white, 19½c.; Pratt's astral, 19c. in bulk.

MARKET NOTES.

Bananas are scarce and dearer.

A further decline in glucose is announced.

A cable to W. G. A. Lambe & Co. reports an advance of 3d. in medium grade currants.

A canned goods packer in Western Ontario is authority for the statement that he has sold tomatoes in Montreal at 70c. per dozen.

Low-grade evaporated California peaches are selling f.o.b. on the Coast at ½ to 1c. per lb. more than shippers are able to get in Toronto.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

MONTREAL, DEC. 24, 1896.

GROCERIES.

THERE has been a fair movement in seasonable goods, and it promises to keep up for the balance of the week. It is confined, however, to actual current wants. The heavier staples show little life. Sugar rules quiet, the only call being for low grade yellows at the refineries, as distributors had allowed their stock of these to run down rather low. The decline in syrups has not induced any improvement in the demand. Molasses retain their firm feeling, and a few round lots have been moved. The firm disposition of rice is maintained, while spices are strongly held, an enquiry for black and white pepper being the leading feature. Coffees and teas are steady, and prices on all lines of dried fruits and nuts are unaltered as a rule, while there has been a good seasonable enquiry for them. The firm disposition of canned fish continues and promises to hold.

SUGAR.

The sugar market continues quiet this week, and there was little movement either from refiners' and jobbers' hands. In fact, the only enquiry of any consequence was the call for low-grade yellows around 3⅛ to 3⅛c. at the refineries. Otherwise, the demand was of a small sorting character, and buyers appear to be well supplied for the time being. Cables from London and advices from New York have not exhibited any striking change up to the date of this writing. We quote the jobbing range as before, at 4 1-16 to 4⅛c. for granulated and 3¼ to 3¾c. for yellows.

SYRUPS.

The recent decline in syrup has failed to induce any improvement in the demand, the market remaining dull and prices unchanged at 1⅜ to 1⅞c. for wholesale lots, while jobbing prices range from 22 to 35c. per gallon, as to quality.

MOLASSES.

There has been a fair demand for molasses during the week, quite a few lots moving on country account, amounting in all to 700 puncheons of Barbadoes at 28½c. This is an advance of 1½c. over what was possible a month ago, and now nothing is obtainable under the price named. We quote jobbing prices firm therefore at 30 to 31c., according to quality.

RICE.

Rice continues firm, but the demand is of a limited character. We quote: Crystal Japan, $5 to $5.25; standard B., $3.70; Patna, $4.75 to $5.25; Carolina, $6.75 to $7.75, and Java, $4 to $4.25.

SPICES.

The chief demand for spices has been directed to black and white pepper and nutmegs, and quite a few round lots left first hands to replenish jobbers' stocks. Values are very firmly held on all kinds of spices. We quote: Pure black pepper, 10c.; pure white, 15c.; pure Jamaica ginger, 20c.; cloves, 15c.; pure mixed spice, 25 to 30c.; cream of tartar, French, 25 to 27c.; ditto, best, 28 to 30c. per lb.; allspice, 10 to 14c.; nutmegs, 60 to 90c.

COFFEE.

The coffee market continues steady, and the scarcity of Maracaibo is still a feature, and none of this kind of stock is obtainable under 18c. We quote: Rio, 15½ to 17c.; Santos, 16½ to 17c.; Maracaibo, 18 to 20½c.; Java, 24 to 26c., and Mocha, 24 to 26c.

TEAS.

The tea market has furnished a fair volume of business for the holiday season, and the strong feeling is fully maintained. Japan dust has been more enquired for this week, but is difficult to obtain except at an advance of 8c. in straight invoice lots. No medium Japans can now be had under 15½c., that figure being realized the other day for a round lot. We quote: Young Hysons, 13 to 18c. for low grades, 25 to 28c. for mediums, and 30 to 45c. for high grades; China Congous, 12 to 18c. for mediums, and 25 to 55c. for high grades; Japans, 15 to 21c. for mediums, 28 to 35c. for high grades; Indians and Ceylons, 18 to 22c. for mediums, and 30 to 65c. for higher grades.

DRIED FRUIT.

There is a brisk jobbing trade in Valencia raisins, and prices are firmly held. We quote: Ordinary off-stalk, 5¼ to 5½c.; fine, 5¾ to 6c.; selected, 6¼ to 6½c., and layers, 6¾ to 7c.

A couple of carloads of California raisins were distributed at the close of last week. The quality was first-class and values realized were firm. We quote: 2-crown, 6½c.; 3-crown, 7 to 7½c., and 4-crown, 8 to 8½c.

Sultana raisins are steady at 8 to 12c.

Malaga raisins have been quite active in a jobbing way at the old range, $1.50 to $4.50.

Currants are in good demand for holiday trade. We quote: Provincials, bbls., 4c.; half-bbls., 4¼c.; [cases, 4⅜c.; half-cases, 4½c.; Filiatras, ditto; Patras, 5½ to 6c., and Vostizzas, 6½ to 8c.

The call for prunes for current wants is quite active, though the volume of trade is not large. We quote: French 5 to 15c., as to grade; Austrian, 6 to 8c., and Californias, 10 to 11c. for 40 to 50's.; 9 to 10c. for 50 to 60's.; 8 to 9c. for 60 to 70's., and 7 to 8c. for 70 to 80's.

Figs are steady at 9½ to 11c., as to grade.

New dates arrived last week, and are meeting a good demand at 5 to 5½c., as to grade.

NUTS.

New Grenoble walnuts came to hand this week, and have been selling at 11c. In fact, all kinds of nuts have met a brisk local enquiry for prompt shipment for current wants. We quote: Valencia shelled almonds, 18 to 19c.; Tarragona almonds, 10 to 10½c.; filberts, 9 to 9½c.; pecans, 8 to 12c.; peanuts, 8 to 10c.; Grenoble walnuts, 11 to 12½c.; shelled walnuts, 19 to 21c.; shelled peanuts, 9 to 10c.; cocoanuts, $5 per 100.

CANNED GOODS.

position. Demand is of a fair character. We quote as follows: Tomatoes, 75 to 80c.; corn, 65 to 75c.; peas, 70 to 90c.; beans, 70c. up; peaches, $2.90 to $3 for 3's, $1.90 to $2 for 2's; raspberries, $1.40 to $2; strawberries, $1.80 to $2.45, according to brand and quality; blackberries, $1.90 to $2.20; cherries, $2.40 to $2.45; apples, 3's, 85 to 90c.; gallons, $1.55 to $1.65; pumpkins, 75 to 85c.; salmon, "Horseshoe," $1.40 to $1.45; "Clover Leaf," $1.35; "Lion," $1.37½ to $1.40; Lowe Inlet, $1.30, in tall tins; cohoes, $1.20; canned mackerel, $1.25; Canadian canned beef, 1's, $1.20 to $1.25; 2's, $2.15 to $2.25; 6's, $6.75 to $7; 14's, $14 to $15; lobsters, $10 per case; French sardines, $10.25 to $11 extra brands; ordinary brands, $8 to $9; Canadian brands, $4.25.

FISH.

The market is quiet for pickled fish, while smoked and prepared have met an ordinary jobbing enquiry with no change in prices. Fresh frozen fish of all descriptions have moved very well indeed. We quote: Labrador herrings, $4.75 per bbl.; No. 1 N.S., $3.75 to $4 per bbl., and $2.25 to $2.35 per half-bbl.; No. 1 draft green cod, $5 to $5.25; No. 1 do., $4.50; No. 2, $3.35 to $3.50; No. 1 green haddock, $3.50; No. 1 Lake trout, $3.90 to $4 per keg; No. 1 white fish, $5 per barrel; small Labrador salmon, $12.50 to $13; No. 1 B. C., $6 per half-bbl., and $12 per bbl. to arrive; No. 1 halibut, $7.50 to $8 per bbl.; tongues and sounds, $7.50, and salt eels, 4½ to 5c. per lb. Fresh tommycod, $1.50 to $1.75 per bbl.; haddock, 3¼ to 3½c.; frozen salmon, 11 to 12c.; halibut, 8c., and Manitoba pickerel, whitefish and trout, 7c. per lb.; smoked haddies, 6½ to 7c.; Yarmouth and Bay bloaters, 90c. per box; kippered herrings, $1.30 to $1.50; ciscoes, 75c. per basket of 100 fish, and medium smoked herring, 10 to 11c. per lb. Dried cod, $4 per cwt.; pollock, $1.90 to $2 per 100 lbs.; skinless cod, $4.50 to $5.25 per 100 lbs.; boneless cod, 5½c. per lb., and fish, 3c. per lb. Malpeques, $5 to $5.50 per bbl.; Buctouche, $4.50 to $5; Miramachi, $3 to $3.50, and ordinary, $2.50 per bbl.

GREEN FRUIT.

The holiday demand has resulted in quite an active business in all kinds of green fruits, though there is no change of importance in values. We quote: Florida oranges, $5 to $5.50 per box; Jamaica oranges, $5.50 to $6 per bbl.; Valencia oranges, $5.25 to $5.50 per box; lemons, $2.50 to $3 per box, and $6 to $7 per chest; pears, $2 to $2.50 per keg; cranberries, $4.50 to $5 per bbl.; Spanish onions, 70 to 75c. per crate, and new Malaga grapes $5 to $7.50 per keg.

APPLES.

The apple market continues quiet and unchanged at 90c. to $1.40 for No. 1, and 40 to 85c. for No. 2.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—There is no change in the situation of the egg market. The demand is fair and a moderately active trade is doing. New-laid sold at 20 to 22c., choice candled and Montreal limed at 14 to 14½c., western limed at 13 to 14c., and western held fresh at 12 to 12½c. per dozen.

BEANS—The demand for beans was slow, and prices are unchanged at 80 to 85c. in car lots, and at 90 to 95c. in a jobbing way.

GAME—The receipts of partridge to-day were fair, for which the demand was active and prices firm at from 40 to 45c. per brace for firsts and at 25 to 30c. for seconds.

POULTRY—There was an active demand for poultry to-day, and the tone of the market for turkeys and geese was stronger and prices ruled higher. Choice fresh killed turkeys sold at 8 to 8½c., and geese at 5½ to 6½c. The supply of chickens was small and prices were firm at 6½ to 7c., and ducks at 7½ to 8c. per lb.

POTATOES—In potatoes business was quiet and prices rule steady at 40c. per bag in car lots, and at 45 to 50c. in a jobbing way.

DRESSED HOGS—These are easier than they were last week, under increased receipts, at $4.60 to $4.70 in car lots and $4.75 to $5 for small lots.

DRIED APPLES—Without change at 3 to 3½c., with evaporated, 4c.

ONIONS — Dull, but steady, at $1.25 per bbl. for red and $1.30 to $1.35 for white.

PROVISIONS.

There is no change in provisions. Demand is strictly confined to small lots for actual wants. New packed Canadian pork is offering at $11 to $12, and old is selling in a small way at $10 to $10.50 per bbl. Pure Canadian lard, in pails, at 7 to 7½c., and compound, refined, at 5¼ to 5½c. per lb. Hams, 9 to 10c., and bacon, 8½ to 9½c. per lb.

FLOUR, MEAL AND FEED.

A fair trade was reported in Manitoba grades of flour on local and country account, but dealers in Ontario brands state that business is of a hand-to-mouth character at steady prices. Winter wheat patents are selling at $4.75 to $5 ; Manitoba spring wheat, patents, $5.20 to $5.30 ; strong bakers', $4.50 to $5; straight rollers, $4.25 to $4.50; and in bags, $2.10 to $2.25. The market for oatmeal was quiet, the demand being only for small lots. Prices rule about steady, at $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl. for rolled oats, and $1.70 to $1.75 per bag. In feed a fair business was done and prices are unchanged at $10 to $10.50 per ton for Manitoba bran, and at $9.25 to $9.50 for Ontario. Shorts are quiet at $11 to $12, and mouillie at $15 to $16 per ton. There was a fair demand for hay, and the market is firm at $10.50 to $11 for No. 1, and at $9 to $9.50 for No. 2 per ton in car lots.

CHEESE AND BUTTER.

The week has witnessed a sudden improvement over the cable in the British demand for finest fall cheese. A fortnight ago buyers in England were entirely indifferent and refused goods offered at 10¼c. To-day they are free bidders of 10¼ to 10½c. for September makes, and have bought up all the way from 8,000 to 12,000 boxes here within that basis since Friday last.

Butter continues dull and heavy at 18 to 18½c. as to grade. There are many complaints regarding the flavor of the winter-made creamery offering. In a great many cases the stable taint is too distinct to be pleasant and has made some lots almost unsalable.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Dec. 24, 1896.

THE Christmas trade is over, and another year almost at an end. There has been the usual Christmas rush, but the volume of trade done has been but the average holiday one. Money is hard to get and merchants are not particularly well satisfied with payments. The grocery stores of our city have made very fine displays of holiday goods. A particular effort this year has been made in candy. Many of our stores are on corners, and have as many as six large plate-glass windows. In the country market the display has also been fine.

PURE GOLD M'F'G.CO. 31&33 FRONT ST.EAST. TORONTO.

We are justly proud of our market; there is every chance for a good show. Perhaps the best beef shown was from Ontario, but some splendid local beef was to be seen. At one stall a large moose was shown. In general markets the quiet season has brought a reaction, and the general feeling is easy. Raisins are very firm. In dried fruit the stocks have been small. The quantity of tea bought by our dealers is quite large; one dealer, besides having a large stock on hand, has 4,000 packages to arrive.

OIL—The low price of oil continues. There is now but little movement, for though large quantities are used at this season, the wholesale dealers have all before this filled their contracts. The low price here is very largely the outcome of local competition and not of a real decline in oil. We quote: Best American, 19¾c.; best Canadian, 18½c.; prime, 15¼c.

SALT—As before noted, each steamer now arriving weekly from Liverpool brings a quantity of salt, which is as largely as possible shipped west, some on through bills and some by local importers. There are two large importers here. In Canadian salt the demand is quiet. Prices are easy, but show no change. We quote: Coarse, 48 to 50c., factory-filled, 90c. to $1: 5-lb. bags in bbls., $3.25; 10-lb. bags, in bbls., $3; butter and cheese salt, bulk, $2.60 to $2.65 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 20c.; 10-lb. wood boxes, 12c.; cartoons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Canadian fine, $1.

CANNED GOODS—Just now the demand is quiet. The salmon market is somewhat disturbed by a cheaper grade of fish being quoted here. It is said cheaper grades of fish are sometimes sold here at full prices. This has prevented the advance, or at least the firmness, which was expected. In peaches some low-priced American are quoted. They are a yellow peach and show good value. Corned beef is firm, but there is little demand. Lobsters remain very scarce. Scallop and haddie have a better enquiry. We quote as follows: Corn, 65 to 70c.; peas, 70 to 75c.; tomatoes, 70 to 75c.; gallon apples, $1.80 to $1.90; corned beef, Canadian, $2.25 to $2.35; American, 2-lb. tins, $2.40 to $2.50; 1-lb. tins, $1.30 to $1.50; oysters, 2's, $2 to $2.20; 1's, $1.34 to $1.45; peaches, 3's, Canadian, $2.85 to $3; 2's, $1.90 to $2; pineapples, $2.25 to $2.65; salmon, $1.30 to $1.40; lobsters, $2.20; haddies, $1.25 to $1.30; clams, $5 for 4 doz.; chowder, $2.60 to $2.75 for 2 doz.; scallops, $5.50 for 4 doz.; Digby chickens, $1 per doz.; kippered herring, $1.10 per doz.; American peaches, 3's, $2.25.

GREEN FRUIT—The sale is very active, particularly during the last week. A few Florida oranges were received this week for holiday trade. The price is too high, however, for general use. Valencias are to hand in large quantities, but quality is only fair, fruit still being sour. A few West Indies are still here of good quality. Lemons keep low. In apples, owing to slow sale, the stocks in wholesale dealers' hands are large, and no improvement is looked for. Grapes are firm at the advance, and while receipts have been large, there is but a limited stock here. Bananas sell but slowly. Cranberries show quite a range in quality. Pines also show limited sale. We quote: Lemons, $3.50 to $4; oranges, West India, per box, $3.50 to $4; Valencia oranges, $4 to $4.50 per case; apples, $1 to $1.50 per bbl.; keg grapes, $6.50 to $7; cranberries, Cape Cod, $5.50 to $6.50 per bbl.; bog cranberries, native, $4 to $5; pines, $1.50 per doz.

DRIED FRUIT—Even this branch, which has been so active, is now again rather quiet, but stocks have been quite well cleaned up. The quality of the Valencia raisins here has tended to keep price lower than otherwise would have been the case. In dates, very few have yet arrived. Merchants are much disappointed. It seems, a steamer having a large quantity for both here and Halifax, arrived in London just too late to catch last steamer, so goods were delayed two weeks. Evaporated apples are again easier this week. Market here is well stocked for the present. Peels and California raisins are light stock. Currants have a large sale, the movement in cleaned being very large. Our merchants, in most cases, clean their own, so they are kept very busy. Onions move less freely. In peanuts, while the price is quoted rather higher, it is still low and quite a quantity have been bought here. Prunes tend higher. Quite a quantity of cocoanuts arrived from the West Indies by last steamer. We quote as follows: Valencias, 5 to 6c.; California L.M. 3-crown, 7 to 7¼c.; London layers, $1.75 to $2.00; currants, cases, 4½ to 5c.; bbls., 4¼ to 4½c.; cartoons, cleaned, 6¾ to 7½c.; bulk, cleaned, 5½ to 6½c.; prunes, boxes, 5 to 6c.; dates, 4½ to 5½c.; dried apples, 3c.; evaporated apples, 4¾ to 5c.; Canadian onions, $2; cocoanuts, $4 to $4.50 per 100 lbs.; figs, 10 to 12c.; Sultana raisins, 7½ to 9c.; citron peel, 17 to 18c.; orange and lemon, 13 to 14c.; Valencia layers, 6¾ to 7¼c.; California 4-crown L.M. raisins, 8 to 8¼c.; Imperial cabinets, $2; Dehesas, $2.50 to $3.25.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—There has been a good demand for eggs during the week, but at rather shaded prices. At full figures they move slowly. Butter is in gord demand, and rather higher, if right quality can be got. It is, however, still low, and there are large stocks of poor. Cheese shows little change; the demand at this season is rather quiet. The outlook is firm. Quite a push is being made with fancy cream cheese here. We quote: Dairy butter, 16 to 18c.; creamery, tubs, 20c.; prints, 20 to 22c. Cheese, 10½c. Eggs, 17 to 18c.

SUGAR—There is but a light movement, the market shows little strength, and values are very low. Some talk of a further duty, but the larger number feel there will be no change. The yellows shown are very nice. We quote: Granulated, 4 to 4⅛c.; yellows, 3¼ to 3½c.; Paris lump, 5¼ to 6c.; powdered, 5¾ to 6c.

MOLASSES—For best grades the feeling seems firmer, and stocks are not very large, Some Barbadoes came in this week from Portland, Maine, some Porto Rico from Yarmouth, and something over 50 barrels New Orleans, while about the same quantity of this grade was sold to arrive. The price is low and quality good, and more of our dealers now keep this grade than ever before. We quote: Barbadoes, 27 to 28c.; Porto Rico, 28 to 32c.; New Orleans, bbls., 26 to 28c.; Antigua, 25 to 26c.; Nevis, 25 to 26c.; syrup, 36 to 38c.

FISH—The sales are less in pickled and dry and the weather is against frozen fish. Larg cod is rather higher and arrivals are light. In medium, prices show no change. There is no better market for this grade than here, our dealers paying rather better prices than at other points. In pollock the continued low price of cod fish (even during the winter) for now several seasons has tended to very much affect the demand and market is weak. In smoked herring the tendency is also lower, though every effort has been made to keep market up. There is, however, not the demand. Pickled remain as quoted, with feeling rather lower. As noted, there are no large fish. Boneless cods are having an increased demand, just at present large quantities going west. Trade so far in frozen fish has been very light. We quote: Large cod, $3.25 to $3.50; medium, $2.75 to $3; pollock, $1.20 to $1.25; bay herring, $1.35 to $1.40 per half-bbl.; smoked, 6 to 7c.; shad, half-bbl., $5 to $5.50; boneless, 2½ to 8c.; frozen herring, 60 to 70c. per 100; bloaters, 60 to 70c. per box; kippered, 90 to $1 per box; Barrington herring, $3 to $3.25 per bbl.; Shelburne, $3.50 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—There is little change. Lard is still low and easy, with pure American being landed under prices asked by Ontario packers. There is quite a range in prices. Canadian beef is being better known here and shows better demand. Some packs give good satisfaction. There is no doubt that Ontario men can put up a beef to suit our trade if they will. Pork is still easy, with beef firm. Smoked meats are easier. We quote: Clear pork, $13.50 to $14; mess, $13 to $13.50; plate beef, $12 to $13; hams, 10 to 11c.; rolls, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 7½ to 8c.; compound, 6½ to 7c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL — While the easier feeling still rules, it is but the effect of the quiet season, and it is thought it will more than recover. In oatmeal, while easy, the price here is low, owing to large stocks. Oats are also easier, with quiet demand. Dealers are particular about quality. Beans fail to gain strength and quite low prices are quoted from the west. In hay there is little demand and price is low. Feed is still slow sale, owing largely to the low price of cornmeal. In barley, a quantity to hand this week was bought at the lower prices. Market is firm. We quote: Manitoba flour, $5.75 to $5.80; best Ontario, $5 to $5.10; medium, $4.70 to $4.80; oatmeal, $3.60 to $3.75; cornmeal, $2; middlings, $14 to $15; bran, $13.50 to $14; oats, 32 to 35c.; hay, $11 to $12; barley, $3 to $3.10; round peas, $1.10; split peas, $3.10 to $3.25; yellow eye beans, $1.25 to $1.50; yellow buckwheat meal, $1.20 to $1.25; grey, $1.75 to $2.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

THE CANADIAN GROCER is in receipt of an attractive calendar from Geo. S. de Forest & Son.

The quantity of starch made on P.E.I. this season is much less than usual—some 75 tons in all.

F. B. McRae, of Charlottetown, was in the city this week introducing Jones & McRae's jams and jellies and canned goods.

Puddington & Merritt have in their window a beautiful display of candy, being sixty varieties of "G. B." chocolate, manufactured by Ganong Bros., of St. Stephen.

Large numbers of turkeys were shipped to the States this past week from Sussex, one lot of 700 going to Portland, Maine. One farmer has 400, the number raised their being very large. They sell in large lots at about 90c. each.

Several lots of molasses have arrived this week: one small cargo of Barbadoes from Portland, Maine, some Porto Rico from Yarmouth, and a car of New Orleans from New York.

The cold storage warehouse at Grand Manan is now in full operation, having stored in it upward of 200,000 frozen herring. Its full capacity is one million and a half. As the fish can be stored here, where they can be bought at the lowest price, it should prove of great benefit to the fishermen. The warehouse opened too late this season for the full benefit to be felt, but another season it is expected its full capacity will be used.

Appleton, Machin & Smiles, teas, London, Eng., have opened a branch at 109 Water street, New York.

INCLINED TO SPECULATE.

"IF I had money to spare," remarked a dealer to THE CANADIAN GROCER on Monday, "I would be inclined to speculate in evaporated apples. It is quite probable that the apple crop next year will not be as large as it is this year. Consequently prices ought to be at least 5c. per pound. Well, now, interest and charges for cold storage would only amount to about half a cent per pound, which would mean, buying at present prices and selling at 5c. per pound, a profit of from 25 to 30 per cent. Dried apples! O, I wouldn't touch them."

THE BERLIN BRUSH CO.

An important change has recently taken place in the management of the Berlin Brush Co.'s establishment, on Nov. 26th last Mr. J. B. Betzner assuming the position of manager. He will have the financial department immediately under his supervision, and as he is an expert in this line we may know what to expect. Mr. E. E. Kirsch, one of the most expert broom makers in the country, will have charge of the broom department, and Mr. Oliver Martin, a practical brush man, the brush department. This is what might be termed a winning triumvirate.

DOMINION TRAVELERS' DINNER.

The full report of the Dominion Commercial Travelers' Association annual dinner on Tuesday has been crowded out, but will appear in our issue of next week. It will prove interesting reading matter for others than travelers.

It's Good Advertising

To sell the best goods. Your customers learn to rely on your judgment. They, in turn, influence others by telling of the good goods that you sell. It costs a little, of course, to sell the best goods. The good advertising it brings much more than repays you. You can increase your sales in Canned Tomatoes if you sell the "Kent" brand. The good quality of the "Kent" will help your customers' belief in all other canned goods.

HOW SHOP WINDOWS HELP THE PUBLIC.

ONE silent factor in the world's education has long escaped recognition, remarks The Keystone. The public library, the art gallery, public parks, museums, the lecture room, and even the theatre and concert hall, have long since been acknowledged as influential in advancing the culture of the masses; but the shop window, the great free spectacle which offers to the multitude almost the only diversion in their narrow, confined lives, is perpetually slighted and ignored.

In the beginning of shops themselves, the window was undoubtedly created for the very simple purpose of shedding light upon the wares within; but merchants are quick to seize their opportunity and convert to advertising uses a space inclosed between air-tight, dust-proof, and fly-excluding, but transparent, walls. Yet there was no thought of any art arrangement among the first who chose this means of displaying goods and prices. The window-trimmer is a purely modern evolution, and the adoption of his profession was the means of creating a decidedly important calling, as witness the pay-roll of all great mercantile establishments, where the man who can successfully arrange the windows so as to attract the attention of the passer-by receives from 25 to 50 per cent. more than his fellows.

It may be remarked that this peculiar accomplishment is not one that can be easily acquired. The window-trimmer, like the true genius in the purer realms of art—the singer and the musician and the poet—is born, not made. With material in itself but slightly decorative, he makes an attractive display, apparently without effort, and this very skill in arrangement plays an important part in the educational influences of the show window. Many a tired woman, denied all the amusements of an uplifting nature, shut up all day in a bare home, and condemned to a steady round of dull drudgery, finds the one brightening element of her life and its one refining influence in gazing into the brightly-lighted windows which line the city's principal streets. She may not be able to buy the books so temptingly arranged there, she may not robe herself in the finery or provide herself with the comforts displayed in such profusion, but the very sight of these opens a new world to her tired vision. Moreover, she carries away practical suggestions from them. A new cloak which she sees gives her an idea by which she remodels an old garment for her little daughter; she trims the little hats after the models in the millinery windows; she gets her first idea of the practical comforts and assistance which a gas range would furnish for her kitchen from the long and careful survey of that blessed invention through a pane of plate glass. The day's burden seems unaccountably lifted, the horizon of the future extended, by the evening's stroll on her husband's arm, looking into these pretty little glass sample rooms of the great city's supplies.

Moreover, the shop window is a practical guide and aid to every woman who has to count the contents of her purse. No one of limited means can afford to go out on a shopping tour who has not first given the windows along the city's main streets at least a hasty inspection. She who enters a shop and makes her purchases before taking this very simple method of acquiring information, will be sure to see the very articles which she has bought and paid for displayed elsewhere at reduced prices. Next to newspaper advertisements, show windows are the shopper's mainstay and guide.

It is not only to the frivolities or the humdrum needs of life that the show window lends its gracious influence. Boys and girls whose lives are barren of all fine or uplifting influences, feel the first ambition for progressing stirring in their hearts when viewing the creations of others' tastes or brains or genius. Set a typewriter in a window, and little ragged children will hover about trying to comprehend its mechanism and action. The very toys which are heaped in the brilliantly-lighted windows of the great emporium convey innumerable suggestions of good to the stunted minds of the children of the poor. There is joy in merely seeing what one may not handle. There is a spur to ambition in thinking of the possibilities of the future. There is mental development in mere ocular investigation or the construction of a toy. A new Fulton or Ericsson may receive his first stimulus to effort by studying the intricacies of a child's toy in a shop window.

STILL ALIVE.

THE Early Closing Association of Montreal is not dead by any means. The decision of the courts that the bylaw enforcing early closing was illegal has had no ill-effects on this association. It is showing new signs of life. L'Union des Employes is the name of a weekly paper just issued by the association, It is devoted to early closing particularly, but discusses all matters of interest to clerks and employers. Mr. J. B. E. Poirier, the president of the association, is the editor. But one issue has yet appeared. If that is any criterion of the make-up of the paper it should be a success and of great aid to the principle which it advocates.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

[This department has become so popular that many more notices than there is space for are received every week. In future only important items of information will be inserted. Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.]

PERKINS, INCE & CO. have a direct shipment of Young Hyson teas arriving ex ss. Empress of India. The samples have come to hand and show special value.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer new California prunes, 50-60's to 90-100's.

"Royal" salad dressing, pints and half-pints, in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Buyers will find the "quick shipment" of goods from Lucas, Steele & Bristol carried out to the letter during this busy season. Try them.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd. have in stock a shipment of Bordeaux prunes in half-cases.

In molasses, Lucas, Steele & Bristol's "Bargain" brand is still to the fore. Their syrups in half-barrels are the cheapest they ever offered.

Fancy "Crystal" evaporated apricots and peaches in 25-lb. cases in stock with The Davidson & Hay, Ltd.

Lucas, Steele & Bristol's travelers are all off the road during the holidays. Letters sent to them in care of the firm will receive best attention.

A shipment of fine flavory Ceylon teas arrived this week for the Eby, Blain Co., Ltd.; also a consignment of extra choice Formosa Oolong tea in caddies.

A carload of fancy Washington navel oranges, from the Arlington Heights Fruit Co. are landing this week for Hart & Tuckwell, and are very handsome goods.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie. call attention to their advertisement in this issue in regard to canned corn and tomatoes, also yellow sugars. They offer inside figures.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie., Montreal, are offering Eleme figs this week in 8-oz., 1-lb. glove boxes, and 10-lb. boxes, 4 rows. Prices in full will be found in our advertising columns.

CHEW CRUSTS.

Habitually eating soft foods, even soft bread, to the exclusion of everything that is hard or crusty is not only weakening to the digestive organs, but it leads to rapid decay of the teeth, says New York World. When these are not used in the mastication of harder foods the teeth become covered with tartar and sometimes loosen in their sockets, or the gums will bleed.

LATE ADVERTISEMENTS.

[The following items arrived too late for insertion in the regular advertising space. Reading notices inserted in this column at 5c. per word.]

THE F. F. Dalley Co. say that their sales for their "Royal Hygienic" self-rising flours have been very large this season, and sold at close margin, on account of the rapid advance of wheat. They do not propose to advance the price of their flours, and intend to give the public the benefit.

The Davidson & Hay, Ltd., offer great value in their "choice" cleaned Vostizza currants.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., are offering some fine green Rio coffees at low figures this week.

The Eby, Blain Co., Ltd., state that they are offering some special bargains in confectionery in barrels and pails.

In Young Hyson and Japan teas, W. H. Gillard & Co. are showing a large variety. And the values are right.

T. A. Lytle & Co. are still selling large quantities of white wine vinegar, while jams, jellies and marmalade sales are on the increase.

W. H. Gillard & Co have yet on hand a few dozen grocers' show cases, which they are offering at rock-bottom prices to clear out before stock-taking.

W. H. Gillard & Co. are offering "snaps" in natural figs of choice quality, in 56-lb. bags, and choice family figs, in 28-lb. boxes. They have a large stock of these and the prices are low.

Twenty-three millions of packages of stove polish in a single year is a large record, but such is the yearly output of the "Rising Sun" stove polish factory. The "Sun Paste" stove polish has already become an important part of the business of this factory, and Morse Bros. use the same trade-mark on the "Sun Paste" which has become familiar to the trade and housekeepers as the mark on the "Rising Sun" stove polish.

HALIFAX TRADE GOSSIP.

THE excitement this week in trade circles has been over the failure of Alfred G. Cunningham, commission merchant. He had been in difficulties for some months, but there was an idea that he would pull through all right. On Saturday it was discovered that he was absent from the city, and his numerous creditors made a bee-line for their solicitors. The sheriff seized everything in sight, which does not amount to $1,000. Liabilities are said to amount to $3,000. Writs have been issued for the following: Geo. Musgrave, $4.625; J. B. Shatford & Co., $1,231; J. P. Cox, $1,800: Hugh R. Silver, $402; Chas. S. Morash, $2,059; Geo. A. Pyke, $191; Bank of Montreal, over $1,065; J. A. Chipman, $1,435; Shatford Bros., $480; Geo. E. Boak & Co., $754; Geo. S. Campbell,——; John Taylor & Co., $3,200; Levi Hart & Son, $2,557.36; Cunningham & Curren, $1,593; Billman & Chisholm, over $600. The failure is likely to cause other embarrasments.

Business shows no very great improvement, the holiday season not having any perceptible effect.

Poultry for Christmas sold poorly. Ontario turkeys brought $8.50 per 100 lbs., landed here.

Fresh pork is very low. The price on P.E.I. is 3½ to 4c., and in this market from 5 to 5½c. P.E.I. mess pork is also low, selling in this market, in some instances, under $12. It is said that one Charlottetown dealer has 4,000 bbls. in stock, on which he is likely to drop, at least, $2,000.

Very little is doing in fresh meats. Ontario beef, by the carcass, is selling at 5½ to 6c., and selling very slowly at that. An improvement, however, is expected after the holidays.

Eggs are in good supply at 16c for P. E. Island stocks, which is low for the season.

The butter market is also inactive. Good native creamery in tubs is selling at 16c.

The flour market is depressed and prices are irregular and unreliable, some dealers doing considerable shading on grain quotations.

Last fall Messrs. Morse Bros., proprietors of the "Rising Sun" stove polish and the "Sun Paste" stove polish, shipped over twenty-three carloads of fifteen tons each in less than two weeks.

HERRING AND LOBSTERS.

IT is a matter of common knowledge that the herring fishery, which was once a very profitable source of revenue to the people along the north shore of the Bay of Fundy, and especially around Pisarinco, has greatly decreased in recent years, says The St. John Telegraph. The lobsters along the coast are also much more scarce than they formerly were. While there are various theories to account for this falling off in two valuable branches of the fisheries in St. John County, there is no positive knowledge as to the cause, and until there is such nothing in the nature of a remedy can be suggested.

While in Ottawa recently, Colonel Tucker directed the attention of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries to this matter, and asked that steps be taken to have an inquiry into the subject with a view to finding a remedy. At his request the Minister will arrange to have a thoroughly qualified expert sent to St. John to make a careful examination and inquiry into the past and present condition of the herring and lobster fisheries along the shore. By securing all the available information, it is hoped that not only will the cause of the decline be made clear, but that in the light of this knowledge remedies will be found to restore these important local fisheries to their former flourishing state. If this can be done it will be good news for the fishermen all along the shore.

WRITE PLAINLY.

A Cincinnati grocer's house found that cranberries had risen to $6 per bushel. The purchasing clerk immediately sent this note by the firm's teamster : "One hundred bushels per Simmons." (Simmons was the driver's name.) The well-meaning correspondent thought the scrawl read : "One hundred bushels persimmons," and the boys straightway set to work, for persimmons were plentiful. The wagon made its appearance next day loaded down with 80 bushels. The remaining 20 bushels were to follow next day, and when the correspondent found out his mistake he angrily demanded why the order did not read by Simmons.

An English gentleman, in writing to a Lincolnshire friend, mentioned the latter's kindness to him, and said he should soon send him a suitable "equivalent." The friend, read the word "elephant," and immediately built a handsome barn for the reception of his elephantine majesty. But much to his surprise, a barrel of oysters was the "equivalent."—Harper's Round Table.

IN DUTY BOUND

Any man or woman who has any responsibility in life or anyone dependent on him or her, for whom provision cannot otherwise be made, is in duty bound to see that such dependent is not left destitute by his or her death.

By a policy of insurance in the CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION on the Unconditional Accumulative Plan, complete and unquestionable protection is immediately secured.

The policy has but one condition, viz., that the premium shall be paid.

It is absolutely free from restrictions as to residence, travel or occupation, the insured being at perfect liberty to travel or reside in any part of the world.

Rates and other information desired will be sent on application to the Head Office, Toronto, or to any of the Association's agents.
